LEGS ENTIRELY RAW

From his feet to his body,
and ran a blood tinged,
irritating water.

Mrs. A. Keirstead, Snider Mt., N. B., tell:
how her little boy suffered, and how
B.B.B. cured him permanently.

FREDDY KEIRSTEAD.

There is not a mother in this land who has a child suffering from skin disease in any form but will thank Mrs. Keirstead, of Snider Mt., N. B., for telling of the remarkable manner in which her boy, Freddy, was cured of one of the severest and most torturing of skin diseases by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters; and not only relieved and cured for the time being, but, mark you, after eight years the disease has shown no sign of returning. The following is Mrs. Keirstead's letter:—

"With gratitude I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of Burdock Blood Bitters. Eight years ago our little son, Freddy, was afflicted with salt rheum and was in a dreadful condition. His legs, from the soles of his feet to his body, were entirely raw, and ran a bloody water, which appeared to burn and itch until he was often in great agony.

"After trying several remedies, we resolved to give B.B.B. a trial. "You can imagine with what delight and gratitude we saw our boy entirely cured after using one bottle and part of the second. We gave him the remainder of the second bottle, and from that time till the present he has never had a sign of salt rheum or a sick day. You need not wonder that I think there is no other medicine can equal Burdock Blood Bitters to purify the blood and build up the health and strength."

IN THE LIGHT OF DEATH.

When all the wheels of life are running slow
And all the fires of life are falling low,
And flickering to an end—
Then, in Death's dawning light, we seem to know
What it all means—why things must happen so,
And not as we intend.

I thought to keep my own life good and fair:
Now broken, blotched, and ugly, it lies there,
Spread like a map in view,
I made the blots, the blunders everywhere,
The bitter disappointments in full share,
The sorrows, old and new.

But, though fresh failures come with each fresh day;
Though pain persists, and will not pass away
Till life itself shall cease—
Taught by this gleam of Death's keen searching ray,
"No human life is whole," I've learned to say,
"But of God's whole, a piece."

Each individual life is not our own;
'Tis in God's building just one little stone
Chiseled to fit one place.
Useless—not cut to shape, but left alone;
Useful, if, when its proper place is known;
It fits it, by God's grace!

For though God's Temple rise in noble state
Smooth marble blocks of wondrous weight,
And polished pillars tall,
But there are other stones, not smooth nor great,
Seeming despised—thrown out—yet, soon or late,
Wanted, however small.

So, if the Master Builder needs in me
A broken fragment only fit to be
A fragment, out of sight,
Still, in His house a stone—if even He
Has chosen me for this use, ah! then I see
All I thought wrong is right.

CONCERNING THE COMPLEXION.

In some cases a poor complexion arises mainly from want of exercise. Women who live an entirely sedentary life have a slow circulation and usually a bad digestion, and these are fertile causes of a muddy appearing skin. Exercise gives rapidity to the movement of the blood, stimulates digestion and calms the nerves, and is frequently more beneficial than any kind of medicine, although it should not be indulged in immediately after meals. Physicians are beginning to recognize the fact that drugs are not the most potent restoratives and that exercise, peace of mind, congenial society and recreation are not merely luxuries but necessities if good health is to be preserved.

Chapped and rough lips are not only painful but disfiguring, and it is advisable never to go into the open air without previously using a little glycerine or vaseline upon the mouth. To moisten the lips with the tongue has a drying effect upon the skin ultimately and the habit is one to be rigorously avoided.

Toilet soap of inferior quality is extremely injurious to the complexion. Only the best soap should be employed, and that does not necessarily mean the soap most expensively got up with lace and ribbons. Pure glycerine or olive oil soap, unscented, is very good and not specially costly.

BABY ECZEMA AND SCALD HEAD

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the sufferer to rest.

The Old Man's Wonderful Cure.

A good story is told among the medical men of Cleveland, a story which was started by the victim himself. He is a physician of considerable repute, and some time ago was called to attend a gentleman of advanced years who was suffering from a slight complication of disorders. The doctor went to work with a will, and presently had the patient on the road to recovery. In fact, two weeks from the time he took the case he had him cured.

As he left the house, after announcing that further visits would be unnecessary, the daughter of the restored man accompanied him to the door. "Doctor," she said in somewhat tremulous tones, "I want to tell you."

The doctor, who supposed she was anxious to express her gratitude for his skilled attention, waved her thanks aside.

"Don't mention it, madam," he affably said. "We always try to do our duty."

"But, doctor," she persisted, "it is something that will interest you. I feel that."

"Say no more, madam!" cried the doctor, much moved by the woman's agitation.

"It is something I must tell you, doctor," she continued. "Please listen."

The doctor halted with his hand on the knob.

"Yesterday," said the woman, "I was down town and met Mrs. Pugsley, the Christian Scientist, and she told me she had been giving father 'absent treatments' for two weeks. Isn't it just too wonderful?"

"Good morning!" said the doctor dryly.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Egyptian Dancing in Egypt.

The genuine native dancing girls perform in the little cafes that abound in the Arabian quarter. These places are usually small and about 30 men squatted around the seats that line the walls make a full house.

