GIRDLES THE EARTH.

Cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills all Over the Globe.

Mr. John S. Morgan, of Bridgewater, N. S., Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills after all other Means had Failed to Help Him.

BRIDGEWATER, N. S., Mar. 5.—That "Endless Chain" of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only Kidney Cure known to be infallible, passes through Bridgewater.

Mr. John S. Morgan, a prominent local business man, speaking of the matter recently, said: "There is an endless chain of cures made by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and it encircles the entire globe. Every cure is a link, and there are hundreds of thousands of them."

"I am a link myself. And I can assure you that if you are afflicted with any kind of Kidney Complaint, as nine of every ten persons are, your only hope lies in Dodd's Kidney Pills; I should know, for I have been through the mill, and my experience furnishes indisputable proof."

"I had Kidney Disease for eighteen years, I couldn't begin to give you an idea of the agony I endured. It passed all description."

"I tried all the remedies advertised to cure Kidney Disease. My money was only wasted. I was treated by different physicians. They couldn't even relieve me, much less cure me. I had lost forty pounds in weight. My urine was almost black, and scalded horribly in passing. Rheumatic pains racked every joint. I don't believe any man could suffer more than I did and live."

"As a last resort I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. On that day my cure began. I used twenty boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and was given back my health, strength and vigor. Nothing on earth but Dodd's Kidney Pills could have saved me. They'll save every other victim of Kidney Disease."

SHOOK THE DOORKEEPER'S NERVE.

On the opening day of the session of the 56th Congress, says a Washington paper, a tall, gaunt man, with "high water" trousers and a shambling gait, a slouch hat recklessly smashed and an overcoat that needed brushing, presented himself at the centre door of the House of Representatives. He started to walk right in, but was stopped by one of the doorkeepers, who said to him, testily: "Say, don't you know you can't go in there?"

"No, I don't know it, my friend; I thought I could," he said, mildly. "Nobody but members allowed in today."

"Well I'm a member; Congressman Cushman, of Washington."

"Oh! I beg your pardon; walk right in."

As Mr. Cushman strode in the hall the astonished doorkeeper looked after him for a moment and then turning to his assistant on the door, said:

"Say, Bill, did you see that? Well, after that I ain't got the nerve to stop anything."

TICKLING IS NOT ALWAYS AGREEABLE, especially an unpleasant tickling sensation in the Throat at bed time, when you expect to sleep. Use the Baird Company's Wine of Tar Honey and Wild Cherry.

Growing girls in ill health should use occasionally Wheeler's Botanic Bitters.

Novelist (reading manuscript)—"Suddenly the moon obscured a cloud!"

Novelist—"No, I don't; this is a description of private theatricals, where the moon slips a cog and falls down over a cloud."

Two severe cases that were completely cured by the Great Blood Purifier and Healer,

Burdock Blood Bitters

Suffered For over eleven years I 11 Years. suffered with Dyspepsia and tried everything I could think of, but was unable to get relief until I took Burdock Blood Bitters. I had only taken one bottle when I commenced to feel better, and after taking five or six bottles was entirely well, and have remained so ever since, and feel as though B.B.B. had saved my life.—Mrs. T. G. Joyce, Stanhope, P.Q.

Covered My little boy, aged 10 With Sores. years, was a complete mass of sores, caused, the doctor said, by bad blood. His head and body were entirely covered with sores, and we could find no cure. Finally I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and before one-half the bottle was gone he began to improve and by the time it was finished there was not a sore on him.

I used the B.B.B. as a wash as well as internally, and it seemed to give great relief as soon as it was put on.—Mrs. Philip Mitchell, St. Mary's, Ont.

DUNGARVON'S CONTINGENT IS READY.

(Chatham Advance.)

We're a peaceful lot of people, And we only kill the moose, And hunt the roving caribou, Or sometimes "shootem goose." But now the fur is rising up Along Dungarvon's back. For our country's flag is drooping And our empire's on the rack.

We can hear the bugle sounding, And there's war talk in the air, And we read of bloody battles And would like to have our share. So we're egging up our crooked knives With whetstones on our lap, We've had pork and beans all winter And we're spoiling for a scrap.

And up and down our country line From Boiestown to 'Scumiac We see men rolling up their sleeves And humping up their back, And the captain of our Battery Sniffs the battle from afar, And is rising of his plumeage Just like Henry of Navarre.

For they tell us that the Empire Is fast falling to decay, That old England's power is waning, And all Britons had their day. The hairy man from Africands Has got them on the gaff, And other nations standing by Are giving us the laugh.

E'en the man down at the Bridge Who was always kind and free And liked to soothe a brother's woe Since the day of Hardy Lee, E'en he is backing up the Boers And saying in his prayers That they've got old Joshua's banners And the land of Canaan's theirs.

And it sets our blood to boiling As we look down the years, And note the swath of empire cut Behind the British cheers; And see the land of liberty And right and law and such, All fought up to a standstill By the blasted lop eared Dutch.

If sauerkraut and bologna Are to lead the hopes of man, Where roast beef and plum pudding Have been always in the van. If they must place a sausage wreath Around Victoria's brow, By the Great Dungarvon Whooper We want to know it now.

