Doan's Kidney Pills.

How Do You Know?

A Kingston Man Says So.

Mr. W. J. Pappa, 112 Barrie St., Kingston, Ont., writes as follows: "Having been troubled with kidney disease for years, and not having received any permanent relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I take great pleasure in letting others similarly afflicted know of the wonderful curative properties possessed by Doan's Pills. Before taking them I was troubled at night by having to rise, but can now sleep, and do not feel weary in the morning. I hope that this may induce other sufferers from kidney or urinary troubles to give Doan's Kidney Pills a faithful trial, for I know that no other remedy could have acted so well as they did in my case."

THE PHILIPPINES.

THE NATIVES WILL HAVE TO BE USED WITH GREAT DISCRETION.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A correspondent of the Globe, writing from Hong Kong on November 26, says: It would be a great misfortune, if through hasty action or ignorance of the actual state of affairs, the Filipino natives rise against the Americans.

Hitherto, although the Americans have often given great provocation, the Filipinos have shown great forbearance and a strong dislike to come to blows. They do not want to fight and if the Americans only meet them half way all will go well. There is much to be gained by a just statesmanlike settlement with the natives while there will undoubtedly be great losses through a continuance of arbitrary treatment. The suspicions of the people ought to be taken into consideration, and I believe they would be, if only the proper men are sent out by the President to settle the question of the future government of the islands on the spot, after proper deliberation, and a very careful investigation. Such a commission would discover that the Filipino leaders have been loyal to the Americans. I am now informed that they refused to consider the overtures of Germany and France. When Prince Henry visited Hong Kong, he caused the Filipino leaders to visit him and informed them that he was empowered to promise the natives full recognition of their national government if they would cede to Germany as a quid pro quo a small coaling station. France, more recently, made similar advances, and in each case the reply was "We can not settle anything with you." The Americans promised us independence, and we wish to wait and see what the Americans will do for us.

COOK'S NEW BLOOD PILLS.

A TRADE IN WIVES

BUT THE BARGAIN PROVED UNPROFITABLE TO THE KLONDIKER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Frank Burton, an Oregon farmer, traded wives with Frank Hall, a neighbor, a year ago, in order to get a big, strong companion to assist him in a trip to the Klondike. Now his new spouse has left him, taking with her the proceeds of the Alaska trip, about $4,500. Hall and Burton lived near Sylvan, Ore. Mrs. Hall was a tall, athletic woman, capable of digging a well or hauling hay. Mrs. Burton was a comely little woman, an ideal housewife, but not very strong. Burton caught the Klondike fever in 1897. One day when he and his wife were visiting the Halls, Burton suggested that they trade wives. The women made no objection, and after some dicker ing Hall agreed to trade, Burton giving his wife and "four acres of prime onions" for Mrs. Hall. Burton is now back on the farm alone, while Hall and the former Mrs. Burton are apparently happy. No one knows where Mrs. Hall is.

IN PETERBORO

Mr. J. M. Donovan Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him

PETERBORO, Dec. 26.—This town is famed throughout the Dominion as the most go-ahead, progressive, wealthy and up-to-date on the continent. This reputation is thoroughly deserved, and was earned by the quickness of the residents to see and to take advantage of a "good thing" when it comes our way.

One especially good thing that our people have benefited by is the king of kidney cures—Dodd's Kidney Pills—a household remedy in Peterboro.

Among those cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills is Mr. J. M. Donovan, who reports that this remedy cured him completely of Urinary trouble indicating the first stage of Diabetes.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only remedy that has ever been known to cure this disease. They never fail.

A FORTUNATE REPLY.

(Harper's Round Table.)

The Duke of Ossuna, who during his long career as Viceroy of Naples, was distinguished as much for his sound, good sense in small matters as in those larger questions of statesmanship which made him one of the foremost men of Europe, once paid a visit to the Cape gallery at Barcelona. As he passed in and out among the crew of slaves he questioned several of them regarding their offences for which they were so laboriously paying the penalties. Each had plenty of excuses. One said he had been sent there from, spite; another asserted that the judge who sentenced him had been bribed; still another declared that his being there was all a mistake, and that he was suffering for the crime of which his brother was guilty.

At last the Duke came to a stout little black fellow of whom he asked:

"And what are you here for, my man?"

"My lord," replied the slave, "I cannot deny that I am justly put in here, for I wanted money, and so took a purse, near Tarragona, to keep me from starving."

Upon hearing this the Duke gave him two or three blows across the shoulders with his stick, saying, as he did so:

"You rogue, what are you doing among so many honest, innocent men! Get you out of their company!"

The thief, who was so surprised that he scarcely comprehended what was going on, was then set at liberty, while the rest were left to labor at the oar.

PILES CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE, BY DR. W. A. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mr. Geo. Browne, painter, of Woodville Ont., Victoria Co., says:—"For thirteen years I was a sufferer from bleeding piles and the intense agony which I passed through during those years and relief I obtained by Chase's Ointment prompts me to give this testimonial. My physician wished me to have an operation but I felt I could be cured without the knife. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment stopped the bleeding and effected a permanent cure."

A GREAT PROBLEM.

The Missing Link Between Inorganic and Organic Life.

One great life problem remains which the doctrine of evolution does not touch. The origin of species, genera, orders and classes of beings through endless transmutations is in a sense explained, but what of the first term of this long series? Whence came that primordial organism whose transmuted descendants make up the existing faunas and floras of the globe?

