INTERESTING COURTSHIP CASE AT MAGOG, QUE.

Rather a curious case came before the district magistrate at Magog, Que., recently. It was an action taken by Henri Brisson against Annie Lefebvre de Coteau, for the recovery of presents. She claimed that she had agreed to marry him and after obtaining the presents had refused to do so. On the day he went to her father's to be married, he found she had gone away. Brisson then took steps to have the girl arrested. He gave the court the following statement of his presents to his sweetheart:—"Pair of boots, value $1.25; dress with trimmings and making, $5.75; corset cover, $1.45; gold ring, $2.25; gold watch, $5; two pins, one 15 and one 10 cents; pair of corsets, 56 cents; I also gave her $2.75 in money, two combs, 80 cents; hat, $2.25; pair gloves, 35 cents; white petticoat, $1.25; nine yards muslin, 90 cents; cotton cloth, 56 cents. He explained that the night before she ran away he stayed with her till 10.20 p. m., and left expecting that the wedding would take place next day. The marriage bans had already been published. Brisson admitted under cross examination that the girl had expressed a wish to return the presents and give up the marriage. At this point in the proceedings His Honor said that Brisson had no case and dismissed the complaint against the accused.

CROUPY COUGHS OF CHILDREN.

The tendency to croup is a foe that all parents have to fight. Croup comes in the night, when the help must be right at hand if it is to be helped at all. Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is a blessing to all families where there are children subject to attacks of croup or any mean cough. It has a wonderful reputation for its efficiency and fully deserves it. You cannot tell what night your child may wake up choking to death with croup. In such a case what do you do? Send for a doctor and wait an hour, or perhaps two hours, while the child is gasping for breath? How much simpler where the true specific for croupy coughs and all throat troubles is right at hand. Indeed no other way is safe with young children in the house. Adamson's Cough Balsam is a most delicate medicine for children, relieving the little throats at once. Its action is soothing and certain. It clears out the phlegm, which produces the croupy condition, and is a safeguard which no mother who knows about it will dispense with. All coughs and inflammation of the throat or bronchial tubes are cured by the Balsam with promptness that surprises. All druggists sell it, 25 cents. The genuine has "F. W. Kinsman & Co." blown in the bottle.

THE DIMENSIONS OF A PERFECT WOMAN.

A woman 5 feet 5 inches in height should weigh 128 pounds. Her arms extended should measure from tip to tip of the middle fingers just exactly her height—5 feet 5 inches. The length of her hand should be one-tenth of that; her foot one-seventh; the diameter of her chest one fifth. From her thighs to the ground she should measure just the same as from her thighs to the top of her head. The knees should come just exactly midway between the thigh and the heel. The distance from the elbow to the middle finger should be the same as from the elbow to the middle of the chest. From the top of the head to the chin should be just the length of the foot and the same distance between the chin and the armpits. A woman of this height should measure 24 inches around the waist, 34 about the bust, if measured under the arms, and 43 inches if measured over them. The upper arm should measure 13 inches, and the wrist six inches. The calf of the leg should measure 14 1/2 inches, the thigh 25 inches and the ankle eight inches.—Stella Stuart in Ledger Monthly.

THIS MAN WAS MARRIED TO A BAROMETER.

SHE NEVER MAKES A MISTAKE IN PREDICTING THE WEATHER.

A New Orleans man has a wife whom he calls his barometer. He says she does not make a mistake in predicting the weather once in a hundred times. During all these years I have been guided by her, and when she tells me in the morning that rain will fall, I wear dark clothes and carry an umbrella, and I find I have used it for me before I return home at night.

"On her promise that the day would be fine I have invariably worn light clothes and left my umbrella at home, and I have never found that I had use for it. A shower may fall during the day, but the sun always comes out after it, and that is the nearest my wife has ever missed truthfully forecasting the weather. But she was never able to tell what the weather would be except for twelve hours, and she would never risk her reputation by making predictions for longer than that, and her predictions were always for the day only, and never for the night, and often when we went out at night we were caught unprepared for rain. On these occasions I frequently twitted my wife with being a false prophet, or rather a bad one, but I could never get her to venture a prediction on the weather at night.

