STORY OF A JACK-KNIFE.

More than 70 years ago a man owned a jack-knife, which he sold for a gallon of rum and by retailing it by the glass made enough to buy two gallons, and by selling that he was able to increase the quantity he purchased. He got a barrel, then a cask, and at last a large stock, and having a turn for business and industry he became rich—and when he died left $80,000 to his three sons and one daughter. The daughter married a man who spent her money, and she died. The sons entered into folly and extravagance, and two died of dissipation and in poverty. The last of the family lived for many years on the charity of those who had known him in his prosperity.

He died a short time since, suddenly, in a barn, where he had laid himself to take a drunken sleep. On his pockets being examined, all that was found in them was a string and a jack-knife.

So a jack knife began and ended the fortune of that family. This is a true story; and the father who bought and sold rum, no doubt had plenty of it in his house and on his table. In giving and recommending it to others, his sons learned to like it.

They were like the little boy who was following his father through a field of potatoes. The father several times cautioned his son not to tread on the potatoes.

At last the boy said, "Father, I am walking exactly in your footsteps."

Let every father ask himself, "Do I wish my son to walk in my footsteps?" and let every boy ask his father, "Do you wish me to walk exactly in your footsteps, father?"

FLAVORED WITH BRANDY.

In the early married life of a certain lady in the State of New York, a young friend whom she had known and loved since childhood—an only son—came from his home in a neighboring town to spend the day with her. He had been a victim of alcohol of the "spree" variety, but to the great joy of his friends had now for eight months triumphed over his demon master.

All went well until dinner, when for desert, the mistress of the boarding-house sent up the usual pie and a pudding flavored with brandy. Mrs. B— quietly moved the latter back from both their plates, saying to her friend, "You and I will take pie," but the familiar odor had made its appeal. He alternately drew up and pushed back the plate, and at last nervously seizing it eagerly devoured the poisoned food.

Full of apprehension she returned with him to her own apartments, resorting to every possible expedient to divert and entertain him until the time for the train, shuddering at the thought of sending him home once more bound for Satan, but in vain. Looking at his watch repeatedly, he finally said, "I must go to the station." "I will go with you," was her reply, and they started out together and passed the first hell gate safely, but at the second he darted from her side and disappeared. In dismay, she flew to her husband's office, telling him he must come and find the fugitive. The eager search was vain; but on the third day, on a pile of lumber, drenched by the pouring rain, robbed of watch and diamond studs, he was found and taken back to his home. Three months after, as a result of his exposure, he was borne to his grave. Mrs. B— was sent for in his last hours. With failing breath, he tried to comfort his agonized mother, and to his friend he said, "Don't be troubled that I took the brandy sauce with you. I am too weak to resist temptation; it is better for me to die now," and so he passed to where the wicked cease from troubling. What a lesson for us!—Union Signal.

PERFECT WORM MEDICINE.

"I have given Dr. Low's Worm Syrup to my children with excellent results and I find it the most perfect worm medicine, as you are not required to give any Cathartic with it. Mrs. Daniel Smith, P. O. Box 56 Lunenburg, N. S.

OPEN CONFESSION.

The preacher was having a sort of test meeting by asking the congregation questions on their conduct. "Now brethren," he said, "all of you who pay your debts will please stand up." In response to this there was an apparently unanimous uprising. "Now," said the preacher, asking the others to sit down, "all those who do not pay will please stand up." One man alone arose. "Ah, brother," said the preacher, "why is it that you, of all this congregation of brethren, should be so different?" "I don't know, parson," he replied slowly, as he looked around over his friends and acquaintances in the meeting, "unless it is that I ain't a liar."

A sad story comes from West Bay road station. Within fifty yards of the station is the home of section boss Allan McDonald. Tuesday of last week Mrs. McDonald was taken ill, apparently suffering from a severe cold. The following day the husband took ill, followed a day later by two of the children. Friday evening the wife and mother died, which death was followed on Saturday evening by that of her husband. The two children are reported alive. The disease which attacked the family and proved so fatal was pneumonia.—North Sydney Herald.

