SMOTHERING

A Kingston Lady's Experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in Relieving this Distressing Condition.

"I have suffered for some years with a smothering sensation caused by heart disease. The severity of the pains in my heart caused me much suffering. I was also very nervous and my whole system was run down and debilitated.

"Hearing that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were a specific for these troubles, I thought I would try them, and got a box at McLeod's Drug Store. They afforded me great relief, having toned up my system and removed the distressing symptoms from which I suffered. I can heartily recommend these wonderful pills to all sufferers from heart trouble. (Signed) MRS. A. W. IRISH,

BOERS PRESENT WHITE WITH 600

COOLIES.

THIS IS DONE IN THE HOPE OF STARVING OUT THE GARRISON.

LADYSMITH, Nov. 29 .- The Boers, by throwing shells near a draft of oxen that were grazing to the west of the British camp, headed the animals toward their own lines. The mounted infantry tried to recapture the oxen, but were compelled to retire under a heavy fire. Other attempts to regain the animals failed, and the Boers thus captured two hundred more oxen.

The heavy bombardment was renewed on the afternoon of Nov. 24. The Royal hotel was a frequent target. One shell smashed the buffet and damaged several rooms. The cannonade continued until dusk, despite the efforts of the Naval Commandant Schalkburger sent in under a flag of truce 600 coolies, whom he had captured. Gen. White refused to admit them, declaring that the Boer commander was responsible for their safety. He informed Schalkburgher that it was contrary to the usages of war to send more people into a beleaguered town, and said that they ought to be sent further south, He suggested that they be sent to Estcourt or Pietermaritzburg.

London, Dec. 1.—A private of the 1st Devons writes to his father a description of the battle of Elandslsgaate, in which after describing the charge he says:-"When we got to something like within 300 yards all the troops were raving mad to get at the Boers. We then at that distance gave them our magazine fire, and when the officers gave the orders to cease firing they could not get the men to stop, for they were so mad. Then we had the order to fix bayonets; and then the charge and we went up the hill as if we had done no work that day. At the top the Boers held up their arms for mercy, as if it had not been for our officers surrounding the Boers our fellows would have killed every one of them with the bayonet Well, we had a nice feed out of their camp. We took three guns away, also all their ammunition, and as for the other things the general allowed us to take what we liked. So we had rugs, watches and chains, meckintoshes, revolvers, brand new suits of clothes, which had never been put on, in portmanteaus, shirts; in fact, everything was new. Horses, saddles, and bridles new. We brought what we liked away, and when we got back to Lidysmith on Sunday the 22nd, we sold everything to the vivilians in the town, and we made a great deal of money."

An invention has been tested at Weymouth for steering any craft, whether submerged or otherwise, by means of an ether wave, on the wireless telegraph principle. The model was subjected to a variety of tests and followed the current wave as surely as if guided by a rudder. In addition to steering in straight lines. various figures were described. If further tests are successful, it is likely the system will be adopted by the Admiralty. Its effect on modern warfare would be in estimable, as it is asserted that the system cannot only be applied to torpedo and other craft but can be attached to mines and other destructive agencies, firing them without visible means at the most vulnerable spot.

VERY QUEER PEWS

Amusing Peculiarities of Some Ancient English Churches. Some pews in the fine old church at Malpas, Cheshire, possess a most amus-ing peculiarity, says The Golden Penny.

Each one consists of several seats, which are really, though not apparently, detached, and they look easy and comfortable. In this case appearances are deceitful, for should one occupant of any one seat lean forward while "nidnid nodding," over he goes on the floor. The seat is so constructed as to easily tip over when any weight is placed on its outer or front edge and was so designed to prevent people from going to sleep in

We still find in a few of our ancient churches the high pews, luxurious cushions and curious fittings of former days. In the good old times, when the squire was lord of all he surveyed in the village. his pew in the parish church was often a kind of sitting room. One such pew occupies the whole of the south transept of the diminutive church at Gatton, in Surrey. It has a fireplace, a low seat which extends round two sides of the room and blue tapestry decoration. Above it is another floor, on which are three or four ordinary pews for the use of the squire's servants, and from it a covered way leads to Gatton Hall, some few yards away. There may be some truth in the story that a former squire used to enjoy a pipe by the fireplace during the sermon and that if he became weary he would go out through the private door for a short stroll in the churchyard. A similar pew exists in a church at Col wich, Staffordshire. It has a staircase leading to a private door, and it is said that the postman came this way to convey letters and that the servant brought in cake and wine for consumption during the service. The royal pew of St. George's chapel, Windsor, is peculiar, because it is the largest of its kind in England and on account of its being situated above the choir, down upon which the queen can see the service from a fine oriel window.

In little Benjamin church, Norfolk, is a pew for strangers and wedding parties. It was constructed by a shepherd and bears a cheerful, suggestive piece of ornamentation in the shape of the carving of a skeleton, with the following inscrip-

For couples joined in wedlock; and my Friend That stranger is; This seat I did intende. But built at the cost and charge of Stephen Cris-

All you that doe this Place pass by. As you are now, even so was I, And as I am soe shall you bee.

