KNOCKED OVERBOARD AND DROWNED.

MONCTON, Nov. 16.—John Bogle, aged 18, a native of Ireland, and a seaman on schr. Morning Star, Capt. Newcomb, from Kingsport, N. S., for Moncton, with apples was knocked overboard this morning by the jibing of the foreboom at Stoney Creek, about seven miles down river. He was heavily clad in oilskin clothes and sank before a boat could reach him. He had only been in this country about three months. When not at sea he lived with relatives in Albert county.

WEAK, FAINT FEELINGS.

Serious Conditions that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can Readily Cure.

One of the indications of serious heart trouble is the sensation of weakness or faintness that comes on at times. Sometimes it is simply a dizzy feeling that passes off, or it may be a state of unconsciousness with hands and feet cold and countenance ghastly pale.

These symptoms indicate a weakened heart. They are unmistakable evidences of the engine of life breaking down.

Now there's only one reliable remedy for restoring strength and vitality to weakened hearts and relieving all the distressing symptoms. It is Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

The case of Mrs. A. Stratton, Fredericton, N.B., amply proves this. Here is her statement: "I suffered very much from an impoverished condition of the blood, coupled with extreme nervousness. A dizzy sensation on arising quickly or coming down stairs, often troubled me, and my breath was so short that I could not walk up stairs. The least exertion caused my heart to flutter and palpitate violently, and I sometimes felt a smothering sensation on going to sleep."

I doctored back and forth for my weakness, but I got no relief from any medicine until I tried Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I can say that they helped me wonderfully. Sometimes my face and arms would swell and puff, but all these troubles speedily yielded to the restoring influences of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I am now strong and well. I did not use them long until I regained the blessing of healthful, refreshing sleep and it will always be a pleasure to me to recommend them to others."

CLERGYMAN HANGED FOR MURDER.

THE STORY OF REV. G. B. MORRISON'S CRIME.

At Dallas, Texas, on Thursday, Nov. 9, Rev. G. B. Morrison was hanged for the murder of his wife. He met death resignedly. On the scaffold he said: "I am innocent. Circumstances over which I had no control have placed me in this position. I have taken my troubles in private to my God. I admit that I have acted indiscreetly. I have not done worse, however, than hundreds of men who stand high in the religious, social, business and official circles of your state. I have seen nothing to confess. I am in the hands of my Maker. He knows I am innocent." Morrison's neck was broken, and his death appeared to be painless. The crime for which Rev. G. B. Morrison paid the death penalty was the poisoning of his wife, a pretty, amiable and loving woman, in October, 1897, in order to marry a lady of large means.

While attending college the young clergyman met a Miss Whittlesey, and after ascertaining that she was an heiress, proposed marriage. He pretended that his wife had been dead seven years, that he had quit preaching, had been successfully engaged in the cattle business for eight years and owned a ranch near Higgins, Texas.

On his return to Texas he began corresponding with Miss Whittlesey, urging his offer of marriage, stating that he had for a number of years intended to come to her when he could do so honorably and he believed he could now see the time. This statement was made one month before the death of his wife.

He procured strichnine for the ostensible purpose of poisoning animals, which he said was killing his chickens. On the day previous he had procured a box of quinine with empty capsules. Subsequently he took the strichnine back to the druggist, saying he was afraid to use it for fear he would poison his neighbors' chickens. The package had been opened. Sunday night he preached and alluded in a pathetic manner to the parting with the loved ones at death. After church the same evening his wife became seriously ill, and before medical assistance arrived she was dead. Two days before the death of his wife and also after her burial Morrison wrote to Miss Whittlesey, asserting his love in the most fervent terms. In the letter he announced the death of his brother's wife and notified Miss Whittlesey of an early visit. He was arrested and after some delay convicted and sentenced to death.

BOERS REPULSED WITH GREAT LOSS.

LORENZO MARQUEZ, Nov. 18.—The official Volkstein reports the bridge over Tugela near Colenso as completely destroyed on Wednesday. The Boers are looking forward with great interest to the impending encounter between Colenso and Estcourt with the advancing British. About six hundred Burgers with cannon are guarding the Helpmaaker Pass 18 miles from Dundee, to baffle any strategical attempt to reoccupy Dundee by the Pietermaritzburg Greytown route.

LORENZO MARQUEZ, Nov. 18.—The bombardment of Ladysmith has continued almost daily with big guns. The Boers endeavored on Tuesday to make closer investigation but were repulsed. Gen. White followed this up with a sortie which drove the Boers from all their positions with considerable loss. The Boers are reported seriously short of provisions.

BOERS DRIVEN BACK.

ESTCOURT, Nov. 18.—The bombardment at Ladysmith was continued almost daily with big guns. The Boers endeavored on Tuesday, Nov. 14, to make a closer investment but was repulsed. Gen. White followed this up with a sortie, which drove the Boers from all their positions with considerable loss. The Boers are reported to be seriously short of provisions.

