

COATESVILLE.

Oct. 23 '97.—The stillness of the dark hours of the early morning of the 16th was disturbed by sounds which proceeded from the residence of H. M. Budd, of this place, and which proved to be the voice of Mrs. Budd who determined to resist the arrest of their nephew, William Budd of Moncton, by officer Jones, of Amherst, and his men. It seems that young Budd is charged with stealing lead pipe from the government shops, and was arrested two years ago and lodged in Moncton lockup, but escaped during the time of trial, and, although shadowed by the police he has succeeded in avoiding them ever since. When detected he tried to effect an escape through a window, this proving unsuccessful he ran down stairs (while his cousin Miles, was certifying his absence from the premises,) bolted out of the front door and made for the highway. But the officer was too quick for him and soon caught and had him in irons. (Perhaps the officer would not have been so successful, if it had not been for the noble assistance of N. B. Sherwood.) They then entered the house where Mr. Sherwood was confronted by Mrs. Budd with a club. Officer Jones quietly disarmed her, with a caution to be very careful, and his men took the prisoner and left very quietly. They all behaved themselves as gentlemen, making no noise whatever. Officer Jones took the prisoner to Dorchester, where he lodged in jail, to await his trial at the next sitting of the County Court. H. M. Budd and O. E. Price had a second visit from officers Skeffington and Jones on Tuesday 19th in search of stolen property, nothing has been found as yet. It is a pity that this hitherto quiet village should thus have become infested by such evils. Often the stillness of the night is broken and the quieter inhabitants awakened from their slumbers by the roughs of the place who seem to delight in annoying and alarming the neighborhood, until strangers are almost afraid to venture in, and some of the people of the place do not feel safe in lying down in their beds. It is to be hoped that a change for the better will take place soon.

THE WINDSOR FIRE FIENDS.

ENOUGH EVIDENCE TO SEND MCINTYRE TO LIMBO.

WINDSOR, N. S., Oct. 24.—The police searched McIntyre's house to-day and in five minutes sufficient evidence was found to send McIntyre to the penitentiary. A military guard was placed in the house. Several lamps were found recently emptied, also an oil can which was filled with oil for McIntyre late Saturday night. Fires have been started in three places—in each bedroom, in the upper hall and under the eave. The floor was saturated with paraffine oil and the corner partially burned. Several mattresses were found saturated with oil. When a trunk was broken open a valuable roll of cloth and velvet and fur tippets were found, costing about one hundred dollars. Whole webs of dress material and satin faced cloths were found hidden away in a closet. Fletcher has virtually thrown up the sponge. He admits almost everything but applying the torch. He blames McIntyre. A keg of gunpowder was found this afternoon near Fletcher's place. The committee of St. John ladies left for home to-night.

BURNED TO DEATH.

LEVIS, Quebec, Oct. 23.—Three houses were burned here last night, and Mrs. Beaulieu had a narrow escape. Her sister was burned to death. Amanda Patry, the dead woman, lost her life in returning into the burning house for money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A fire on Broadway near Ninth street early to-day caused the death of two men. The building was of brick, and was owned by the Sailors' Snug Harbor estate. When the firemen were able to get through the burning structure Henry Haight, the fireman, was found in a standing posture leaning against a beam and the engineer Patrick Collopy, stooped over the sill of a front window. Both had been suffocated as they struggled to get out. It is said that the victims were intoxicated, and set fire to the building themselves.

KITE AND DOG 2000 FT. HIGH.

THE DOG COMES DOWN ALL RIGHT BUT SHIVERING.

John Hall, the inventor of the wonderful diamond-shaped kite, resides at 4454 Vista avenue. In the rear of this house is a neat little workshop, stored with kites of every description. After two years of labor and experiment, when his workshop was crowded with curiosities that went up but gave no satisfaction, Hall was sitting disconsolately at the door, watching the pigeons soaring overhead. They rose and fell, circled about, or sped forward at will.

He would make a kite like a bird. The wings, he argued, must do the work. The body he would not attempt to create. He set to work on the proposition. In a month his diamond-shaped kite appeared in the air. It was a great success. It soared upward rapidly, and almost perpendicularly. It strained at the string like a wild bird fighting to be free.

And more, it did not dart here and there, but remained steady in the air—a thing of beauty and power—a delight to the inventor's heart, the nearest approach to a bird which man had yet created. Its sails are wings of cloth, its body fine wood, holding the sails in proper position. Last evening the inventor sent his kite up on an experimental trip. He attached a car to the structure. It was suspended to a frame work between the two wings, or sails, and contained a young Scotch terrier, weighing about 12 pounds, in one compartment, and a dozen eggs in the other. With the weights attached unusual difficulty was experienced in getting a start. At last the wings took the breeze, up it went over the houses, and waned into a speck. It was allowed to sail the full length of the string, about 2,000 feet. It was with much interest that the small group of spectators watched the kite come down. Everybody wondered if the dog was still alive, and how many eggs were broken. At last it was carefully landed. Not an egg was broken. The dog was alive, but shivering and struggling to break through the net over his little cage.—St. Louis Republican.

A BOY'S SUFFERINGS

ATTACKED WITH INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM AT AN EARLY AGE.

Each Successive Year Brought Fresh Attacks With Increasing Severity Until He Was a Physical Wreck.

