VERY QUEER PEWS.

Amazing Peculiarities of Some Ancient English Churches.

Some pews in the fine old church at Malpas, Cheshire, possess a most amusing peculiarity, says The Golden Penny. Each one consists of several seats, which are really, though not apparently, detached, and they look easy and comfortable. In this case appearances are deceptful, for should one occupant of any one seat lean forward while "noddling" over he goes on the floor. The seat is so constructed as to easily tip over when any weight is placed on its outer or front edge and was so designed to prevent people from going to sleep in church.

We still find in a few of our ancient churches the high pews, luxurious cushions and curious fittings of former days.

In the good old times, when the squire was lord of all he surveyed in the village, his pew in the parish church was often a kind of sitting room. One such pew occupies the whole of the south transept of the diminutive church at Gattin, in Surrey. It has a fireplace, a low seat which extends round two sides of the room and blue tapestry decoration. Above it is an ordinary floor, on which are three or four ordinary pews for the use of the squire's servants, and from it a covered way leads to Gattin Hall, some few yards away. There may be some truth in the story that a former squire used to enjoy a pipe by the fireplace during the sermon and that if he became weary he would go out through the private door for a short stroll in the churchyard.

A similar pew exists in a church at Colwich, Staffordshire. It has a staircase leading to a private door, and it is said that the postman came this way to convey letters and that the servant brought in cake and wine for consumption during the service.

The royal pew of St. George's chapel, Windsor, is peculiar, because it is the largest of its kind in England and on account of its being situated above the choir, down upon which the queen can see the service from a fine oriel window.

In little Benjamin church, Norfolk, is a pew for strangers and wedding parties. It was constructed by a shepherd and bears a cheerful, suggestive piece of ornamentation in the shape of the carving of a skeleton, with the following inscription:

For couples joined in wedlock; and my friend that stranger is; This seat I did intend. But built at the cost and charge of Stephen Crisbee.

All you that do this place pass by,
As you are now, even so was I,
And as I am so shall you be.
Anno Domini 1640.

A game of whist played in a pew would nowadays cause considerable comment, yet it seems that the square pews at Trowbridge were used for this purpose at the time the "poet" Crabbe was drowsing away in the pulpit.

Other interesting old pews have names and occasionally coats of arms painted on them thus:

"The Rectory Pew," "The Churching Pew," and best of all, "The Hall Dog's Pew."

At Four in the Morning.

The hour of 4 a. m. has something mysterious about it. Cocks crow, people on the brink of death give up the ghost, every one who is asleep sleeps soundly and even the watchful sentry can't always keep his eyes open.

At this hour people are in their weakest state, and if life is just on the flicker it is not surprising that it goes out. Many a man's life has been saved by a spoonful of brandy or ammonia administered just when the clock strikes 4.

The period of deepest sleep varies from 3 to 5 o'clock. An hour or two after going to bed you sleep very soundly, then your slumber grows gradually lighter, and it is easy enough to waken you at 1 or 2 o'clock. But when 4 o'clock comes you are in such a state of somnolence that you would take no notice of the end of the world.

Military men are well aware of this curious fact, and they often make sudden assaults on camps or cities between 3 and 5, for they know that at that time the most wide awake sentry is liable to doze.

To Secure a Government Position.

"Naturally positions under the government are in demand, and it is not altogether an easy matter to secure an appointment to one," writes Barton Cheyney in The Ladies' Home Journal. "It must be remembered in connection with this that a large number of men and women are ambitious to serve the country, and the army of applicants is growing year by year. If one can perform well some kind of work that the government wants done and can ascertain the government's needs in this respect, entrance to the service is not so difficult. But it would be practically useless for one capable only of doing clerical work to attempt to secure a position in the government service. If one, however, has any technical training—is a bookkeeper, a stenographer and typewriter or a lawyer—he will have a fair chance of appointment. But he should have a very good knowledge of whatever kind of work he puts forward in support of his claim for appointment, for the competition is exceedingly sharp, and the contestants are many."

