JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT
Is strictly a family remedy for internal as much as external use To cure Colds, Croup, Coughs, Catarrh Cramps and Colic it acts promptly.

ORIGINATED BY AN OLD FAMILY PHYSICIAN.

There is not a medicine in use which possesses the confidence of the public to a greater extent than Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. For almost a century it has stood upon its intrinsic merit, while generations after generations have used it. The best evidence of its virtue is the fact that in the state where it originated the sale is steadily increasing. You can safely trust what time has indorsed.

I. S. JOHNSON, Esq.—Fifty years ago this month, your father, Dr. Johnson, left me some Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. I have sold it ever since. I can most truly say that it has maintained its high standard and popularity from that time to the present.

BUCTOUCHE VOLUNTEERS.

The following verses were dictated to the two Buctouche volunteers for the festival—Mr. George Keswick and Mr. Joan Dutney.

Our boys have started for the front—
Beneath a foreign sky,
To bravely bear the battles brunt,
To conquer or to die.
And as they get aboard the train,
Amidst a burst of cheers;
God grant they all return again,
Our Gallant Volunteers.

Right gallantly they seized their arms,
In answer to the call
Of England and dread war's alarms,
To fare in the Transvaal.
Do honor to fair Canada's sons,
We will pay through all the years,
The boys who will stand beside their gun,
Our Gallant Volunteers.

This action shows to all the world,
As nothing else can do;
Where'er old England's flag unfurl,
Her sons are staunch and true;
Though many hearts are filled with woe,
And eyes grow dim with tears,
For the two lads who went to meet the foe,
Our Gallant Volunteers.

There comes a sense of honest pride,
To drive away the grief;
As the thought comes home across the wide
Deep sea. The Maple Leaf.
Her sons are brave as the Highland troops,
Or Dublin Fusiliers;
And our honor is safe with these two boys,
Our gallant volunteers.

Farewell, good luck to one and all,
And always bear in mind,
While you are fighting old Oom Paul,
The friends you have left behind
Will watch with interest your success,
Where'er your names appear;
And pray that God may ever bless,
Our two Gallant Volunteers.

FRENCH-CANADIANS AND THE EMPIRE.

(Montreal Herald.)

In the midst of much clamor of misunderstanding regarding the sentiments and attitude of French-Canadians towards the Empire, there are voices to be heard in Ontario urging the people to remember that men of French origin cannot possibly look upon the Empire, and upon questions arising from our relations to it, from exactly the same point of view as English-speaking people. This is all that our fellow-citizens in Ontario and the other English provinces require to bear in mind to lead them to make due allowances for the attitude of Quebec on questions in which imperialist sentiment plays an active part. As a Toronto contemporary has pointed out, it would be sheer hypocrisy on the part of the French-Canadians were they to assume the same enthusiastic devotion to Britain's cause in the Transvaal that is manifested by their fellow-citizens of British descent. Our attachment to Great Britain, its institutions, and its interests, springs largely from the heart—it is part of our heritage as Britons. The attachment of the French-Canadian, on the other hand, is largely a matter of reason. His head, and not his heart, makes him a loyal subject of the Queen. He realizes that individual liberty, religious freedom, even-handed justice and equal opportunity are his under the British flag. He remembers that France ill-treated and then neglected him in the hour of his trial. He tells you frankly that if the English had not conquered on the Plains of Abraham the French-Canadians would in all probability themselves have risen in arms against their French oppressors and achieved their independence. He has no idea of ever again being a citizen of France.

His dream—if dream he has had of Canada's future—has been of an independent nation, a nation of Canadians.

To have such a dream is no crime. Many of the truest and most patriotic sons of Canada in the other provinces have cherished a similar ambition for their country. But while public opinion in those provinces has been fast moving in the direction of Imperialism, it is only fair to our French-Canadian fellow citizens to remember that they have not felt the full force of this movement. Their pulses were not stirred as were their English brethren's by the drumbeats of the Jubilee procession. No sentimental considerations of the essential unity of the Anglo-Saxon race were sweeping them towards Imperialism. They were Canadians, and resting therein content.

Now, as it were in the twinkling of an eye, they are set face to face with the proposition that they are Britons first and Canadians afterwards. Is it any wonder that they rub their eyes, and ask for time to see what all this means? Loyal? Of course they are. They scout the thought of being anything other. But this new proposition and loyalty, are they one and indivisible? The doctrine has not previously been taught in Canada—is it now to be insisted on in Quebec?

The situation is very simple, very easy to be understood, and certainly not to be improved by harsh and hasty language. Our French-Canadian fellows, brought face to face with a new and most momentous departure from established usage, simply ask that it be justified to their reason, not to their sentiment. If the interests of Canada and of the rest of the Empire are to be conserved by drawing closer the uniting bonds, even if it be to a federation, then our French fellow-citizens will loyally acquiesce, and as loyally strive to fulfill their duties as citizens of the Empire as they now fulfill them as citizens of the Dominion.

SHOT HIMSELF.

WILLIAM HAMILTON FORMERLY OF ST. JOHN SUICIDES AT HALIFAX.

While in a fit of despondency, W. B. Hamilton, a commercial traveller, shot himself in his room in the New Victoria Hotel, Halifax, Friday evening at 9.30 o'clock. Hamilton was a son-in-law of Wm. Law, M. P. P., of Yarmouth, was well known in St. John where he had many friends. The unfortunate man arrived in Halifax on Monday last and registered at the Victoria hotel. His actions yesterday were nothing out of usual and there was nothing known to cause the rash act.

