

Save Your MONEY.

To save your money, by getting more for it, ask your dealer in medicine to show you the new 50 cent size bottle of JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT. It contains over three times as much as the old 25 cent style, which is a great saving to those who use this valuable family medicine. The superior quality of this old Anodyne has never been equalled.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

Fifty years ago this month, Dr. Johnson left with me some Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. I remember him distinctly, and could tell you just how he was dressed on that day. I have sold Johnson's Liniment ever since. Can truly say it has maintained its high standard from that time to this. No medicine today possesses the confidence of the public to a greater extent. JOHN B. RAND, North Waterford, Me., Jan., 1891.

As a family remedy it has been used and endorsed for nearly a century. Every Mother should have it in the house for many common ailments, internal as much as external. Our book on INFLAMMATORY free. Price 25 and 50c. L. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

OTTAWA, 28th July.—The Tories may shout in the most frenzied way about the ruin which is sweeping swiftly upon the country as the result of Grit administration of affairs—as the "Sun," of St. John, put it the other day "bringing Canada to beggary"—but whenever authentic statistics are available they have an ugly fashion of showing things to be all right. The most sanguine and patriotic Canadian would not have ventured the statement three years ago that such an era of prosperity would have come to the Dominion as that which now exists. The most recent information of an official character relates to our foreign trade for the fiscal year ending 30th June last. It is a most inspiring statement. It shows that our total foreign trade for the year was $306,104,708, or an increase of over $11,000,000 as compared with the preceding year. The extent to which the business of the country has increased during the regime of these blundering and incompetent Grits will be seen when it is remembered that our total trade in 1894—95 was but $218,391,314, and that was one of the best years for quite a period. The results thus far achieved do not seem to bear out the prophecies freely made by Sir Charles Tupper and his chief newspaper organ just before the last general elections. One of these was:—"It will take 20 years, even with the abolition of the condemned revenue tariff, to climb again to the post where Canada stands to-day, and we believe tens of thousands of families will be pauperized beyond the possibility of recovery," while Sir Charles Tupper in Parliament declared:—"I deplore from the bottom of my heart the ruin that is going to be inflicted upon the best interests of Canada and upon its great industries." It may be a rash thing to admit, but there are probably quite a number of ampenind people throughout the country who would be willing to put up with a little more of the kind of ruin which has come to the Dominion since Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues started in to wreck the land.

Our imports have increased by $42,000,000 since the Conservatives went out of office, and notwithstanding the reduced rate of duty this means a very considerable addition to the revenue. The largely augmented revenue just now being realized must be taken into account when considering the expenditure proposed for next year. If the Government undertook to spend $50,000,000 in the face of a declining revenue and general depression of trade, there would be some force in the criticism which the Tories are now offering; but precisely opposite conditions prevail. Everywhere there is expansion and buoyancy, and the Government would be derelict in its duty if it failed to meet the reasonable and proper demands of the country under such circumstances. It must also be borne in mind in connection with this question of increased expenditure, that there are several items of considerable proportions which are mere matters of book-keeping. For example, we are spending $1,000,000 in the Yukon country; but the royalty on the gold pays it. In the same way the increased outlay in connection with the Intercolonial will be counterbalanced by an increased income; but the entire expenditure has to be provided for by Parliament just as if it were all outgo. It is observed that the Tories do not refer to these items when presenting their sweeping objections to the intended expenditure by the Government for the fiscal year just begun.

There have been signs during the past week of a division on the part of the Conservatives to allow some business to be done. It is slow work; but progress has been made. The estimates have been before the House for most of the time, and many items have been disposed of. There has, however, been shown the same unfortunate inclination to cast suspicion upon everything that has prevailed throughout the entire session. The Opposition see a corrupt motive behind every appropriation. A great many of them, however, are feeling sore because the estimates have not provided for an additional sessional indemnity of $500 for each member. There was a well-organized movement among the Conservatives to have such a provision made; but the Government gave a firm refusal. These Tories do not seem to see how indefensible it would be if, after needlessly and senselessly blocking the business of Parliament for so many months, the Government should pay them an additional $500 for the session.

