ALMOST DROWNED.—A Main River correspondent writes: Miss Helen Lawson, of Main River was almost drowned last Wednesday. She and four other young ladies went up river for the purpose of picking gooseberries. The day being very hot Miss Lawson and Miss Fearon waded out a short distance into the river, Miss Lawson getting beyond her depth, sank to the bottom. Miss Fearon hurried to her rescue, but she, too sank to the bottom. Mr. D. D. McEachran, lumber surveyor, who was working a short distance away, ran to their assistance. Plunging into the river Mr. McEachran succeeded in rescuing both young ladies. When rescued Miss Lawson showed no signs of life and it was with much difficulty that she was resuscitated. Much praise is due Mr. McEachran for his bravery.

DEFAULTERS.—After exercising all reasonable forbearance, we have at length found it necessary to place accounts against some of THE REVIEW subscribers in the hands of a Magistrate for collection. The amounts individually are small and we regret that costs will be added, but we are of opinion that the parties are well able to pay their subscriptions, and in the aggregate these make quite an amount due us. We will be sorry to part company with any of our readers, and trust that any who are still in arrears will take the hint and not compel us to push the collections by legal proceedings. If you cannot pay the full amount due, make part payment on account. In many instances we believe the non-payment arises from nattention on the part of subscribers who only require to be reminded of their arrears, and we trust it will not therefore be necessary for us to push the demand further.

A Vineless Potato. St. Louis, July 31.—Robert Cornwall, a Barton county farmer living near Golden City, after numerous experiments, thinks he has succeeded in developing a potato that will grow without vines. He also says a field planted with the vineless potato may be worked with the ordinary harrow.
