

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, May 25.—When the House opened to-day Hon. Mr. Davies introduced a bill amending the steamship inspection act by authorizing third class engineers to take charge of engines of a certain horse power, instead of as now the engines of ships of certain tonnage. Fourth class engineers who are now allowed to act as assistants to second class engineers, are authorized to assist first class engineers. The department of marine may authorize uncertificated engineers to act as engineers on small boats in special cases.

When Hon. Mr. Fielding moved the house into committee he explained the amendments which he proposed to make in the original tariff as introduced by him five weeks ago. The finance minister shows his want of confidence in his own resolutions by proposing some fifty amendments to them. The following are the principal changes which he proposes. The "original" tariff as used below, means the tariff as introduced by Mr. Fielding.

Soap, pearl, and other soap powders, original, 30 per cent. amended 35 per cent.

The amended tariff on books reads: Novels or literature of similar character, unbound or paper bound, not to include Christmas annuals or publications commonly known as juvenile and toy books, 20 per cent., books, printed pamphlets, n. e. s., not including blank account books or copy books, 10 p. c. On the free list are placed all books on the application of science, relating to agriculture, horticulture, forestry, fishing, mining, metallurgy, architecture, electricity and other engineering, carpentry, shipbuilding, machinery dyeing, bleaching, tanning, weaving and other mechanical arts and similar industrial books and for public and university libraries, colleges or schools, it is provided that importers of books, who have sold the same for use in a library, may receive a refund of duty paid.

Advertising and printed matter on which under the old tariff a specific duty was imposed, was placed at 35 per cent. in the original Fielding tariff, now returns to the specific duty, 15 cents a pound.

Printed music, 25 per cent. in original Fielding tariff, is reduced to 10 p. c.

On medicines, original tariff of 35 p. c. on liquids and 25 p. c. on others, is amended to 50 p. c. on liquid medicines containing alcohol, 25 p. c. on all others. Coal dust in original has been changed to read same as late government tariff.

Iron or steel scrap, the original reduced duty from $4 to $1.50, the amended tariff reduces it still further to $1 per ton.

Iron or steel ingots, puddled bars, etc., were $4 a ton in original, are $2 in amended tariff.

Rolled iron or steel angles, girders, bridge sections, original, 15 p. c., amended 10 p. c.

Bridge plates of steel, original 15 p. c. amended 10 p. c.

Rolled iron or steel plates not less than 30 inches in width, original 15 p. c. amended 10 p. c.

Iron or steel bridges and structural work, original 30 per cent., amended 35 per cent.

On cut rails and spikes, original 30 per cent., amended specific duty half cent per pound.

On wire nails, a specific duty of 3.5 cent per pound is placed instead of 35 per cent.

Wire of all metals or kinds, original 20 per cent., amended, brass wire 10 per cent., copper wire 15 per cent., woven wire 25 per cent.

Scrap lead, original 20 p. c., amended 15 p. c.

Iron or steel nuts, washers, rivets, etc., original 35 p. c., amended 1/3 of a cent a pound and 25 p. c.

Cut tobacco, original 50 cts. per pound and 12 1/2 p. c., amended 55 cents per pound.

Other manufactured tobacco, original 45 cents per lb. and 12 1/2 p. c., amended 50 cents per lb. Raw leaf tobacco is 10 cents a pound unstemmed and 14 cents on stemmed. It is proposed to change on the first of July to a customs duty of the same amount. Excise duties are to be collected on all goods now in bond.

In the new schedule an important change is proposed in mining machinery. The late government made free all mining machinery of classes not made in Canada, Mr. Fielding placed all mining machinery on the free list. In the amended resolutions he goes back to the late government's policy except that he enumerates the machinery which he leaves dutiable and which he makes free.

An amendment is also proposed to the combine clause which requires the decision of a court as to the fact of a combination before the government can have power to act.

After recess the amended resolutions were taken up in debate. Sir Charles Tupper made a strong address and closed by proposing the following amendment:

That in the opinion of this house the reduction by 25 per cent. of the duties upon the imports except wine, malt liquors, spirits, spirituous liquors, liquid medicine, articles containing alcohol, sugar molasses and syrups of all kinds, the product of the sugar cane or beet root, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes in favor of any country whose tariff is or may be made on the whole as low as that of schedule A is calculated to imperil the industrial interests of Canada and in principle opposed to preferential trade of any kind.

That on several occasions the government and parliament of Canada have requested Her Majesty to be pleased to take such steps as might be necessary to terminate the effect of provisions of all treaties which prevents the Parliament of the United Kingdom and the self-governing colonies adopting such tariff as may be required for the promotion of trade within the empire, but no decisive action has been taken in this direction.

That the desire for preferential trade with the United Kingdom is now general throughout Canada.

