GENERAL BULLER DEFENDS THE BRITISH SOLDIER.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Gen. Buller, the former commander of the British troops in Natal, during the course of a speech which he made to-day at Exeter, on the occasion of a sword of honor being presented to him, said he had received a quantity of old iron, sent by German critics, while trying to relieve Ladysmith. He added: "The laugh was on my side, because when the iron came, I was inside Ladysmith."

There is an old saying in Germany, "He should be thrown upon the old iron heap," meaning that the person referred to is of no good. It may be presumed that the sending of the iron to Gen. Buller by the German critic has reference to this saying.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Speaking this evening at a banquet given in his honor, Gen. Buller defended the British army against the charges of ravishing women and of barbarous treatment of Boers, declaring that all were false. He said that in three cases of alleged assaults upon women that were brought to his attention, two of the accused were Hottentots following the forces, and the third was a Kaffir. No army ever behaved better, said Sir Redvers. "There is no doubt that the fact that the war has come to its crisis induces severer treatment. But why is it so? Are the real patriots fighting for their country? The whole people whom we know as Boers either have already surrendered, or are prisoners, or are doing their level best to surrender. The people left in the field are either mercenaries or bandits."

CLEAR AWAY WORMS.

Mrs. Wm. Graham, Sheppardton, Ont., writes: "I have given Dr. Low's Worm Syrup to my boy time and again and find it a good worm medicine. It is nice to take and never makes the child sick like powders. Price 25c."

SUBSTITUTE FOR PLUM PUDDING.

CHEAPER, MORE EASILY MADE AND AS GOOD AS THE POPULAR CHRISTMAS DINNER DESSERT.

"Plum pudding, the traditional Christmas pudding, is expensive, and few people can afford either the time to make it or the cost of the materials. Substitute a Saratoga pudding, and few will know the difference. To make one, roll and sift one pint of stale breadcrumbs; add one cupful of flour, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a grated nutmeg, a cupful of brown sugar, a pound of seedless raisins, a quarter of a pound of shredded citron, floured, and half a pound of raw suet, freed from membrane and chopped fine: mix thoroughly. Dissolve one teaspoonful of baking soda in two tablespoonfuls of water, and add it to one cupful of New Orleans molasses; add one egg well beaten, the juice and grated rind of one lemon, and pour it into the dry ingredients. Work all carefully together until it is moist, not wet, and pack it down into a greased kettle or mould. Cover and boil continuously for four hours. Lift the lid of the mould until the pudding is cold, then cover and stand aside. Reheat at serving time. An ordinary lard kettle may be used in place of a mould. This pudding may be made a week before Christmas and heated for the Christmas dinner. Serve hot with hard sauce.—Mrs S. T. Rorer, in the December Ladies' Home Journal.

DOMINION NEWS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—A portion of the wall of the theatre Francois in course of construction collapsed in the glare this afternoon, demolishing a small house occupied by two Italian families. Anzotto Costello, a boarder was sick in bed. The overturned store fired the ruins and before the firemen could reach the spot Costello was badly burned. He died on his way to the hospital.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Nov. 21.—The annual meeting of the Farmers' Guild of Brantford was held today and a dividend of ninety per cent. declared. Last year the concern paid a hundred per cent. the year before sixty, and for five years before that ten per cent. The officers claimed that the three extraordinary dividends were due to the purchase of raw material at the right time and wise speculation.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—Mr. James McGee, cattle dealer, of Westboro, shipped a car load of thirty steers from Westboro to Ottawa East. When they arrived at the destination at the G. A. R. siding at Ottawa East, Tuesday morning, twelve were alive and eighteen were dead. Mr. McGee had ordered cattle cars but afterwards loaded the cattle in ordinary closed cars. The animals had only a journey of an hour, but they were smothered apparently some time before they reached their destination.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 22.—Rev. Father Vermieven, assistant to the parish priest of Brandon, is in the hospital suffering from the effects of a beating received at the hands of a gang of toughs, who assaulted him without the slightest provocation.

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—The agreement under which the Canada Cycle Co., has acquired the controlling interest in the National Cycle Co., was ratified at a meeting of the former company's shareholders to-day. With the exception of a few small concerns operating in the local field, this places the entire bicycle and automobile business of Canada under the control of the big trust.

Work is going rapidly ahead on the coke ovens at Sydney. On Wednesday one of the ovens which had been charged the day before, was drawn, and the coke found to be of excellent quality.

A despatch received at Sydney from Montreal states that the Very Rev. James M. Quinan, V. G., of Arichat, is lying dangerously ill there in the Grey Nun's hospital. The last sacraments were administered to him on Tuesday.