So wire us when you want us, And we "gamble" we'll be there With bread crumbs in our whiskers And hayseed in our hair, But our arms are strong for battle And our spirits light as dew, And our hearts against our jumpers Will beat loyalty and true.

Then fling that banner over us— The grand old Union Jack, That doesn't oft put up a bluff And have to take it back. We want no gilded lace or straps, No bugle call or fuss, Just place us on the firing line And leave the rest to us.

DRYING UP COWS.

To dry up a cow reduce the feed, take away the grain, and when the milk yield drops, milk first once a day, then once in two days, and in one to two weeks the average cow will be dry, with her udder in good condition. With persistent milkers there is seldom difficulty if alfalfa only is fed for a time. If a cow continues to give milk under this treatment or if the udder is hard and feverish, the work of drying up must stop and the ration be changed to a light milk ration, with loosening feeds, and the cow milked regularly. Forced drying up under these conditions injures the cow. If by oversight the drying up process has been neglected until within three or four weeks of calving, do not attempt it, as there is risk of injury to the health of the cow and her udder. After becoming dry the cow will need little attention before calving if she is on good pasture.—Live Stock.

DUAL PURPOSE COWS.

The all around animal for the farm is the dual purpose cow, says Professor Shaw; a cow that will produce a large amount of dairy produce while she lives and meat when she is dead; a cow that will produce steers that can be grown into meat at a handsome profit and that it withal rugged and vigorous because of the evenness and balance in her development. She is not a poor milker. This is where many dairymen are astray in their conception of this cow. They have been all along mistaking the poor milker, the scrub cow, for this dual purpose cow. Men have tried to write her out of existence in the press and to talk her out of existence on the platform, and yet she has gone quietly on her way, and by the excellence of her production she is fast rebuking them into silence. They have said she is a myth, a delusion and a snare, and the only answer which in her meekness she has given to these slanders is the answer of good performance, and so well has she given this answer that she is to-day the most popular cow in all the United States. Like the soul of old John Brown she still goes marching on.

IF THEY WOULD.

Though not addicted to cast iron pledges, the thought frequently comes to us that it would be a very good thing for some nine-tenths of the poultry keepers of America if for one year they would rigidly adhere to a resolution to be guided in everything pertaining to their poultry by competent authority. Saying this, we do not forget that authorities are at odds on some points. (As authorities are plain, fallible men and women, it would be passing strange if they were not.) So far as the purpose of adherence to this resolution goes, it would make no difference if in following his chosen authority the poultry keeper made some minor mistakes. What he would avoid, which is of far greater importance, is the costly blunders which beginners make through disregard of advice on points upon which authorities are virtually agreed.

To illustrate: Is there any difference of opinion among those whose opinions are entitled to consideration as to the advisability of doctoring sick fowls? We say doctoring sick fowls—i. e., giving continuous treatment calling for a great deal of time and a great many drugs to fowls which have been neglected until disease had become established or which had shown that they lacked recuperative power and could not throw off mild disorders when giving the proper simple remedies when disorders first manifested themselves. As far as we know, there are not two qualified opinions about the foolishness of doctoring. Those who, knowing better, continue to physic sick fowls, will admit that they are influenced more by sentiment than by sense, and they do not advise others to follow their example.

Another point upon which opinions do not differ is this: It is better to breed from the best specimens, by whatever standard quality is determined, than from the best and some inferior ones and that it does not pay for a breeder, with a purpose to plod along two or three years behind those animated by a similar purpose, "grading up" inferior stock. The man who does this is on the wrong track.

And, as a last illustration, we have never yet heard of a poultry keeper of 12 months' experience who would not decidedly advise against beginning a poultry business, building houses, etc., in the late fall or early winter; yet this year numerous cases have come to notice of persons about to engage in poultry keeping making desperate efforts from a start made after Nov. 1 to get things in running order before winter closed in. Some of these people could hardly be expected to know better before being told; others certainly did know better, but thought they would take the chances. No one could be persuaded that it would be better to wait until next season, start early and start right.

So illustrations might be multiplied in-

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

definitely. These are enough. We urge poultry keepers who know what they ought to do to try doing it for a year and those who don't know to be guided by those who do for the same length of time. If they will do this for one year, there is little danger of their lapsing from the wise course afterward.—Farm Poultry.

Terrible Suffering from Asthma.

Mrs. J. Wethom, of Mount Forest, Ont., says: "For a number of years I have been a sufferer from Asthma, and during that time I have consulted many doctors on my case, and have used many of the so-called cures for Asthma, but never got relief. At times I have been so bad that I found it necessary to have all the doors and windows open to get my breath. I had given up in despair of ever being cured till I heard of your preparation—Catarrh-o-zone. I have used it and am now perfectly cured—thanks to your wonderful medicine. I recommend it as a positively sure cure for Asthma." Catarrh-o-zone is a guaranteed cure for Catarrh, Asthma and Bronchitis. Sold by all druggists. Trial outfit sent for 10c. in stamps by N. C.
