OLD JIMMIE.

Old Jimmie was a speckless horse, His spots were black and white; And on his neck there hung a mane That was as black as night. Ned and Fred were village boys, As full of pranks and play As any boys you'd ever find Upon a summer's day. One day old Jimmie quietly Stood underneath his shed, When who came walking down the street But naughty Ned and Fred.

"H, ho!" they cried, with one accord, As they Old Jimmie spied, "I'll jump into the buggy and Enjoy a pleasant ride."

They plied the whip, Old Jimmie went As ne'er he went before, And driving through the town they sped Until they reached the store.

Old Jimmie's master sat within, A man of sour face; And out he came with lengthening steps, Prepared to run a race.

Old Jimmie turned his head and saw His master at the store, And though they plied the whip he stopped And waited at the door.

But clambered naughty Ned and Fred, And tried away to slip, But Jimmie's master caught them both And sternly plied the whip.

BROUGHT UP WITH A ROUND TURN.

VIOLATORS OF OUR NATURALIZATION LAWS IN THE TOILS.

(Vancouver World, Sept. 12.)

The Provincial Government will investigate the cases of alleged fraudulent naturalization of Japanese. Already one Oriental culprit has been arrested, and two others will be similarly treated as soon as they are apprehended.

In its news columns and editorially, The World has repeatedly demanded that the Government take this action, and establish beyond peradventure of doubt, whether or not the allegations were true of wholesale frauds in connection with the conversion of Japanese into British subjects. The coming investigation promises to furnish some very startling disclosures regarding the manner in which certain British laws are not kept in British Columbia. The preliminary examination will be held before Police Magistrate Russell this afternoon.

A representative of The World was today shown several fraudulent naturalization papers, and proofs gathered by a detective were produced, demonstrating that hundreds, if not thousands of Japanese, aided by white officials, had been defying the laws of Canada and securing naturalization papers for subjects of the Mikado who has been in this country but a few months.

One Japanese, Kintora Ike, who is now in the toby was captured, in flagrante delicto, for the fraudulent naturalization papers were in his possession when he was arrested. Some clever detective work was necessary before this man was decoy-

ed. The average Jap is as wily as any man, and after several slight misadventures, the situation finally resolved itself into a matter of waiting for one week after the game had been frightened away before the men could be seized.

While the case was being worked up, sufficient evidence was secured to warrant the statement that hundreds of Japanese had been transformed into Britishers immediately after their arrival in British Columbia, and that in many cases a Japanese interpreter and a Vancouver notary public had been mixed up in the affair, whether innocently or knowingly, has not yet been demonstrated.

The following papers bearing on the case of Kintora Ike tells the story of all the culprits against whom definite charges have so far been preferred. Their passports conclusively demonstrate that they have been in Canada but five months, while the law requires a residence of four years. The information is as follows:

That at Vancouver, B. C., in the County of Vancouver, on the 5th day of June, 1900, Kintora Ike did then and there upon his oath before W. J. Thicke, a notary public, duly qualified residing and practicing at the city of Vancouver aforesaid, falsely, wilfully and completely depose and swear in substance and to the effect following: "That in the period of four years preceding the said 5th of June he did reside in the Dominion of Canada with intent to settle therein, without being during those four years a stated resident of any foreign country," whereas in truth the said Kintora Ike did not reside in the Dominion of Canada during said period of four years and the said Kintora Ike did thereby commit wilful and corrupt perjury.

Here is a copy of the certificate of naturalization of Kintora Ike:

NATURALIZATION ACT, CANADA. Certificate Under Section 10.

I, Walter J. Thicke, of the City of Vancouver, in the Province of British Columbia, do certify that Kintora Ike, an alien, on the fifth day of June, 1900, subscribed and took before me the oaths of residence and allegiance authorized by the 8th section of the Naturalization Act of Canada of four years; that I have reason to believe and do believe, that the said Kintora Ike within the period of four years preceding the said day has been a resident of Canada; that the said Kintora Ike is a person of good character, and that there exists to my knowledge no reason why the said Kintora Ike should not be granted all rights and capacities of a native born British soldier.

