

Save Your MONEY.

To save your money, by getting more for it, ask your dealer in medicine to show you the new 50 cent size bottle of JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT. It contains over three times as much as the old 25 cent style, which is a great saving to those who use this valuable family medicine. The superior quality of this old Anodyne has never been equalled.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

Fifty years ago this month, Dr. Johnson left with me some Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. I remember him distinctly, and could tell you just how he was dressed on that day. I have used Johnson's Liniment ever since. Can truly say it has maintained its high standard from that time to this. No medicine today possesses the confidence of the public to a greater extent. JOHN B. RAND, North Waterford, Me., Jan., 1891.

As a family remedy it has been used and endorsed for nearly a century. Every Mother should have it in the house for many common ailments, internal as much as external. Our book on INFLAMMATION free. Price 25 and 50c. I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass.

THE HEART OF THE WORLD IS BROKEN.

The heart of the world is broken,
Why should not my own be too;
When spring has many a token,
To tell me dear soul of you.
For April came in weeping,
And flowering May in white;
Because of my lost love sleeping,
Alone in the silent night.

Sweet voices of roses singing,
Memories robed in bloom;
Come on the west wind bringing
Glory o'er sorrows tomb.
"Leaves we scatter in white and red,
Over her peaceful rest;
Tenderly spreading her hallowed bed
Sweet service to slumber blest."

The heart of the world is lonely,
Blossoming bud and tree;
Calling my angel only.
Putness of earth to me
Summer will bring her flowers,
Walking where low she lies,
Thinking of golden hours,
And a saint in Paradise.

The bloom came back to the willow
Many a spring ago;
Before the wave and the billow
Of sadness had tried me so.
Ere the heart of my heart was broken;
The true love of all the true,
O springtime in vain have ye spoken,
She cannot return to you.

BIG FIRE AT SUSSEX.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF PROPERTY DESTROYED.

SUSSEX, Oct. 7.—Sussex was visited last night by the worst conflagration which ever occurred here. About 10 o'clock the dread cry of fire was heard and in a few minutes flames were seen burning through the roof of the Queen hotel livery stables. The fire department was promptly on the scene, but despite all their efforts the flames spread rapidly and soon the hotel itself was on fire. A high wind was blowing from the northwest and the flames spread rapidly and soon the whole block was enveloped and looked like an immense fiery furnace.

The I. C. R. station was on fire several times, but was saved by the heroic efforts of the firemen. All the horses were saved from the Queen hotel stables, but the wagons and sleighs were all destroyed. Mr. Doherty had no insurance on his stable or contents.

The fire worked to the east and burnt the handsome residence formerly the property of the late Sheriff Freeze but lately owned by Mr. Doherty and used in connection with his hotel.

The Depot House caught shortly after the Queen and soon burned to the ground with a large part of its contents.

The handsome new brick block built by James P. Byrne was the next to be gathered into the jaws of the devouring elements. In a short time this structure was a mass of ruins.

The following buildings were destroyed: Queen Hotel, Depot House, the late Sheriff Freeze's house, F. W. Fowler's house and the residence owned by Geo. Morton.

The Queen Hotel and annex was occupied by and was the property of Mr. P. Doherty. In the Depot House building besides the hotel itself the following were burnt out: B. J. Sharpe, druggist, and Miller Bros., butchers.

On the first indication of Diarrhoea or Dysentery a few doses of DR. FOWLER'S EXT. OF WILD STRAWBERRY will promptly check the advance of these dangerous diseases.

It has been over 40 years in use and has no equal for the cure of bowel complaints of young or old. There are many dangerous imitations on the market, so it would be wise to see that the full name, Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry, is on every bottle you buy.

In the Bryne block, Andrew Price occupied the top floor. On the ground floor was the general store of Wesley Baird, Chapman & Lamb's restaurant and Berry's barber shop.

The Morton building was occupied by Mell Scott as a dwelling and grocery store and Robert Johnson, painter.

The value of the Bryne block was within the vicinity of $10,000. It was uninsured.

It was impossible at that time of night to find out the amount of insurance carried by the sufferers by the conflagration but the loss will be very heavy, at least $75,000 worth of real and personal property was destroyed.

At one time it was thought that ten persons, guests at one of the hotels, had lost their lives, but luckily the rumor proved to be unfounded.