There was a time, soon after the doctrine of evolution gained a hearing, when the answer to that question seemed to some scientists of authority to have been given by experiment. According to a former belief and repeating some earlier experiments, the director of the museum of natural history Rouen, M. F. A. Pouche, reached the conclusion that organic beings are spontaneously generated about us constantly in the familiar processes of putrefaction, which were known to be due to the agency of microscopic bacteria. But in 1862 Louis Pasteur proved that this seeming spontaneous generation is in reality due to the existence of germs in the air. Nowwithstanding the conclusiveness of these experiments, the claims of Pouche were revived in England ten years later by Professor Bastian, but then the experiments of John Tyndall, fully corroborating the results of Pasteur, gave a final quietus to the claim of "spontaneous generation" as hitherto formulated.

There for the moment the matter rests. But the end is not yet. Fauna and flora are here, and, thanks to Lamarck and Wallace and Darwin, their development, through the operation of those "secondary causes" which we call laws of nature, has been proximally explained. The lowest forms of life have been linked with the highest in unbroken chains of descent. Meantime, through the efforts of chemists and biologists, the gap between the inorganic and the organic worlds, which once seemed almost infinite, has been constantly narrowed. Already philosophy can throw a bridge across that gap. But inductive science, which builds its own bridges, has not yet spanned the chasm, small though it appear. Until it shall have done so the bridge of organic evolution is not quite complete, yet even as it stands today it is the most stupendous scientific structure of our century.

Copper Tempered by Mound Builders. Ed. A. Schlotz has received from a friend in Savannah, Ill., a long and small spearhead, a small knife, an awl and a needle taken from one of the prehistoric mounds near that city. The tools are all of tempered copper, and when suspended by a thread ring like steel. They have been hammered out and tempered, and after having been buried in a mound for no one knows how long still retain their temper. The mound builders, who had disappeared from the face of the earth before Columbus discovered this country, knew how to temper copper, an art which no man on earth has now, although many have endeavored for years to discover the process. Such specimens are found in but few of the mounds opened, the implements found being generally of stone.

Mr. Schlotz has a fine collection of relics of mound builders and of the aborigines of this coast and values these tempered copper articles above them all.—Portland Oregonian.

An Undeveloped Idea.

Some years ago, according to the Boston Transcript, an inventor who had devised a new sleeping car took his plans to Mr. Pullman. The latter, after looking over them, said: "There is an idea there. I will give you $100,000 cash for your patents." The inventor was a poor man, and he would not accept the terms. He said that if the idea was worth $100,000 to Pullman it was worth millions to him. The car was built and proved a financial failure, and it is believed that even to this day the inventor does not know where the "idea" was whose presence Mr. Pullman discerned in the working plans.

The Bloody Meadow.

Tewksbury, where a famous battle was fought during the war of the roses, is in Gloucestershire, at the confluence of the Avon and the Severn and 180 miles from London. The battle was fought on the Bloody meadow, just outside the modern town, and according to local tradition, one night in every year on the anniversary of the conflict the adherents of the white and red roses meet and fight the battle over again.

Among the Vosges peasant children born at the new moon are supposed to have tongues better hung than others, while those born at the last quarter have better reasoning powers. A daughter born during the waxing moon is always precocious.

A doctor asserts that the growth of children takes place entirely when they are asleep.

First Symptoms.

BANISH THE LITTLE ACHES AND PAINS THAT LEAD TO SERIOUS DISEASES.

Paine's Celery Compound is the Medicine that Gives the Surest and Best Results.

Physicians with the most extended practice are well aware that there is nothing known to medical science equal to Paine's Celery Compound, for regulating the nervous system and banishing disease.

Men and women naturally love life, yet it is astonishing how careless and indifferent they are about the first symptoms of grave troubles. The sharp and piercing pains in joints and limbs, those ominous pains over the kidneys, that debility, nervousness, insomnia, ugly eruptions on the face and body—all are signals and warnings of grave diseases and suffering. Paine's Celery Compound used promptly will speedily banish every dangerous symptom, keep the body and nerves in perfect condition, and add power to the mental faculties.

The most sensible and rational way of getting rid of rheumatism and neuralgia; the true mode of building up the shattered nervous system, is through the use of a nerve medicine and blood regulator and cleanser like Paine's Celery Compound. When the nerve centres are made strong and the tissues and veins supplied with healthy blood, rheumatism and neuralgia must quickly leave the body.

Are you, dear reader, tired, dull, nervous, all-gone, miserable, full of despondency or irritable? If so, use Paine's Celery Compound without delay, and enjoy true and vigorous life. Carelessness, delay and indifference will surely drag you down to greater misery and increased peril.

BURIED ALIVE FOR TWO DAYS.

THEN DUG UP AND RESTORED TO FULL CONSCIOUSNESS.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 29.—John Clark, an inmate of the Soldiers' Home, in Dodge City, is said to have been buried alive for two days. He had been ill with typhoid fever. The doctor in attendance pronounced him dead, and he was buried in the soldiers' cemetery with military honors.

Some of his comrades declared that they did not believe Clark was dead. One soldier, named Hazen, persisted that Clark had been buried alive, and demanded that his body be taken from the grave. The doctor was recalled and asked what he thought about the case. Hazen insisted that Clark was subject to sinking spells, and with typhoid fever it would be worse.

After consultation it was decided to open the grave. When the coffin was opened it was seen that Clark's hands were not in their former position, and there was moisture upon the glass above his mouth. Stimulants and careful nursing turned the tide for Clark and death was robbed of its victim.

When Clark was final restored to consciousness he said that he had been half conscious of all that had happened and knew that he had been buried alive.

"Still, I could not do anything," said the old soldier. "I was helpless, but life did not desert me. It was an awful thought, yet I could not cry out. When I appeared to myself to be dying, the experience was a very pleasant one. I seemed to be entirely free from trouble and passing into a new realm."

"When I began to recover consciousness I found myself in what seemed to be a coffin, but I at once knew that I was not dead, because my feet were cold and I was hungry. I knew if I were in heaven I would not be hungry, and if I were in purgatory my feet would not be cold."
