JURY DISAGREES.

FAILED TO AGREE ON A VERDICT IN THE LUTGERT CASE AND HAS BEEN DISCHARGED.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The long drawn out struggle of the jury over the fate of Adolph L. Lutgert is, this morning, no nearer an end than at this hour yesterday. The opinion prevails around the building this morning that Judge Tuthill will end the agony by five o'clock this evening by discharging the jury if they do not arrive at a verdict some time during the day.

Later—The jury in the Lutgert case has disagreed and has been discharged by Judge Tuthill. The jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. They have been dead-locked for thirty-eight hours.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The gray light of a cold autumn morning struggled through the big windows of Judge Tuthill's court to-day as Adolph L. Lutgert heard from the foreman of the twelve men who have been considering his case for the past sixty hours, the words: "We are unable to agree upon a verdict." Imperturbable as ever, evincing no joy at the words the wonderful nerve of the man was with him to the end. He stood up, and with only a good natured smile on his swarthy face, shook hands with his son, Arnold, his counsel and his business partner, William Charles. In less than five minutes he was led back to jail, the jury was dismissed and the great trial was over.

The twelve men were divided as follows: For conviction and the death penalty: Heckhold, Boyd, Bibby, Mahoney, Behmiller, Hosmer, Shaw, Franzen and Fowler.

For acquittal—Harley, Holabird and Barber.

Immediately after they were discharged the jury requested to be allowed to return to the room which has been the scene of their discussion for so long. This was granted and without permitting any one to get near them, the judge sent them to their room. It is thought they are simply preparing a set of resolutions thanking the judge and counsel in the case for their kindness and consideration.

As the jurors filed into court about 10.40 this morning they were a hard-looking set of men. Several of them were collarless and the eyes of all of them were swollen and red. The jurors took the seats they had occupied daily for over two months and waited for the appearance of the central figure in the case and his lawyers. The judge sat on the bench and gazed quietly at the worn out jurors. The clock in the court room ticked off five minutes and nothing occurred to disturb the quietness. Then State Attorney Deneen, ex-Judge Vincent and Attorney Phalen took their accustomed seats. Soon Lutgert walked into court followed by a bailiff. Smiling and confident he grasped the hand of William Charles and whispered a few words into his business partner's ears. Then he sat down.

Judge Tithill looked up at Bailiff Connor and nodded. The grey-haired custodian rapped sharply for order and commanded silence. "Gentlemen I have called you into court to ask if you have reached a verdict," said Judge Tuthill.

Foreman Heckhold replied—"Your Honor, we have not."

"Is there any prospect of your reaching one," asked the court.

"I do not think so," in fact, I know there is not—at least that is my firm belief," responded the foreman.

"How do you stand, numerically I mean not individually!" queried the court.

"We stand nine for conviction to three for acquittal. We have stood that way for thirty-eight hours. There has not been a solitary change in the vote during the past thirty eight hours. In my opinion there is not the least possible chance of an agreement."

"What have you to say, Juror Barber?" asked His Honor.

"We can never reach a verdict," replied the juror. "Every point of the evidence has been minutely discussed and it is impossible for us to agree."

"What is your impression, Juror Fowler," continued the court.

"The same as the others. We cannot agree," replied Mr. Fowler. "We have discussed the case thoroughly and we cannot reach a verdict."

Judge Tuthill then called each of the jurors by name and each responded in the same manner expressing the view that it would be impossible for the jury to agree.

After asking the council for Lutgert and finally Lutgert himself and being told by each that a verdict seemed impossible Judge Tuthill said to the jury: "The Court has kept you here an exceptionally long time because the evidence was so voluminous and so much in detail that I wished to give you full time to discuss it in all its aspects. It is very much to be regretted that you are unable to agree. The case has been very long and protracted. It is one of the most important that has ever been tried in this country—and I was anxious that the jury could come to some conclusion, but I am bound to accept the statement of jurors made through your foreman and individually by you and the expression of the defendant and his council and the states attorney also has received serious consideration by me. My own judgement, indeed, concurs with all and I think it is useless to keep you longer confined in this matter. I therefore, enter an order for the discharge of this jury. The defendant will be remanded. You will apply to the clerk for your certificates."

A sigh of relief went up all over the court room that the end had at last been reached. There was a rush on the part of the newspaper men to get out of the building and as soon as the bailiffs could restore quiet Judge Tuthill adjourned the court.

WHY THEY DO NOT PASS.

Kidney Disease Prevents Hundreds of Apparently Healthy Men From Passing a Medical Examination for Life Insurance.

If you have inquired into the matter you will be surprised at the number of your friends who find themselves rejected as applicants for life insurance, because of kidney trouble. They think themselves healthy until they undergo the medical test, and they fail in this one point. South American Kidney Cure will remove not alone the early symptoms, but all forms of kidney disease, by dissolving the uric acid and hardening substances that find place in the system. J. D. Locke, of Sherbrooke, Que., suffered for three years from a complicated case of kidney disease and spent over $100 for treatment. He got no relief until he used South American Kidney Cure, and he says over his own signature that four bottles cured him. Sold by W. W. Short.