How to Paper Whitewashed Walls.

It is difficult to make paper stick to walls that have been made smooth by frequent whitewashing. The smooth finish may be scraped off or the surface may be changed with a coat of paste. If you decide to use the paste, make it in the following manner: Put one pint of flour in a saucepan and beat into it one quart of cold water. When smooth, add two quarts of boiling water, stirring all the time. Let this boil up once, then strain and cool. Brush this paste over the walls and allow it to dry. When you are ready to paper, wet the walls, spread paste on the paper and hang it in the usual manner.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Porter's Reply.

As a train was moving out of a Scotch station a man in one of the compartments noticed that the porter, in whose charge he had given his luggage, had not put it into the van and so shouted at him and said: "Hi! you old fool! What do you mean by not putting my luggage in the van?"

To which the porter replied: "Eh, man! yer luggage is ne'er such a fool as yerself! Yer i' the wrong train!"

PROF. MUNYON'S NEW VENTURE.

CROWDS VISIT HIS BIG ESTABLISHMENT ON BROADWAY.

(From the N. Y. Press, Oct. 2, 1900.)

"I certainly have no reason to complain of my reception in New York," said Professor Munyon yesterday afternoon, as he stood near the main doorway of his splendidly appointed new medical institute, at Twenty-sixth street and Broadway. The spacious salesroom and offices on the ground floor were crowded. Thousands had passed through the wide doorways in Broadway and in Twenty-sixth street all anxious to have a peep at the well-known features of the distinguished Professor, who has done so much to revolutionize the old-time methods of treating the sick.

"I have opened this establishment," said the Professor, in an interesting chat with a reporter, "simply because my business demands it, as you well know, I have always maintained a medical institute, with a corps of skilled physicians in this city, but I have now supplemented this by bringing here my business headquarters, advertising department, laboratory, etc. The laboratory that I have opened here is the fourth of a series, which now includes Philadelphia, Toronto and London, but which later will take in Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, Mexico City, etc. But don't let me talk about this New York venture, look around and speak about it yourself."

The huge plate-glass windows give the passer-by a splendid view of the offices. But one has to inspect the department devoted to Munyon's Doctors to get a correct idea as to just what this institution means for the sick of New York. A generous share of the ground floor space of the mammoth establishment has been surrendered to the medical branch. His physicians ask no fee for either examination or advice. They simply give the patients the best advice of knowledge and skill, and show them how to get well. In many cases a simple remedy is all that is needed. Then, again, if the visitor has nothing the matter with him, he is told so frankly. It is a great satisfaction when a man has been examined from head to toe by a competent physician, and then told "there is nothing the matter with him."

Professor Munyon's great success is due to tireless energy, increasing thought, and an abiding faith in his system of Improved Homoeopathic Remedies, a system which enlisted the best thoughts and skill of the most eminent specialists and chemists of the world. Munyon was not prejudiced in favor of any school of medicine. He believed there was good to be found in all; in fact, he knew it. His mission was to take the proved curative, the best thought of all the schools, and combine them in one. His remedies are not "cure-alls"—he has prepared a separate cure for each disease.

JUSTLY PUNISHED.

A story comes from Chipman of the manner in which a local sportsman who went back on his reputation met with just punishment. He had driven from Chipman to Gaspereaux to hunt moose, and contrary to law and the ethics of sport, took with him the appliances for manufacturing moose snares. Having driven into the country where a promising spot suggested itself, he unharnessed his horse, tethered it, and then went into the woods not far away, where he set several snares in a moose run. Next morning, just before daybreak, he arose, and went out to look for the spoils. As he drew near one of his snares, much to his joy he heard sounds which told that one trap was occupied. Hastily approaching he saw through the dim light a large beast struggling for liberty. He fired quickly and the animal dropped. Delighted, he ran to the snare to find, not a moose, but his own horse, a valuable animal. It had broken its tether during the night and wandered into a snare. The hunter is neither looking for nor receiving sympathy.—Globe.

