Beware of imitations. Take none but the genuine

People of high and low degree drop into graves on all sides of us daily from kidney trouble. We incur it ourselves. We encourage it. We do everything but cure it.

Yet there is a cure, pleasant as a May morning. Sure as fate. Infallible as heredity. Before this wonderful remedy the agonizing torturers of Kidney Ills, vanish like a snowflake in a fiery furnace.

This cure of which we sound the praises is DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. Yet not alone we, but every one who has tried them. One hundred per cent of cures we record. Here are examples :--

W. F. Smith, 16 Carrol street, Toronto. says-"I have taken eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills which have cured me of Heart Trouble, pain in the back and dizziness, after other treatments had failed."

D. J. Kenedy, Queen's Hotel, Mount Forest says: I have suffered greatly from Nervousness, but information as to the effects of Dodd's Kidney Pills in such cases led me to use them, with the result that I am cured."

ronto, says: "Had been troubled for several months with a pain in my back and refer any one to me for further particu-WORKS: CARDINAL, ONT. OFFICES: MONTREAL, P.G. bicycle evens, but am in the ring once more after using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mr. James Stokes. Deseronro, Ont, says: From the first box taken of Dodd's Kidney Pills I found relief, and hundreds here, knowing me for the past fifteen years, can vouch for my cure of long standing Kidney Trouble

A Joke That Failed.

This is a story for which the Edinburgh Scotchman vouches:

One day some years ago while five of the Pioneer Ciub six-oar in London were sitting in their shell awaiting the appearance of the sixth man, who was half an hour late, a well dressed and modest young stranger strolled into the boat house and began inspecting the equip ments with great interest.

"I'll tell you what we'll do, fellows," said the stroke, "as No. 4 isn't coming, suppose we coax the softy there to take a row, and bust them all up?"

The perpetration of this joke was received with approbation, and the newcomer was, with a grand show of hospitality, invited to take the vacant oar.

"Well I don't know, gentleman," said the young man, looking at his watch doubtfully, "I'm a stranger here. I do need a little exercise, though." "Oh, get in," said No. 2, winking at his companion, "a little spin will do you good," and they finally persuaded the victim of their kindly scheme to take of his coat and assume a club cap. "Keep your eye on me and try to keep time," said the captain. "You'll never, never make an oarsman unless you watch the stroke."

"I'll do the best I can, gentleman," said the guest meekly. "I'm always willing to improve."

The boat went down towards Hunter's Point, a couple of miles, at an easy threequarter stroke, the new-comer pulling manfully with the rest, and when they eased off to turn back, they were surprised to observe that the stranger did not appear to be quite so much blown as they

"Now, then, young fellow," said the stroke with a grin, "try to keep up with the procession. Hit her up, boys. Hard

But somehow the stranger scratched along with the rest, and though the pace was something like forty-six when they passed Butchertown, the victim serenely pulled away, and the bowman even imagined that he splashed less than any oar in the boat. When they finally drew up to the float, and while the crew were panting for wind, and wiping their dripping faces, the "passenger" looked round with childlike smile upon his unblushed face softly remarked :

"Why didn't you spurt her?" "Spurts" panted the stroke : "Whyer what the-er-I say, young fellow, where did you come from?"

"From Toronto, gentlemen," replied the stranger mod-stly, as he slipped on his coat, and started up the wharf. "My name is Hanlan-Edward Hanlan, Good morning."

The Horrors of War.

LONDON, April 29 .- The Times this morning publishes an interview with an English volunteer who was a witness of the terrible stampede of the Greeks from Tyrnavo to Larissa and Pharsalos and Volo. After describing the terrors of this retreat the volunteer continues: Within a mile or two of Larissa my horse was knocked over an embankment into a dry river below. I knew I was injured, but to stay there meant death and I managed to drag myself to Larissa. There all was confusion. I was swept into a wine shop with a mob of soldiers and enjoyed some Resinato wine. When I left the shop I went into the street. I saw an open door and laid down in the passage, completely exhauste l. When I got to the station the scene was one of the wildest confusion. Soldiers and civilians, women and children were struggling and clamoring madly in their efforts to get into the train. The men behaved in a cowardly manner. saw women and children dragged from carriages to make room for officers, and the soldiers who had been detailed to guard the station, instead of remaining on duty, leaped upon the roof of carriages. Their companions, who failed to get places fired at them. The fire was returned and the train started in the midst of a hot fusilade. It was a terrible scene. The agony of those left behind were heartrending, their terror increasing as firing was heard on the outskirts of the town and it was believed that the Turks were approaching.

"On arriving at Volo I tound a thousand people at the railroad station, all anxious to learn whether their friends had been wounded or killed.

"I was taken to the Red Cross hospital and words cannot express the kindness which I received there."

Erysipelas Cured.

GENTLEMEN,-In the spring of I893 I was taken with erycipelas in the face, which left me in a very bad state of health, but having taken one bottle of Louis H. Bounsel, 573 King East, To- Burdock Blood Bitters I can truly say that it cured me. You are at liberty to Kidneys which prevented me entering in lars as regards this wonderful medicine.

Curfew in Halifax [Halifax Chroniele.]

A delegation of ladies waited on his worship the mayor yesterday morning to ask that the matter of the establishment of the "curfew bell" in Halifax be brought before the city council at its next

The delegation was composed of Mrs. Charles Archibald, Mrs. Wm. Dennis, Miss Parsons and Miss Walsh, representing the Local Council of women; Mrs. S. Whiston, of the W. C. T. U., and Mrs. E. C. Fairbanks and Miss Sutherland, of the Women's Christian Association.

Through the efforts of the Council of Women of Yarmouth a law permitting the establishment of the curfew bell throughout the province was passed by the Nova Scotia legislature at its last session, Hon. L. E. Baker and William Law representing the ladies in the matter. It now but remains for Halifax and the various towns to adopt the act and enforce it Forty cities in Ontario have already placed the curfew law on their statue books, Ottawa being the last to adopt it. In the capital city its enforcement has been more than ordinarily satisfactory, though it is highly commended wherever it has been enforced.

Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, on Thursday introduced in the Senate a list of amendments to the tariff bill which he proposes to offer when the bill is before the Senate. The amendments propose to place on the free list crude asphaltum, and bitumen, mackerel, salmon, halibut, regalia, gems, statues, statuary, and specimens or casts of sculpture imported for the use of educational or religious societies or bodies or institutions of learning. Senator Allen introduced a proposed amendment for the abrogation of the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty on July 1, 1898.

The following letter tells what people think about Laxa Liver Pills :

DEAR SIRS,-I gladly testify to the virtues of Laxa Liver Pills. I used to be troubled with severe headaches and constipation for a long time and took these pills hoping for a cure, and my hopes were rapidly fulfiled. I have found them a never failing remedy and heartily recommend them.

> MISS S. LAWSON Moncton, N. B.

NEW YORK, April 29 -A despatch from London to the Journal says the Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent telegraphs: "Somewhat serious news of the threatened European combination against England is now current here. Emperor William is reported to have a detailed plan by which the interests of Germany, France and Belgium in the Transvaal are to be protected against English intriguand arms. The Saint Petersburg correspondent of the Tageblatt affirms that France has agreed to the Emperor's scheme and it is further said that Russian court circles are extremely embittered against England. This is attributed to the Dowager Czarina having accused England of being the cause of Greece going to war. The German naval department has ordered that all work in the dock yards be expedited and I hear that in some yards work is being carried on day and night. One cruiser will be ready in a few weeks and three other vessels by autumn. Altogether there are nineteen now in course of construction."
