WILLIAM HEMSTREET'S HEALTH RENEWED AT SEVENTY.

He was Afflicted with Illness for a long Period, and Thought His Days of Usefulness were Past—He is again as Hearty and Robust as He was Twenty Years Ago.

From the Free Press, Action, Ont.

No man is better known to the people of the counties of Halton and Wellington than William Hamstreet, a pioneer and much esteemed resident of Action. Mr. Hamstreet is a native of this country having been born in Trafalgar township in 1817.

In an interesting article on the subject of chains an English writer points to the fact that notwithstanding the frequent mention of chain in the Bible the article is comparatively new

"Some authorities give the Britons credit for originating the cable chain because Julius Caesar is recorded as having been unable to cut the cables of the Gaul's vessels, as they were made of iron. This may have been a chain in the present acceptance of the term, but it is doubtful because the first patent for chainmaking was obtained in England in 1684 by a blacksmith named Philip White.

"His patent is described as follows: 'A way for the wearing of ships with iron chayne by finding out the true heating (pre)paring and tempering of iron for that (pur)pose and that he hath now attained to the true use of the said chayne and that the same will be for the great saving of cordage and safety of shippers and will redound to good of our Common Wealth.

Careful estimates of the force of a cyclone and the energy required to keep a full fledged hurricane in active operation reveal the presence of a power that makes the mightiest efforts of man appear as nothing in comparison.

A force fully equal to 473,000,000 horsepower was estimated as developed in a West Indian cyclone. This is about 15 times the power that is creatable by all the means within the range of man's capabilities during the same time.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

MONCTON, Sept. 8.—Mr. D. B. Crandall, a brother of Mr. Benjamin Crandall, was found dead in his bed about 3 o'clock this morning. Crandall worked all yesterday at the house of Mr. William Steeves in the upper end of the town. During the day he met with a slight accident, falling off a staging, but did not regard his injuries as serious. He complained of his side when he came home and retired quietly, saying he felt tired. Just before eleven o'clock his wife, who occupied the same room, says she heard what she thought was a gasp, and thinking that her husband was ill she had a lamp lighted, but was horrified to find that he had breathed his last. The deceased was 66 years of age and leaves a grown-up family. Mr. Crandall came to Moncton from Salisbury about five years ago. His sudden demise is pronounced to be due to apoplexy of the heart.

Trained Show Dogs.

"Considering the investment, trained dogs are one of the most profitable attractions in the vaudeville line," said an old time showman, here with one of the current theatrical companies. "I suppose there are at least 12 or 15 troupes of them scattered over the country," he continued, "and the good ones easily average a couple of hundred a week and expenses. As there are no salaries to pay for the dogs and no hotel bills for anybody except the proprietor and one keeper the returns are rather handsome. Nowadays they have the business down to such a fine point that the sudden death of any of the animals can be readily remedied by telegraphing to New York, where several men make a specialty of keeping standard trick dogs in stock.

"A dog troupe usually consists of five performers, one of which is a star. The star probably costs $150 and the others about $50 apiece. Mongrels of no intrinsic worth are generally selected for training purposes, because they learn as quickly as the thoroughbreds and if anything happens to them the loss is so much lighter. There is a standard series of tricks which they are taught to do, so that one can easily replace another, and a little ingenuity on the part of the showman supplies the variety to the programme."—New Orleans Times-Democrat

Ancient Chains.

In an interesting article on the subject of chains an English writer points to the fact that notwithstanding the frequent mention of chain in the Bible the article is comparatively new

"Some authorities give the Britons credit for originating the cable chain because Julius Caesar is recorded as having been unable to cut the cables of the Gaul's vessels, as they were made of iron. This may have been a chain in the present acceptance of the term, but it is doubtful because the first patent for chainmaking was obtained in England in 1684 by a blacksmith named Philip White. The patent was for 14 years, and in consideration of it White had to pay £3 in lawful money yearly 'at the Feast of the Blessed Virgin and Saint Michell the Archangell by even and anal process.

