

It Hangs On

If it was only health, we might let it cling. But it is a cough. One cold no sooner passes off before another comes. But it's the same old cough all the time. And it's the same old story, too. There is first the cold, then the cough, then pneumonia or consumption with the long sickness, and life trembling in the balance.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

loosens the grasp of your cough. The congestion of the throat and lungs is removed; all inflammation is subdued; the parts are put perfectly at rest and the cough drops away. It has no diseased tissues on which to hang.

Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plaster

THE GLOBE'S PROTEST

AGAINST THE VIRULENT AND UNPATRIOTIC CAMPAIGN WAGED AGAINST FRENCH-Canadians BY CONSERVATIVES.

It is perhaps not sufficiently recognized that the Government, in deciding to equip a Canadian force for service in South Africa, is taking an entirely new departure. Great Britain has had on its hands during the last forty years numerous wars, some of them of a serious and formidable character. They have been regarded, however, as wars which did not menace the safety and integrity of the Empire, and it has never been regarded as the duty of Canada to take part in them. That, until a few weeks ago, was supposed to be the position of the war with the Transvaal. When the matter came up in our House of Commons last August, Mr. McNeill, a very active Imperial Federationist, said that the only reason that material aid was not offered was that it was not necessary, that the disproportion between the two antagonists were too enormous. And we think that was a clear and sound distinction, and that our obligation to render aid is in proportion to the danger of the Empire.

A CHANGE IN THE SITUATION.

A few days ago, however, the position underwent a change. The affair assumed a graver aspect. The Orange Free State threw in its lot with the Transvaal. The British reserves were called out. Great Britain was evidently engaged in a conflict more serious than the skirmishes which are always occurring on the outposts of a great Empire. Under these circumstances the Government found itself bound to deal with a situation such as has not arisen since the Crimean war. Parliament was not in session; Parliament had been prorogued under the impression conveyed by Mr. McNeill that the war was not of so vital and formidable a character as to require Canadian aid. The Government was called upon to act in circumstances of enormous difficulty. It was an occasion when the strongest opponent of the Government ought to have shown gravity, patience, and self-restraint. There has been a mad, reckless exhibition of the reverse of all these qualities. A more reckless, a more unscrupulous, a more shameful campaign was never waged against a Government charged with heavy responsibilities and endeavoring earnestly to do its duty. There may be difference of opinion as to its decision, and for our own part, although the British Government is the author of the present plan we would prefer a Canadian contingent, paid for with Canadian money, and offered by Canadians, as advocated by Colonel Denison. We want a step forward, not backward, in Canadian self-government and self-reliance. We want to stand as a friend, not a dependent, of England. But there were difficulties in the way of the carrying out of this plan, and one of these, the impossibility of obtaining Parliamentary sanction, was not a character to be lightly thrust aside.

GOVERNMENT IN GOOD FAITH.

What we contend, however, is not that the Government is inflexible, but that the Government, face to face with a new and difficult situation, has acted to the best of its judgment and with a full sense of its responsibilities. We say that when the clamor of the hour has died away, even those who disapprove of the Government plan will admit that it acted in good faith for the best interests of the country, and that the shame and infamy will rest upon those who, for party purposes, have kindled the fires of jingoism and race hatred in this country. We say that if they succeed in destroying a Government by such means we shall be proud to take our stand with the defeated party, and proud to have had no share in the everlasting shame of the victory. Our only regret will be that a majority of our fellow-countrymen have fallen into the trap laid for them by unscrupulous demagogues and sensational newspapers.

OUR DUTIES.

The applications which are pouring in from Canadians anxious to serve in South Africa show that there is in Canada, an abundance of the courage required to face the dangers of the field. Upon those who remain at home rests the duty of seeing that no provision for the comfort and efficiency of these brave men is lacking. But there is another duty, which may also require courage of another kind. We have here a country divided in race, divided in religion. It is our duty to see that these divisions do not become national quarrels. It is our duty to uphold the British principle of justice toward the minority. In the senseless clamor of the last few days the words treason and traitor have been bandied about with unscrupulous violence. We hurl these foul charges back at those who would recklessly inflict upon the Dominion of Canada and upon the Empire the awful calamity of a country rent in twain by a cleavage of race and religion. We ask our friends, Liberals and Conservatives as well, to stand firm and not allow themselves to be carried away by the senseless cry of French-Canadian domination. Domination by a race weak in numbers and weak in wealth is a causeless cry, and one which the majority ought to reject with the calm consciousness of strength. We can have our own way whenever we desire it, by sheer force of numbers. And that being so, we can afford not only to be just but to be generous. We can afford to smile indulgently instead of going into hysterics when a French-Canadian expresses an affection for the land of his ancestors. Who grudges a Scotchman the indulgence of his national pride, or yells disloyalty and treason because he cherishes the memory of Ban-nockburn?

NOT AGAINST MR. TARTE.

We know there are persons who are deceived, or deceiving themselves, with the notion that the prejudice which is being aroused to-day is a prejudice not against French-Canadians but against Mr. Tarte. A very little reflection will dispose of that illusion. Let any man, objecting however strongly to Mr. Tarte's words or to the words of La Patrie, imagine them spoken by a man of British race and Protestant religion; and then ask himself if they would furnish fuel for the flame which the sensational newspapers are kindling. No, it is the old race hatred that they are appealing to. It is not a first offence. The cry of French domination was raised the moment a French-Canadian became Premier of this country. We know the excuse that was urged at first, and we know how false and groundless it proved to be. We know that it was alleged that Manitoba would be compelled to restore separate schools by a French-Canadian and Catholic Province. We know that that Province, in the face of very formidable ecclesiastical influence, voted against coercion, and that the effect of the Laurier Government coming into power was to put an end to coercion, and to give relief to Manitoba and religious peace to this country. We know that the race cry was raised, utterly without justification, when there was danger of France and England going to war over the Fashoda affair. We know that anonymous circulars were sent through Ontario, actually trying to make Ontario and Quebec quarrel over the Dreyfus case. And knowing these things, we are not deceived by the pretence that the present campaign is directed solely against Mr. Tarte. Ministers and Governments may come and go, and the nation still be united, strong and progressive. But there are principles which we regard as vital to the welfare of the community, and for which he shall stand, though the clamor be redoubled, and though the sensation-mongers achieve for a time their disgraceful triumph.

