

THE WAR.

RELIEF OF MAKEKING IS CONFIRMED.

NEW YORK, March 3.—A cable from Brussels says that a report received there from Boer sources announces that the siege of Makeking has been raised, the Boers abandoning the attack for strategic reasons.

London, it is reported, believes the despatch to be true and is again elated. This being the third place where British were besieged to be opened up.

RELIEF OF LADY MITH AND THE SCENES.

LONDON, March 3.—The story of how Lord Dundonald rescued General White at Ladysmith is being chronicled thus:—"During the afternoon of Feb. 28 the cavalry brigade pressed forward under Col. Burn-Murdoch toward Bulwain Hill and under Lord Dundonald in the direction of Ladysmith. The Boers fired on both with artillery from Bulwain.

"About 4 o'clock Major Gough's regiment, which was in the advance, found the ridges surrounding and concealing Ladysmith apparently unoccupied. He reported the fact to Lord Dundonald, who determined to ride through the gap with the Light Horse and Carbineers.

"The rest of the brigade was sent back to Gen. Buller's picket line. It was evening when we started. About an hour of daylight remained. We galloped on swiftly, in spite of the rough ground, up and down hill, through scrub and rocks and dongas until we could see the British guns flashing from Wagon Hill; but on we went, faster, until suddenly there came the challenge from the scrub, 'Who goes there?'

"The relieving army," we replied; and then the tattered and almost bootless men crowded around, cheering very feebly. Even in the gloom we could see how thin and pale they looked; but how glad they were."

THE BEST OF FRIENDS MUST PART. A bad cough may stick to you, but it is no friend. Give it a ticket of leave by using the Baird Company's Wine of Tar Honey and Wild Cherry.

You cannot fatten a horse that is out of condition. First give it Granger Condition Powder, a valuable tonic and blood purifier.

HOW TO BE POPULAR.

Do not manifest impatience, nor engage in argument.

Do not interrupt another when speaking, nor find fault, etc., though you may gently criticize.

Do not talk of your private, personal and family matters; it shows bad taste.

Do not appear to notice inaccuracies of speech in others.

Do not always commence a conversation by an allusion to the weather.

Do not, when narrating an incident, continually say, "you see," "you know," etc.

Do not intrude professional or other topics that the company generally cannot take an interest in.

Do not talk very loud. A firm, clear, yet mild, gentle and musical voice can be distinctly heard.

Do not speak disrespectfully of certain personal appearances or physical infirmities when anyone present may have the same defect.

Do not be absent-minded, requiring the speaker to repeat his remarks. Give all your attention to anyone talking to you.

Do not try to force yourself into the confidence of others; if they give their confidence never betray it.

Do not intersperse your conversation with foreign words and high sounding terms. It shows affectation and bad taste.

Do not carry on a conversation with another in general company about matters known only to you two. It is almost as impolite as to whisper.

Do not use slang phrases, vulgar terms, words of double meaning or language that will bring a blush to any cheek.

If, when you are paying an afternoon call, another lady arrives, the hostess should chat with you both, the first arrival should be the first to leave. A bow to the other caller and a few words to your hostess are all that is necessary to say on parting.

WHEN THIS PARAGRAPH CATCHES YOUR eye you will see at once that it is an advertisement. But how else can we let you know what a capital thing Adamson's Botanic Cough Balm is? Write and tell us. 25c. all Druggists.

KIPLING'S NEW STORIES.

Rudyard Kipling's first piece of sustained work since his illness last year turns out to be a series of humorous animal stories which are said to show all the freshness and zest of a man who has had a long rest. Kipling loves to write an animal story better than anything else, and when his physicians allowed him to return to work he instinctively turned to this series which he had had in mind for years. There are nine stories, and each one is supposed to tell the origin of the most conspicuous part of the animal portrayed. Thus, in "The Elephant's Child" he tells a most droll story of how the elephant happened to get a trunk, and in "The Sing-Song of Old Man Kangaroo" he gives the history of how the kangaroo got his long legs, for Mr. Kipling says, there was a time when elephants had no trunks, and kangaroos' legs were not as long as they are now. The stories, it is said, show Mr. Kipling at his very best. They are expressively funny and have that rare quality of appealing to old as well as young. The author has sent the entire series to the Ladies' Home Journal, and that magazine will begin their publication in its next issue.

KILLED ON THE I. C. R. AT AMHERST, N. S.