"His patent is described as follows: 'A way for the wearing of ships with iron chayne by finding out the true heating (pre)paring and tempering of iron for that (pur)pose and that he hath now attained to the true use of the said chayne and that the same will be for the great saving of cordage and safety of shippers and will redound to good of our Common Wealth.

Early French Theaters.

The French theater owes its origin to the religious exhibitions given by the pilgrims on their return from Palestine. At these exhibitions the pilgrims gave an account of the Holy Land and recited their own adventures. They were afterward imitated by those who had never been to the Holy Land. To these succeeded dramatic representations of subjects taken from the new text, which, being forbidden by the provost of Paris, the priests of France invited the king to be present at an exhibition to prove that they were calculated to excite religious feelings.

The building in which those plays were produced was divided into three scaffoldings—the highest represented paradise, the second the world and the lowest, which was in the form of a dragon's head, represented hell. The only entrance to the two upper scaffoldings was through the dragon's head. The actors never left the stage, even to change their dress, and the plays were so long as to require several days for their completion. At the close of each evening the audience was invited to return until the whole were finished, sometimes 40 nights.

The Power of a Cyclone.

Careful estimates of the force of a cyclone and the energy required to keep a full fledged hurricane in active operation reveal the presence of a power that makes the mightiest efforts of man appear as nothing in comparison. A force fully equal to 473,000,000 horsepower was estimated as developed in a West Indian cyclone. This is about 15 times the power that is creatable by all the means within the range of man's capabilities during the same time. Were steam water windmills and the strength of all men and all animals combined they could not at all approach the tremendous force exerted by this terrible storm.

A Barium Surprise.

A good story of the late George Augustus Sala and Barium is told. It was on the occasion of the last visit of the famous showman to England when a public dinner was tendered to Mr Barium. Mr Sala presided in the reception room where all were waiting to welcome the guest of the evening. Mr Barium came in beaming and shaking hands with the chairman, said "This is indeed a surprise to me. Did you hear that? Mr Sala whispered "Why he arranged for the dinner himself.

The South Side girl who has the physique of Sarah Bernhardt has been following the directions of a beauty oracle and when she met a friend in the foyer of the Auditorium, said:
"You see, I am wearing a strict costume after all my preparations for evening dress."
The friend nodded.
"Well, I massaged my neck twice a day for three months, until my collar bones quite disappeared. I felt sure I should be an ornament to a box party."
"Well, what happened?" inquired the friend.
"My neck is all right, but you ought to see my arms." The girl sighed. "The massage exercise developed my muscles so that they stand out just as if I were a prizefighter."
The speaker waved her fan with a vigor that proved her strength, and then passed a sarcastic comment on a thin girl who wore a decollete corsage.—Chicago Inter Ocean

Amateur Theatricals at Kimberley.
There was a good deal of punching of heads incident to amateur acting at Kimberley in those days. There was a well known dentist who sometimes trod the boards, and his enemy, probably a rival amateur, would sit in the front row of the stalls and laugh during all the pathetic scenes. At last the dentist could stand it no longer. He leaped over the heads of the orchestra, hit the laughter a violent blow, saying, "That will teach you to laugh in the wrong place," and then, much relieved, climbed back on to the stage and proceeded with his part.—"Amateur Clubs and Actors," by Elliot.

A Lewiston man has started a bug farm. It is without doubt the most original scheme ever invented for making money. All over the country there are collectors of rare bugs and beetles, and this state is particularly full of them. A farmer named Merrill on the Webster road has tried to kill off the bugs that infest his outbuildings for a long time, and has always found two new ones for every one killed. Now he is cultivating them. He has learned the names of all of them, and has a standing advertisement in one of the bug magazines of the country; offering to send dried specimens of this imperills and that blue and yellow bug for 50 cents. He has sold $50 worth this year.

An innovation will be introduced at the Ellsworth fair this year, in the shape of a peg race for farmers. This race promises to furnish plenty of amusement to the onlookers. The men who will take part in the race will be allowed to use only four wheeled vehicles. They are to line up under the wire and sit calmly in the seats, awaiting the word "Go." When they hear the "Go" they jump to the ground, unharness, harness again and get around the track as fast as their old nags can take them. A liberal purse is offered for the race and several entries have already been received.
