ENGLAND'S STORM.

IMMENSE DAMAGE TO SHIPPING AND PROPERTY.

LONDON, November 30.—Details of the terrific storm which swept the English coast on Sunday night and yesterday are gradually coming to hand, and it would appear that the damage has been so great that it will be some time before any estimate of its extent can be arrived at.

Scarcely a town on the coast has escaped without more or less injury, falling walls and flying debris adding to the loss of life. There have been rocket and life-boat rescues almost without number. Stories of thrilling escapes come from all points. On the Norfolk coast between Bacton and Happisburg, five vessels, as yet unidentified, went down and the crew of all perished. A number of bodies have been washed ashore near Yarmouth. The British brig Ruby was wrecked off Hemsby. The coast guard service made desperate efforts to save the crew and succeeded in getting a line on board. A dying woman was "rocketed" in safety; and then the brig capsized, all the rest of the ship's company perishing.

A large steam collier dashed upon Flamborough Head, the famous promontory on the North Sea coast, floated off and then foundered with all on board.

A steamer not yet identified was wrecked on Bridlington sands with her entire company.

Monday evening the ship Rose of Devon Captain Davis, went on the rocks near Redruth, Cornwall, where she pounded all night long, her crew of 12 perishing. This morning the bodies of the captain and five seamen, all wearing life-belts, were washed ashore.

At Liverpool the squalls blew off the roofs of several houses, threw down chimneys and tore up trees. The Mersey flooded its banks on the Chester side and deluged the shore districts for miles.

Similar disasters occurred at Holyhead, where a number of valuable yachts were sunk at their moorings. Scarcely a vestige remains in sight of the wreck of Lord Nelson's old flagship, the Foudroyant, long fast in the sands off Blackpool. There is a great deal of wreckage near the Goodwin Sands.

The scenes at such popular resorts as Yarmouth and Margate were of great grandeur; but the damage done was terrible. Tremendous seas still invade the gardens of the hotels and residences wrecking the parades and building, while debris is floating about.

Immense damage has been done to the Government property at the Sheerness dockyard and the Woolwich arsenal. Seven thousand troops were hurriedly ordered out yesterday to remove thousands of pounds worth of ammunition and stores from the wharves and sheds to places of safety. The tide continued to rise and invaded almost all the workshops, quenched the engine fires, and stopped the electric lights. The workmen were obliged to go home, wading knee deep. Despite all the precautions, damage to the amount of many thousands of pounds has been done. At Sheerness and Queensborough, two miles away, hundreds of acres have been submerged, scores of cellars flooded, and 200 yards of the Sheerness pier have been swept away.

The boom of distress guns from Goodwin Sands was almost continuous. Below London bridge the low-lying houses and cellars are flooded, and all work is temporarily suspended along the Thames, even as high as Charing Cross. The continual rising of the river is looked upon as ominous, though as yet no damage has been done above London bridge.

Six vessels were wrecked between Yarmouth and Bacton, only a few miles apart, on the Norfolk coast, and twenty-five lives lost. The brig Vedra stranded at Bacton. The storm tore out her masts, and when the rocket line was fired the crew were unable to haul it in. Finally, the line dragged them into the surf, and three out of seven were drowned.

Rochester and Strood on the Medway, about thirty miles south-east of London, have suffered severely. At Rochester the gas works are flooded and the town is in darkness.

The gale is travelling southward and traversing various parts of the continent. Very rough weather is reported along the north coast of France.

RHEUMATIC SLAVES.

Are Being Freed by the Thousands Under the Benign Influence of South American Rheumatic Cure.

"I was a slave to Rheumatism in a very acute form for over a year. I could not attend to business. The pains in my limbs were intense. I tried South American Rheumatic Cure. After using one bottle I was so greatly benefited I continued using it, and to-day after using only three bottles, I am perfectly well." F. G. COLE, Grain Merchant, Flesherton, Ont. Sold by W. W. Short.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE DIVINE IDEAL.

Sound Health an Essential in Reaching the Great Goal.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND BESTOWS THAT BLESSING.

Its Use Means Vigorous Manhood and Womanhood With Clear and Active Brain.

THE GREAT COMPOUND KEEPS THE BODY IN PERFECT CONDITION.

The illustrious German philosopher Kant says: "There is within every mind a divine ideal, the type after which he was created, the germs of a perfect person."

It is true that the nearer men and women approach the divine ideal the more earthly happiness will they enjoy. In order to march steadily onward to the great goal set before all, men and women must be physically sound. Purity of heart and grand elevation of mind will never accomplish the great victory if the body be sick and diseased.

Those who aspire to true manhood and womanhood are the men and women who take the precaution to banish the very first symptoms of disease. That tired feeling you experience from day to day; that nervous headache you dread so much; that "can't sleep" condition that makes you weak and wretched; the pains in side and back indicating kidney disease; the sharp twinges of rheumatism and neuralgia that make life a misery; that constipated habit that is sending poison into your life blood—all these varied symptoms lead to disease and death unless they are banished.

Paine's Celery Compound puts the out-of-gear physical machinery in perfect working condition, and gives that greatest of all gifts—good health. This marvelous medicine is a food that perfectly nourishes the nerves, tissues and blood; it brings strength and vigor to the limbs, gives the rosy blush of health to the pallid face, and brings clearness and energy to the brain.

