

Pale and Languid.

THE CONDITION OF VERY MANY YOUNG GIRLS IN CANADA.

They are Subject to Headaches, Heart Trouble, and an Indisposition to Excretion - Parents Should Act Promptly in Such Cases.

Miss Alma Gauthier, daughter of Mr. Adelar Gauthier, proprietor of a well known hotel at Three Rivers, Que., enjoys a wide popularity among her young friends, and they have recently had occasion to rejoice at her restoration to health after a serious illness.

The case of Miss Gauthier certainly carries with it a lesson to other parents, whose daughters may be pale, languid, easily tired, or subject to headaches, or the other distressing symptoms that mark the onward progress of anaemia.

PILES FOR 15 YEARS.

Mr. Jas. Bowles, Councilor, Embro, Ont. writes: "For over 15 years I suffered the misery of bleeding, protruding piles. The many remedies I tried all failed. I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and must say that the first application gave relief, after the third day the bleeding stopped and two boxes cured me completely."

A sad story comes from West Bay road station. Within fifty yards of the station is the home of section boss Allan McDonald. Tuesday of last week Mrs. McDonald was taken ill, apparently suffering from a severe cold. The following day the husband took ill, followed a day later by two of the children. Friday evening the wife and mother died, which death was followed on Saturday evening by that of her husband. The two children are reported alive. The disease which attacked the family and proved fatal was pneumonia.

WORTH $50 A BOTTLE. It may be worth a little more or even more to you.... Dear Sirs - I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and think it a good medicine. I have cured a spavin on my hind leg, and I would not take $100 for it, which I offered for $10 before. I will be pleased to have your book and recipe for this medicine, sent to me, your book and recipe for $10. Please send me the book as you advertise in the paper. FRANK SMITH, Hamilton, T. O., Ontario, Mar. 5, '98.

A Bill Poster's Trick.

"Of course we used to put up small bills wherever they'd catch the eye," said a bill poster who traveled with a circus making one day stands, "and one thing we used to do that always pleased folks was to hang a bill from a ceiling. You had to have a wooden ceiling, to start with, and then all you wanted, besides the bills, was a tack and a silver dollar. It took practice to do it, but when you'd got the knack it was very simple and easy."

"You attached two bills together, one at the foot of the other so that it would hang down when the first one was attached to the ceiling. Then you folded the bills up, with a tack, thrust point upward through the top fold of the upper bill, with a silver dollar under it, up against its head and between it and the other folds of paper under it."

"Then, some time when the room was full of people - this might be a hotel office or perhaps a barroom - you tossed the bills up, and there was weight enough in the dollar to drive the tack into the ceiling far enough to hold. Then the weight of the paper itself and of the dollar would open the bills out, and the coin would drop and you'd catch it as it fell, and the chances are that not one man in five would see it fall. The bills would be seen, fastened up there somehow, most of the people wouldn't know how, and opening out with the lower bill, hanging so you could read it."

"This was not the greatest thing in bill posting ever was, but, as I said before, always pleased folks." - New York Sun.

Very Curious Weather.

At Alto Cruero water freezes every night of the year and the thermometer frequently falls to 6, 8 and 10 degrees below zero. There are no facilities for artificial heat - not even a fireplace - and people keep themselves warm by putting on ponchos and other extra wraps.

At noonday the sun is intensely hot, because of the elevation and the rarity of the atmosphere, and blisters the flesh of those who are not accustomed to it. There is a difference of 20 and sometimes 30 degrees in the temperature of the shade and the sunshine. Water will freeze in the shade while 20 feet away men may be working in their shirt sleeves.

Board For His Poems.

"Yes, I find it extremely difficult to make my living by my pen," said the poet.

"Difficult!" exclaimed his friend. "You mean impossible, I presume."

"No, I do not," replied the poet. "I am in the habit of saying precisely what I mean, and when I say difficult I mean just that and nothing more."

"You don't mean to say that you have ever earned anything by your literary work?"

"Indeed I do," answered the poet. "I once got six months' board for some poems."

"Who did you sell them to?"

"My landlady."

"What on earth did she want with a lot of poems?"

"I don't know that she wanted them particularly, but I left them in my box when I went away, and there was nothing else in sight. They were good poems, too, but I couldn't sell them."

The Stumbling Block.

A member of the Mug House club who had failed to win a fortune on the turf decided to go into Wall street to tackle easier game. "On the turf," he explained, "a man has exactly 27 chances against him in a field of ten horses. In other words, he has one chance in 28 to hit a winner. Now, in Wall street stocks go one of two ways - either up or down - giving a man one chance in two. It looks like a dead open and shut. I'm going to make it pay. There's nothing against you except bad judgment."

"Oh, yes, there is," said a New street operator, nodding his head sagely.

"And that is?" - we all asked.