Women's Ailments.

Women are coming to understand that the Backaches, Headaches, Tired Feelings and Weak Spells from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

are the most reliable remedy for any form of kidney complaint. They drive away pains and aches, make women healthy and happy—able to enjoy life to the fullest. Mrs. C. H. Gillespie, 204 Britain Street, St. John, N. B., says: "I had severe kidney trouble for which I doctored with a number of the best physicians in St. John, but received little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use. Before taking them I could not stoop to tie my shoes, and at times suffered such torture that I could not turn over in bed without assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills have rescued me from this terrible condition, and removed every pain and ache."

KILLED BY A C. P. R. TRAIN.

MONTREAL, Feb. 15.—Four persons were killed by a collision of two teams with the Canadian Pacific's Quebec express at a crossing situated near Three Rivers, Que., this afternoon. A bitterly cold wind was blowing at the time, and the victims of the accident were well wrapped up in furs and driving very fast. They apparently did not hear the whistle or the bell nor did they see the danger, for the first team drove right into the locomotive, swinging the sleigh around and throwing the occupants under the wheels. The horse of the second team ran over the sleigh of the first team, and struck the baggage car, those in the sleigh being mangled underneath the wheels of the car. Eugene Bellemare was killed instantly and his wife died in the station at Three Rivers, as did her brother, Chas. Lafarancos, while the remaining victim, a sister of Miss LaFrancois, died as she was being taken to the Three Rivers hospital. All were well-to-do residents of Montmarte.

Children Cry for CASTORIA.

A citizen tells a story about how he had to entertain two strangers unawares, recently. A few minutes after he had got into bed, he felt a draught singing about his ears and heard the sound of muttered voices below stairs. Contrary to the custom in such cases he did not look for his gun but looked over the balustrade instead—only to find two men of shady reputation standing in the hall. He effected a rapid and brief toilet and went down to interview the uninvited guests. They were drunk, but not very disorderly, and one stood dangerously near his pistol, and the other did sentry duty alongside his light overcoat, which were hanging in the hall. Diplomacy, dignified entreaty and an appeal to the limited reasons of the hoboes, resulted in a peaceable withdrawal of the enemy. The citizen locks his door religiously now.—Sydney Record.

