

Chest Feels Tight.

You seem all choked up and stuffed up with the cold—find it hard to breathe. Cough that rasps and tears you—but little phlegm got up.

Now is the time to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup before things get too serious. There is no remedy equal to it for making the breathing easy, loosening the phlegm and removing all the alarming symptoms of a severe cold.

"I caught a severe cold which settled on my chest, making it feel raw and tight. Seeing Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised I procured a bottle, which greatly relieved me. It loosened the phlegm, healed the lungs, and soon had me perfectly well."

A WOMAN'S ADVICE.

TO SUFFERERS FROM NERVOUSNESS AND HEADACHES.

Mrs. Robins, of Port Colborne, Tells How She Found a Cure and Asserts the Relief That the Same Remedy Will Cure Other Sufferers.

Mrs. Daniel Robins, of Port Colborne, Ont., is one of those who believe that when a remedy for disease has been found, it is the duty of the person benefited to make it known, in order that other sufferers may also find the road to renewed health. Mrs. Robins says: "In the spring of 1897 my health gave away and I became completely prostrated. Nervousness, palpitation of the heart and severe headaches were the chief symptoms. The nervous trouble was so severe as to border almost upon St. Vitus' dance. The least exertion, such as going up stairs for example, would leave me almost breathless, and my heart would palpitate violently. My appetite was very fickle and I was much reduced in flesh. The usual remedies were tried, but did not help me, and eventually I became so weak that I was unable to perform my household duties, and the headaches I suffered from at times made me feel as though my head would burst. I was feeling very discouraged when a cure in a case much resembling mine through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills came to my notice and I decided to give them a trial. After using two boxes I found so much relief that I was greatly rejoiced to know that I had found a medicine that would cure me. I continued using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills until I had taken eight or nine boxes, when I considered my cure complete. The palpitation of the heart, nervousness and headaches had disappeared; my appetite was again good, and I had gained in weight nicely. I regard myself as completely restored and I would urge other women suffering as I did to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and I am sure they will have equally good reason to sound their praise.

There are thousands of women throughout the country who suffer as Mrs. Robins did, who are pale, subject to headaches, heart palpitation and dizziness, who drag along frequently feeling that life is a burden. To all such we would say give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. These pills make rich, red blood, strengthen the nerves, bring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks, and make the feeble and despondent feel that life is once more worth living. The genuine are sold only in boxes, the wrapper bearing the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." May be had from all dealers or by mail at 20c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Hard Headed Prisoner.

In the trial of a negro in a Decatur county court for horse stealing the judge asked the prisoner:

"Have you any defense?"

"Any er de fense, suh? No, suh. I didn't take de fence. De fence wuzn't what I wuz attar."

"I mean," explained the judge, "have you any one to represent you?"

"No, suh. I did vote for Marse William for representative, but he made such a po' showin' in de legislature dat dey t'ud him down w'en he axed ter go back."

"You seem to be a hard headed fellow," remarked the judge.

"Yes, suh, Mister Judge. You right erbout dat. Ef I hadn't er been so ha'd headed, I wouldn't a stole dat hoss."—Atlanta Constitution

Tortoise Shell.

The finest tortoise shell comes from the Indian archipelago and is shipped from Singapore, and much of it is obtained on the Florida coast of America. There are three rows of plates on the back, called "blades" by the fishermen. In the central row are five plates and in each of the others four plates, the latter containing the best material. Besides these, there are 25 small plates round the edges of the shell, known as "feet" or "noses."

The biggest turtle does not furnish more than 16 pounds of tortoise shell. Formerly the undershell was thrown away, being considered worthless, but at present it is very highly valued for its delicacy of coloring. Nowadays a very beautiful imitation of tortoise shell is made of cows' horns.

Rare Books on America.

Lenox library of New York has the most remarkable collection of books on America in the world. This library contains all books on America from the fourteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and the first half of the eighteenth. The editions are complete, embracing all those in Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, Italian, French, Latin and English. The Spanish manuscripts pertaining to America are numerous and valuable.

The Harp in Wales.

The harp has almost died out of Wales, but less than 20 years ago all the principal hotels kept a proficient harper, whose duty it was to play for the amusement of visitors. The innkeeper who failed to provide this form of entertainment for his guests could not hope to compete with his fellows.

Perils of a Painter's Trade.

In Judge Hall's police court the other day a unique defense was offered by a painter who had been brought to the station in a helpless state of intoxication.

"I wasn't drunk, your honor," he persisted. "I was just dizzy that's all. I'd been paintin' a barber pole."—Chicago Record

At the Breakfast Table.

"What made you start and look so frightened?" asked Mrs. Small of the star boarder.

"Gee whiz! I could almost swear that I saw that sausage on the dish when I thought that boy in the street whistled."—Harlem Life

A SNAKE STORY.

Not many moons ago, a party of commercial men and others were occupying the smoking compartment of the Mulgrave parlor car and as usual were engaged in swapping yarns, one of the party had just concluded a rattling good story about a bashful man. When the conductor, the genial fam Hamilton, drew himself up to his 4 feet nothing and remarked that he was cured of bashfulness in a most remarkable manner.

"How was that Jack," said Fennerty. Fennerty is a traveller who is fond of a good story and likes personal experience better than anything else. "Let's have it, Jack; it's around to you anyhow."

"Well!" said Jack, "you see it was this way. When I was a youngster I lived with my father on the farm, and one very hot day during harvest time there was a quilting party at the house, and all the girls for miles around were there. I was then about 17 years of age, and as bashful as a country school girl, so you all see the quilting party had no attraction for me. In order to escape the ordeal of facing so many of the fair sex I took a scythe from the tool house and went off about half a mile to the hay field, and started in to do a stretch of mowing. As I said before it was a very hot day and before half an hour I was in a lather of perspiration, although all the clothing I had on was my pants, shirt and straw hat. This was not much, but after another half hours work I began to consider which of my garments I had better dispense with, and the result was that in another ten minutes, there I was a la Highlander, mowing away for keeps. I was well out of sight of the house, and was tickled to death to think that I had escaped the festivities going on there. When all of a sudden I felt a tug at my only remaining garment, and something cold touched my leg. Heavens, it was a snake! my hair stood on end so quickly that it lifted the cows breakfast I was wearing clean off my head! I verily believe now, that it was the scare I got that turned my hair red! I dropped the scythe and started for the house. I was a pretty respectable sprinter at that time and did the half mile to the house in record time, I ran so fast that Mr. Snake stood out like the whip on a homeward bound warship. I never once thought of the quilting party I was too busy keeping that snake out straight until I was close up to the house when it flashed upon me that there was a party going on inside, and that I was not exactly dressed for company but still I never let up! around the house I ran, and each time I passed the front door I would yell, "mother send a man! mother send a man!" Well I ran around so swiftly that each time I turned a corner I could hear that snake go-bang against the corner of the house, and—"

"I beg your pardon, Jack," said Fennerty, "you were inside the house, weren't you," you know Fennerty likes to have things just right.

"No," said Jack, "I was running around the outside. I wouldn't dare go inside dressed or rather undressed just as I was."

"Oh," said Fennerty, "you must have been on the inside."

"Oh, no, Mr. Fennerty I was on the outside, and as I was saying each time I turned the corner I could hear that old snake go whack against the house."

"That is just the point I want to get at," said Fennerty. If you were on the inside of the house running around a room I could understand the snake going whack against the wall but just think a bit Jack, if you were running around the outside, would not the snake swing clear."

It is needless to say that the yarn was never finished, and since the story got to be told around poor Jack has lapsed back into his old place in the bashful class.