Paine's Celery Compound, as a medicine for the ordinary ills of every day life, is as far removed from the common pills, nervines, bitters and sarsaparillas as the diamond is from ordinary window glass. The people praise it, all honest druggists speak in its favor, and the ablest doctors prescribe it. If you are only half enjoyable, try what Paine's Celery will do for you.

It's not the cough, but what it may end in, that makes it so serious. The cough may be cured, the serious consequence prevented by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Price, 25 cents, at all druggists.

SHOP LIFTING.

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—Rev. Mr. Bates, clergyman of Thornville village, near here is under arrest here on a charge of shop lifting at Eaton's departmental store. Bishop Sweetman has given $1000 bail for him. Mr. Bates wore a big Inverness cloak and the employees of the Eaton Company say they saw him secrete various articles under his cloak. He pleaded not guilty.

HICKS, South Bay, Ont.: "Laxo-Liver Pills are excellent for sick-headache, causing no pain or griping." Mrs. JOHN TOMLINSON, Hamilton, Ont.: "They are a perfect cure for even the severest headache."

ENGLISH LAWYERS.

The Small Fees That Are Received by the London Barristers.

A barrister's fees are small, and they are always paid in advance, and the sum is recorded under the title of the brief. A friend who has a large practice showed me his feebok yesterday. The largest item was 38 guineas, which is less than $200. The average was about $50. Fees are regulated by the benchers of the inn according to the service performed, and no contingent fees are allowed. A barrister may accept a case for nothing or return the fee in cases of charity, but he cannot without violating his oath, directly or indirectly, accept any greater compensation for a legal service than is allowed in the regular schedule fixed by the benchers of his inn. If he does so, he is debarred from practice.

It is a common custom in America for a lawyer to undertake a suit for the recovery of damages or a claim of any kind with a contract that he shall receive a certain percentage of the amount of money recovered. In England such an act would be considered disreputable, and any barrister found guilty would be expelled from his inn. The fees are regulated by the amount of time and labor required, and not by the amount of money involved. A barrister may receive a fee of $250 in a case involving only $500, and he may receive a fee of $25 in a case involving $1,000,000.

All legal business originates with solicitors. They bring to the barrister's office a case all prepared after certain forms and written in manuscript. The British courts do not permit typewriting. The solicitor requests the barrister to undertake the case, and the fee is marked plainly upon the brief. If the barrister does not care to undertake the labor for the amount of money allowed or for any other reason, he advises the solicitor to go elsewhere. If he accepts the responsibility, the solicitor leaves the amount of the fee in coin with the brief, so that the barrister has his pay in advance. This is the almost invariable custom. The only exceptions are in cases of close friendship between the solicitor and barrister and where there is a large amount of litigation in which both are involved. Then it is customary for the barrister to make up his bill at the end of the month or the end of the quarter, but the fee in each case must nevertheless be written upon the brief and recorded in the books of the court.

It is customary, also, for the solicitor to leave a fee for the barrister's clerk at the same time, which must be a certain percentage of that paid to the barrister. When you dine at a hotel or a restaurant in England, it is customary to tip the waiter an amount equal to 5 per cent of your bill for the same reason. The waiter receives no compensation from his employer, nor does the barrister's clerk. His pay comes entirely from the clients, and if his principal has no clients he gets no pay. On the other hand, if his principal has a very large and profitable practice his fees are enormous. They say that the clerk of Sir Charles Russell lives in a handsome villa down in the suburbs, is driven to and from his office in a brougham and hires a box at the opera for the season.—Chicago Record.

No More of It For Him.

He entered the shop of a fashionable bootmaker, a look of determination on his face. It was such a look as one sees on the face of a man who is firmly resolved to carry out, at all hazards, a decision which will change the whole course of his life.

"H'm!" he began as the assistant stepped forward and politely questioned him as to his requirements in feet beautifiers. "I want a pair of shoes for my wife, Mrs. Brown."

"Yes, sir, certainly," said the young man briskly. "Same style and size as last week?"

"Same style. Size, five-wide five," replied Brown decidedly.

"But—er—excuse me. Mrs. Brown only takes—that is, she usually has 3½," exclaimed the assistant, who knew the lady well.

"Are you married, young man?" queried Brown sternly, the look of determination deepening on his careworn features.

"Er—not yet, sir," answered the shopman, blushing.

"I thought not," returned Brown.

"I am! I am not going to suffer half an hour's purgatory every morning, watching a woman try to squeeze a bushel of feet into a peck of boots. I've stood it long enough, and I'm going to take her a pair that will fit."—Pearson's Weekly.

Making Things Clear.

An old Peebles worthy and an English lady were one day recently occupants of a railway carriage in an Edinburgh bound train. The train had been waiting long at a certain station, and there was no appearance of its starting, when the worthy remarked, "They're a gay tagelosome lot here."

"I beg your pardon," said the lady.

"I'm sayin' they're an awfu' daidlin squad here," said the old fellow.

"I really beg your pardon, sir," she rejoined.

"I'm remarkin' they're a vera dreich lot here the night," the old gentleman further ventured.

"Really, I must again beg your pardon," said the lady, with marked embarrassment, "but I do not comprehend you."

"I was just trying to say the train was late," he finally blurted.

"Indeed, sir, it is very late," agreed the lady.

And the conversation collapsed.—Dundee News.
