VOTE PROHIBITION.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Rank with age and foul with crime, Strong with many a legal band Money, fashion, use and time,

'Tis the question of the hour How shall we the wrong o'erpower? Vote it out! vote it out! This will put the thing to route.

A DOZEN TEMPERANCE FACTS

IT IS A FACT-That the saloon makes drunkards. Since 1890 the number of murders has doubled twice, and last year there were 10,600 in the United States-nearly every one of these committed by a rum maniac." Every saloon is a standing declaration of intention to inflict pain, injury, death, upon the community.

That no business but that of drunkardmaking ever suffered by the banishing of the saloon from a town. That the liquor business would go into bankruptcy if compelled to pay for all the damage it brings upon society.

That if this business cannot afford to pay its own damages out of its enormous profits, no town can hope to pay them out of that small share in the profits called license or "blood-money."

That they who plead that the traffic must be licensed lest the commonwealth be deprived of the "immense revenue." are really urging that men be solicited to squander $10 for drink in order to put $1 into the public treasury.

That the saloon only pays the tax by robbing the public. Hence they who cry "We must have the license money to help us run our schools," are either guilty of capacity or convicted of mental incapa-

That prohibition prohibits! "Good temperance men" are sometimes deluded and ready to repeal prohibition because it is "ineffective" and "inferior to a good license law." That would be a good reason for liquor papers and liquor dealers to work hard for the establishment of prohibition. But they never do.

That license doesn't prohibit! It is notorious that the license laws of the country are not enforced. This is "read and known of all men," save the officials. License cannot prohibit and does not restrain, and is a failure as a temperance

That the increasing use of fermented and malt liquors does not lessen the use of ardent spirits. This is shown by the official reports issued by the governments of the great wine and beer drinking nations-France, Spain, Italy, Germany, Great Britain, Belgium, Bavaria.

That the saloon is the bitterest and most pitiless enemy of home and church. The Christian can never be satisfied short of the extirpation of a traffic so antagonistic to every interest of the church of

That 'the liquor traffic can never be legalized without sin. "We condemn the license features of all statutes by which money is accepted for the legal protection of an immoral traffic." "In accepting money for such a purpose the govern ment . . becomes a partner in a business justly declared to be an enemy of God and man."

That where the people rule, votes are the weapons which must destroy Satan's most powerful engine, the saloon. Bishop Fitzgerald says: "With the most deadly weapon at his command—the ballot— . ish foe, and slay it quickly."

THE SALOON.

The saloon cuts down youth in its vigour, manhood in its strength, and age in its weakness; it breaks the father's heart. bereaves the mother, extinguishes natural affections, erases conjugal love, blots out filial attachments, and blasts parental hopes and brings down mourning age in sorrow to the grave; it produces weakness, not strength; sickness, not health; death, not life; it makes wives, widows; children, orphans; fathers, fiends-and all of them paupers and beggars; it feeds rheumatism, nurses gout, welcomes epidemics, invites cholcra, imports pestilence, and embraces consumption; it covers the land with idleness, misery and crime; it fills our gaols, supplies our almshouses, and demands our asylums; it engenders controversies, fosters quarrels, and cherishes riots; it crowds our penitentiaries and furnishes victims to our scaffolds; it is the life-blood of the gambler, the element of the burglar, the prop of the highwayman, and the support of the midnight incendiary, it countenances the liar; respects the thief, and esteems the blasphemer; it violates obligations, reverences fraud, and honours infamy; it defames benevolence. hates love, scorns virtue, and slanders innocence; it incites the father to butcher his helpless offspring, helps the husband to massacre his wife, and the child to grind the parricidal axe; it burns up men, consumes women, detests life, curses God, and despises heaven; it suborns witnesses, nurses perjury, defies the jury box, and gram, letter, and newspaper articles. stains the judicial ermine; it degrades the citizen, debases the legislature, dishonors the statesman, and disarms the patriot; it brings shame, not honor; terror, not safety; despair, not hope; misery, not happiness; and with the malevolence of a fiend it calmly surveys its frightful desolation, and, unsatisfied with its havoc, it kills peace, ruins morals, blights confidence, slays reputation, and wipes out national honour, then curses the world and laughs at its ruin; it does all that and more-it murders the soul; it is the sum of all vil lainies, the father of all crimes, the mother of all abominations, the devil's best friend and God's worst enemy.

A WHISKEY-JUG WRECKS EIGHT CARS.

After transacting his business at Ashtabula, he purchased a jug of whiskey, and got on a freight train to steel a ride home. He imbibed from the jug freely. As the train did not stop at Dorset, and was going too fast for him to jump, he opened the valves of the air-brakes, which set so quickly as to pile up eight of the cars on top of one another. Some hours after. ward he was pulled out of the wreck horribly mangled. He died shortly after-

The election which he was trying to control resulted in a victory of two to one for temperance. Perhaps one of the strangest features of this occurrence was that the pastor who led the temperance forces against the saloons was asked to preach the funeral sermon of the dead

The severest coughs and colds, bronchitis and croup, and the first stages of consumption yield readily to this powerful, lung-

I tried different remedies but all failed to do me any good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and the contents of one bottle completely cured me."

COLD STORAGE A SUCCESS.

