RUSSIAN HUNTING DOGS.

The Laikas furnish Food, Draw Sledges and Supply Clothing to their Owners. Harding Cox writes about laikas, or the northern dogs, to the London Field.

"In the polar swamps the laikas are used in drawing sledges, as well as hunting, by the natives, while their warm pelters are made to serve as coats and trousers."

A Prominent City Official

Thinks As Highly of Paine's Celery Compound As He Did Years Ago.

Mr. J. T. Dillon, Chairman of the Board of Assessors of the city of Montreal, is one of the best known and most popular citizens of the great metropolis.

As Mr. Dillon had some years ago given public testimony regarding the life-giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound, he was recently asked if his opinions had in any way changed as far as the value of the great curing medicine is concerned.

Miss Emily Seawell, Montreal, Quebec, Canada, says: "I was a sufferer for two years with female trouble, which was accompanied with nervousness, pains across the back, tired, dragged-out feeling, restlessness, loss of appetite and severe headache."

Baby was Cured. DEAR SIR, I can highly recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It cured my baby of diarrhoea after all other means failed, so I give it great praise.

BLANC-MANGE, BENSON'S CANADA PREPARED CORN

Is an exquisite dish for the table and invaluable for invalids. RECIPE. BLANC-MANGE. Four or five tablespoons of Prepared Corn to one quart of milk; dissolve the Prepared Corn in some of the milk; heat the remainder of the milk, and when boiling add the dissolved Prepared Corn; boil fifteen minutes, flavor to taste, and allow it to cool in a mould.

THE CHOR AND THE MINISTER.

The New York Journal is responsible for the following "yarn," which although untrue, is, nevertheless, interesting as a story invented to illustrate clerical trials from a well known source.

"A New Brunswick minister has introduced the phonograph into his church to do the singing. Now this is a practical solution of the choir difficulty. The phonograph can be worked from the pulpit. The soprano couldn't. She always ran with the music committee, and sang the arias that the rich old deacon liked because he paid the salaries."

COUNTY REGISTRAR.

All else Failing Mr. Geo. C Ward's Cured by Eight Boxes of Lodd's Pills

PORT HOPE (Special) July 5—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed fellow townsman Mr. George C. Ward, Registrar of this County, residing here.

Elopers Eaten Up.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., July 15—An Indian named Tiger Cat eloped with a chief's wife here, and the entire tribe pursued and captured the couple. The elopers were tried by council and sentenced to be eaten by alligators.

Shortness of Breath.

"Since last year I have had serious heart trouble caused by malaria. Shortness of breath, smothering spells on retiring, violent palpitation, etc., often made me gasp for breath. On procuring Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I found to my surprise and delight that they gave almost instant relief."

HOUSES DESTROYED

VIENNA, July 15.—A violent shock of earthquake visited Laibach, thirty-five miles north-east of Trieste, at seven o'clock this morning.

"There is a girl in Allegheny who can put out her tongue and touch her ear," said a Northsider to a Pittsburgier.

Looking for a Desperate Man.

Here's a story of a California girl who saved her life by a kiss, he said looking up from the paper. How was that she asked with interest. She was confronted by a desperate man he began.

A QUEER LITTLE ANIMAL.

The Australian Duckbill Carries a Sting In One Leg. Australia certainly holds the palm for queer and uncouth animals, says The Literary Digest. Chief among these is the duckbill or ornithorhynchus, which Sydney Smith described as "a kind of mole with webbed feet and the bill of a duck, which agitated Sir Joseph Banks and rendered him miserable from his utter inability to decide whether it was a bird or a beast."

"For a long time it was considered to be quite harmless and destitute of any weapon of offense, although the hind legs of the males were armed with a powerful spur, apparently connected with a gland. Then the opinion was advanced that this might be a weapon allied to the poisonous armory of snakes, scorpions and bees, all of which possess a sort of hypodermic poison syringe. Though one set of observers asserted that this was the case, another set denied it, and so Dr. Stuart determined to solve this question, if possible. He received two independent accounts which coincided perfectly, and from them he concludes that, at certain seasons at all events, the secretion is virulently poisonous. The mode of attack is not by scratching, but by lateral inward movements of the hind legs. Two cases are reported in dogs. One dog was 'stung' three times, the symptoms much resembling those of bee or hornet poison. The dog was evidently in great pain and drowsy, but there were no tremors, convulsions or staggering. It is worthy of note that a certain immunity seems obtainable, for the dog suffered less on the second occasion and still less on the third. Two cases of men being wounded are reported, in both of which the animals were irritated, one by being shot and handled, the other by being handled only. The symptoms were the same as in the dog. No deaths are reported in human beings, but four in dogs."

FIRST SUNDAY SCHOOL.

John Wesley's In Georgia Antedates Robert Raikes' Fifty Years.

In recounting the ministrations of John Wesley in Georgia, where the famous preacher sowed the first seeds of Methodism in America, the Rev. W. J. Scott, D. D., in The Ladies' Home Journal, claims that Wesley established the first Sunday school in the world at Savannah. In connection with his other labors, which were indeed prodigious, Wesley, soon after his arrival in Georgia, in 1736, began to provide for the Sunday school instruction of the children of the parish. His devotion to children at times almost amounted to infatuation. Children were likewise equally attached to him, as shown in their intercourse with him. Both on week days and Sabbaths he gave no little attention to educational work.

Grant's Different Hats.

After his return from abroad Grant had a little Japanese servant, who took charge of him as though the general were a bit of machinery and he were the engine. Some of the newspaper men noticed that in the course of one trip Grant had on six different hats, and they laughingly asked him what was the significance of the change. Grant said: "Why, I do not know. I supposed I had on the same hat all the time." Investigation brought out the fact that the little Jap, through the suggestion of some of the ladies of the party or some of the committee, had received ideas as to what kind of a hat the general ought to wear at certain towns. If it was a college town, just before he arrived the little Jap would tiptoe to the general, remove the slouch hat, place a silk hat carefully on the general's head and trip out, the general never losing a word of any conversation. At the next stop, if it was explained to the little Jap that it was a soldier town, off would come the silk hat and on went the general's military hat. He made it a rule for the general never to appear at two places in the same hat, and the joke of it was that Grant himself did not know anything of the scheme.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Josiah," said Mrs. Cornstossel, "what did that man say when ye asked him for yer money back after he sold ye the dog bricks?" "He jes' went plum crazy on the spot. He looked me over an' over an' then he exclaimed, 'Well, you're a bird.'" "He didn't mention what kind of a bird did he?" "Yes. An' being 'it was the first time I ever heard any body rave, his words made a deep impression on my memory. I asked him what kind of a bird he took me fur, an' he grinned and says, 'Well, mister, jeding' by the melancholly expression in yer eye, I should take yer to be a blue jay.'"—Washington Star.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

The name De Medici stands in history for heartlessness, maliciousness, medacity and assassination. There is truly something in a name. We may not be responsible for our proper name, however improper it may seem, but we should be very careful in the selection of an alias. An assumed name is generally the device of either a coward or a criminal. Still, if an alias becomes a necessity, be sure not to choose one that discloses both your character and your purpose.

A true man loves with the right side of his heart the spot where Nature speaks and man is dumb; and with the left, the place where great men congregate to face their destiny and control it.

PLOT AGAINST KING HUMBERT

ROME, July 15.—The Opinions says overwhelming evidence has been obtained against Cherubino Tranta, the manager of the socialist journal Avanti, showing him to have been concerned in a plot with Pietro Acciarito, who recently made an attempt upon the life of King Humbert, to assassinate the King. Many other arrests will, it is understood, be made shortly.