A PREACHER'S NERVE.

Will Break Under the Strain or Indigestion—Here's the Testimony of the Preacher and His Wife—Back-sliders From Good Health Reclaimed by the Power of the Great South American Nerve.

Rev. W. S. Barker, of Peterboro', says: "I was greatly afflicted with indigestion and nervous prostration, and my wife was all run down and suffering much from general debility, and we heartily join hands in giving testimony to the great relief and curative powers of South American Nerve. Spleadid results followed the taking of the first bottle, and a few bottles have cured us both and we cheerfully recommend it to our fellow-sufferers." Sold at Est. W. W. Short.

SHE WAS TOO MAD TO SPEAK.

The Washington woman came across some excellent tea in England—tea the like of which she had never known before. She knew there was none of it to be had in America, so she bought pounds and pounds of it to bring home with her. She didn't mean to pay duty on it, for she felt that no really patriotic American can consistently pay a tea tax after what our ancestors did in Boston harbor, so she made herself a petticoat, and into the lining thereof she quilted the tea. When the steamer drew into port, she put on the garment. To wear it was martyrdom. It seemed to weigh a ton. She could scarcely walk in it, and the hang of her new going ashore gown was utterly ruined by it, but the custom house officials let her pass without suspicion. She went directly to the railway station and started for Washington. The journey will live long in her memory for its discomfort. Her husband met her at the station. He marked her pale, worn look. As they stepped into the carriage she told him the story.

"I wasn't going to let them get ahead of me," she said proudly. "Wasn't it a lovely idea?"

Her husband fell back in the carriage and roared.

"Lovely!" he said. "Lovely! I should say it was. Why, my dear, there isn't any duty on tea."

And let me remark in passing that the child's sob in the silence isn't by any means the only thing that curseth deeper than the strong man in his wrath.

ELOPES WITH FIVE WOMEN.

REV. DR. SHARRETT, 91 YEARS OLD. TURNS MORMON AND RUNS OFF WITH A QUINTE.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 16.—Impressed with the advantages of polygamy over pauperism, Rev. Dr. Sharrett, a nonagenarian inmate of the poorhouse in this city, departed from that institution on Saturday night, taking with him no less than five female paupers.

It is the declared intention of the aged clergyman and his infatuated followers to walk to Utah, where, under the protection of the Mormon Church, they hope to be permitted to enjoy their new faith in peace. Dr. Sharrett's followers are all women of advanced years.

Dr. Sharrett, who not long ago celebrated his ninety-first birthday in the poorhouse, which had been his home for many years, recently received a circular explaining the peculiar doctrines of the Mormon Church and advocating plural matrimony.

The arguments made a deep impression on the old gentleman, and he soon openly proclaimed himself to be a convert to the doctrines of Joseph Smith. Not only was he converted, but he became an active propagandist and preached his new faith with such diligence that he soon made many converts among his fellow paupers of the fair sex, to whom his arguments were particularly addressed.

At first his ministrations were the subject of merriment among the authorities of the poorhouse, but yesterday morning the discovery was made that he and the five old women had secretly departed from the institution during the night.

Their intentions were revealed by the discovery of a letter addressed to the superintendent of the poorhouse, which was found inside the bed occupied by Dr. Sharrett. It was signed by the old pastor and his five companions, all of whom announced that they had embraced the Mormon faith, and that being penniless they had decided to undertake on foot the long march to the new Zion.

A Popularity That Increases with Mighty Strides.

Diamond Dyes First in All Points That Make Perfection.

Notwithstanding the fact that imitation and crude package dyes and soap-grease dyes are before the public seeking recognition, the fame and popularity of the Diamond Dyes increases with mighty strides.

Those who have the misfortune to try any of the inferior dyes sold by some dealers know well how deceptive they prove. The users are utterly disheartened and disappointed. Their work with these common dyes show muddy and dull colors, and anger is kindled because valuable garments and materials are spoiled.

The Diamond Dyes, simple and easy to use, have a standard of excellence that no others can approach. They give true, uniform and honest results when used in the mansion or cottage. Bright, clear and brilliant colors are always obtained on all kinds of goods—all wool, all cotton or mixed goods—when the plain directions are followed.

Do not be deceived by any dealer when he offers you something just as good as the Diamond Dyes. There are no other dyes in the world that can equal the "Diamond"; no others that can so successfully make old things new.

Albert Latowelle is lodged in Hull jail, charged with the murder of William Reid, who died in the Protestant hospital on Tuesday last. The prisoner will be arraigned when the coroner's jury disposes of the case. Latowelle quarrelled with Reid and, it is said, the latter died from injuries inflicted by the former.
