NOTES FROM THE CLYDE.

The Prince of Wales and one for the German Emperor. There will certainly be excellent sport during what is known as the Clyde fortnight. Watson will have a free hand and no expense will be spared in building the new boat. In large boats he has certainly been very successful. The Britannia was certainly a wonderful boat and she was something more than a mere racing machine. Fife who has designed the Shamrock has never made much of a success with his large boats. When he was selected to build the Shamrock a good many croakers maintained that she would fail. The Ailsa, one of previous designs was a very fast boat some days and on other days no use at all. It is a very curious fact that boats, just like animate creatures, have their good and their bad days when they are out of form as it is termed. The Ailsa was certainly frequently out of form, while the Britannia seemed always to be in form. It is to be hoped the new boat will be as lucky although she is not owned by Royalty.

TO NERVOUS WOMEN

Mrs. D. W. Cronsbery, of 168 Richmond Street, Toronto, says:—"My daughter's nerve were exhausted and she was so weak and debilitated that she had to give up work and was almost a victim of nervous prostration. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proved an excellent remedy in restoring her to health and strength. After having used four boxes she is at work again healthy and happy. 50c. a box, at all dealers.

St. John Globe: Janie Gallagher, employed in the General Public Hospital laundry, met with a very serious injury Saturday morning. She was working at the steam mangle and unthinkingly thrust her hand into the machine to pull out a garment. Her hand was caught and the arm drawn into the machinery and broken in three places and frightfully lacerated. The physicians at once attended to her injury, which is both serious and painful.

A Woodstock despatch of the 22nd to the St. John Globe says: Samuel Yorke, a prominent farmer and resident of this county, died last night at his home in Waterville after a long illness from liver complaint. It will be remembered that he was a juror in the Nudain-Scott trespass case, the hearing of which had to be postponed several times on account of his illness. He was 45 years of age and leaves a widow, formerly Miss Churchill, and two children.

CHILDREN WILL GO SLEIGHING. They return covered with snow. Half a teaspoonful of Pain-Killer in hot water will prevent ill effects. Avoid substitutes there's but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis', 25c. and 50c.

Advocating Sunday closing for England A. F. Hills, D. L., at the World's Congress, London says: "The statistics of Sunday closing, legislation are irresistible as regards the great reduction of the consumption of spirit in Scotland, Ireland, and Wales, for Canada, Australia and America, is also good for England. The mortality of innkeepers and publicans is fifty-two per cent. above the mortality of all others. The mortality attributed to "alcoholism" is far higher for innkeepers and publicans than for any other industry, and more than five times as high as the average. One day's release a week from their tyrannous toil would mean much to these poor prisoners. Among a feast of good things at the World's Congress we also heard the individual "effort" idea advocated, endeavoring to make teetotalers and organize them for aggressive work. It is to be the local temperance organization that most careful attention needs to be given just now. They also revealed what we have to counter against to some extent in Canada, adversity of action among the different associations; we need to be united as one in the Temperance movement to make our efforts tell.

We enjoyed the rare privilege of an afternoon service in that noted edifice, Westminster Abbey. When the Rev. Dr. Robinson, Canon in residence, occupied the pulpit, giving us a very practical sermon on the subject, "Brotherly Love." In the course of his remarks he touched on the temperance question, saying, "the unsettled state of the temperance movement was due not so much to the zeal of extremists as the general indifference of church members. The great class of moderate opinion is not active enough. Saturnal dissensions in our churches are keeping our people too busy over their own selfish interests. We distrust one another."

While in Edinburgh we heard the Rev. Chas. Sheldon, author of those books which have so stirred the christian world, "In His Steps," "Thomas Hardy's Seven Days," on the subject of Prohibition state: "He was sorry to say he had seen more drunken men in the three weeks he had been in Great Britain than he had seen in twelve years at home. But there were hopeful signs in God's great world of the coming time where this curse of the generations should be abolished and they would see the glory of His Kingdom dawning, and that which lay at the bottom of the curse—the greed of man, and the passion of man—swept away.

Jesus Christ was becoming more and more the Ruler of this world, and He would be the most honored of all personalities in the coming century, and there lay the hope of the great temperance movement. The temperance cause was something which was Christian through and through. It was not an economic thing they faced, it was not a question of figures, it was not a question of statistics but it was that which lay deep down in their innermost religious life. That was where the hopefulness of it all lay, and it was because the women of the world had been praying while the politicians had been scoffing that the victory would be with them rather than with the politicians. The victory would be theirs because it was God's cause, and He would win."