From the Sun, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kelly are people who are deeply grateful for a kind intervention of Providence whereby the life, health and happiness of their twelve year old son, Master Harry, has been restored and preserved. Mr. Kelly is one of the best known conductors on the Midland division of the G. T. R., and is now residing in this city. A Sun reporter having heard of the cure of the little fellow and the joy of his parents, called at their home and was met by Mrs. Kelly, who on being informed of the object of his visit, at once told the story of the cure and how the results were attained. We were living in Madoc when our boy was about five years of age and in the spring I went to call him one morning. He replied to my call by saying he could not rise. I at once went to him and found that he was unable to walk. Medical aid being summoned we discovered that inflammatory rheumatism had our little boy in its grasp. All that attention and doctors could do was done and the attack passed off, but the following spring while in Peterboro he was again seized with the dread disease and again we were in terrible dread of losing the child. When the warm weather came again he rallied, but was very weak and only a shadow of his former self.

Despite all we could do he was again attacked in the next spring. You can imagine the fear and dread with which we watched these recurring attacks, each one more severe than the last, and each one leaving our boy in a worse condition than those that went before. His last attack confined him to bed for three months, and his heart was dangerously affected. His sufferings were terrible, and it was painful to see him trying to carry food to his mouth. His nervous system was so shattered that a form of St. Vitus' dance had affected him, and his hand and arm trembled so that he could not feed or aid himself. Some friends advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and recommended them so highly that my husband and myself decided to try them. We gave them to Harry for several months and when the spring came watched anxiously, fearing a return of the trouble, but they were thankful and delighted to see no symptoms of it, nor has he been troubled for the past three years. "What is the condition of his health at present?" asked the reporter. "He is as sturdy and as healthy a boy as parents could wish for. I attribute his recovery and present health to nothing but Pink Pills, and I cheerfully recommend them to all."

Rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, nervous prostration, and diseases depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., all disappear before a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions. Sold by all dealers and post paid at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not be persuaded to take some substitute.

MISS C. L. CROSSMAN'S DEATH.

The remains of the late Miss Charlotte L. Crossman reached Moncton on the C. P. R. yesterday afternoon and were taken to the home of her father, Mr. Edward Crossman, High street. Miss Crossman's death will be heard with a great deal of regret by a wide circle of friends in Westmorland and the adjoining counties of Kent and Albert. The deceased, who was 26 years of age, taught school for a time in the Victoria school, and also taught at Harcourt, Kent Co., as well as in Albert county. She was a member of the Moncton First Baptist church. Some time ago the deceased young lady caught a severe cold, which developed into lung trouble. About 5 or 6 months ago she went to Boston for medical treatment, but did not improve very materially. She was able to be around, however, on the day of her death and her demise was sudden and unexpected. The medical attendant pronounced death due to heart trouble.

The funeral will take place from her father's residence, High street, at 13.30 o'clock on Sunday.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

LIQUOR GROCERS.

WHITE RIBBONERS CONDEMN THEM IN THEIR CONVENTION TALK.

TORONTO, October, 21.—The Liquor Grocer was the chief topic discussed by the Dominion W. C. T. U. convention this morning.

General opinion was expressed that a woman could not be a loyal white ribboner and buy her groceries at the shop where liquor was sold.

Miss Dougall, of Montreal, read the report on Temperance Grocery Work. She urged the members to deal only with temperance grocers. Those who dealt with grocers licensed to sell spirituous liquors shared in the guilt of the traffic. Prohibition, of course, would wipe out this evil, but meanwhile the licensed grocery was doing much harm. In some of the low groceries in Montreal they kept cheap beer on tap, which they gave to poor women to induce them to trade there. In the high class shops it was possible for ladies to order liquor under the guise of groceries, and so to conceal a destructive appetite for a long time from their nearest and dearest.

A warm discussion followed, in which one lady protested that women who dealt with the liquor grocer belied the white ribbon.

Another lady suggested a problem when she asked what a W. C. T. U. woman should do who had a liquor grocer in the family?

Some of the ladies suggested not only to boycott liquor grocers, but grocers who sold tobacco. Before the discussion ended however, it took on a more moderate tone.

It was thought it would be better to fight principles than persons. Mrs. (Dr.) Yeomans read a very practical report on work in police stations, prisons and goals. She suggested: (1) Earnest work for the plebiscite, because prohibition was a preventive of crime. (2) Houses for dependent children not yet criminal. (3) Inebriate homes for confirmed drunkards and compulsory incarceration. (4) Police matrons, women bailiffs to travel with female prisoners, women doctors to attend their own sex in asylums and prisons, women attendants for female prisoners. (5) Homes in every province for the aged poor. (6) Careful gradation and wise employment for prisoners. (7) A petition to the Dominion Government to urge free access for members of the W. C. T. U. to all prisons and asylums in their vicinity.

Mrs. Yeomans explained that this petition was already being formulated.

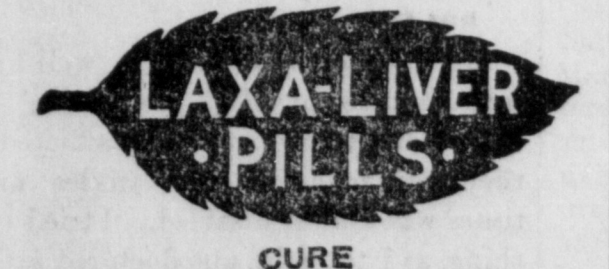

Mrs. Cole, of Montreal, presented the report on systematic giving.

Other reports were read on work among railway employees, parlor meetings, kitchen gardens and other departments of the work.

To-night there will be a grand rally in Massey Hall, at which Miss F. C. S. Willard, President of the World's National W. C. T. U., will speak on "A White Life for Two."

HE DOESN'T WANT MUCH.

A young man announces in a contemporary that he wants a good strong, Christian wife to take care of the chickens and garden. There is a chance of a lifetime for some girl who has strength in her arms and grace in her heart.—Western Plowman.