Chief Gambria and his men deserve every praise for the masterly manner in which they performed their duties. Several St. John boys who were present worked faithfully and their efforts were much appreciated.

Most of those burned out will start rebuilding at once.

A CHILD CAN USE THEM

Easy to Dye With Diamond Dyes—No Disappointments or Failures—Colors are Fast to Sun, Soap and Washing.

Do not for a moment imagine that it is a difficult matter to do your own dyeing. It is true the work will be hazardous and disappointing if you use the imitation and crude package dyes sold by some dealers, but when Diamond Dyes are used it is but a little more trouble to get fast and lovely colors than it is to wash and rinse the goods.

Do not allow your dealer to sell you imitations of the Diamond Dyes, or which he makes large profits, but insist every time on having the true, reliable and genuine Diamond Dyes that have stood the tests of long years in our Canadian home.

Slovenliness.

Worse even than overdressing, although, thank heaven, less prevalent, is slovenliness. Certainly there is nothing more repellent than the sight of waist and skirt that do not properly connect, of dragging ruffles or of pins that call attention to gaps which a few neat stitches would effectually conceal. No woman who is anxious to preserve the respect that is due her from every man will be careless in her attire even in her own home. I do not suppose that it is easy to have one's garments always fresh and neat in appearance, but it is worth a considerable sacrifice of time and effort. Richness in material cannot hide this laxity, but rather accentuates it. I don't believe that a man of refined taste ever wittingly marries a woman who is dowdy in her dress, and if he does the chances are that he isn't worth marrying. Fastidious is likewise unpleasant. These are women of whom one instinctively feels that he must not approach them closely for fear of their clothes. They are the most unsatisfactory creatures in the world. They cannot move about at ease or they will disarrange the perfect fit of their costumes. Now, dress is an important thing, but it ought not to assert itself too prominently, and women should be able to rise above the rank of the unimpressive forms on which milliners make their window displays. Here, again, simplicity is the best remedy.—Elmira Telegram.

Her Kind of Wife.

The subject under discussion was wives, and one woman thought she knew a perfect woman from a man's standpoint. "Being a woman," she said, "I know exactly what sort of a wife I would like if I were a man. It would be one who would never say, 'I told you so,' or, 'You are not getting any younger, dear,' or, 'You don't love me as you used.' It would be one who would never stay at home and sit up for me when I went to the club, but would take her own pleasure in a reasonable way; one who wouldn't want her mother, her aunts, her sisters and her cousins to stay with her, nor have a family party on Christmas day, nor expect me to go to church when I wanted to do something else, nor sniff when I bring home my chum Smith to take potluck. I would have a wife who never got old, nor bad tempered, nor jealous when I talked to Mrs. Blarneyton; one who never said silly things, who always looked bright, capable and better looking than other men's wives; one who dressed on nothing a year; one who never had a flirtation and was always well. That is all, I think." There was silence for the space of half a minute and then—well, she wished she had not been so sure of her ability to define a good wife.—Elmira Telegram.

"WILL DIE BEFORE DAYLIGHT."

Would Have Been Her Answer to Your Query—When?—But Dr. Agnew's Cure For the Heart Snapped The Death Strains.
Mrs. B., 186 Queen street, W. Toronto, gives this unsolicited testimony: "For a number of years I had been a great sufferer from heart troubles, had smothering sensations, palpitation, neuralgia thumping, was very easily fatigued. I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart when I had despaired living through the night. The benefit was instantaneous. I have taken five bottles and have no hesitation in heartily recommending it, and will be glad to communicate with any one desiring it." Sold at Est of W. W. Short.

One of our village young ladies, says the Fort Fairfield correspondent of the Aroostook Republican, while calling at the home of C. M. Morris, Limestone, was treated to a dish of strawberries, of the white, ever bearing variety, just gathered from the garden, and this was on the last day of September.—Gazette.

Opinions of Women.
Confucius says, "Woman is the masterpiece;" Herder, "Woman is the crown of creation;" Voltaire, "Women teach us repose, civility and dignity." Richter says, "No man can live piously or die righteously without a woman;" Beecher, "Women are a new race, recreated since the world received Christianity." N. P. Willis thinks "the sweetest thing in life is the unclouded welcome of a wife;" Michelet remarks that "woman is the Sunday of man, not his repose only, but his joy, the salt of his life." Voltaire also said, "All the reasonings of man were not worth one sentiment of woman;" Saville, "Women have more strength in their looks than we have in our laws and more power by their tears than we have by our arguments."