Anno Domini 1640. A game of whist played in a pew would nowadays cause considerable comment, yet it seems that the square pews at Trowbridge were used for this purpose at the time the "poet" Crabbe was droning away in the pulpit.

Other interesting old pews have names and occasionally coats of arms painted on

"'The Rectory Pew,' 'The Churching Pew' and, best of all, 'The Hall Dog's Pew.'

At Four In the Morning.

The hour of 4 a. m. has something mysterious about it. Cocks crow, people on the brink of death give up the ghost, every one who is asleep sleeps sounder, and even the watchful sentry can't always keep his eyes open.

At this hour people are in their weak est state, and if life is just on the flicker it is not surprising that it goes out. Many a man's life has been saved by a spoonful of brandy or ammonia administered just when the clock strikes 14.

The period of deepest sleep varies from 3 to 5 o'clock. An hour or two after going to bed you sleep very soundly, then your slumber grows gradually lighter, and it is easy enough to waken you at 1 or 2 o'clock. But when 4 o'clock comes you are in such a state of somnolence that you would take no notice of the end

Military men are well aware of this curious fact, and they often make sudden assaults on camps or cities between 3 the most wide awake sentry is liable to

To Secure a Government Position.

"Naturally positions under the government are in demand, and it is not altogether an easy matter to secure an appointment to one," writes Barton Cheyney in The Ladies' Home Journal. "It must be remembered in connection with this that a large number of men and women are ambitious to serve the country, and the army of applicants is growing year by year. If one can perform well some kind of work that the government wants done and can ascertain the government's needs in this respect, entrance to the service is not so difficult. But it would be practically useless for one capable only of doing cierical work to attempt to secure a position in the government service. If one, however, has any tecnnical training-is a bookkeeper, a stenographer and typewriter or a lawyer or is schooled in any special line of work -he will have a fair chance of appointment. But he should have a very good knowledge of whatever kind of work he appointment, for the competition is exceedingly sharp, and the contestants are

How to Paper Whitewashed Walls. It is difficult to make paper stick to walls that have been made smooth by frequent whitewashing. The smooth finish may be scraped off or the surface may be changed with a coat of paste. If you decide to use the paste, make it in the following manner: Put one pint of flour in a saucepan and beat into it one quart of cold water. When smooth, add two quarts of boiling water, stirring all the time. Let this boil up once, then strain and cool. Brush this paste over the walls and allow it to dry. When you are ready to paper, wet the walls, spread paste on the paper and hang it in the usual manner.-Ladies' Home Journal.

The Porter's Reply. As a train was moving out of a Scotch station a man in one of the compartments noticed that the porter, in whose charge he had given his luggage, had not put it into the van and so shouted at him and said: "Hi! you old fool! What do you mean by not putting my luggage in the van?"

To which the porter replied: "Eh, man! yer luggage is ne'er such a fool as yersel'! Yer i' the wrang train!"

HE WAS EASILY BUNCOED.

HALIFAX, Dec. 8.-Last night a pass enger who came through from Montreal to take passage on the steamer Monterey for Liverpool complained of the loss of $125 on the train. The loser was an elderly gentleman of good address and was not the kind of person one would expect to be taken in. Nevertheless he was, and all he had to show for his cash was a bogus check endorsed O. K.. cashier The check was made payable to order and was to be cashed in Halifax. "The story told by the passenger shows that he ran across a genuine bunco steerer. The stranger made himself most agreeable and soon worked into the good graces of the elderly gentleman. The pair became confidential and the bunco man announc ed a shortage in cash. He had a check for $125 and by cashing it the victim would confer a lasting favor. The bait took and the exchange was made. Shortly after the smooth-tongued person left for another part of the car and has not been seen since. It was not until the victim reached Halifax that he became aware of his loss. He tried to cash his check, but payment was refused. The C. P. R. promptly took the case in hand and Interpretor John R. Hude has the check, which will be taken to Montreal and given to the police. The bunco man was thought to belong to Montreal and probably returned there after getting in his work.

John Alexander, a son of old Scotia, is here stranded and is a sadder and wiser man. He came from Chicago on the strength of a scalper's ticket good for passage to Glasgow via Liverpool on the steamer Monterey. The vessel has no ac commodation for steerage and Alexander was put on shore. This morning in conversation with a Globe reporter he told a tale of woe. When he arrived here he had ample money to carry him from Chicago to his destination; but after his expulsion he imbibed freely and was relieved of all his spare cash. Alexander wandered aimlessly about and was caught just as he was in the act of jumping over board. This morning he awoke in a city hotel and found that he had lost every thing. The man is stranded and will have to be looked after here.

DIVING FOR $8,000,000,

Soundings and diving are taking place near the island of Terschelling, in the north of Holland, at the spot where a French war ship sunk just one hundred years ago, says the Chicago Record. She was loaded with silver and gold to the amount of 40,000,000 francs, or $8,000,000. and 5, for they know that at that time | The captain's log mentions the amount and as early as 1800 French sailors suc ceeded in bringing to the surface a box containing 1,500,000 francs' worth of gold and silver ingots. In 1856 and 1860 a private undertaking succeeded in raising another 1,250,000 francs' value. The war ship sunk in 230 feet of water and divers have great difficulty in working at such a depth. Dynamite is now being used to break up the iron cases.