After eating supper he retired to his room, and at about 9.30 o'clock, the proprietor of the house and those in the office were startled to hear three shots ring out in rapid succession. They rushed to the room and found Hamilton lying unconscious on the bed bleeding from three bullet wounds in the neck and below the ear. The unfortunate man was taken to the Victoria Hospital, where he expired fifteen minutes after having been admitted.

William B. Hamilton was a Scotchman by birth and was about 35 years of age. He leaves a wife and three children.

The deceased was well known here having been employed by Messrs. W. H. Thorne and Co., as a hardware traveller. While in St. John Hamilton boarded at the Dufferin Hotel.

He was out of employment for a long time but recently secured a position as traveller for the J. P. Squires & Co. pork packing concern of Boston.

No motive is assigned for the deed unless it were business reverses.

The number of ladies who buy Magnetic Dyes all over Canada surprises even ourselves, of course they give splendid results.

Roland B. Molineux was put on trial for murder at New York in connection with the death of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams, who died after swallowing what was believed to be a headache powder that had been sent through the mail in a silver match holder, as a Christmas present to Harry Cornish.

The December number of the Delineator is called the Yuletide number, and with its innumerable illustrations is certainly one of the most artistic magazines ever sent out. Aside from being this leading Fashion publication, it contains much choice Literary matter from the pens of well-known authors. The Household and Social discussions are ably dealt with and are of real worth. The delightful humorous fantasia Over the Plum Pudding, by John Kendrick Bangs, is thoroughly witty and enjoyable. There is an admirably illustrated article on the Dewey Celebration in New York. An interesting story, The Poppy Lady, by Cornelia Atwood Pratt, dispenses of the impression that the union of artistic temperaments is hostile to domestic happiness. Fidele, by Helen Choate Prince, is a dainty sketch of the implicit, odd devotion animal pets have for masters and friends. A Christmas poem, The Legend of the Yulefire, by Edith M. Thomas, is an impressive effort; in a somewhat lighter strain are the verses, Kisses Kept are Wasted, by Edmund Vance Cooke. A timely and suggestive article is Some Women's Occupations, by Lafavette McLaws. Concluding the series The Great Scourges of Humanity, by Grace Peckham Murray, M. D., is a valuable paper on Cerebral Disorders. In College News Carolyn Hasted gives an interesting analysis of the inspiration and strength of college friendships. In the department Club Women and Club Life, Helen M. Winslow writes charmingly of the Women's Clubs of Kansas. A very clever and instructive article by Emma Haywood gives directions for making Christmas gifts. Of particular interest are the Household topics: Inexpensive Christmas Gifts, and Some Holiday Desserts. In addition, the regular departments are unusually bright and original—Social Observances, by Mrs. Frank Learned; The Milliner, the Dressmaker, Crocheting, Tatting, Knitting, the Newest Books, etc.

BIG SEIZURE OF LOBSTERS.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—The Department of Marine and Fisheries has been advised of a big seizure by Commander Spain of the fishery service and customs surveyor Power of lobsters illegally branded and packed out of season. One of the largest Halifax firms is involved. The lobsters were packed at White Head where violations are said to have been frequent. The seizure is the result of several months work.

Children Cry for CASTORIA.

Mr. Graham Moon, who is employed in the Postoffice Department at Ottawa, has launched a novelty in the way of steam boats. It is a model of the idea of a marine express boat. It is simple in its construction, and consists almost entirely of four big cylinders or wheels, somewhat similar to those of a side wheel steamer, while surmounting the whole is a large deck for passengers.

BRAIN FAG

Is the result of Overwork and an Exhausted Nervous System. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food creates New Brain and Nerve Tissue.

Business and professional men, accountants, stenographers, teachers, students and all brain workers know only too well what it means to have the brain so tired out that concentration of thought is almost impossible.

One-fifth of all the blood in the human body is found in the brain, and unless the blood is pure and rich the brain becomes exhausted for want of proper nourishment.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Blood Food creates new brain and nerve tissue, and produces rich blood, "the vital fluid" of the body.

All brain workers quickly recognize the merits of this great food cure, and after a few doses enter on their work with new energy and ambition.

Brain fag is unknown to persons whose brain and nerve have been invigorated by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, which is for sale by all dealers at 50c. a box.

The officers commanding military districts now in consultation with Gen. Hutton at Ottawa are discussing important matters. Among other things the inspector of cavalry has been asked to draw up short and concise manuals of instruction for mounted services, which shall include concise regulations upon riding as applicable to Canadian horses, and to Canadian services; also upon marching as an ar and on better and more effective training of Canadian cavalry in dismounted services.

Agony of Eczema.

Couldn't sleep at night
with the torture.

Eczema, or Salt Rheum as it is often called, is one of the most agonizing of skin diseases, nothing but torture during the day and twofold torture at night.

But there's a remedy permanently cures the worst kind of Eczema—relieves the itching, burning and smarting and soon leaves the skin smooth and healthy.

It is Burdock Blood Bitters. Mrs. Welch, Greenbank, Ont., tried it and here is what she says:

"B.B.B. cured me of Eczema three years ago and I have had no return of it since. I was so bad that I could not sleep at night with it."

"Being told of B.B.B. I tried it, and two bottles made a perfect and permanent cure."