A Bank of Brides.
Simla, the summer capital of the Indian empire, is a pretty pine tree place well up in the foothills of the Himalayas. A feature of Simla life is the annual fair held by the native hills people, an attractive item of which is a "bank of brides" in an amphitheater, where sit numbers of young women who thus calmly announce that they are candidates for hymeneal honors. Some of these aspirants are quite pretty and have intelligent faces, but those of Mongol caste must needs linger long for a partner, if personal beauty enters into the equation.—Edward Page Gaston in Woman's Home Companion.

Adulteration, says "Dinners and Dinners," of articles of consumption is of course a fraud upon the public unless due notice of it is given. But, according to The Lancet, a redeeming feature of the deception in these days is that the adulteration generally occurs in some wholesome form. Margarine is an excellent food substance, though it is not butter; the potato is very nourishing, but it should not be found in bread.

Breakfast bacon is an excellent change from more solid dishes. It is a good appetizer. It supplies strength enough in combination with bread or potatoes for an ordinary pursuit and has the decided advantage of being very easily digested. It should be cut thin and broiled without burning or fried crisp.

Plants and ferns that are kept in the house should be watered a little every day. The water must have the chill taken off, as quite cold water stops the growth. The leaves should be thoroughly sponged and washed every week. All plants require plenty of air and light.

Since women have understood the art of wearing proper corsets they have adopted a new mode of walking—viz, a swing of the hips from the waist, which perhaps is not altogether what the best masters and mistresses of deportment would enjoy.

For kitchen tables and boards use sand to scrub them with instead of soap. It will keep them whiter. If grease has been spilled, cover with a little fuller's earth wadded and left to remain on all night.

WOMAN'S TROUBLES

Are usually the result of an exhausted nervous system in which can be fully restored by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. Women made nervous and irritable by the wasting diseases which drain their system find new life, new vigor, new energy, in Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food the world's greatest blood and nerve builder.

On account of the great flood of water, caused by the heavy rain last night, over 40 hogs belonging to the Truro Market, were saved with difficulty from drowning, in their pens, at Bible Hill, this morning. About 100 hogs are expected to be lost.—Truro News.

Yellow will dye a splendid red. Try it with Magaetic Dyes. Costs ten cents a package and gives fine results.

What to Teach.

The editor of the Bar Harbor Record says: "Two authorities—one a man who has made educational matters a lifelong study, the other an able writer and a trained observer—arrive at the same conclusion, and this is the sum of their observations. There is a golden mean in education as in everything else. Teach your children what it is essential they should learn in order to fill their proper places in life, and teach it thoroughly. Don't cram their heads with studies that they will never need after they leave the school-room."

"Take time by the forelock." If your blood is out of order, begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla at once and prevent serious illness.

The referendum in Queensland on the prospect of Australian federation has been completed. Thirty-eight thousand four hundred and eighty-eight votes were cast in favor of the scheme, as against 30,996 in opposition.

I. C. R. POLICEMAN SHOT.
OFFICER JONES, OF AMHERST, MEETS TWO DESPERATE TRAMPS.

Officer Jones, of Amherst was shot twice last Friday evening while endeavoring to arrest two men on suspicion that they broke into John Livingstone's place of business at Wentworth and burglarized it. As near as can be learned, Officer Jones received a telegram from Wentworth describing the two men as those wanted. Officer Jones walked to the door of the gentleman's waiting room and stood there reading the message. In the room sat two men thought to be tramps. Whether they thought the message referred to them or, not, at any rate for some reason best known to themselves, one drew a revolver and fired at the officer, the ball striking him in the breast. He closed the door of the waiting room but the men ran round to the window. One burst a pane of glass with his hand, thrust the revolver through and fired again, this time hitting the officer in the leg. They then decamped. It was not known just how badly Mr. Jones was injured. The second shot staggered Officer Jones, and the crooks made their escape followed by a posse of policemen and citizens, but as the night was very dark there was very little chance of capturing them.

Dr. McQueen extracted the bullet, only one piercing the flesh. There was quite a crowd around the waiting room at the time of the shooting, but most of the crowd got very quickly out of harm's way. One of the desperados is about 5 feet 8 inches tall, with dark mustache; the other 5 feet six inches, light complexion. Amherst and vicinity are up in arms.