Evidence is daily coming to hand of the thoroughly satisfactory character of the Canadian Cold Storage system. The most tender of Canadian fruits are now being landed in Great Britain in the best of condition, as is shown by the following cable-

Cablegram from Mr. Dupuis, Sec. Canadian Commission, Paris. Paris, Oct. 15th, 1900.

HON. SYDNEY FISHER, Ottawa, Fresh fruits have arrived in splendid condition; 4 additional gold medals received by Canada. Prof. Drummond, writing from London, warns the Department of Agriculture at Washington that it must wake up, as Canada leads in quality and quantity of dairy products. Its superiority ascribed to aggressive governmental action with modern scientific appliances.

DUPUIS. FLATTERING WORDS.

From Sampson Morgan, 30 Fleet St., London, Eng.

HON, SYDNEY FISHER, Ottawa. Sir,-Herewith I beg to enclose you copy of "Daily Mail," together with another article which I have written on the recent shipment of Canadian fruits. I have made reference to the refrigeration system which in this case has been the means of such fine specimens of Canadian pears being put upon the English markets in such perfect condition, samples of which I have carefully inspected, and as an expert assert that they are the finest pears ever put upon the English market. I address you simply because of the great interest you take in these matters, and beg to remain, yours obediently,

S. MORGAN.

CANADIAN FRUITS IN ENGLAND The following is the article referred to by Mr. Morgan: - The last parcel of Canadian fruit that was put upon the market this week was of an instructive nature, for it proved clearly that the fruits of the Dominion can be sent into England in the pink of perfection. Amongst the varieties put up for sale were some very fine Williams (or Bartletts, as they are called in Canada,) Duchesse and Beurre D'Anjou, the last variety of which is a very dainty pear, and is sure to make headway in our markets. The shipment sent consisted of 1,000 cases of pears, and, in addition, there were some peaches and a few apples. The former consisted of Elberta and Crawfords. The samples of pears were unusually large and fine. The Williams were grand and it is clear that no competitor on the market from any outside centre can touch them, for as far as quality, size, flavor, and color are concerned they are as perfect as a market William pear can be. the situation as far as methods of transit | Polson & Co., proprietors, Kingson. are concerned.

This highly satisfactory condition of things has been brought about under the auspices of the Hon. Sydney Fisher, M.P., Minister of Agriculture for Canada. We learn that he inaugurated the system of mechanical refrigeration on steamers running from Canada to British ports in 1897, and from that time improvements have been made by his directions and under the supervision of Prof. James W. Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture for the Dominion. In future, we now know that Canadian fruits of the most delicate nature can be shipped to the United Kingdom with the satisfaction that they will come to hand in a perfectly saleable state, so that there is no reason why Canada, the premier fruit colony of the Empire, thanks to the fostering influence of its Minister of Agriculture, and the ably-led department over which he presides, should not develop a gigantic trade in fresh fruits, especially with this country.

We learn that other fruits are to follow, that 1,000 cases of grapes will soon be seen upon our markets in one shipment, and that they will be of equal quality to the pears. The fruit dealers, buyers and consumers of our cities will appreciate these Canadian shipments, and as they are of the highest quality their popularity with the masses must be an increasing one.

GIANT PEARS FROM CANADA. (From the London, Eng., Daily Mail, October 3, 1900.)

Many varieties of magnificent pears-1,000 cases in all—and numerous cases of the famous Crawford and Elberta peaches have just been landed and sold at Manchester.

The fruit came from London, Ontario, and created quite a stir in trade circles, Many of the pears are what are termed "giant fruits," being from 4 in. to 41 in. long, the diameter being from 3 in. to 35 in. In color, flavor and juciness they are far superior to French pears, and met a ready sale.

The fruit was packed in chambers regulated by mechanical refrigeration. This system, which has revolutionized the fruit trade of the United Kingdom, was inaugurated three years ago by the Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture for Canada, and since then various improvements have been made under the vision of Professor J. W. Robertson. The conditions of transit are now so faultless that the most delicate Canadian fruit can be delivered in Great Britain in perfect condition.

THE LOVELIEST WOMAN IN AMERICA.

MARGARET FULLER WOULD HAVE EX-CHANGED HER INTELLECT FOR EMILY MARSHALL'S BEAUTY.

"Margaret Fuller once expressed the willingness to exchange her fine intellect and all her accomplishments for the beauty and attractiveness of Emily Marshall" (who had been her schoolmate,) writes William Perrine of "The Loveliest Woman in All America," in the November Ladies' Home Journal. "'Miss Marshall stood before us a reversion to that faultless type of structure which artists have imagined in the past and to that ideal loveliness of disposition which poets have fancied in the golden age,' was the verdict of a Boston gallant, one of the fair beauty's neighbors, recorded in after life, when his judgment was unprejudiced. Such was the homage which the people of Boston would sometimes bestow upon Miss Marshall that one night when Daniel Webster, then beginning his career in the United States Senate, visited the Federal Street Theatre the applause which the audience showered upon him was not greater than the cheers with which it welcomed the divine Emily. In New York she caused such a sensation that one morning ten gentlemen at one time were seen in her escort, and sixty left their cards for her. When she went to such summer resorts as Saratoga the crowds at the hotel would form a lane through which she might pass as they waited to view her going to and from her coach, and it is a Philadelphia tradition that when she visited that city one of the schools was closed earlier than the usual hour to give the young girls a chance to see the famous belle. Indeed, women looked upon her with an admiration which they seldom accord to beau-
