RICHIBUCTO, N. B. MAY 3, 1900

PINCHBECK LOYALTY.

(Sir Charles Tupper at Quebec.)
 "When you are going to negotiate a reciprocity treaty, you must have something in your hand to offer. If you give it away in advance you are powerless. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had given Great Britain a preference in Canada, and he said to the people of Great Britain: 'We give you this as a free gift. We do not want anything in return. You cannot give us anything without adopting the principles of protection, which has been a curse to us in Canada, and will be a curse to you.' Thus the man who was solemnly pledged to secure a preference for us killed the proposal so far as he was able to do so"—Quebec Chronicle, April 2nd, 1900.

A TRUE INDICTMENT.

Mr. E. G. Penny, M. P., put the matter well when he said in the House the other day: "We English and we French people in the Province of Quebec, if we are left alone, can get on very well together. We have lived together and we are daily getting to know each other better, and we are daily getting to understand each other better, and we are living in peace and harmony. I think I am not wrong in saying that the leader of the Opposition tried to make political capital out of this South African business, but whoever tries to make political capital out of racial differences is no friend of Canada. It is a crime for any politician—I do not care whether he is on my side of the House or on the other side—to raise the cry of race and creed in this country."

WANTED.

A leader for the Conservative party. None but an ultra loyal anti-Imperial, Anglo-French, Catholic-Orangeman need apply. One who can manufacture race cries as fast as the Montreal Star can turn its political coat will be given the preference.

Information as to whether Quebec is to be allowed by the Conservative party "to stew" in its Laurier juice" as neatly expressed by the Winnipeg Telegram (Con.) or is it to "satisfy the dearest ambition" of Sir Charles Tupper's life by being coaxed into supporting him.

Consistency and statesmanship in the Conservative leaders.

Some good reasons why the people of Canada should turn back the national clock by electing Rip Van Winkle Tupper to the Premiership.

A heavy hammer to beat into George E. Foster's cranium the idea that the present good times and good government are satisfactory to the people of Canada

An explanation. How can "a nest of traitors" be considered the only true blue loyalists in Canadian public life?

A large consignment of sugar for the Conservative party to catch political flies with. The present use of vinegar has proved useless for the purpose.

A cheap, automatic talking-machine to represent the Opposition at Ottawa. This will permit Parliament to go on with its work, while it grinds out political clap trap a la Dr Sproule.

PEOPLE IN GLASS HOUSES.

The Montreal Star believes in blackguarding its political opponents so hard that it will take them all their time to deny its vile insinuations and so leave them little time to attack the Opposition for its inconsistency, its obstruction and general uselessness for the past four years. As a master of political billingsgate, the Star has no equal in Canada—it is the "yellow journal" par excellence of the Dominion. Its latest effort is a renewal of the race and anti-Tarte cry, in which the members of the Administration from Sir Wilfrid Laurier down are called "Cravens—everyone of them," because they have not resigned from a cabinet in which the Hon. J. Israel Tarte has a seat. The Star's charge against Mr. Tarte is that a French newspaper in Paris put words in his mouth which the Star deems disloyal. It overlooks the important fact that Mr. Tarte never uttered any such words, that no such interview ever took place. But supposing it had been true instead of utterly false. Is the Yankee owner of the Montreal Star to be the judge of what constitutes loyalty or disloyalty in Canada? And if yankee jingoism as represented in Canada by Mr. Hugh Graham is to be the censor to end in Canada the British ideal of free speech which for a thousand years and more our ancestors fought to preserve to British freemen, then we must at least implore the all powerful jingo to be impartial in his decisions.

If a speech is disloyal which is falsely ascribed to the Hon. Mr. Tarte or another speech is disloyal as uttered by Mr. Bourassa, then in humility we crave that the same or worse sentiments or expressions are to be considered disloyal when uttered by that bulwark of British Imperialism—Sir Charles Tupper. Nay, we beg the honorable gentleman's pardon, the one time bulwark, for we must not forget that Sir Charles boasts of having "bust" the Imperial League in Britain and thrown down the foundations of Imperial Federation.

Tupper and Bourassa is the tory war cry in Quebec. And yet the Star says in the same editorial "Were a Macdonald or a Tupper 'in power, how long would such 'disloyalty be tolerated.' Verily the Star is great. It even forgets that it opposed both Macdonald and Tupper excepting when it was bought body and bones to support them. When the Tupper regime begins we may expect 'Senator' Graham to act as Pooh Bah taking the double role of Censor of Free Speech in Canada and Judge of Canadian loyalty. That he is only a whitewashed yankee will make no difference.

In the meantime we would remind the Star for the sake of the leader at whose behest it blackens public life and degrades political morality, that it should remember the adage "People who live in 'glass houses should never throw 'stones."

A DANGEROUS DEMAGOGUE.