BLOOD WAS SHED.

STRIKERS ATTACK NON-UNION WORKMEN, TWO KILLED, MANY INJURED.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 10.—A special policeman was instantly killed, another was wounded in the head, a striker was probably fatally shot and 10 non-union men were more or less seriously wounded at the Oneida colliery of Cox Bros., in a clash between the officers and 500 strikers this morning. The victims are:

Killed—Ralph Mills, aged 50 years of Beaver Meadow, one of the officers conveyed in a special train this morning from that place to Oneida. He was shot through the back.

Wounded—George Kellner, aged 38 of Beaver Meadow, also a special officer. He received shot wounds in the head, but will recover; Joseph Lesko, aged 38, of Shepperton a striker. He was shot in the groin and will probably die.

Ten non-union men were stoned, but only two of them were seriously injured. One sustained scalp wounds and the other had four ribs broken.

After the shooting the strikers dispersed. Sheriff Toole, of Schuylkill county, in whose territory the clash occurred, was in Philadelphia and could render no assistance. His chief deputy, James O'Donnell, arrived here this afternoon and went to the scene with a force of men. Rev. Carl Houser, a Lithuanian minister from Freehold, who baptized a child at Oneida just at the time the shooting was in progress, was mistaken by the strikers for Superintendent Kudlick and narrowly escaped being stoned. He was soon recognized by a friend and safely escorted to the station.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 10.—A number of deputy sheriffs left here to-night to join Sheriff Harvey's force in the lower end of the county. It is now becoming apparent to the most cool-headed that unless the strike is called off by the Scranton convention there is going to be more or less disturbance in the anthracite region.

Hunger is beginning to manifest itself in the families of many of the strikers and another week of idleness is going to bring distress to the homes of many.

SERANTON, Pa., Oct. 10.—Thousands of striking mine workers marched in review through the crowded streets of this city to-day, and showed their loyalty to the cause for which they have been battling for several weeks. The welcome to National President Mitchell was an exceedingly flattering one. It was the greatest labor demonstration that had ever taken place in the Lackawanna Valley. The city was generously bedecked with the national colors and most of the business places were closed in honor of the occasion.

A RAINSTORM FATALITY.

The rainstorm of the past four days did not pass over without a fatal result, for the home of George Barnett, at Jerusalem, Queens county, is now greatly saddened by the drowning of the only boy of the household, a bright lad of ten years.

Little Master Barnett was going home from school Thursday afternoon, and coming to a bridge along the road over which he had to pass he found it submerged, and a swift running flood passing over it. The child knew of no other way to reach his home, and bravely, but injudiciously started to ford the current. He was swept off his feet and drowned without assistance being near at hand.

His body has been recovered. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Barnett in their bereavement, the circumstances of which are so particularly sad.—Sun.

FISH SCARCE AND HIGH.

(St. John Star, Oct. 11.)

"The outlook for pickled herring is about the worst ever known here at this season of the year," said James Patterson, the South wharf wholesaler to the Star yesterday.

Earlier in the season Mr. Patterson explained, there was quite a run of herring from down the bay, but they were quickly sold out, and now the dealers cannot get enough of these fish to fill their orders. Last year the herring began to come into market about the first of October and came along steadily. Now there are none coming and practically none being taken. Nor are there any herring offering from around the southern shore of Nova Scotia, below Yarmouth.

"I have a sample of eastern (Canso) herring coming in to-morrow," said Mr. Patterson, "but those fish are too high in price to suit the market that is usually supplied by Grand Manan and other Bay of Fundy herring."

Speaking of smoked herring Mr. Patterson said they were also scarce. Not so many years ago he had sold them at this season as low as 4c. per box. Now they are strong at 8 to 10c.

Dry fish are also scarce at present, but he looked for some supplies for this market of late cured fish after the present wet spell is over.

There are very few pickled shad in the market. They range from $5 to $6 per half bbl.