MAY BE A SHORT SESSION.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—The budget will be down a week from Tuesday next. It is expected that the Minister of Finance will be able to make his financial statement on that date. If that be so, there is every reason to believe that the session will not be so long as many anticipated. Prorogation should be reached by the 24th of May at the very latest.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., U. S. A., Feb. 9, 1900.—A quiet opposition, whose exact strength cannot at present be measured, has developed to the ratification of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty regarding the Nicaragua canal. Two serious objections to the treaty have so far been formulated. The first is that the United States after going to all the expense of building and maintaining the canal, can derive no advantage from it in time of war. It cannot close it to its enemies, and, in case its enemies prove stronger on the seas than itself, it is extremely probable that they might close it to the United States. Suppose, for instance, that war—which Heaven forbid—should come between the United States and Great Britain. The declaration of it would abrogate all treaties between the two countries, including this very Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and it would be entirely permissible for Britain to send her navy and seize the canal, which she could undoubtedly do if the United States had not fortified it. The only deterrent force in her way would be the interests of the European powers, and anyone who has watched the course of these for some years can not doubt that although they might growl they would not go to war to prevent such action. The second objection is that the treaty practically admits Great Britain as the suzerain of the United States. All that Britain claimed as suzerain in South Africa was the right to oversee the treaties between the Transvaal and foreign states. The Hay-Pauncefote treaty gives her the right to oversee treaties between the United States and two independent Central American republics. Further, it is contended that any treaty is unnecessary, as hampering the United States with needless conditions. The Clayton Bulwer treaty, which the new treaty proposes to amend, expressly provides that it may be terminated by either party at one year's notice after it has run for 15 years. The fifteen years were up in 1882 and many people in this country can see no reason why the old treaty should not be ended in accordance with its own provisions. Testimony as to the loyalty of Canada to the mother country in the South African struggle, is borne by Americans returning from visits to the Dominion. J. W. Landrum, of New York, is the latest to speak of the subject. He says: "There is no doubt about the enthusiasm and sincerity of the report which Canada is giving the mother country in her time of trouble. I formerly lived in Montreal and have just returned from a two weeks' stay there. Canadians, however, are dreadfully disappointed and humiliated. The results of this war, win or lose, will be lasting in Canada. For years they have heard that England would protect her if the United States ever menaced her. Now they know that England could not send an army over here that could subdue one of the States. That hurts and will never be forgotten." A brand new swindle is being worked from Victoria, B. C., by a man who claims to sell photographs of soldiers who have recently sailed for the Philippines. By some means he obtained the names of those who recently sailed from Portland and Seattle, together with the names of several relatives. He then addressed each a postal card from Victoria, of which the following is a copy: "Dear Madam: Your son sailed Wednesday from Portland for Manila, asked me to tell you he would write on arrival. He was very well. I took a fine photo of him in his uniform on the deck. If you would like a copy I will send it on receipt of an express money order for 50 cents. Please answer to my Portland address. I am here on business and will be back in a couple of days. Do not send stamps. E. J. Roy, Photographer." Several complaints soon found their way to the Post Office Department concerning the photograph that never came. The investigation developed, not only that Roy had defrauded the persons who sent him money, but remained out of the Department's reach in Victoria. Lady Pauncefote, wife of the British Ambassador, who is the first lady in the diplomatic set, goes about the city on foot frequently, although she owns a handsome equipage. She is to be met often walking about and one would not distinguish her from one in the middle walks of life so unpretentious is her manner. She wears an ordinary brown cloth suit and a plush dolman of odd shape trimmed with fur of a dark gray color. She is an easy walker and does not seem to find any difficulty in taking long pedestrian jaunts. Cards for the marriage of Lillian Pauncefote and Mr. Robert Bromley will be issued within the next few days. This interesting event, as already announced, takes place Saturday, February 24, at John's Church, the Bishop of Washington officiating, assisted by Rev. Dr. Alexander Mackey-Smith, D. D. Lady Bromley, the mother of the groom-elect, has already arrived at the British Embassy, where she will be joined next week by her husband, Sir Henry Bromley; Mr. Bromley-Wilson and Miss Esther Bromley, who will sail for America to-morrow on the Oceanic. Lady Bromley is being entertained in a quiet and totally unofficial way during these early days of her visit which serves to show the genuine popularity of her future daughter-in-law, who has spent most of her life in America, and is universally beloved and esteemed. The departure of the Ambassador and family, unless again postponed by some unforeseen circumstance, will take place in April and is a subject of much regret, and causes additional interest to gather about this marriage of the young daughter of the house. The Ambassador and Lady Pauncefote will give their last formal dinner party, in honor of the Secretary of State, Monday, February 13.

The following persons have been granted to Canadians. Original—William Johnson, Balmoral, Manitoba, $6. a month. Additional—John M. Daigneau, Sherbrooke, Quebec, from $6. to $8.

BECAUSE IT CURES.

"Yes," said Mrs. John McKeen who keeps a general store at Kingst. Y. Co., "we sell more of Cook's Sure Cough Cure than all our other cough balsams combined; in fact we can only sell it, after a person once purchases a bottle. It has got the name in this locality of giving relief to a cough or cold where nothing else will." This old English Remedy is sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. Large bottles.