The most serious charge to which Sir Charles has laid himself open is that in his whole course in regard to the war in South Africa he has been playing the demagogue. The concern which he now exhibits for the maintenance of constitutional safeguards might have been very usefully displayed last fall, when there was some danger of those safeguards being forgotten or neglected in the rush of warlike enthusiasm. We have no recollection of Sir Charles Tupper or any of his colleagues or organs saying a word at that time to steady the public mind. We have no recollection of any of them reminding the people that the Ministers of Canada were confronted with a new and difficult situation and deserved the utmost consideration from the country. We have no recollection of any of them speaking with moderation and wisdom of the difficulty arising out of the divergence of sentiment between Quebec and the rest of the Dominion. On the contrary, we remember that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was pursued with unscrupulous violence by the Tupper organs without a word of protest from the Conservative leader. He was made the subject of scurrilous cartoons in The Montreal Star, and an issue of the paper, filled with incendiary and abusive matter, was circulated through Ontario towns. The Mail made the charge again and again that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, under the influence of Mr. Tarte, had been reluctant to come to the aid of the empire, and that his hand had been forced by the loyal enthusiasm of Sir Charles Tupper. The Conservative leader devoted the whole of his speech on the address to a criticism of the action of the Government in regard to the contingents. He declared in his Massey Hall speech that the whole of the expense of the contingents ought to be paid by Canada.

Now we find him in Quebec charging that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is in favor of a plan of Imperial federation that will cost Canada $46,000,000 a year. We find him blaming the Liberals for giving Great Britain a preference without getting anything in return. We find him raising the cry that the independence of Canada is in danger. What is the inference, looking at the place where the speech was made and at his declaration that the grand ambition of his life is to win the support of Quebec? Simply that he is engaged in a vote-catching scheme, that he and his party having "worked" Imperialism for all it was worth in Ontario, an attempt is now being made to work Quebec on the opposite line. That is not the conduct of a statesman, and it will not win the approval of the people of this country.—Toronto Globe.

THE DELINEATOR.

A new form of needlework, very beautiful in its results, is shown in the May Delineator. Instead of accomplishing embroidery by colored stitches of various lengths, as heretofore, very pretty results are obtained by sewing carefully to a proper background small strips of colored silk cut out in the shape of leaves or petals or stalks. A most attractive feature of the article describing this method of work, is that there is a full page printed in colors showing the effect of this dainty idea.

Thackeray once wrote, "Reckon among the blessings which Heaven hath bestowed on thee, the love of faithful women. Purify their own heart and try to make it worthy of theirs. All the prizes of life are nothing compared to that one. All the rewards of ambition, wealth, pleasure, only vanity and disappointment, grasped at greedily, fought over fiercely, and over and over again found worthless by the universe." Such were the ideals that sad hearted but cheerful visaged Thackeray worshipped. His own experience with married life was unutterably sad; for though his wife was living, yet he suffered more than the pangs of a widower for 23 years. His wife, after 53 years in an insane asylum, died only six years ago. The pathos of it is very tenderly told by Clara E. Laughlin in the May issue of The Delineator.

OUR OLD TORONTO BOYS.

REPRESENTATIVES OF DODD'S MEDICINE COMPANY HOME ON BUSINESS.

(From the Globe.)

Mr. J. W. Lester, London representative of the Dodd's Medicine Company in Europe, and Mr. R. C. Davison of Australia, both formerly of Toronto, are in town on a business visit. These two gentlemen are the foreign agents of one of the most enterprising business firms in Canada, it having substantial establishments in no less than four of the English speaking countries—the United States, England, Australia and Canada, the headquarters. Messrs. Lester and Davison were seen at the offices of the company, Yonge street. Both gentlemen are enthusiastic as to the wonderful growth of the business in the countries they represent. Mr. Lester crossed the Atlantic on the Oceanic, landing in New York. Mr. Davison landed in Vancouver and came on to Toronto via the C. P. R.

"How long have the Dodd's remedies been known in England," Mr. Lester was asked.

"Well, that is hard to say, exactly," replied Mr. Lester. "You see their reputation had crossed the pond ahead of us, and mail orders from the old country were common before we advertised over there. But if you mean how long has our English office been in operation—since 1898."

"Do you find that Dodd's Kidney Pills are likely to become as popular there as in this country?"

Mr. Lester laughed. "They are quite as popular already," he replied. "They met with even quicker appreciation on the old sod than in their native country. As soon as it became generally known, by means of advertising, that a reliable cure for kidney disease had been found, orders poured in faster than we could fill them. There had been other remedies advertised for kidney diseases before, but they had been disappointing. The new Canadian remedy became famous as a certain cure for the diseases it was recommended for, and few people in the British Isles at the present time are unacquainted with its virtues."

"Do you find that the success of Dodd's Kidney Pills in England has brought forth imitations, as it has in this country?"

"Yes," said Mr. Lester, "that was bound to happen. However, we adopt the same policy towards imitations in England as in Canada—we ignore them. We keep pegging away at our own business and leave the public to decide as to the merits of the case. The original is always more worthy of confidence than the imitation, and that fact seems to be on our side. Anyway, imitations have done us as little harm in England as they have in Canada."

Mr. Lester reports also that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have been equally well received in England. He will remain in Canada for about three weeks.

Mr. Davison's story of the success of Dodd's Remedies in Australasia was proportionately gratifying. They have repeated their usual success in the antipodes, having been introduced in Australia the same year as in England. The different managers of the Dodd's Medicine Company assemble once a year to discuss the business campaign of the ensuing year, coming from all over the world to do so. Mr. Davison has the longest journey, travelling nearly ten thousand miles to be present at the Dodd's Medicine Company's Annual Meeting.