Dated the 5th day of June, A. D., 1900. (Signed) WALTER J. THICKE, Notary Public, 419 Hastings street.

To obtain the foregoing certificate of naturalization, it was necessary for Kintora Ike to take an oath of residence. But there was nothing very difficult about that for Ike who stepped to the front and fulfilled the requirements of the statute as follows:

NATURALIZATION ACT, CANADA. Oath of Residence.

I, Kintora Ike, late of Japan, now in Vancouver, B. C., fisherman, do swear that, in the period of four years preceding this date, I have resided four years in the Dominion of Canada with intent to settle therein, without having been during such four years a stated resident in any foreign country. So help me God. (Signed) KINTORA IKE. (Seal)

Sworn before me, after first having been translated and explained, he appearing to perfectly understand the same and made his mark in my presence and a witness at Vancouver on the fifth of June, A. D. 1900. (Signed) Walter J. Thicke, Notary Public, 419 Hastings street.

Then Kintora, who is a pure blooded Japanese, despite his name, and who had lived in Japan until within a few months of the time of his naturalization, took the oath of allegiance to Her Majesty, in the following terms:

OATH OF ALLEGIANCE.

I, Kintora Ike, do sincerely promise and swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, as lawful Sovereign of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the Dominion of Canada, dependent on and belonging to the said Kingdom, and that I will defend her to the utmost of my power, against all traitorous conspiracies or attempts whatever shall be made against her person, crown and dignity, and that I will do my utmost to endeavor to disclose and make known to Her Majesty, her heirs or successors all treasons or traitorous conspiracies and attempts, which I shall know to be against her or any of them; and all this do I swear without any equivocation, mental evasion or secret reservation, so help me God. (Signed) KINTORA IKE.

Sworn before me after having been first translated and explained, and he appearing to perfectly understand the same, and made his mark in my presence and a witness at Vancouver on the fifth of June, A. D. 1900.

(Seal) (Signed) Walter J. Thicke, Notary Public, 419 Hastings street.

The final bit of evidence in this interesting exhibit is the passport issued to Kintora by the Japanese Government as follows:

PASSPORT.

Mr. Kintora Ike registered at Nugata, aged 38 years 4 months.

The undersigned requires and requests all whom it may concern to allow the above named person travelling to Canada for industrial purposes, to pass freely, without hindrance, and to give him such protection and assistance as he may be in need of.

The 5th day of the first month of the 33rd year Meigi.

(Signed) His Imperial Majesty's Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The significance of the passport is that the date in the Japanese calendar described as the fifth day of the first month of the 23rd year Meigi, corresponds to January 5th, 1900. Kintora's passport was given to him in Japan on January 5th of this year, and in the record breaking period of five months after leaving his native land he was admitted to British citizenship.

Provincial Police Constable Campbell deserves much of the credit for bringing Kintora Ike with fraudulently secured naturalization papers in his possession, before the bar of justice. It is extremely difficult to apprehend a suspected Japanese, owing to a system of freemasonry between them, by which they warn each other of the approach of possible danger. Officer Campbell persisted in searching for the suspect when almost everyone else interested had given up hope, and after five days of very arduous work, his efforts were rewarded. Captain Tatlow was the first to take the matter up, on behalf of the Provincial Government, and worked for several days laying plans for the apprehension of suspects under the advice of W. J. Bowser, also acting legally for the Attorney-General's Department.

POLL EVERY VOTE

Let there be no laggard in this holy war. Up and be doing and quit you like men. Know ye not that, in the words and spirit of one of our recent Sunday-school lessons, "They that be for us are more than all that can be against us." Let us not go by apathy or indolence or carelessness be recreant to our duty, lest we hear ringing forever in our ears the malediction, "Curse ye Meroz, curse ye bitterly the inhabitants thereof, because they came not up to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty."

THE COMING ELECTION.