The number of hereditary titled Canadians has now reached the substantial total of thirteen, made up of seven peerages and six baronettes. The Canadian peers and peeresses are Susan Agnes, Baroness Macdonald of Earnscliffe; Sir George Stephen, Baron Mount Stephen; William, Baron de Blaquiere; Sir Donald A. Smith, Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal; Sir Arthur L. Halliburton, Baron Halliburton; and Sir Adolphus Alymer, Baron Alymer. To these may be added Charles Colmore Grant, Baron de Longueuil, whose title is a creation of Louis XIV of France, and dates back to 1700. The six Baronets are Sir W. G. Johnson, Sir Melville Parker, Sir F. A. Robinson, Sir William Rose, Sir Charles J. Stuart and Sir Charles Tupper. There are a large number of knights, but of course their titles do not pass to their next kin.

To almost every girl there comes, between girlhood and womanhood, a time when she feels prompted by her own vitality to take some share in the world's work. It accounts for much that is vigorous in church and social life. Cornelia Atwood Pratt writes of this period, in the March Delineator. Her article is thrilling, and will in itself do much to induce directness of aim. In the same number, as if to add meaning to Miss Pratt's thoughts, there is a well illustrated article, of great interest to women, dealing with the leaders of Women's Colleges, and some of the co-educational institutions.

A timely article in the March Delineator is devoted to the details of growing Seeds, Plants and Bulbs. The timeliness is outweighed, however, by the fact that the article is designed to open up to women a new line of healthful money-making.

The Delineator is devoted solely to the interests of women, and in many of its main features is an invaluable guide to the thrifty woman who have to make their own clothes, as well as to the women who purchase clothing, yet desire advice and suggestions in doing so. (15 cents; all newsdealers.)

Nine $2.00 counterfeit bills were palmed off at the fancy sale in connection with the Catholic church, Jan. 24th. There is some suspicion as to the party, who has had an examination and has been sent to Amherst for trial. Springhill News.

A Rheumatic Cripple's Release!

A "jury" of doctors, specialists and medicine vendors decreed that James Smith, of Grimsby, Ont., should spend the rest of his days in the agonizing chains of rheumatism.

But common sense and modern medical science produced rebuttal evidence and procured his release.

The Great South American Rheumatism Cure turned the tables, relieved the pain in a few hours and healed, cured and freed.

To the man or woman suffering the agonies of pain produced by Rheumatism, of whatever form, an essay on its causes, its symptoms, and its action, are idle; the one discernable objective point with the sufferer is the shortest out to relief from all, has proved the most efficacious of remedies, and to back up their convictions, are prescribing it daily in practice; and doctors have always been the slowest to convince of the merits of any proprietary remedy. South American Rheumatism Cure is powerful, potent, but harmless. It is a specific for all phases of Rheumatic Ailments; it goes directly to the seat of the troubles, dissolves and eradicates from the system the foreign matters which cause the excruciating pains which stiffen and swell the joints. It acts quickly and surely, and as proof of it there is ample testimony to show that in cases of many years' standing, where the patient was almost helpless, bed-ridden and so acute was the suffering that it was necessary to turn the victim in sheets, because of his torture to have even the gentlest touch of the hand on the body. In twelve hours after the first dose was taken all pain was gone, and inside of three days recovery was so marked that the patient walked without assistance. Many have had a similar experience and have testified to it.

James Smith, a dairyman of Grimsby, Ont., was a great sufferer from sciatica and rheumatism. He was almost helpless; could not walk without crutches. He had tried any number of remedies, and had been treated by almost innumerable doctors without any permanent benefit. He began using South American Rheumatic Cure. In a few hours the pain left him; in a few days he threw away the crutches and has never had a touch of the trouble since. You are at liberty to write him about his own case. No need for an hour's suffering. South American Rheumatic Cure can do as much for you as it has done for thousands.

South American Nerve is a wonderful tonic for the stomach. It cures all disorders of the digestive organs, repairs exhausted nerve-power, puts on flesh, and is a general health builder.

South American Kidney Cure is a liquid kidney specific; it cures Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Inflammation of the Bladder and all disorders arising from imperfect working of the kidneys. It gives relief in six hours.
