MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just what every weak, nervous, run-down woman needs to make her strong and well. They cure those feelings of smothering and sinking that come on at times, make the heart beat strong and regular, give sweet, refreshing sleep and banish headaches and nervousness. They infuse new life and energy into dispirited, health-shattered women, who have come to think there is no cure for them.

Read the words of encouragement in this letter from Mrs. Thos. Sommars, Clifton, New London, P.E.I.

"Last fall I was in a very serious condition suffering from nervousness and weakness, I got so bad at last that I could hardly move around, and despaired of ever getting well. Seeing Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills highly recommended for such conditions I purchased a box.

"Before I had taken half of it I could notice an improvement in my condition and when I had used two boxes I was completely cured.

"It was wonderful how these pills took away that dreadful feeling of nervousness and gave me strength.

"I recommended them to my neighbor who was troubled with nervousness, and they cured her, too. We all think there is nothing equal to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

A GREAT SUNDAY SCHOOL TOUR.

There is now being carried out in the Northwestern States a great Sunday School Tour, under the auspices of the International Sunday School Convention. The party, composed of five members is as follows:—Mr. Marion Lawrence, General Secretary of the International Convention, who is in charge of the tour; Mr. E. O. Excell, the famous singer; Rev. Alexander Henry of Philadelphia, representing the Presbyterians; Rev. E. S. Lewis, D. D. of Columbus, Ohio, representing the Methodists; Mr. Robt. T. Bonsall of Cincinnati, Ohio, representing the Baptists. The purpose is to review and strengthen the Sunday School work of the Northwest, and to give the denominations represented an opportunity to confer about their own work, thus giving to the world a practical demonstration of denominational co-operation. The States touched on this tour are Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Washington, British Columbia, Oregon, California, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Colorado. The workers attend the State Conventions in nearly all these states, and are holding a large number of special meetings in addition. This tour is under the direction of the International Sunday School executive committee, of which B. F. Jacobs, Atwood Bld., Chicago, Ill., is the Chairman.

FROM DEATH'S DOOR.

How a Prince Edward Islander was Rescued from Death.

Five Doctors Pronounced His Case Incurable—All Remedies Except Dodd's Kidney Pills Failed to Help Him—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

LIVERPOOL, N. S., June 11.—The all-absorbing topic of conversation for the past few days here, was furnished by an incident that occurred on the market on Saturday.

A well-known farmer, resident a few miles from town, had purchased a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills from Mr. Arthur Hutchins' drug store. To a friend he remarked that his son was taking them for Bright's Disease.

"Are they doing him any good?" asked his friend.

"They are," was the answer. "He has only used one box yet, but he has improved wonderfully. No other medicine that we tried did him the slightest good."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest and grandest medicine that ever was made," put in a bystander, who had overheard the conversation.

The little group turned to the speaker questioning. He continued:

"I know personally of a case in which Dodd's Kidney Pills saved a precious life—snatched a man from the very brink of the grave.

"I was travelling in Prince Edward Island, and was staying at a place called North Carlton.

"Everybody was talking of a Mr. M. B. Connick, who had suffered with Bright's Disease for fifteen years.

"Five doctors attended him. They all pronounced his case incurable. The best doctor in the district said the same.

"He was induced to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ten boxes cured him. They will cure your son, sir, you may be sure."

A fire in the residence of United States Ambassador Choate in London Thursday night was confined to the roof and easily extinguished.

COOK'S SORE COUGH CURE

Humiliating a Rival.

It is not a mooted question in Persia whether women dress for the eyes of men or those of women, as there only women see women, at parties. In her book, "Through Persia on a Sidesaddle," Miss Sykes, writing of the women of Teheran, the capital of Persia, confesses that even Mohammedan isolation does not prevent women from being envious of other women, if they are dressed better than themselves. She writes:

"I was told that many of the fine ladies would give large sums in the European shops of Teheran for any brocade of silk which struck their fancy and would wear it at the next party to which they invited their friends, flaunting the new toilet ostentatiously before them to fire their jealousy.

Usually however, one of the guests would pay her hostess out by buying some more of the same material and having it made up for one of her slave women. She then would invite a large company to tea and the cups would be handed round by a negress adorned in the rich silks with which the former hostess is arrayed.

Later on the slave would dance before the guests. The great lady who had been invited to be mortified, would be both disappointed and humiliated. The lady who had given the party would be pleased at vexing the rival.

Food in Siberia.

So hard is food frozen in Siberia during the winter that carcasses of sheep can only be divided by ax and saw. Fish caught through holes in the ice freeze while they jump. Eggs are as hard as flints. I have carried them in a sack over my horse's back.

The rivers of Siberia abound with excellent fish among these a beautiful kind of grayling and the incomparable sterlet, quite the most delicious fish I know. While descending the Yenisei we caught a gigantic sturgeon yielding many pounds of coarse black caviare a dainty highly esteemed. Sturgeon cutlets, with wild chervil for flavoring are delicious. Quails and dabchicks are a favorite broil for second breakfast.

The bread I found dark hard and sour but sustaining. A great deal of vodka is drunk, but it is both perilous and nauseous on account of the fusel oil it contains. Kwass in summer time is refreshingly acid, and drunk from a small oaken bowl, it is better than cider.

Tea is taken at every meal, but is very weak. Brick tea is detestable. The stamped bricks are used as money till they are worn and dirty. They are then made into a kind of broth. All sorts of abominations are flung into it. The Khirgis have an insatiable appetite for brew "thick and slab," impossible to western palates.

Helen Irving's Tragic Death.