WE WANT A VOICE FOR CANADA.
We are for fulfilling all our obligations to the Empire in no grudging spirit, but

Youthful Recklessness.

The natural exuberance of youth often leads to recklessness. Young people don't take care of themselves, get over-heated, catch cold, and allow it to settle on the kidneys. They don't realize the significance of backache—think it will soon pass away—but it doesn't. Urinary troubles come, then Diabetes, Bright's Disease and shattered health.

A young life has been sacrificed. Any help for it? Yes!

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

These conquerors of Kidney Ills are making the rising generation healthy and strong.
Mrs. G. Grisman, 505 Adelaide St., London, Ont., says:
"My daughter, now 13 years old, has had weak kidneys since infancy, and her health as a consequence has always been poor. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills have removed every symptom of kidney trouble, and restored her to perfect health. I am truly thankful for the great benefit they have conferred upon her."

with good measure, heaped up and running over. But when once we can say that our obligations are ascertained and our duty being done, we shall insist on Canada having a voice in the question of peace or war; not counting the cost of the number of England's foes but weighing the justice of the cause, knowing that British Ministers are but men, and fallible like our own. We are utterly opposed to jingoism to the war spirit, to every war waged in the lust of dominion and the lust of gold. We are for a united Empire, but we are also for a united Canada. We will not yield one inch to any movement inspired by race or religious prejudice: we will not, for any temporary political advantage stand by and see any body of our fellow-citizens bullied, insulted or held under suspicion because they do not hold the views or speak the language of the majority. Our pride in the British Empire is grounded out in its might or in its wealth, in the number of its subjects or in the extent of its territory, but in the just and freedom which the flag protects: and for the honor of the British name we shall to the utmost extent of our power endeavor to maintain in this country justice to the minority, and to keep it at all times "a land where, girt by friend or foe, a man may speak the thing he will."

PLUM PUDDINGS AND MINCE PIES often have bad effects upon the small boy who over indulges in them. Pain-killer as a household medicine for all such ills is unequalled. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Pain-killer, Perry Davis'. 25c.

COUNTY COURT.

The October term of the Kent County Court opened here Tuesday, Judge Wells presiding. The following named jurors were in attendance, viz.:-

PETIT JURY.

There was no criminal business. At the opening of the Court application was made to postpone the trial in the case of Joseph Warren vs. Michael Walsh. This is an action to recover a penalty for setting forest fire contrary to law. The case was postponed till next term on account of the sickness of defendant's Attorney. Wm. D. Carter for plaintiff, C. J. Sayre for defendant.

Thomas Murray and David J. Mundle vs. Morris Luyree and Bennie Schachter was an action for goods sold and delivered. The defendant Schachter denied having been a party to the purchase and also pleaded infamy as a defence. The jury found a verdict for plaintiffs for $389.78. Wm. D. Carter and R. Hutchinson, Q. C., for plaintiffs and Robert Murray for defendants.

George Spencer vs. George N. Clark and George A. Lounsbury was an action for trespass in seizing plaintiff's cow. The defendants justified under a judgment obtained in a Justice's Court. This case was tried without a jury and resulted in a verdict for plaintiff for nominal damages. Wm. D. Carter for plaintiff, H. H. James for defendants.

Mr. Harrison Watson, custodian of the Imperial Institute, writes the Department of Trade and Commerce, making enquiry for exporters of maple skewers.

RECEPTION TO REV. AND MRS. J. M. WATHEN.

(Claremont, N. H. Advocate.)

A very delightful reception was tendered Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Wathen on Monday evening at the Congregational chapel, by the church and society. The chapel was decorated with palms and cut flowers. Perry's orchestra rendered selections during the evening in the ladies' parlor, which was screened from the chapel by evergreen trees. Rev. and Mrs. Wathen received assisted by Deacon and Mrs. S. J. Roberts, the oldest couple in the church, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Rossiter. Seven young Swedish ladies, members of the society, dressed in white, served refreshments of ice cream and cake. Nearly two hundred were present, among them being the pastors of the different religious societies in town.

The reception committee was Mrs. F. P. Maynard, Mrs. C. N. Washburn, Mrs. W. W. Cushman, Miss Dutton and Miss Pashee. The ushers were Messrs. E. J. Rossiter, W. M. Hoyt, George Waman and Eugene Fuller.

ITCHING PILES...

Positively and permanently cured by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is an absolute cure for piles, and has never been known to fail to cure the worst forms of this disease which has baffled medical skill for ages.

This statement may sound rather strong to persons who do not know the superior merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment, but it is perfectly true, and heartily endorsed by the grateful testimony of thousands of men and women who have been cured by it after years of suffering, and after trying many preparations and consulting the best doctors.

Mr. H. Bull, Belleville, Ont., says: "I take pleasure in stating that after thirty years of suffering with Itching Piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely cured me. I tried every remedy that was advertised, with little or no benefit, but as I have told different persons affected as I was, Dr. Chase's Ointment made a perfect cure."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medicine. It is guaranteed to cure any case of piles. For sale by all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