That this House is of the opinion that the Government of Canada should cause Her Majesty's Government to be advised that so soon as the difficulties in the way of a removed the Parliament of Canada is ready to enter into preferential trade arrangements with Great Britain and Ireland.

That this house cannot consent that any arrangement made by the Government of Canada with any country involving serious considerations of tariff and revenue should become operative without the sanction and notification of Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Davies replied and Mr. Borden of Halifax moved adjournment of debate and house adjourned.

OTTAWA, May 26.—When the house went into committee to-day, Mr. Borden in a strong and well-reasoned speech, replied to the declaration made by Hon. Mr. Davies last night, showing that the Minister of Marine had got two things mixed. Mr. Davies did not receive the sovereign autonomy as against foreign nations. This was one thing and the fiscal independence of another country was another. The authorities quoted by Mr. Davies only went so far as to say that the committees had power to make their own tariff laws and never suggested that the imperial treaties were not binding on the whole empire. Mr. Borden showed the bearing of the German treaty on Canada. It had been half a dozen times acknowledged by Mr. Davies himself and his leader. He closed by asking where was the noble contribution which Mr. Fielding claimed they have made to the empire when as much was given to a score of countries.

No Minister rose to reply. Hon. Mr. Foster waited till the amendment was read from the chair. He then asked whether the ministers had nothing to say in reply to such an argument as Mr. Borden's. Was there no member of the government with an explanation to give? Had they all been struck dumb that no information could be dragged from them as to the meaning of the clause for which they asked the house to vote? Could they tell the house yet to what countries it applied or on what basis they proposed to determine whether a country had a sufficiently low tariff to be entitled to these special privileges?

Mr. Foster failed to get an answer to his question whether it was proposed to apply a comparison to the whole tariff of both countries or to that part which applied to goods interchanged. He assailed the ministers strongly for taking power equivalent to the power of making commercial treaties without leaving parliament anything to say. He declined to trust the ministers with the powers which would enable them to make a commercial union treaty with the United States without further permission than this bill afforded. Mr. in the government seats would dearly love to go back to the Wilmam platform in spite of their loyal pretences.

Mr. Foster's attack brought no response and Mr. Craig rose and pointed out the uncertain features in the bill which ought to be explained before members were asked to vote.

Mr. Bell, of Picton, stated that the tariff as now printed struck a hard blow at the iron industry of Picton and other counties of Nova Scotia.

The amendment was then put and lost, 42 to 74.

After the vote had been taken Mr. Foster again asked Controller Patterson what was his standard of comparisons whereby he proposed to decide what countries had a tariff "on the whole" lower than Canada. Mr. Patterson said that Great Britain was entitled to preference. He had not decided that China Germany and others were so entitled.

Mr. Foster wanted Mr. Patterson to tell whether he reached his conclusion about England by ascertaining that British duties on the average were lower than Canadian. Then could he say whether the average tariff of Belgium, Germany, Japan, and China was not also lower than Canada. If that were so would goods from these countries be entitled to the same preference as Great Britain? Did it depend on some known standard or only on the great mind and personality of the controller to determine what countries come in?

Mr. Patterson's explanation was, that when the application for preference was made the controller would look at the matter in all its details and all its bearings, having regard to the trade of the country and make his report to the council who would act upon it.

All efforts failed to get anything clearly from the controller.

To-morrow there is no sitting.

Poker Leads To Murder.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 27.—A Sunday poker game in Snowden township, just outside Pittsburg, ended in a murder and would have wound up in a lynching but for the nerve of the murderer. The negro miners had been playing crap and then turned their attention to a game of poker. George Douglass, one of the players, opened a jack pot with three kings. James Smith, next to him, raised the ante. Douglass was bluffing out and threw down his hand. Smith scooped in the pot and spread his cards, showing he only had a bobtail flush. The party around the board laughed at Douglass, which riled him so he picked up a stone and threw it at Smith. The latter ran and Douglass pursued him with a scantling. Not being able to catch Smith, Douglass went into his cabin and got his musket and went after Smith. The latter ran into a neighboring cabin and Albert Grier, who had nothing to do with the game, stepped up to stop Douglass from shooting at Smith. Grier stepped in front of the cabin door just as Douglass had cocked and pointed his gun and got the contents in the breast and face, dying shortly afterwards. Douglass was arrested.

IN BED FOR WEEKS.

And Every Breath she Drew Was an Excruciating Pain—Rheumatism had fastened his talons on his Pr. y—South American Rheumatic Cure Snatched her from his grasp.

"For fifteen years I had been troubled with rheumatism. It had settled in my back. At times the pain was so severe as to entirely lay me up for weeks at a time. I was just about discouraged and had given up hope when I was recommended to try South American Rheumatic Cure. I did so. The first bottle enabled me to leave my bed, and in one week from the time I commenced its use I was completely cured. It is undoubtedly the best remedy in the world for rheumatism."