AMHERST, N. S., March 6.—George Gould, aged forty-five met a horrible death early Sunday morning on the railroad about a mile east of here, when he was literally cut to pieces and parts strewn along the line. Shortly after one o'clock at night he was conducted towards his home, along the line, in an intoxicated condition, by Policeman Brownell, and at Christie crossing was given in charge of his brother, Johnnie Gould, who said he would take him home. After going a short piece along the line deceased refused to go any further, and his brother left him at the side of the embankment. From appearances deceased afterward got up, scrambled to the track again, and there fell, where he lay until a train passed over him. On his forehead was a deep cut, caused by striking the rail. His body was found at seven o'clock Sunday morning by E. J. McDonald, cut in two at the middle and completely disembowelled, his liver being found some ten feet away. He has a wife, whose name was Lamy, who belongs to Cape Breton, and three children.

THE D. & L. EMULSION benefits most those having Lung troubles with tendency to hemorrhages. A few bottles taken regularly make a wonderful improvement. Made by Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd.

A LITTLE COLD LET RUN.

A little tickling in the throat—now and then a dry, hacking cough—"not bad enough to bother about you say."

But every hack makes a breach in the system, strains the lungs and prepares the way for more serious trouble.

It would be wise for you to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup now, before the lungs become permanently affected.

It is the most certain and satisfactory remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Hoarseness, Sore Throat and Whooping Cough.

Mrs. Geo. F. Foster, Lansdowne, N. B., has this to say: "I was taken suddenly with a cold which settled on my lungs. I had a terrible cough and it gave me great alarm. All the remedies I tried seemed of no use. I then started taking Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which cured me so promptly that it was a pleasant surprise. I shall always keep it in the house during the winter season."

MUNDLEVILLE.

Not seeing any notes from this section in last week's issue we suppose Rubber is suffering from the effects of vaccination so will try to help him out.

The storm of last Thursday night and Friday was the worst of the season, the first time this winter the mail has missed a trip.

One of our enterprising young men from the lower end of the district feels so elevated at finishing his apprenticeship as a plasterer that he is often heard singing the song "All for the love of the luring bright eyes!"

Mud hauling is the order of the day. A large number of the farmers haul, through the woods from Main River which caused quite an excitement with the Main River farmers who bought a portion of the river.

The man from the sea side reports the weather and travelling very bad of late, but he has never missed a Saturday in getting up the river. We wish him success.

Everyone seems pleased at the turn the war has taken and hope it will not be long before it is completely settled.

Miss Sarah Masterton has gone to Coatesville to take charge of a school there. She will be much missed by the young folks as she was quite a favorite.

We are afraid the Comedy Co. has vanished in thin air, for we have not heard of them lately. Perhaps it is the continued fog that has spoiled some of their throats.

Mr. O. Young, who has been lumbering in the State of Maine, returned home last week looking hale and hearty.

The night school has "gone under" owing to the investigating committee having to attend to business in other places, but Thomas E. it ising his utmost skill in trying to make a singing school a success with the aid of the teacher.

A young lady in this vicinity was badly frightened last Thursday night by someone rapping on her window, but it proved to be a man lost in the snow storm. It was feared she was threatened with nervous prostration, but is recovering from the shock.

COGNAC NOTES.

MARCH 5.—Mr. Joseph Bourgeois and Miss Amelia Bourgeois were married Monday, the 26th ult., by Rev. J. A. L'Archeveque. The bride who looked very pretty in a grey travelling suit, was supported by Miss Julia Dupres, while Mr. Peter LeBlanc did the honors for the groom. After the ceremony, the bridal party partook of luncheon at the home of the bride's parents, and shortly after left on a wedding tour through the province. The happy couple were the recipients of many handsome presents, and the best wishes of all their many friends, among whom they are deservedly popular.

There is considerable sickness about here this winter. The most serious case is that of Mrs. Simon Bourgeois, who is lying in a very critical condition. She is suffering from Bright's Disease. Mrs. A. Falconer, of Notre Dame, is also dangerously ill with heart trouble.

Mrs. Gregory LeBlanc died of inflammation of the lungs Sunday morning. She was at the time visiting her son in Grandique, whither she went less than a week previous.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John B. Gogain.

Rev. J. A. L'Archeveque has decided to enlarge his church during the coming summer. It will be lengthened by about 20 feet, the vestry to be removed sufficiently to the rear to allow of the change. This enlargement will add materially to the accommodation of the congregation, and at the same time, by making it correspond with the original design, greatly enhance its beauty of proportion.
