It snowed heavily on Monday morning, and good sleighing was predicted, but of course it rained harder during the afternoon than it had snowed in the morning and result: no sleighing, which we are very much in need of in Richibucto, as it is necessary after driving into the country about eight miles to change your wagon for a sleigh.

Almost every city, town or county sending representatives on the Canadian contingent have subscribed something towards making their hardships as easy as possible, and Toronto and Quebec have even insured their companies, but as yet Kent County, although sending two of her brave boys, has done nothing. Surely this should be remedied as soon as possible.

The December Magazine Number of The Outlook, dated December 2nd, is the Eleventh Annual Book Number, filled largely with illustrated special articles on new and recent books and on interesting literary topics. The scores of advertising pages in themselves furnish an extremely valuable and remarkably complete guide to holiday books. ($3.00 a year. The Outlook Company, New York.)

The first death in the Canadian contingent occurred from natural causes three days after the Sardinian sailed, and the young man was buried at sea. The cause of his death, heart failure, indicates that the medical examination may not have been as rigid as demanded. The young man, however, died as much for the empire as if on the battle field. His action in going showed his readiness and willingness; and had he lived no doubt that sterner heroism would have followed.

A HUSTLING RAILWAY.—The Kent Northern Railway is now one of the best branch railways in New Brunswick. During the summer several miles of new steel rails were laid, new sleepers placed wherever needed and a working train and crew kept hauling ballast for the roadbed. This with the new engine purchased early in the year, and the refitting and painting of the passenger car is a very creditable year's work. No doubt the road will now be kept in the high state of efficiency it has reached.

STUDY FARMING.—As people study other callings and you will succeed. The cheapest and best text book to use is a progressive agricultural paper; not one that tells you what an Ohio or an Ontario Farmer should do to make money, but one that tells what Maritime Farmers should do and are doing to make the farm pay. The Co-operative Farmer fills the bill. Enlarged to 20 pages with a neat colored cover. Issued twice a month, $1.00 a year. Special rates to clubs. Free Sample copies on application. Co-operative Farmer, Sussex, N. B.

DIED IN VANCOUVER.—Mr. Robert Brown, formerly of Bass River, and well known throughout Kent County, died in Vancouver, B. C., on Nov. 26th. The late Mr. Brown was born in Edinborough in 1819, and came to Richibucto about 60 years ago. He was for a time employed with J. W. Holderness and others in ship building, and later started business for himself at Bass River. The Weldford, Walter J. Cumming, Annie Wark, M. A. Forbes, Annie Brown, Aphor, Katie Irving, Martha Reed and Jessie Renwick were some of the principal ships built by him. In 1881, ship building in this country being no longer a profitable industry, he removed to Vancouver where he superintended the building of the steam ship Queen City and others. He married Miss Dergarvel, of Molus River, who died some years before he removed to Vancouver. He leaves four sons: James of Athin City, John of Brandon, Robert of Boston, and William of Vancouver, and five daughters: Mrs. E. B. Buckerfield of Harcourt, Mrs. McIntosh of Victoria, Mrs. Dickinson, Mrs. John Boyd and Miss Mary Brown of Vancouver.

HEIR TO AN ESTATE.—Who and where is John W. Murphy? In far-off New Brunswick he is wanted to receive a portion of an estate left him by a deceased sister. According to a letter received by Attorney Geo. B. Winston from E. Girouard, a barrister of Moncton, N. B., Murphy was last heard of at Anaconda. Mr. Winston has made inquiry diligently, but has been able to find no such man here. He has learned, however, that one John W. Murphy lived here once upon a time. Whether he is the Murphy wanted is not known. The letter from the New Brunswick barrister was written Nov. 15th and is as follows:

DEAR SIR—Would you please to try and find out the address of one John W. Murphy, who left Kouchibouguac, Kent county, New Brunswick, Canada, many years ago, and when last heard from was at Anaconda. His sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Walls, died at Chatham, N. B., leaving an estate, and in winding up the estate in the equity court here it is necessary to serve him with decree, as he is one of the heirs and next of kin of said Mrs. Walls. Should you be able to find his address, would you kindly hand this to a newspaper of your city, that they may put in a note about this matter? If you can find the address of this man, kindly let me know, and I will send you papers to serve on him and will pay you for your services in this matter.

Very truly yours, E. GIROUARD, (Anaconda, Montana, Standard.)