Here the Arabs come to smoke and drink coffee and hear the music, while in the center of the cafe the dancing girls perform. The places are filled with the smoke of the nargile and cigarettes, and the dreamy natives who lounge along the walls puff everlastingly on, barely noticing the girls who are weaving and swaying to the sinuous undulations of the dance to the time of a groggy tomtom and the mellow drone of a reed whistle. The dance is about the same as the one seen at the World's fair in Chicago, divested of most of its offensive trimmings. There it was designed to startle and shock and come up to western notions of oriental depravity, while here on its native heath it is simply a dance that is as old as the country itself, and to those who have been accustomed to it through generations of familiarity it is probably as tame as the quadrille. It is only the dance prepared for the tourist that disgusts you and makes you think that the orient should be raided.—Chicago Record.

He Couldn't Understand It.

Bilkins and his wife occupied seats in the dress circle. The curtain had just gone up for the second act, the first scene showing the heroine in street costume. As Bilkins rested his gaze upon the woman his face wore a puzzled expression. Several times he took hurried glances at the programme he had in his hand. He became so deeply interested that he attracted the attention of his wife.

"What do you see that interests you so?" inquired his wife. "She isn't pretty."

"May, isn't that the same hat that woman wore in the last act?" exclaimed Bilkins, seemingly ignoring his wife's question.

Mrs. Bilkins glanced in the direction of the stage.

"I think she is," she replied, "but what of it?"

"Oh, nothing, only it seems so odd!"

"What does?"

"Why, that she should still be wearing the same hat," explained Bilkins. "The programme says there is a lapse of two years between the first and second acts."—Ohio State Journal.

Our Florida Alligator.

An alligator is not an attractive creature. He has not a single virtue that can be named. He is cowardly, treacherous, hideous. He is neither graceful nor even respectable in appearance. He is not even amusing or grotesque in his ungainliness, for as a brute—a brute unqualified—he is always so intensely real that one shrinks from him with loathing and a laugh at his expense while in his presence would seem curiously out of place.

His personality, too, is strong. Once catch the steadfast gaze of a free, adult alligator's wicked eyes, with their odd vertical pupils fixed full upon your own, and the significance of the expression "evil eye," and the mysteries of snake charming, hypnotism and hoodooism will be readily understood, for his brutish, merciless, unflinching stare is simply blood chilling.—I. W. Blake in Popular Science Monthly.

Plasters and Cuts.

Although court plaster is useful in protecting small scratches or abrasions of the skin from harm, it should not be used over any considerable cut or wound in process of healing. These will heal much faster if simply covered with a bit of soft linen held in place at the ends with strips of surgeon's plaster.

No Liking For Angels.

A little girl whose mother left her alone at night after telling her the room was full of angels was heard saying to her doll: "Now, dollie, you mustn't be afraid. The room is all full of angels. It beats the devil how afraid I am of angels."—Trained Motherhood.

Naturally.

"And you say you ate horse steak in Paris? How was it served?"
"A la cart, of course."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

RHEUMATISM

THE STRAIGHT HAired GIRL.

Some one of the oracles whose mission is to advise young women how to select a husband, and to warn young men against feminine wiles, has recently set up a new guidpost for masculine wayfarers on the road to matrimony.

"Marry a girl with straight hair," says the oracle. "The chances are that her ways are as straight as her locks, while the heart of the curly-headed girl is as full of twists and quirks as her hair."

The theory is expounded at some length says the New York Sun. If all men will but be guided by this sibylline voice, the day of the straight-haired girl is close at hand. She needs compensation. For years she has fought an unequal fight against her sister of the curly locks, and her temper has been worn threadbare, all on account of her hair. What chance has a straight-haired girl on a windy day. Her hair is straggling in frantic whips over her collar and her ears. She looks untidy, disreputable; and all the time the curly-haired girl is becoming more and more bewitching. Her stray locks crisp and curl and flutter fluffily around her face, and she smiles in serene consciousness that the wind is quite powerless against her. When rainy days come the straight-haired girl sighs dolefully, and looks limp and dejected in spite of swell clothes. Sea bathing has no charms for her. Even golf can't be to her what it is to the companion with the curly hair. But if straight hair is to be a certificate of eligibility for matrimony, there will be balm for all these wounds.

DEATH'S CLOSE NEIGHBOR.

For Twenty Years Mrs. Roadhouse Was a Subject of Dread Heart Disease—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Gave Her Relief in Less Than Half an Hour.

Mrs. Roadhouse, of Williscroft, Ont., is 54 years old. For more than 20 years she had been a great sufferer from heart disease. The pain and palpitation at times lasting for five hours, and so acute that often she wished for death that she might find relief from her sufferings, but she was attracted to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart through reading of the wonderful cures wrought by it. She commenced using it and in one of her most distressing heart spasms found complete relief inside of thirty minutes. She swears by it today as the only heart cure. Sold at Short's Drug Store.

ANOTHER KLONDYKE WONDER.

VANCOUVER, March 16.—Mail advices from Dawson report the discovery on Dominion Creek, Klondyke, of the remains of prehistoric mammoth in a perfect state of preservation. The mammoth was found forty feet underground and weighed from 25 to 30 tons. It measured 44 feet, six inches. Its right tusk was broken, but its left tusk was perfect and measured 14 feet, 3 inches in length and 48 inches in circumference. The flesh was covered with woolly hair about fifteen inches long and of a greyish black color.

A PHRENOLOGIST SPEAKS.

Prof. J. W. Crouter writes from Penetanguishene: "I was troubled with palpitation of the heart which became very severe. Hearing of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I determined to try them, and after taking them for about a week I was cured."

Dr. William Lewis, secretary of the State Board of Health, says smallpox is steadily increasing in North Carolina. He reports the disease prevalent in seven-teen counties.