We need to be on the alert, and take time by the fore-lock. Old father Time has no hair on the back of his head, and unless caught by the fore-lock when he is passing he can never be taken at all. It is time to begin to make preparation for the battle. We have too many men in Parliament who are in favor of the liquor traffic, and too few who are in principle opposed to it. We must by all means endeavor to return those who nobly and bravely stood by the Temperance cause and their own principles during the debate on prohibition in the last session. As we must lay our plans to elect more representatives, who will, when the time comes, vote for legal prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

The cause is just. Why should we send men favorable to the liquor traffic to Parliament? The cause is reasonable. Why should we perpetuate that which has been the cause of so much evil during the past? We have men equally as good in every respect and just as capable to represent us in the House as the men who now represent us, in a general way, but on the question of Temperance represent the liquor interest. We have equally as good men out of parliament as we have in, and the wonder is, to one visiting the House for a few days, that so many mediocre men found their way into the position of representatives. There can be no doubt but that money and the rum interest had much to do with electing some men. We need sober men, righteous men, men who would rather suffer than sin, men who will vote for the best interests of their country, whether they stand or fall by so doing. We can have them, but the minister and Sunday school teacher, and sincere church member must not put their ballots into the same box as the rum-seller. Light and darkness good and evil, rum drinking and sobriety do not dwell together. We must be very careful how we mix ballots. It is no use denouncing the brewer and then voting as he votes. It is no use denouncing the liquor interest and then putting our ballots in the same box. The man, the brewer, the saloon-keeper, and the debauchee wants is not the man we want. We must carry out the distinction between good men and bad men to the ballot box on the day of election. There is a very suggestive poem on this point, a few verses of which might repay the perusing:

"The third of November, when chill is the weather, Two ballots are cast in a box together. They nestled up close like brother to brother; You couldn't tell one of the votes from the other. One was cast by a cunning old brewer, And one by a Sunday school man. The Sunday school man—no man could be truer— Kept busy all summer denouncing the brewer; But his fever cooled off with the change of the weather, And late in the autumn, they voted together. The Sunday school man had always been noted, For fighting saloons—except when he voted; He piled up his prayers, with a holy perfection, Then knocked them all down on the day of election. The cunning old brewer was cheerful and mellow; Said he, "I admire that Sunday school fellow;" He's true to his church—to his party he's truer, He talks for the Lord, but he votes for the brewer."

Ministers and Sunday school teachers did not vote with the brewers on the 29th day of September, 1898, and the effect was seen and felt, and there is no reason why a similar state of things should not prevail at the next General election. Can we not choose our man and let the rum party choose theirs? We need to get up a fight between Temperance and Rum, not between Liberal and Conservative. For if neither of the two parties will endorse prohibition we might fight it out in the various constituencies at the ballot box. Let us devise some means and begin early to send men to Ottawa who will vote in the interest of good government, and, in perfect harmony with this, vote for the prohibition of the liquor traffic.

EARACHE CURED.

Miss J. J. Johnson, Innisfail, Alta., says: "I was troubled with Earache for a long time, and nothing helped me until I used Hagyard's Yellow Oil, which cured me completely."

THE BOER ARMY HAS PRACTICALLY DISPERSED.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Roberts cables that of the three thousand Boers who retreated from Komakpoort before the British advance from Machadorp, seven hundred have entered Portuguese territory. Some have dispersed in various directions and the balance are reported to have crossed the Komali river and are occupying the spur of Lobombo mountain south of the railway. A general tumult seems to have occurred when they recognized the hopelessness of their cause. Their long Toms and field guns have been destroyed and nothing is left of the Boer army but a few marauding bands. Kelly-Kenny is dealing with one of these which occupies a position at Dornburgh.

If you have a cold in the head or catarrh Hawker's Catarrh Cure will cure it. Try a box of this. Every druggist and dealer sells it. Price 25c. Thousands testify to the wonderful cures made by Hawker's Tolu and Wild Cherry Balsam. No person should be without a bottle of it.