A curious proposition has been made to Lord Curzon of Kedreston, the Viceroy of India, by Mirza Ahmad, a well known Mahometan of Kadian. He wants the British Government to call a public conference of all the religions, and submit them to competitive examination under two test demonstrations of the sublimity of their moral teachings by the performance within a year of some miracle. If puts forward in support of his claim for he fails to prove that Mahomet was greater than all others Ahmad offers to (submit to crucifixion.)

Dodd's Kidney CAPE BRETON AFFAIFS.

NORTH SYDNEY, Dec. 6. - A surveying staff are at work on the proposed site of the wash-plant, coke and smelting works and rolling mills. The ground covered by the survey extends from Sydney Mines along the base of Ferries Hill, the trotting park grounds to Pottles Lake, a distance of between five and six miles.

This work is only experimental and there is as yet no basis for the stories in circulation as to the certain establishment of large smelting works here. The manager of Cape Breton copper mines, Coxneath, has received notice to quit operation. The Cape Breton Copper Co. purpose transferring their areas to a syndicate comprised of London and Canadian, capitalists, and the mine will soon be vigorously worked.

The accommodations of the ferry boats between the two Sydneys are taxed to their utmost, as a large proportion of the 800 men employed on the Dominion Iron & Steel Co.'s works live on this side and the boats are obliged to carry night and morning more than the prescribed number of passengers. It is intended that two new boats shall be put on next week. Newfoundland appears to be on the brink of another financial panic as a result of the present government crisis, judging from the recent heavy with drawals of gold from Harbor Grace, Belle Isle and other places and the large importation of that useful commodity from other bank agencies. The Bruce carried on Saturday to the St. John's agency of the Bank of Nova Scotia $50,000 in gold, chiefly in $20 gold pieces, and on a recent trip carried $50,000 to the Bank of Montreal agency in the same city.

LOCKED TOGETHER.

Woodstock, Dec. 7 .- A hunter from Canterbury Station while in the woods the other day came across two caribou, their horns firmly locked together as if resultant from combat. The animals were shot and it took a great deal of time and labor to get the antlers freed. The animals had been in that position some time evidently, for one was in good condition and the other had become spare, as one was able to feed and the other | Emirs to stay with him and die. He

The man who found these animals did not know a good thing when he saw it. Two animals fastened together in the way in which these are described to have been would be a valuable curiosity.

Desirel Boucher Experimented with Medicines for Eighteen Years—Finally persuaded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills—Fise boxes Cured him.

GMANANOQUE, Ont., Dec. 11.-Mr. Daniel Boucher; of this town, suffered with Kidney Disease for eighteen years. And for the best part of that eighteen years he has been striving to get cured. Kaperimenting with doctors and medicines all the time, he never ones discovered a permanent means of relieft And now, alter eighteen years, he is oured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

While this speaks in the highest possible terms of Dodd's Kidney Pills it nevertheless raises the question. Why did he not try Dodd's Kidney Pills before? The weapon has laid ready to his hand for the last ten years. Why did he not use it? Surely he must have known that Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured hundreds of cases right in his own town.

It is hard to understand. Mr. Boucher may have been deceived by the pretensions of imitators of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He may have been prejudiced by other means. However it was, Mr. Boucher came around Dodd's Kidney Pills at last, and is a healthy man in consequence to-

He writes :- "For eighteen years I have been troubled with Kidney Disease. I have used all sorts of medicines but could get no relief. I was persuaded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have finished five boxes, and am completely cured. I highthree days a week on account of backache but now I can do a day's work with anybody."

KHALIFA RIDDLED WITH BUL. LETS.

Carlo, Dec. 4.—Officers from the Soudan who have arrived here say that when Gen. Wingate's force overtook the Khalifa, the latter tried to outflank the Anglo-Egyptians, but failed. Seeing his position was helpless, the Khalifa told his then spread a sheepskin on the ground with the Emirs on either side of him.

The Khalifa was found shot through the head, heart, arms, and legs, and the Emirs were lying beside him. The members of his bodyguard were all dead in front of them.

Gen Wingate's forces swept over them without recognizing the Khalifa and his Emirs, but they were identified later.

The Khalifa is described as of medium height, strong and stout, of light brown

The manner in which the Khalifa prepared for death is curiously similiar to the method adopted by Mahmoud, the dervish leader, at the battle of the Atbara -the first of Gen. Kitchener's successes. Seeing the battle lost, Mahmoud spread his sheepskin and awaited the onslaught. Unlike the Khalifa, his life was spared, and he was taken prisoner. While Mahmoud thus met his fate, Osman Digma, second in command, was making his escape, in which he was successful then as at every battle before and since, including the latest, when the remnant of the Khalifa's murderous band was slain.