WANAMAKER ON ADVERTISING.

"I never in my life used such a thing as a poster or dodger or handbill. My plan for twenty years has been to buy so much space in a newspaper and fill it up as I wanted. I would not give an advertisement in a newspaper of 500 circulations for 5000 dodgers or posters.

"If I wanted to sell cheap jewelry, or run a gambling scheme, I might use posters; but I would not insult a decent reading public with handbills.

"The class of people who read them are too poor to look for support in mercantile affairs. I deal directly with the publisher. I say to him:

"How long will you let me run a column of matter through your paper for $100 or $500 as the case may be. I let him do the figuring and if I think he is not trying to take more than his share, I give him the copy. I lay aside the profits on a particular line of goods for advertising purposes.

"At first I laid aside $3,000, last year I laid aside and spent $40,000. I have done better this year and shall increase that sum as the profits warrant it. I owe my success to newspapers, and to them I freely give a certain profit of my yearly business."

In late years Mr. Wanamaker's advertising has, of course, reached much more.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Hartford Courant says, "It is with Charles A. Dana's brilliant intellectual qualities could have been conjoined those other qualities which made Francis A. Walker what he was and his memory what it is, the editor of the Sun would have been a great power for good in the national life, and his influence would have been felt beneficently for generations." How much perfection has been spoiled by an 'if.'

A man has committed suicide near Colborne to escape imprisonment for debt. It is time imprisonment for debt was stopped. Recent changes in the law permitting Division Court actions on interest in arrears brought a number of debtors, heretofore exempt, within reach of the imprisonment process. It may be that the best way to get rid of a bad law is to enforce it, but that is rather hard on the victims.

In a discussion on salaries in the ministry. The New York Observer gives statistics showing that in the Southern Methodist Church the average salary is $473.35 a year. In the Presbyterian denomination the average is $800. In analyzing the cause of this comparatively low average there is no escape from the conclusion that the profession is overcrowded. The same crowding that marks every useful occupation is exerting the inevitable effect in the ministry.

The magnitude of the Lake marine is increasingly impressive. It is something to capture the attention even of one who is careless of great commercial interests to read the statement of the tonnage carried to and fro to Lake Superior. It is a picturesque fact that the tonnage carried through the Sault Ste Marie—the Soo—during the seven months of open navigation last year was five times greater than that carried through the Suez Canal. Nearly two hundred and fifty iron or steel steamers and five hundred wooden ships under steam or sail are annually employed. Buffalo's lake exports are in the millions of tons and one of its imports last year was 610,372,884 feet of lumber. The great lumber interests of the furthest lake region are being immensely developed by building of more than a hundred new freight steamers for lakes.

HE LOVED TRUTHFULNESS.

A careless mason dropped a brick from the second story of a building on which he was at work, says an exchange. Leaning over the wall and glancing downward, he discovered a respectable citizen with his silk hat jammed over his eyes and ears, rising from an incumbent posture. The mason, in tones of apprehension inquired, "Did the brick hit anyone down there?" The citizen with great difficulty extricated himself from the extinguisher into which his hat had been converted, replied with considerable wrath, "Yes sir, it did. It hit me." "That's right," exclaimed the mason, in tones of undisguised admiration; "noble man, I would rather have wasted a thousand bricks than have you tell me a lie about it."

OF INTEREST TO CYCLISTS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—George W. Orr, of Toronto, Ont., president of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, arrived in this city Wednesday and held a conference Wednesday night with the officials of the California Associated Cycle Clubs. In the course of the conference President Orr stated that he was convinced from his own observations that the California association was practically in control on this coast and that at the next meeting of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association the California Associated Cycling Clubs would be recognized as the controlling body of the Pacific coast. This means that the International Cyclists' Union will recognize the California body and the agreement between the C. W. A. and the I. A. W. will be terminated.

THE X RAYS.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 21.—For the first time in the history of murder trials an X Ray Photograph has been offered in evidence. This occurred in the Haunes murder trial in this city this afternoon. In this case the prosecution claims that a 32 calibre bullet struck Allan in the jaw; that it split and one piece was deflected into the chin and that the other piece is in the back of Allen's head. The defence claims that the substance at the base of Allen's skull is not a fragment of a 32 calibre bullet, but is a complete 32 calibre bullet. To prove this claim the defence produced an X Ray photograph of Allen's neck, showing the substance which resembles a bullet near the second vertebrae at the base of the skull. Dr. Gilbert Cannon of this city made the photograph and from experiments says that the bullet is not a calibre bullet. Both sides argued for several hours this afternoon over the offer in evidence of the photo by the defence. Justice Wright finally allowed it and it was examined carefully by the jury.