"Your broker and his commission." - New York Press.

Clothed With Power.

He was a little uncouth, but was a great traveler. He had just returned from the wilds of central Africa, where he had hobnobbed with all the royalties of that savage region, and was being lionized in the swagger drawing rooms of Belgravia.

"Do tell us about the queen of Boomboloo," said the Duchess of Lonsborough. "Is she clothed with great power?"

"Your grace would think so," he replied, "if you were to see her six nigger maids of honor facing her corsets." - Pick-Me-Up.

Sure He Was Irish.

"Why do you think this man who almost drove over you was Irish?"

"Because I threatened to lick him."

TO OUR FATHERS' LAND IN WAR TIME

By the Rev. Charles Follen Lee. The banner of Britain is flung, And the martial songs of the fathers By the sons are proudly sung. 'Tis not that of peace they are weary, That their home have ceased to be dear, They have heard their mother calling, And they must answer, "Here!"

From near and from far they gather, Their sturdy foes to face; From the foam-girt Northern islands, The cradle of their race; From the newer and larger Britains, Rising 'neath sunnier skies; From wherever the Red-Cross banner O'er a mighty empire flies.

Hark to the rival nations, As they follow the fight from afar, Whispering, laughing together, And cheering the burghers to war! "Wait," say they, "wait till the Lion, Bleeding, pants in the fray, And then, in full pack, we'll fall on him, And make him our mock and prey!"

O mighty Mothers of peoples! We who are born of thy bone Salute the land of our fathers, And kinship proudly own. If with thee those fathers contended, And won for us glorious gains, 'Twas because the free blood of Britain Reddened and surged in their veins.

Share as we with thy children In a godly heritage - Heirs of the thousand glories That gild thy former age. Alfred is ours, and the Charter, Righter of regal wrong; And ours the world of Shakespeare And Milton's deathless song.

Mistake not for us those whose careers Thou hearest ring over the sea, Whose love for the Boer means only Blinding hatred of thee. Heed not the demagogue, bidding For cheers from rancorous throats, Who would flatter and fawn upon demons, If demons only had votes.

Why should the sophist befool us? In, call it good, is but ill; Tyranny, masking as freedom, Remainseth tyranny still. Men may be brave, yet oppressive; They may gird them with prayer for the fight, And plead, "We are few against many," And still not be in the right.

Health to thee, Mother of peoples, Mother of nations unborn! Soon may the skies that gloom o'er thee Smile clear and glad as the morn! And God send the day when thy banner, For bloodless conquests unfurled, Side by side with our own starry ensign, Shall give peace to a war-weary world! Newcastle, Me., Feb. 1, 1900

IT'S ALWAYS MIDNIGHT GLOOM to the sufferer from stomach disorders and the diseases which can be directly traced there - neglect or ignorance may have reduced the darkness, but so sure as night follows day, just so surely will Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets let in the sunshine and bring back the full noonday brightness of perfect health. This is taking strong ground - but proof is to be had - one tablet after eating - 60 in a box - 35 cents. Sold by W. W. Short.

Worn-Out Nerves

Bring Headaches, Backaches, Pains in Limbs, Sleeplessness, Irrregularities, Nervous Prostration and Paralysis.

Woman's work is never done. From early morn till late at night many a woman toils on day after day, week after week, and year after year, with no rest, no recreation, and not even change of work, for it is the same monotonous round over and over again.

Little wonder that the nerves are shattered, the system run down, and the body racked by pains and aches. Little wonder that the head aches, the digestive functions are impaired, and the delicate organs become irregular. Little wonder that beauty fades, the skin becomes pale and sallow, and the body thin, weak and worn out.

To correct these ailments and to renew the vitality of the body a restorative is necessary, and there is no greater restorative known to man than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is a new wonder of medical science that gets down to the foundation and builds up gradually but surely until the whole system is revitalized and disease becomes a thing unknown.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is put up in pill form, and if taken regularly according to directions will positively and permanently cure the most serious nervous disorders of men, women and children. 50c. a box at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto. Book free. 23

A SUNDAY SCHOOL HOME CLASS. The latest movement in the Sunday-school world is the Home Department, which is nothing more than that department of the Sunday-school which attempts to carry the Sunday-school to the home.

By its mothers with small children, invalids the infirmed and aged, and those whose time cannot be commanded on Sunday, are enrolled on the Sunday-school, upon agreement to study the lesson at least one-half hour every week. This new department brings the home in close touch with the Sunday-school and is extending Bible study to the entire church membership as well as to many who do not attempt to go to church. The expense of inaugurating and carrying on this department is almost nothing. This is one of the many features of Sunday-school work fostered by the International Sunday-school Association, including the United States and Canada, and of which Mr. Marion Lawrence, of Toledo, Ohio, is the General Secretary. He will supply farther information.