The great enthusiasm manifested in golfing circles in Sydney during the past summer has given rise to the consideration by the active players of playing during the winter months. This will be a novel exhibition in Sydney.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 22.—British Columbia lumbermen and millowners will petition the federal and provincial governments for a ship tonnage bonus to regain for Canadian vessels the carrying trade lost to American ships. They allege that San Francisco shipping firms have accomplished a competitive movement in connection with recent ship charters, which has had the effect of making it impossible for British Columbia shippers to obtain freight shipments except at such advanced rates as absorb the millmen's profits. Lumber shipments now cost sixty cents per thousand more than was formerly paid for British bottoms, and lumbermen assert it is only by securing lower freight rates that the industry can be profitably carried on.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—A cable to-day reports Sergeant R. H. Ryan, First Battalion Mounted Rifles, slightly wounded at Belfast, November 16th. He is from Kentville, N. S.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—Gobeil, Deputy Minister of Public Works, has applied for superannuation. He has been in the department since 1872.

At North Sydney, C. B., disgraceful rows are of such frequent occurrence on the streets as to call forth little comment. Strangers to be molested almost every night is nothing unusual. Near the railway bridge in that town is a favorite resort of some of the worst rowdies to be found anywhere. The police must have orders to keep clear of the place as it is seldom or ever one goes near there. A few nights ago a stranger passing was molested by a gang of boys and repeatedly insulted and jostled, to protect himself he fired into the crowd and shot a boy named McNeil. After firing the shot he disappeared. If the place is not cleared of the toughs, some persons will come to grief.—Railway News.

A matrimonial wave has evidently struck Sydney, the bans of no fewer than eleven couples being published in the Sacred Heart church of that town on Sunday last.

OOM PAUL'S SPEECH.

MARSEILLES, Nov. 23.—Replying to the addresses of welcome of the presidents of the Paris and Marseilles committees, Mr. Kruger spoke in Dutch and in a low voice, but accompanied his words with energetic movements of his hat, which he held in his right hand.

The following is the text of Mr. Kruger's speech: I thank the president of the Marseilles committee and the president of the central committee of the independence of the Boers for their welcome. I thank all this population assembled in great concourse to greet me, for although I wear mourning for the misfortune of my country, and although I have not come to seek festivities, still I, nevertheless, accept with all my heart these acclamations, for I know they are dictated by the emotions which are inspired in you by our trials and by your sympathy for our cause, which is that of liberty, which awakened you. I am truly proud and happy at having chosen as my point of landing a port in France, to set foot on free soil and be received by you as a free man.

My first duty is to thank your government for all the tokens of interest that again only recently it was pleased to give me. I believe England, had she been better informed, would never have consented to this war, and since the expedition of Jameson, who wished to seize the two republics without the necessity of firing a rifle shot, I have never ceased to demand a tribunal of arbitration, which, up to now, has always been refused.

The war waged on us in the two republics reached the last limits of barbarism. During my life I have had to fight many times the savages of the tribes of Africa, but the barbarians we have to fight now are worse than the others. They even urge the Kaffirs against us. They burn the farms we worked so hard to construct and they drive out our women and children, whose husbands and brothers they have killed or taken prisoners, leaving them unprotected and roofless and often without bread to eat. But whatever they may do, we will never surrender. We will fight to the end. Our great, imperishable confidence reposes in the Eternal, in our God. We know our cause is just, and if the justice of man is wanting to us, He, the Eternal, who is Master of all people, and to whom belongs the future, will never abandon us.

I assure you that if the Transvaal and the Orange Free State must lose their independence, it will be because all the Boer people have been destroyed, with their women and children.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The returning Canadian troops on board the Hawarden Castle, due here next week, will be lavishly entertained by a private committee, of which Lord Grey is chairman. Three hundred seats have been secured at the various London theatres for each night the Canadians are here. They will be quartered at Kensington barracks, whence there will be excursions to Brighton, Woolwich and other parts of interest, including a probable visit to the queen, Lord Grey said to a representative of the Associated Press: "They will not exactly be the guests of the nation, as that is reserved for the 5,000 colonial troops who are coming later. But we are trying to make the short stay here of these Canadians as enjoyable as possible, as a slight token of our appreciation of the magnificent work they have done. It will be carried out with as little formality as possible."

How to Quiet a Child. A little girl frequently fainted she saw bears and tigers whenever she happened to awake in the night. Presumably she dreamed of some danger, may be on account of having eaten too much for supper or having eaten the wrong kind of food. At any rate, she frequently awoke crying in the night, and in her fear interpreted the dim outlines of a dress or a curtain as a fearful beast that was about to attack her. The best thing to do is to deal tenderly with such fancies and remove the child as far as possible from the object that has caused her excitement.

