NEW YORK, Jan. 28 -A Key West, Fla., special to a morning paper says The bodies of fourteen girls have been found in a small cave within half a mlie of the Spanish encampment at Guanabacoa on a road visitors are not allowed to travel. They were discovered by a boy who saw some dogs gnawing bones. Driving the dogs off, he saw that they were human bones and noticing from which direction they had been dragged, he came to the mouth of a cave and venturing in saw decomposing bodies. The bodies could not be indentified further than that they were female bodies and young. The girls had been cruelly murdered and some had been hacked in pieces. The publicity given to the many murders committed at Guanabacoa has alarmed even the Spanish residents, who fear the effect on the American people. After the discovery of the girls' bodies a large deputation of Spanish m erchants and business men called upon the Marquis De Ahumada, the acting captain general, and made strong representations to him upon the subject. He promised, it is said, though reluctantly, to speak to General Weyler in regard to it.

THE WIDE, WIDE WORLD.

The Globe Iron Works, of Dayton O., will furnish six pulp grinders for a pulp mill to be built at Chicoutimi, Que. The product is to be used exclusively for export trade. The capacity of the mill will be 20 tons per day and the estimated cost $35,000. It is evident from the movement on foot in Canada that great attention is to be paid to the export trade in the near future.

SHYNESS IS SERIOUS.

MEDICAL EXPERTS SAY IT IS A SYMP-TOM OF MELANCHOLIA.

It Takes Various Forms, but Is Invariably a Forerunner of Dementia-A Disease That Should Be Carefully Treated In Time-Affects Men as Well as Women.

At last it has been discovered that the reason the girl who seems exceedingly shy acts in the fashion she does is that she is demented.

This is the result of extensive investigation by insanity experts on both sides of the water. Exceptional bashfulness, as it is called, is really shyness. It is a morbid condition of the mind, a certain sort of dementia.

Often is the expression heard that a person is painfully shy. Yet in such an instance no doubt has been raised as to the mental condition of the object of the remark. Nevertheless, it is far more than probable that the individual referred to was suffering from insanity just as much if not more, than many persons who are living out a tortured existence within the walls of a madhouse.

It is a well known fact that one of the most notable symptoms of insanity to shun the company of others. Loneliness is an incentive to insanity. Confinement in a solitary cell in a prison often breeds madness. It is altogether an unnatural mental condition which impels a person to avoid the society of humanity. No one whose condition is normal ever consents to such an exist-

Just how the insanity expert looks at shyness is shown by the following statement, made by Dr. G. W. Kunz of New York, whose wide experience makes his opinion well worth considering:

"Shyness is as much a disease as scarlet fever. It is recognized as a symptom of dementia or melancholia, just as an extremely strong willed person, or one who is what is termed unusually self assertive, is regarded by physicians as a possible subject for acute paresis.

"This shyness takes various forms, such as a sudden feeling of faintness and weakness on looking down from any extreme height. It is present when a woman persists in looking under the bed before retiring, although she knows full well that there is no man there. I know of one case of a woman who, when she turns cut the gas, invariably lights a match to see if she has turned it completely off, and nine times out of ten she lights another match to see if she threw the first match into the coal scuttle or fireplace. That is another form of what may be termed shyness.

"This shyness is due to a variety of causes. It is very often the case that a system which is run down leads to this condition of mind. The continual thinking upon any subject, or what is termed brooding over a certain thing, leads to this. If not checked in time, melancholia results.

"This shyness is as common to men as to women. Some men seem embarrassed and ill at ease when in the presence of women, while, on the other hand, it is often noticed that the presence of gentlemen makes some women very ill at ease, only, in justice to the sex, it must be stated that this very rarely happens.

"There are many reasons for these facts, but the most common one is ill health. Should a person so troubled go to a physician, he or she would be regarded as possessing symptoms indicating a lack of will power and approaching insanity in some form. There are waves of morbid shyness, just as there are waves of insanity. There are waves of certain kinds of suicide, resulting from insanity. There are waves of bridge jumping, killing with razors or knives, shooting and death by poison. "Many suicides are due to temporary insanity, brought on by a variety of causes. One of the first symptoms is shyness. Persons afflicted with this shyness never take up any of the sciences or professions or become students. They lack the will power necessary to do so. Where the normal mind of man overcomes difficulties and troubles when they come, the shy, retiring man seeks relief in suicide."

Dr. Henry Campbell, who is the physician in charge of the Northwest London hospital, says that morbid shyness is, like other mental disorders, an exaggeration of an unnatural physical state. It is among women, he declares, that this symptom of mental disorder is most often seen. Lacking the physical strength of man in most instances, they are unable to withstand the depression that sometimes seizes them. That depression gives birth to a desire to be unobserved. Here is the beginning of the fit of shyness which results in unbalancing the mind and creating the idea that the very sight of others is an affliction to be Several New York doctors who discussed the question at length said that they had noticed particularly among young women whom they had been called upon to see that "those who had exhibited the greatest embarrassment in the presence of young men were lacking in that mental equipoise necessary to the normal brain. Modesty is one thing, they said, shyness quite another. The one causes the young woman to refrain from action that would bring upon her just criticism. The other is simply impelled to a course of action for which there is neither rhyme nor reason, and one that only results in general discomfort. - New York Journal.