The tragic story of the beautiful and talented Scottish woman! Helen Irving is not, perhaps, well known, although it has been celebrated in song. She had been for some time courted by two gentlemen whose names were Bell and Fleeming. Bell told the girl that if he ever found her in Fleeming's company he would kill him. She, however, had a strong regard for Fleeming, and one day, while walking along the romantic banks of the Kirtle, she observed his rival on the other side of the river among the bushes.

Conscious of the danger her lover was in, she passed between him and his enemy, who, firing, shot her dead. Fleeming crossed the river and killed the coward. A heap of stones was raised on the place where the brave woman fell, and she was buried in the near churchyard. Fleeming, overwhelmed with love and grief, went abroad, but soon returned and stretching himself on her grave, expired. He was buried by her side.

A Lucky Hairdresser.

The old saying that a man may be a hero to every one but his valet is called to mind by an article in The Illustrated London News on "Famous Masters of the Tonsorial Art," in which stories are told of Dunlap, the hairdresser to Napoleon. This astute man made himself so indispensable to the unfortunate Josephine and became so intimately acquainted with the emperor's affairs that he was retained in the service of the imperial family when Josephine was superseded by Marie Louise. He cared for the hair of both the emperor and empress, being paid 4,000 francs a year for service to the former and 6,000 for arranging the coiffures of the latter. Ultimately he was the recipient of about 40,000 francs a year, his demands being constantly increased because of Napoleon's restriction in refusing to allow the tonsorial artist to treat the hair of any other customer.

Gazelle Hunting.

Gazelles in Nubia are hunted by a powerful breed of hounds, in build somewhat heavier than a greyhound. In spite of being far swifter than the hound, the gazelle falls a victim from the nervous habit of constantly stopping to look back to see if it is pursued. It also expends its strength by taking great bounds in an almost vertical direction, thereby not only losing time but exhausting itself, so that it is over taken without difficulty.—Harper's Weekly.

Torpedo Boats.

The average distance of discovery of a torpedo boat by the searchlight from a battleship has been calculated to be 781 yards and the greatest distance 2,000 yards. Thus, taking the distance at which the torpedo can be fired with effect at 500 yards it will be generally found that a torpedo boat will have to cross about 300 yards under fire from the ship she is attacking, and it will take the little craft about half a minute to do this.

Gallant.

"A man is as old as he feels," said the gentleman of the old school, "and a woman as old as she says she is."—Indianapolis Journal.

A PRO-BOER.

FINDS HIMSELF LANDED IN A CORNER FOR SYMPATHIZING WITH KRUGER.
(Newcastle Advocate.)

A gentleman from up Northesk way, with sharp penetrating eyes, heavy solid boots and a long stemmed pipe, and in fact having every appearance of being one of Oom Paul's adherents, walked into a Newcastle store the other day, obviously to transact some business and at the same time air his views on the struggle in the dark continent. As his appearance indicated he was a Pro-Boer, and the way he raked the British would make your hair curl.

"The British are up against it this time," quoth he.

"How do you make that out," asked a stalwart citizen of the shiretown of Northumberland County.

"How do I make it out, eh? Why the Boers are too many for 'em. They'll learn 'em to mind their own business, and let the poor down trodden Burghers alone."

"Pshaw! You'r one of these fellows who live in Canada but imagine their planting buckwheat down in South Africa. You're like a cow that eats in another man's field and gives you the milk. Damn it man be loyal to the flag that protects you," retorted the Newcastle man.

"Loyal be hanged,—loyal to a country that opposes the weak, never."

"Hum? Have you got a wife?"

"Yes."

"How many children have you?"

"Seven."

"Got a farm?"

"Yes."

"How many cows?"

"Nine."

"How many horses?"

"Two."

"How many pigs?"

"Four."

"Five counting yourself. How many sheep?"

"Twelve."

"How many hens?"

"Sixteen."

"Well, Mr. Boer, take my tip and take your wife, children, farm, cows, horses, pigs, sheep and hens and go along with Paul Kruger. Canada is no place for men of your type."

"Well, your d— smart to, but hang me if I don't remain here just as long as I please, and what is more I'll sympathize with the Boers if I like."

"No you won't," replied the Newcastle man, emphasizing his remarks by sending an upper cut to the jaw of the Boer, and that individual measured his length on the floor.

"Biff, biff, biff re-echoed through the building until the Pro-Boer gasped for breath and pleaded for mercy.

"Now are you British or Boer?" asked the gallant defender of Great Britain, as he calmly surveyed the prostrate form of the Canadian Oom Paul.

"B-r-i-t-i-s-h," gasped the man, as he slowly raised himself up and wiped his blood stained face with his coat sleeve.

WITHOUT SLEEP.

The vitality of the body is soon exhausted. Sleeplessness is one of the symptoms of starved nerves. It is a warning of the approach of nervous prostration or paralysis. Don't be tempted to use narcotics or opiates. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will gradually build up and reconstruct the wasted nerve cells and positively cure all nervous diseases. It is nature's greatest restorative, recommended by your druggist.

ADVANTAGE OF ROUTE.

"Why is it," asked Miss Birdie, "that the nearest way to a man's heart is through his stomach?"

"Because," said Miss Flyppe, with that cold illusion-destroying knowledge of mankind that comes sooner or later to us all, "that is the inside track."

Dodd's Kidney Pills

are the only medicine that will cure Diabetes. Like Bright's Disease this disease was incurable until Dodd's Kidney Pills cured it. Doctors themselves confess that without Dodd's Kidney Pills they are powerless against Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the first medicine that ever cured Diabetes. Imitations—box, name and pill, are advertised to do so, but the medicine that does cure.

Diabetes

is Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's Kidney Pills are fifty cents a box at all druggists.
