Plain Wives Are Loved.

"Talk about being beautiful," said the woman, "if it is for the sake of gaining a husband-not, of course, in the mercenary, must-have-a-husband-to-support me or the don't-want-to-be-an-old-maid sense, but in the way every girl looks forward to some Prince Charming who is to be the only man in the world to her some time-there doesn't seem to be much of a question of beauty in it. Did you ever notice that at least three-quarters of the she looked into the oven, to see if the cat married women you see are, if not absolutely plain, decidedly not at all pretty? I don't know whether it is because there are fewer pretty women than plain ones to be found or because the plainer ones are more often married, but I think if statistics could be gathered it would be found that the latter reason is the correct one. Perhaps women who are plain take | in the neighborhood and purchased the more pains to be interesting, and it is in the end the brain, amiability, etc., which hold rather than beauty. Anyway, whatever it is, just take a few notes among the women of your acquaintance, and you will find not only that the married women are often plain, but that the most loved wives are often the plainest. For my part, I think it is no more than fair. However, that would not prevent me from looking as well as possible upon all occasions on general principles."-New York Times.

Gift of a Famous Flag.

One of the most interesting characters in Martha's Vineyard, Mass., is Mrs. Harriet Rebecca Stafford, or "Mother" Stafford, now 80 years old. In her cottage is a room devoted to patribtic relics and antiques. But the pride of her museum - the ensign of the Bonhomme Richard-is there no more, for she has presented the precious flag to the United States government. One of her heirlooms is a gold wedding ring worn by her grandmother 118 years ago. Harriet Rebecca wore this ring herself in 1855, when she became Mrs. John Barnum Ames, and the ring is of such potent virtue that she couldn't resist wearing it again when James Stafford proposed to her. James Stafford was the son of Lieutenant Stafford, who rescued the flag from the British in the fight at a time.

SHE SAVED HIS MONEY.

Having no confidence in banks, Mr. Thucydides Chuckster one night hid his entire wad, amounting to $275, in the oven of the kitchen stove.

And said nothing about it to his wife. Remember this fact, it is important. The next morning, as fate would have it, Mrs. Chuckster came downstairs early and made the kitchen fire.

Mrs. Chuckster had been in the habit of doing this for years, but this also was in pursuance, doubtless, of the decrees of fate.

But before kindling the fire in the stove was there.

She found the wad of money.

Mr. Thucydides Chuckster was allowed to sleep till 11 o'clock this morning. And by that time Mrs. Chuckster had made a hurried trip to the various stores following articles, paying cash for the same:

1 kitchen broom. I rocking chair. 2 pounds genuine coffee. 1 copper teakettle. 14 yards crash toweling. 1 stove hook. 1 bottle painkiller. 1 hairbrush. 1 dozen steel pins. 1 bottle ink. pair shoes for Johnny. pair gloves for Mrs. Chuckster. l rug for parlor. 1 box laundry soap. 1 set soup plates. 1 granite iron coffee pot. 1 lounge. 1 kitchen table. 1 half dozen pairs ribbed hose for Katie. 1 roll cotton batting. 1 pound candied pineapple. 1 dozen oranges. 1 canary bird. 1 cage. 1 package cockroach exterminator.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Mr. Chnckster came tearing down the stairs, four steps

WRINKLE TO FARMERS. A writer in the "Michigan Farmer" urges an objection to the plan of selecting the heaviest and plumpest grain for seed, that is new to us, and yet is a resonable one. He says that often the very plumpest grains of wheat are found upon the very smallest heads and shortest straw and he thinks the selection of such seed These pills are a specific for all would have a tendency to run out the diseases arising from disordered wheat into short heads. FOULTRY NOTES.

Business in poultry, is poultry for profit, and it is the most profitable branch of any farmers' business if good stock is kept and rightly cared for.

Everyone who takes special pains in keeping poultry stock pure and in nice condition knows it costs all we get from. them, in making sales of selected stock.

In feeding grain to fowls it is a good plan to give them unthrashed grain. The exercise the hen gets in scratching the straw over is good for them, and saves the expense of thrashing.

The flavor of eggs is affected by the food given the fowl, consequently for agreeable tasting eggs the food should be sweet, clean and of the best. Fish always imparts a fishy flavor, and so must all decaved meats and offal.

