

MUNYON'S GUARANTEE.

Strong Assertions as to Just What the Remedies Will Do.

Form of cold and so on through the entire list of remedies. At all druggists, 25 cents a trial.

WHAT SHE DID.

Now, what should a young maid do? If when walking in the lane There should come a gust of rain, And she met a lad she knew, With an umbrella good and new, And just wide enough for two— Now, what should a young maid do? Yes, what should a young maid do?

"And let us not be weary in well-doing for in due season we shall reap if we faint not."—Galatians 6: 9.

THE SALOON IN POLITICS.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND SAYS:—The liquor power must be totally eliminated from politics if we respect the institutions of American democracy and desire their permanency.

BEER AND BUSINESS.

A workingman who drinks daily two glasses of beer, at five cents each, will this year spend annually thirty-six dollars and fifty cents.

The balance of the workingman's $36.50 stays in the hands of the brewer and liquor seller. The workingman has swallowed his beer and has nothing of value to show for his money.

Suppose that prohibition became law, and the workingman did not spend this $36.50 for beer, it would be available, and would be spent in needful articles for his home.

Cramps and Colic

Always relieved promptly by Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry.

When you are seized with an attack of Cramps or doubled up with Colic, you want a remedy you are sure will give you relief and give it quickly, too.

You don't want an untried something that may help you. You want Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which every one knows will positively cure Cramps and Colic quickly.

But now a word of proof to back up these assertions, and we have from Mr. John Hawke, Coldwater, N. B., who writes: "Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a great cure for Cramps and Colic."

$14.60. But it must be noticed that now the workingman has had something to show for his money. Food in his cupboard, clothing for his family to the full value of $36.50.

Let us put these calculations in the form of a comparative table showing what is the result of the spending of the workingman's $36.50 in these different cases.

Table with columns for 'UNDER LICENSE', 'UNDER PROHIBITION', and 'Total of money and value held by all'.

Some one will be ready to ask, "Do not the brewer and liquor-dealer in the first case use this money in employing men and patronizing production?"

The great brewing and distilling interests of Canada are not only preventing the accumulation of wealth by the people they are absorbing and locking up in their own possession the wealth that already exists.

The second case may be made even stronger.—The brewer and liquor seller will be driven under prohibition to engage in some better business, that will bless the country instead of cursing it.

A DYSPEPSIA CURE

Ever Reliable and Welcome by the Most Delicate Stomach is Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets.

Let the worst dyspeptic eat a pineapple a day for six months, and, so greatly would his health improve, he would look and feel like a new person.

THE FEMININE OBSERVER.

Trouble is the greatest stimulus to good work. Instead of grumbling because the world doesn't understand us, we ought to be thankful that it does not.

A woman would rather a man would say nothing at all about her looks than to speak of them in the past tense. A woman takes a man's name when she marries him. He often takes hers afterward if he gets into financial troubles.

The young woman who has just finished riding seven centuries on her bicycle must have a desire to make herself look as though she had lived that long. A woman is complimented at having another ask for the address of her dress-maker, but she is also at the same time downright mad because she has to give it.

COOK'S NEW BLOOD PILLS.

AFTER EFFECTS OF FEVER.

Mrs. Angie, of Merriton, Suffered so Severely that Her Friends Feared She was Likely to be a Permanent Invalid.

In the picturesque village of Merriton resides Mrs. William Angie, who, after months of suffering, has found a cure from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Angie relates as follows the experience through which she has passed.

TEN WERE DROWNED.

IN THE WRECK OF THE SCOTSMAN—LATEST PARTICULARS AT HAND.

FATHER POINT, Sept. 29.—The steamer Montfort passed early this morning. To the signal; "Are all hands saved," the reply came: "No, you will hear particulars from Rimouski."

RIMOUSKI, Sept. 29.—Montfort with Scotsman's passengers arrived at 9.15 o'clock. A special will leave with passengers about eleven o'clock for Quebec.

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—The latest report from the Montfort now at Rimouski, says several people were drowned at the wreck.

RIMOUSKI, Sept. 29.—The first lifeboat which left the Scotsman after she ran ashore, was swamped. The following are drowned so far as known: Mrs. Robertson and daughter, Toronto; Mrs. Childs, wife, stage manager of the Sign of the Cross Co., Miss Street, Montreal, John Dickson, Windsor, Ont. All were first cabin passengers.

Mrs. R. Weavers, Mrs. Talbot, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Skelton and infant of Mrs. Roberts, second cabin.

CARGO WORTH $500,000.

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—Mr. John Torrance, interviewed this morning on the subject of the Scotsman wreck, could not state the exact value of the cargo, but said that the ship was worth $500,000. He hoped that she was in an upright position, some of the cargo might perhaps be saved. Captain Skrimshire had been on the ship about three years, but had been in the employ of the company for a very much longer time. He was an experienced and trusted officer.

COOK'S SURE COUGH CURE.

John C. Scott, formerly of the boot and shoe firm of Polley & Scott, Quebec, is under arrest, charged with having set fire to the firm's building last summer. The building, which was also occupied by Amos Campbell, was badly gutted and heavy damages were caused to the stock. The accusation was made by Polley, Scott's former partner.