The Archbishop of Canterbury, who is president of the World's Temperance Congress, encourages his audience by stating that the temperance cause has never yet gone back in its steady progress. It has won its way in science, in religion, in politics, in general public opinion. It has not yet achieved a final triumph, but it has silenced most of the objections which have long hindered its advance; it has made ridicule ridiculous; it has reserved the agreements founded on what is necessary for health, for steady labor, for long life; it has put an end to the charge of being an eccentricity; it has compelled a trade to admit that the fruits of that trade as now carried on, are a gigantic evil; and the one argument that still holds its ground—that the use of intoxicants contributes to humane enjoyments, is beginning to lose its force as we contrast the misery of the home of the drunkard with the happiness of the home of the sober."

And so our Canadian delegates at convention struck a keynote of cheerfulness as they related the progress of the movement here; and summing up all we heard and seen on the subject we felt more than ever encouraged to aim high and by prayer and effort aid in abolishing the awful curse from our midst.

MONTREAL, Dec. 21.—The Elder Dempster Company in an interview with a representative of The Transcript this morning stated that orders were received from the militia department ordering the landing of all Canadian soldiers on board the Lake Champlain to take place at Halifax. None will go to the port of St. John. The boat will coal at the latter port as she will not be able to stay long at Halifax. The Elder Dempster people are well satisfied with the time made by the Lake Champlain and state that she is due off Halifax at nine o'clock on Saturday night and will be docked by one o'clock on Sunday morning. The company are pleased at the new arrangement which will permit all the men arriving home on Christmas day. Advices have been sent to the shipping agent at St. John advising him of the change.

MONTREAL, Dec. 21.—It is understood that negotiations are progressing between certain representatives of Finland and the Quebec government towards securing a concession of a million acres of land on Perabuka River, Lake St. John, on which it is proposed to settle 5,000 Finlanders every year. Perabuka is 450 miles long and has millions of acres of fine land, well wooded. Delegates who represent the Finlanders claim that these proposed newcomers will make valuable settlers.

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—In a report received at the Militia Department from Major Ogilvie, in command of E battery, the major says that Lord Roberts expressed a wish that they would remain a few weeks longer. This was on the 12th of November. On the following day the major reported that all of the left and centre sections, with the exception of eight wanted to go home. The right section would volunteer as a battery, but if the battery goes they all wanted to go except two, who wished to be transferred to a corps in the Transvaal. After seeing the worst part of South Africa and not getting into the Transvaal, the men were tired of the country.

People Who Have Used It

Say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine affords wonderfully prompt relief for coughs and colds. Everybody has confidence in Dr. Chase, in his great recipe book and famous family remedies. They have learned by experience that it pays to insist on having Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine instead of accepting the various unscientific "mix-ups" which some druggists offer as "just as good."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine contains many of the most valuable and most effective remedial agents for throat and lung troubles that science has discovered. It acts so directly and promptly as to be of incalculable worth in all cases of croup, bronchitis and whooping cough. It is so far-reaching in its effects as to loosen the tightest chest cough and cure the cold of long standing. 25c a bottle; family size, 50c a bottle; as much, 90c. at all druggists, or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SYDNEY, Dec. 22.—Mrs. W. E. Mac-Alpine attempted to commit suicide Thursday night at Louisburg by cutting her throat with a razor. She succeeded in inflicting an ugly gash, but not fatally. The unfortunate woman was formerly a Miss Elizabeth Trask, of Digby, and taught school at Louisburg before she was married, about three years ago. Of late she seemed dispondent, often expressing a desire to return to her parents. She has been brooding over her disappointment probably and in a fit of insanity was led to commit the rash act.

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—The cabinet had under consideration yesterday the case of Morrison, who murdered a whole family at Moosomin, N. W. T., and as there was no apparent motive for the murder the Minister of Justice appointed an expert to examine Morrison as to his sanity. The expert reported that while a degenerate he was responsible. The result is that the law will be allowed to take its course and Morrison will be hanged on Jan. 17. He murdered father mother and four children. He attempted to shoot the oldest daughter, but the pistol would not go off. After having done all this he told the girl to go and advise the neighbours and tell them what had happened. She did so and Morrison was arrested and pleaded guilty. Morrison was one of the boys by Miss MacPherson from the old country.