Then, if you can do so without disturbing the other children, light the lamp and let the light fall full on the thing that has given rise to her fear. Beside, and express your opinion first as a kind of preliminary assumption that the bear may after all be mamma's skirt or the curtain moving in the draft, and when this comforting probability is understood follow up your advantage and declare it to be a good joke that a harmless piece of cloth should look like a fearful animal. Make the child smile at the incongruity of her fancy, and her laugh will cure the horror of the dream and dispel the nightmare as sunshine dissolves the mist.—Arenia

Luxury, Right or Wrong.

Dismissing the right or wrong of luxury in The North American Review Professor F. Spencer Baldwin, a Boston university authority on economics, comes to these conclusions:

"There are justifiable and there are unjustifiable luxuries. In general it may be laid down that a luxury which contributes to the efficiency of the individual in the widest sense and which does not impose on society for the satisfaction of its demands an unwholesome and degrading form of labor is perfectly justifiable.

"This sanction of luxury is not to be stretched to cover unlimited self-indulgence. The part played by rational self-sacrifice in the development of character is not to be overlooked. Constant self-indulgence is demoralizing.

"But in general a man has a right to spend money for anything that enriches and diversifies his life, and thus aids in the developing and rounding out of his personality, provided the labor that is required for the production of the articles in question be agreeable and innocuous.

"On the other hand, a luxury that demoralizes the individual or calls for a noxious form of labor is unjustifiable."

Elephant Hunting in Nubia.

When the elephant is pursued on foot, it is invariably sought in the depths of the forest, where it has retired for shelter from the noonday sun and also for the short repose it takes during the 24 hours. The hunter, having tracked his quarry to its retreat, is obliged to use the utmost stealth in approaching it, the elephant being a very light sleeper and awakened by the slightest unusual sound.

The difficulty of moving through a dense thorny jungle without making any sound dissimilar to those which might be produced by nature, such as the stirring of the branches by a light breeze or the occasional falling of a dead leaf, is greater than can be realized by anyone who has not tried it.

On getting within arm's length of his game the swordsman slowly raises himself to an erect position and deals a slashing cut on the back sinews of the nearest foot about ten inches from the ground, at the same time leaping nimbly back to avoid a blow from the animal's trunk. The cut, if properly delivered, bites sheer to the bone, severing the large arteries, and in a short time death ensues from hemorrhage.—Harper's Weekly

A Sister Lost.

At one time, when two Cheyennes got to gambling, one lost, and luck seemed to be against him. After he had lost every piece of property he had, in desperation he put up his sister and lost her. This aroused great indignation through the tribe, but no one intimidated the unfortunate girl should not go and live as the wife of the man who had won her in a game of cards.

Over 20 years ago the writer was superintendent of the Arapahoe Indian school at Darlington during a period of five years. During this time not less than four young Indian women came to the school asking admittance and protection from marriage that was about to be forced upon them. The protection was given and the young women afterward married according to their own choice. Since then these tribes have been gradually breaking away from their original customs until now they are married with the lawful marriage rites.—Southern Workman and Hampton School Record.

CANNON BALL EXPRESS.

HELD UP BY BANDITS IN ARKANSAS, EARLY WEDNESDAY EVENING.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22.—The Iron Mountain cannon ball passenger train, north bound, was held up at Gifford, Ark., a few miles this side of Malvera Junction, at 7.30 o'clock last night. The affair was participated in by half a dozen men. The bandits had built a huge bonfire on the track, figuring that it would cause the engineer to bring the train to a standstill. He, however, scouting an attempted robbery, opened the throttle and sought to push through the fiery obstruction. Several ties of which the fire was made, caught in the pilot, and soon brought the train to a stop. Instantly three masked men ordered the engineer and fireman to leave the engine at once. Another robber went on the side of the car, halted the conductor and ordered him to remain inside. Each order was obeyed.

While the four robbers were standing guard and occasionally firing a shot to frighten the passengers, their two accomplices entered the express car and ordered messenger Samuel R. Avery to "step aside or get to the other corner." The large safe was charged five times with dynamite, each explosion making a terrific noise and tearing off portions of the car. A large hole was bored into the door of the safe, but an entrance could not be effected. The robbers finally announced that they had no more dynamite and then they gave up the task of forcing open the door. Then picking up the local express box and several packages, they ran to their horses, which had been hitched nearby, and rode rapidly away.

No attempt was made to disturb or molest the passengers, except for an occasional shot at an inquisitive person who peered out of a car window.

The Sheriff of Hot Springs county organized a posse and started at once in pursuit of the robbers. All wore heavy masks. The trainmen say the small box carried off by the robbers contained about $500. It is positively known that the robbers secured several sacks of silver containing $190.