RAILROAD... KIDNEY

A Disease Peculiar to Railroad Men, which is readily cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Did it ever occur to you that most railroad men die of kidney disease?

Such is the fact, however, and the disease is known among railroaders as "railroad kidney."

The first and most marked symptom is a weak, lame and aching back. You may think at first that you are only tired; but as this trouble increases day by day, kidney disease, with all its terrors, is fast claiming you as a victim.

Mr. Geo. Cummings, for over 20 years engineer on the Grand Trunk running between Toronto and Allandale, says: "The constant duty with my work gave me excessive pains in my back, racking my kidneys. I tried several remedies until I was recommended by my friend, Mr. Dave Conley, to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Two boxes have completely cured me and I feel to-day a better man than ever. I recommend them to all my friends."

WEST BRANCH SHADOWS.

The moving machine is a thing of the past and the threshing mill is now in vogue.

Our Pic Social was a great success and passed off with satisfactory results. Two of our ladies attended a social tea and had their past, present and future foretold by their hostess, and if one part proves true the matrimonial prospects of one of the party are secure.

Experts are on the track of the Morton burglar, but they have raised the ire of an innocent man in their search for the real culprit. Suspicion is not proof and may prove dangerous.

A Gentleman from Harcourt, being slightly elevated by rum, imagining that he was some great personage and therefore entitled to the whole of the Queen's Highway, meeting Her Majesty's mail on the main street of our village, was about to drive straight through it, but the driver very sensibly turned off into the ditch and quietly asked this great and mighty personage if he could not give a little of the road, whereupon said person used some disgusting language in reference to mail carrier. Driving on he was stopped suddenly in his mad career by coming in contact with a new carriage. He drove right into it overturning both carriage and driver, not hurting driver but rendering the carriage almost useless; besides frightening a delicate invalid who happened to be alone that evening. Hearing such an uproarous noise opposite her house she got quite unnerved, but upon learning the cause of the commotion, she very kindly invited the driver of the demolished carriage to stay all night. The cause of the trouble turned and fled back from whence he came with ruffled plumes and wild exclamations of dismay and chagrin. We require a stronger Scott Act if crazy inebriates like that are allowed to roam at large on our public roads, endangering all whom they may meet.

A pie social is in prospect in Main River.

Miss Meeta MacMichael is visiting friends here.

SHADOW.

Keep Food Stuff Apart.

The average servant thinks that when she has separated milk and butter from cheese and fish she has done her whole duty, but in point of fact she has only begun the necessary keeping apart of food stuffs. Almost all kinds absorb flavors to a greater or less degree. Tea, cocoa, chocolate, flour, eggs and cereals are almost as susceptible to the influence of neighboring foods as are milk and butter. Bananas, for example, particularly the highly flavored Aspinwall variety, will spoil an open jar of tea or cocoa or a tin of flour. Onions, salted fish, smoked beef and scores of other foods are similarly pervasive in their flavor. This absorption of odors and aroma is so well understood that it is often taken advantage of to produce a certain condition. In English dairies freshly cut grass is shut in with fresh butter to impart the flavor of new mown fields. The French cooks, too, according to Miss Parlow, keep a vanilla bean in a box of sugar to secure a delicate flavor in an economical way. A thoughtful housewife, hearing that camphor was good to dispel ants, recently put lumps of this substance along her kitchen closet shelves with disastrous effect on the supplies that were shut in with them. When a domestic science course is part of every girl's education, some of this kitchen chemistry will be better understood.

Overheard at a Wedding.

"Here she comes." "Pretty, isn't she?" "Who made her dress?" "Is it satin silk or satin?" "Is her veil real lace?" "She's as white as the wall." "Wonder how much he is worth?" "Isn't she cool?" "That train's a horrible shape." "Aren't the bridesmaids plain?" "Hasn't she a nice little hand?" "Wonder what number her gloves are?" "They say her shoes are fives." "If his hair isn't parted in the middle?" "Wonder what she married him for?" "For his money, of course!" "Isn't he handsome?" "He looks like a circus clown." "No, he's a dancing master." "Good enough for her anyway." "She always was so stuck up." "She'll be worse than ever now." "She jilted John Hall or somebody didn't she?" "He's left town anyhow." "Isn't he awkward?" "White as his collar." "Why don't they hurry up?" "Did she say she would obey?" "Oh, there, they are married!" "Tired to death!" "Glad it's over!" "Oh, dear!"—Illustrated American.

The God of Love.

"Well," said the girl, "I have had the funniest time lately, and it took me the longest time to discover what was the trouble. It seemed to me that every man I knew almost acted as if he thought I was in love with him. I began to wonder whatever I could be doing to give people such an impression. I thought over everything I had said. I carefully balanced every smile and investigated my minutest actions, but as far as I could see they were all above reproach. I was entirely in the dark until one day, in a general conversation, talking about writing notes, a man I positively hate said to me rather tenderly: 'I always keep your notes, Miss Mabel, on account of the seal.' 'Then I understood it all. I had been sending out all my notes, invitations and things of that kind and sealed them with an old intaglio ring with the word 'Eros' on it, and I suppose all the men who had happened to receive one of these notes had supposed it had a tender significance. 'I have another ring with a simple little head on it that I use for sealing my letters, a little man who looks after my affairs, and I haven't had any trouble since.'—New York Times.