Hens must be kept in laying condition for eggs eight months out of the year. To lutely sustained endeavor for over an hour do this you must be good food, combining all the necessary qualities for egg for-

A RECONSTRUCTANT FOR WOMEN.

Paine's Celery Compound Rebuilds and Strengthens the Disease-Injured System.

Bestows on Women What They Most Require.

Full Nervous Energy and Rich. Nourishing Blood.

The System is Perfectly and Permanent ly Built Up ..

The healthy, vigorous and ruddy cheek-ed woman with bright and sparkling eyes is a joy to all around her. At home and abroad she attracts the old and young, and her influence is all-powerful.

The half-sick and invalid woman is a sad sight, and her presence chills the very atmosphere that surrounds her:

Backaches, sideaches, headaches, neu. ralgia, nervous prostration, irregularities, rheumatism and liver and kidney complaints seem to be the peculiar misfortunes of women of every class,

To the women who suffer from any of the ills mentioned, Baine's Celery- Compound comes in as the great reconstructant, bringing to sick women the great essentials of health-full nervous energy and rich, nourishing blood.

Thousands of testimonials from women establish the fact that when Paine's Celery Compound is used the nerves are braced, tissue is built up, poisons are expelled, the blood is made pure, the brainis clear and active, and the cloudless face and beaming eyes proclaim a condition of See that you get the genuine Paine's. A Common Mistake.

An amusing story is told of a lady who. having rendered some small help to a friend, was described with enthusiasm by that friend as being most kind and unselfish and devoted to the service of others. A girl who heard this immediately drew a mental picture of a thin, pale, subdued looking creature in a clinging, good bank. If it hadn't been for my nunlike, black dress, with bands of smooth, flat hair parted in the middle, and on being introduced a few daws later to a cheerful person in a fashionably made gown and with vigorously, curly, hair she was so taken aback as: to be scarcely able to speak. Why should a kindly disposition be associated so often, as it seems to be, with the suppression of all that is pleasing in outward appearance? The idea must surely be that the "very, very good" cannot take time or thought for their toilet, and people do not pause to consider, that peculiarity of dress often involves far more care than to follow the fashions in moderation and be as others are .- Philadelphia Ledger.

Hiding Places.

"Most people seem to think that secret drawers, hidden receptacles in furniture and so on, are quite rarities in modern upholstery and only exist in novels and plays," said a celebrated maker of furniture to a representative. "But this is by no means so. "I very frequently take orders for such items, and I employ a clever lady designer, who shows positive genius in planning places of concealment which no amount of tapping or measuring could reveal. In most cases, even were the hollow receptacle discovered, the woodwork around would have to be cut away. so complex are the fastenings.

"Most of the orders come from ladiesand rich people, of course-and I have no doubt that a desire to hide articles from too curious servants dictates the orders.'

Wash Your Eyeglasses.

.. Spectacles and eyeglasses are as much benefited by a bath now and then as people are, says a well known optician. It is strange how many people there are who think that their glasses only need an occasional wiping. Now, the fact is glasses require actual baths as frequently as does the ordinary person. The process is as simple as you want to make it. My plan, however, is to take the glasses to a washbowl and give them a good soaking in warm water. Then apply soap freely and rub it off by the use of a soft tooth or nail brush. After that give them a polish with any of the usual tooth powders and then clean them with tissue paper, which is much better for the purpose

THE CLERK'S MISTAKE.

A commercial traveller at Liverpool has "taken a rise" out of the clerk at a certain leading commercial hotel. One day last week he entered the office and, banging his fist, demanded angrily:

"Why didn't you have me called at 6 o'clock?"

"I did," calmly replied the clerk. "You did not, sir." "I tell vou I did." "You did not, sir, and I can prove it." "All right, go ahead; but you can't prove it."

"Yes, I can." "Prove it then."

"Well, you did not have me called at 6 o'clock, because I did not leave word to be called at all," and the commercial man grinned and looked for the clerk to blush and apologize.

But he looked in vain. A little thing like that wouldn't bother a hotel clerk.

If you only had to work like me!"The truth is that the chap he envies is putting an amount of concentration and continued energy into his daily toil that would kill the man who works with his hands alone in less than a week .

"I don't mean this as any reflection on the laborer, who is also no doubt doing his level best. I simply mean that the demands on brain production are a third again as severe as the demands on muscle production. McNeil leased the cabin of his new purchase to a new arrival for $5 a month.