"All these years the matter had been a mystery to me, and I was never able to fathom it; but a few days she explained how she was able to so closely tell what the weather would be during the day, and her explanation of the matter was so simple that I wondered why the solution of what I thought a mystery, or the possession of second sight on my wife's part had never occurred to me before.

"Like many other women, my wife's hair is not curly, and like many other women she puts it up in curl papers or kids, when she retires at night and brushes it out curly in the morning. When her hair emerges from the curl papers damp, dark and sticky and heavy, she knows that there will be rain and plenty of it before night. When it is a trifle damp she knows there will be showers or some rainfall, but not a real rainy day and when she brushes out her hair and it is dry, light and fluffy she knows to a certainty that the day will be a fine one and then she makes her predictions with great assurance and earnestness, and I have seldom found her wrong. I suppose other men's wives can tell in advance the weather by hair, but my wife's hair is better for this purpose than any barometer I have ever known."

Hay Fever Germs are Now Floating About.

They are in the air everywhere, too minute to see, but just waiting for a chance to get into your lungs. Then they will play havoc with your breathing apparatus, and you'll wonder what to do. The doctor will say you had better inhale Catarrhazone for it kills Hay Fever germs and moreover is dead certain to reach them. Catarrhazone cures every time, and absolutely prevents the disease from returning. You inhale Catarrhazone with the air breathed; it goes directly to the source of the trouble and cures it by removing the cause. At druggists, or sent with guarantee of cure, to any address for $1.00 forwarded to Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

An Abbreviation.

A colonel of a British regiment in South Africa who was repairing a railroad after one of General De Wet's many breakages discovered a fine empty house, which he proceeded to occupy as headquarters.

When the news of the colonel's comfortable quarters reached Bloemfontein, he received a telegram which read:

"G. T. M. wants house."
The colonel was unable to make out what "G. T. M." meant and inquired of officers, who translated it "general traffic manager."

"All right," said the colonel. "If he can use hieroglyphics, so can I." So he wired back:

"G. T. M. can G. T. H."

Two days later he received a dispatch from Bloemfontein ordering him to attend a board of inquiry. On appearing in due course he was asked what he meant by sending such an insulting message to a superior officer.

"Insulting?" repeated the colonel innocently. "It was nothing of the kind." "But what do you mean," demanded his superior, "by telling me I can 'G. T. H.?'"

"It was simply an abbreviation," replied the colonel—"G. T. M. (general traffic manager) can G. T. H. (get the house)."

The Tobacco Taste.

"Even the best judges of tobacco can't always be depended on," remarked a dealer to a reporter recently. "Sometimes their taste goes back on them, so to speak, and remains blunted for a week at a stretch. One of my customers, for instance, is a well to do merchant, who is very particular about his cigars and one of the few real connoisseurs in town. When he is in good form, he can tell more about tobacco on a superficial examination than anybody I know, with the single exception of a dealer who has a big reputation as an expert. About a month ago this gentleman began to complain about a favorite brand of very high class cigars. I knew the goods were all right and advised him to buy something else for awhile. He finally began smoking a pipe and used a cheap cut plug that he declared was the best smoke he ever tried. One day, all of a sudden, his taste returned, and he went back to the cigars. At present the bare smell of cut plug will make him sick. Strange, isn't it? They tell me that the professional samplers of tobacco take a week off every few months and never look at the weed until they return to duty. In that way they keep in condition."

Taploca.

This elegant and delicate starch is the product of a plant that is cultivated very extensively in the Malay peninsula, where its culture is almost entirely in the hands of the Chinese. The tubers of the plant (Manihot utilisima), which weigh on an average from 10 to 25 pounds, are first scraped and then carefully washed, after which they are reduced to a pulp by being passed between rollers. This pulp is carefully washed and shaken up with abundance of water until the fecula separates and passes through a very fine sieve into a tub placed beneath. The flour so obtained is repeatedly washed and then placed on mats and bleached by exposure to the sun and air. It is finally converted into the pearl taploca of commerce by being placed in a crude shaped frame covered with canvas. It is slightly moistened and subjected to a rotary motion, by which means it is granulated. It is next dried in the sun and finally over the fire in an iron pan greased with vegetable tallow and is then ready for the market.

