T'was Hard Work Fifteen Years Ago

To-day Diamond Dyes Make Home Dyeing Easy

Fifteen years ago the work of home dyeing was just in its infancy. The old-fashioned, crude preparations were then in vogue, necessitating much time and great expense, while the results, even with the greatest amount of care, never brought satisfaction.

The introduction of Diamond Dyes revolutionized home dyeing work completely. Diamond Dyes saved time and money to thousands of busy women, and at once became popular in every family.

Each succeeding year found the Diamond Dyes improved in color, brilliancy and durability of shade. To-day they stand far ahead of all other dyes in every leading point, and are as perfect as science can make them.

There are many imitations of Diamond Dyes in the land, and many women are deceived daily when purchasing. In order to insure absolute success in home dyeing see that every packet of dye you buy is marked "Diamond Dye."

A DECAYING NATION.

Popular Statistics Alarm Frenchmen.

New York Feb 2.—The Sun's London despatch says: Frenchmen or a large section of them, are beginning to manifest serious concern over the revelation of the last census that France is the only great nation which is no longer obeying the divine command to increase and multiply. The subject has been vigorously taken in hand by public men and others, and various plans have already been suggested for making Frenchmen amenable to compulsory fatherhood. It has been pointed out that by reason of her shortcomings in this respect that France loses every year a battle of Sedan. The National Alliance for the increase in the population of France has this week sent a petition to the French Minister setting drastic measures which the government is urged adopt. Dr. Bertillon, inventor of the system of measuring criminals, is the head of the society, and its plan includes some interesting features. It proposes that government scholarships in schools, lycees and academies be given only to families having at least three children living; all favors of government, such as tobaccoists, licenses, concessions in colonies, etc., to be given to such families; when the claims of government officials for promotion are decided their number of children to be taken into account, allowance and travelling expenses to officials as well as salaries to sabaltrons, to be regulated according to the number of children; the posts under the government, except those requiring special qualifications, to be given only to fathers having more than three children. Already something has been done to encourage large families. For instance every seventh child may be educated and boarded at school at the expense of the nation. This law was passed some years ago, but no results are apparent. Another effect of the national concern over the non growth in the population is the extraordinary popular interest that is taken just now in the establishment on the Boulevard Poissonniere, where the delicate infant of diminutive weight and dimensions are reared by charitable hands. In the show room of the place are always a dozen or more incubators each with a tiny inmate on exhibition. The managers of the institute boast that they have saved twelve hundred children who otherwise would have perished.

Fitzpatrick's Trip.

TORONTO, February 3.—The annual meeting of the County Orange Lodge was held last night, at which a resolution was adopted, expressing alarm at the report that the Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Solicitor General of Canada, is at the present time in Rome, with the object of submitting to the Pope the Manitoba school settlement for his approval, said Manitoba school question having been settled on a basis to satisfy the Government of Manitoba and also the Government of the Province; and declaring such reference to be a "violation of the Queen's supremacy, as well as a betrayal of the civil and religious liberties of Her Majesty's subjects in Canada, for any Government or any member thereof to submit to the Pope officially or otherwise any question of legislation, which is within the absolute jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada."

The Old Story!

Going back to Philadelphia, there is one man in the paper trade who does not, or at least did not, drink. He lives on the outskirts of that city and he sells paper. His name is George, or it might be. He has recently been married, and when he went home the other night he had a most distressing cold. His wife said that her mother always gave her father whiskey for a cold.

"But," said George, "I never drank any whiskey, and I'm not going to begin now." "But it's for your cold," said his wife, and finally after much entreaty he consented. But there was no whiskey, and George vowed he would never go to a saloon, and so in her anxiety for his health his wife went out for it. She came back with a bottle, for which she had paid 50 cents, and which the barkeeper said contained six year old whiskey.

George took his medicine, and not knowing the capabilities of whiskey, and especially of the 50 cent brand, he and his wife decided that the more he took the quicker the cold would disappear, so he finally took a gobletful. Then he went to bed.

About an hour afterward he woke up and demanded more whiskey, and when his wife protested that he had had enough he threatened to kill her, and the poor woman, frightened out of her senses, did not know what to do. Finally George's exertions in howling "Fire" and in wrecking furniture proved too much and he fell asleep. His wife went for the doctor, who promptly said that the patient was drunk, a statement which was followed by a faint on the part of the wife. George didn't go down town next morning, and of course says that it is all his wife's fault.

There are several morals to this, and one is don't use 50 cent whiskey for medicinal purposes. Keep it to thaw out frozen water pipes.—Paper Trade Journal.

Charles Wright, who assaulted a young girl, has been given twenty lashes in Fredericton, N. B. gaol. He will get twenty more three months hence, when he is released. Wright is a colored man.

Father Faucher, cure of L'Anceenne Lorette, near Quebec, has advised his parishioners that the Quebec newspaper, replacing L'Electeur, should not be read by them, because it is animated by the same spirit as L'Electeur. The cure stated that if his Bishop did not uphold this order he would withdraw it.