There are some pickled mackerel in the market, at $7 per half bbl., or $2 per pail of about 20 lbs. There are not large, but fat and nice.

There has been a large catch of hake and other fish for cutting into boneless fish, and dealers over the bay are making large shipments west. This class of fish does not figure largely in the local market. There are also large shipments of flounders hadies.

Another firm with whom the Star talked, said they were holding Grand Manan herring at $2.30 to $2.35 per half bbl.—a sharp advance. This firm said they also expected a further advance in dry corn, which they were holding very firmly at $3.50 for medium and $3.65 for large. They said they had lately bought out of schooner at an advance of 60c. per quintal over the price of ten days before.

SOHR. WABEEK WRECKED.

(St. John Sun.)

The Sun's Hillsboro, Albert Co., correspondent writes under date of 12th instant:

A telegram just received here states that the schooner Wabeek, Captain Elisha Edgett, encountered a heavy storm near Bath, Maine. The vessel was abandoned and Capt. Edgett's son, who accompanied him, was drowned. The captain reached shore safely with the remainder of his crew and sent home the distressing news. No further particulars have yet been received.

The Wabeek was a two-topmaster and was built and owned here. She was an old vessel, and has been employed for a long time in the coasting trade between this port and Boston.

The news of young Edgett's drowning is unusually sad as the captain and his son were expected home on Wednesday to the wedding of the captain's daughter, Miss Harriett, who was married to Archie Steeves of this place. As the vessel did not arrive it was presumed that head winds or fog had been the cause of detention, and no anxiety was felt for the safety of the absent ones.

The afflicted family have the sympathy of a very large number of friends.

The number of ladies who buy Magnetic Dyes all over Canada surprises even ourselves,—of course the y give splendid results.

BROKEN ITS PLEDGES.

A St. Stephen man missed a grand chance to make a thousand dollars the other day. He was talking politics in one of the banks and declared that the government had broken its pledges in failing to give free trade and prohibition, when a quiet old gentleman with a goodly bank account to his credit stepped up and offered to wager $1000 to $100 that the government had promised neither one nor the other. The talkative politician squirmed around for a while, but finding that the old gentleman was in earnest he subsided and no more was heard from him that day nor since about broken pledges.—St. Andrew's Beacon.

SOUTH AFRICA.

BOERS AMBUSH AND KILL—DEWET DRIVEN NORTH—DAUNTLESS STRATHCONAS.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The following despatch has been received from Lord Roberts:

PRETORIA, (Wednesday), Oct. 10.—An engine with a truck conveying a party of engineers, belonging to Page's rifle brigade, while proceeding, yesterday, to Kaap Muiden, was ambushed by Boers. Captain Stewart with forty men of the rifle brigade went to their support. The casualties, unfortunately, were heavy. Stewart and one private were killed. Captain Page, Lieut. Stubbs and five engineers were wounded, and Lieut. Sewell and ten privates of the rifle brigade were made prisoners.

"Delisle's mounted men and colonials, after three days fighting, have driven DeWet north of the Vaal, near Ventersburg. DeWet has been assuring the Burgers that Europe would stop the war Oct. 10. The Boers were thus buoyed with the hope that something would intervene to end the war in their favor. I trust they now realize how futile were their expectations."

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A special despatch from Lydenburg says:

"A Boer prisoner tells the story of the way in which a patrol of five troopers of Strathcona's Horse, under Sergeant Brothers, met death. It appears that they were suddenly surrounded by a strong force of Boers. The Canadians indignantly refused to surrender and a murderous fire was exchanged at short range, until every man in the party was riddled with bullets, but not before each Canadian had accounted for three Boers."

"What troubles you, poor girl?" the kind-hearted man asked.

"There, there; don't weep any more," the man said in comforting tones. Cheer up. Take a brighter view of the world. We must put our sorrow behind us. Look at me. I am not complaining. And yet I have a nephew who wears a shirt waist."