When Booth Laughed.

William Mestayer, the comedian, once said: "I never saw Edwin Booth laugh heartily but once. We were playing 'Julius Caesar' at Baldwin's in Frisco. Booth was Brutus, McCullough was Cassius, Harry Edwards was Caesar and Charley Bishop and I were plain, everyday citizens. It was the last night of the run, and we all felt frisky. So when Caesar spoke the well known line, 'Let me have men about me that are fat,' Bishop and I, both fat men, walked boldly up to Caesar and shook him heartily by the hand. It broke Booth all up, and he laughed outright."

No Difference Perceptible.

Jones—Very stupid girl, that Miss Wilpin.

Smith—How so?

"Why, you see, we were guessing conundrums the other evening, and I asked her what was the difference between myself and a donkey."

"Well?"

"Well? Why, by Jove, she said she didn't know!"

"Well, as far as that goes, I don't either."—London Answers.

He Had Molted.

"That fellow is a bird," said the admiring stranger as he looked after the fresh young man.

"Not now," replied the native, "but there was a time when your description might have been justified."

"When was that?"

"The night we tarred and feathered him about a year ago."

Hygienic.

"Your poetry," we ventured, "is eminently healthy!"

"It should be!" rejoined the poet, with dignity. "I am always extremely careful to boil my Pierian spring water before drinking, or, rather, quaffing it!"

It is asserted that the idea of the pipe organ was borrowed from the human chest, mouth and larynx.

DOMINION NEWS.

MONTREAL, June 21.—The contract for grading the railway between Montreal and Joliette, which will give the Great Northern Railway entrance to this city has been awarded to Smith & Abbott, New York. They have also the contract for the superstructure of the big bridge of Fravel des Prairies at Bout de Lila. The superstructure of the bridge will be built by the Dominion Bridge Company.

RICHMOND, Que., June 21.—A terrific electric storm, accompanied by a gale of wind, broke over this section last night. Trees were uprooted and the rain fell in torrents. Joseph Smith's house, near Danville (Pinnacle), was struck by lightning, and he with six members of his family were rendered unconscious by the shock. A son, who was in an outhouse at the time, summoned medical assistance and it was with the utmost difficulty that the lives were saved.

TORONTO, June 21.—There is no material change in the trackmen's situation here. No benefit money has yet been paid to the strikers, but President Wilson has assured the men there are funds on hand for a six months' fight.

The C. P. R. last night issued reports in effect as follows:

MONTREAL, June 20.—Mr. McNicoll, vice-president and general manager of the C. P. R., stated to-night that reports are still coming to hand from various points along the line showing that the men are returning, and that no difficulty whatever has been experienced in the working of the traffic. The company feel confident that the strike cannot last many more days, for reason that the men have failed to secure the sympathy of the public.

Inquiry at the head office of the C. P. R. to-night elicited the information that many meetings are being held by the trackmen at different points on the system, and that they have asked the company's local officers to meet them. A considerable number of men returned to work to-day, and the position is continuing to improve as the men become fully informed of the actual conditions existing on the C. P. R., as compared with other roads. Every foot of track is patrolled daily, and trains are running with their accustomed regularity, notwithstanding the unusually heavy traffic.

MONTREAL, June 21.—The Star's special cable from London says: "Hon. W. S. Fielding, Sir Louis Davies, Hon. A. G. Blair, and Hon. David Mills are spending a quiet time in London, mostly recreating. Hon. Mr. Dobell is also paying this country a visit. He expects to sail for Canada July 11. Hon. Sydney Fisher addressed a meeting of Glasgow importers on Wednesday and held a reception in the Canadian pavilion at the Glasgow exhibition yesterday."

Mrs. Clarke Murray of Montreal is here promoting the organization of the Daughters of the Empire Society in Great Britain. A big general meeting in connection with this organization is in prospect. The meeting will be under distinguished patronage."

IT STRIKES THE HEART.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.