Liberals throughout the country will rejoice over the news which has just come from Paris that Mr. Tarte has undergone a successful operation and is on the high road to complete recovery. He was suffering from enlargement and induration of the liver, and in a man of his nervous temperament and industrious habits this was a serious trouble. Few people who have not visited the Capital know anything about the terrible wear and tear which the head of one of the large spending departments has to endure. Mr. Blair's work is of this character; but he is a man of exceptional physical strength and does not suffer as Mr. Tarte has done from the strain. Yet even the Minister of Railways shows signs of being in need of a holiday.

Parliament has consented unanimously to bear a share of the cost of the Pacific Cable, and this great project, which has been so long delayed, will probably be carried out during the current year. It is of Imperial significance. Few, if any, of the colonies now contribute directly to the Imperial defences; but in paying the proportion of the cost of the Pacific Cable they will be doing something substantial in that direction. At present telegraphic communication with Australia passes through a number of foreign countries, and in time of war there would be a serious danger of interruption; whereas the Pacific Cable would pass wholly through British territory. Once laid, it will probably be self-sustaining.

Mr. Blair brought down the railway subsidies last night. They make up a total of $6,540,295, of which $4,493,175 are new votes. The new subsidies covered 875 miles of railway at $3,200 per mile, and 140 miles of the Ontario and Rainy River Railway at $6,400 per mile. There is also a grant of $1,000,000 for the proposed bridge across the St. Lawrence at Quebec, $235,000 for other bridges. Four railways in New Brunswick are receiving aid. These are, the Central New Brunswick Railway, from Newcastle coal fields to Gibson, 30 miles; the Canada Eastern from Nelson to Chatham, 24 miles; the St. John Valley and Riviere du Loup, from Fredericton to Woodstock, 59 miles, the Restigouche and Western, from the present western terminus to the St. John River, 15 miles, and from the St. John River near Grand Falls to Campbellton, 12 miles. All these, except the St. John Valley and Riviere du Loup Railway, are new votes.

The announcement of these subsidies has not been well received by the Conservative press. The measure is criticized in the same spirit in which everything done by the present Administration is treaded. These Conservatives seem to proceed upon the offensive assumption that the present Government is in office by a fluke of fortune; that they have no right to do anything calculated to make a favorable record, and that the Tories alone have a sort of divine title to run the country. It is in this spirit that the Senate deals with legislation emanating from the majority in the Commons. In the days of Conservative rule it was a perfectly proper and commendable thing to bonus railways; but under a Liberal Government, notwithstanding the important fact that the growth of trade demands additional transportation facilities, it is all wrong to vote subsidies.

This rebellion against the right of a Liberal Government to carry on public affairs after the dictates of their own judgment lies at the bottom of all the trouble and acrimony which have characterized the miserable session now drawing near to a close. The Conservatives seem utterly unwilling to bow to the popular verdict against them. They talk of Government measures with an impudence that is simply intolerable, and one would suppose that the country was waiting with feverish impatience to turn out the rascals who are now in office and put back the high minded and pure living Tories. This is, of course, an illusion and a nightmare, but they act and talk as though it were real. The truth is, that Canadian affairs have never been in the hands of such a progressive, businesslike and upright Government, notwithstanding all the assertions to the contrary by the men who are still smarting under the rebuke which they received at the hands of the people in 1896.

A great deal of noise and cheap talk have been indulged in by the Opposition and their newspapers over a by-election in West Elgin and West Huron. The former was a Provincial matter, although the Conservatives speak of it as if the Liberals at Ottawa were responsible for the irregularities which undoubtedly occurred. In West Huron there was some tampering with the ballots at one of the minor polling booths, and the facts are being investigated by a Committee of the House at the present time. Every effort will be made to punish those who acted wrongfully. It is positively sickening to hear these Tory purists lecture the Liberals about their alleged corruption. One would think that in the matter of manipulating ballots they had forgotten the black history of events in Queen's County and a score of other constituencies.

COOK'S NEW BLOOD PILLS.

On the first indication of Diarrhoea or Dysentery a few doses of Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry will promptly check the advance of these dangerous diseases.

It has been over 40 years in use and has no equal for the cure of bowel complaints of young or old. There are many dangerous imitations on the market, so it would be wise to see that the full name, Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry, is on every bottle you buy.
