LIVELY CHASE FOR AN ALLEGED FORGER.

MAN WHO CALLS HIMSELF MELVILLE CHESTER HAS HOT FIGHT WITH CHICAGO DETECTIVES.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 14.—Melville Chester, Jr., who says he is a son of Melville Chester, of the banking firm of Baker, Gettin & Chester, of Boston, Mass., is under arrest on a charge of forgery. Twenty-five charges are said to have been made against him.

The man was arrested by two detectives of the Central station, after a chase of more than six blocks, in the downtown district. He was captured in the courtyard of the Auditorium Annex, after a desperate fight.

Captain Collier received a message two weeks ago from the Chief of Police of Kansas City to be on the lookout for Chester and to notify all banking and jewelry firms to be careful in dealing with a man answering his description.

As the detectives were passing along Jackson Boulevard they saw a man leave the store at No. 47 Jackson Boulevard. Their suspicions were aroused and they decided to arrest him.

When Chester reached Wabash avenue he became suspicious of the detectives and ran. The detectives followed, and pedestrians, seeing the three running started on the pursuit. Several persons who tried to intercept Chester at different points were knocked down, before he took refuge in the court yard back of the Auditorium Annex, where he was finally caught.

In the Grand Central Station Chester admitted to Captain Collier that he was wanted by the police of several cities.

The prisoner is said to have committed more than sixty forgeries during the last six months. He has been eagerly sought after by the police of Memphis, Tenn.; Boston, Mass.; San Francisco, Cal.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Louisville, Ky.; Pittsburg, Pa.; New York, Galveston, Texas, and Liberty, Mo., where he is said to have assaulted the Sheriff while the latter was trying to arrest him. He is also wanted in Bloomington, Ill.; Normal, Ill.; Gertrude, Okla., and Kansas City, Mo.

Chester it is declared, escaped from the police in Kansas City after a desperate fight in which he is said to have wounded a policeman. In Gertrude, while escaping, he is said by the police to have shot and seriously wounded a policeman, but not before the policeman had struck him several times with the butt of his revolver, inflicting a deep cut in the back of Chester's head, which he showed the police.

Chester has been in Chicago only a few days, coming here from Memphis, but since his arrival here, he is said to have forged checks on a dozen merchants varying from $10 to $150.

The prisoner had several checks of the National Biscuit Company in his pockets, which, he said, he filled out as he used them.

"I could live a good life if I only would do as my father often requested," said Chester, "but I cannot content myself in one place long. I have no one to blame but myself, and now that I am under arrest I will take my punishment like a man, will take my punishment like a man."

A SUCCESSFUL RUSE.

Mark Twain once used a successful ruse to attract the attention of President Cleveland to an injustice which he thought was about to be done to Consul General Mason at Frankfort, one of the best men in the service. Mason was notified that his resignation was expected and that a Mr. Rapp of Illinois was to be his successor. He was packing up his goods when Mark Twain happened around that way and visited the consulate.

Being informed of the situation, the latter wrote a letter to Ruth Cleveland, the baby daughter of the president, telling her that he could not interfere in matters of patronage because he was a Mugwump, but he considered it a shame that a man of experience and ability like Consul General Mason should be turned out of office simply because some Democrat who knew nothing about its duties wanted the place. He said that he was acquainted with a great many consuls and that Captain Mason was the best he had ever known, and if her father ever consulted her about the consular service he suggested that she advise him not to disturb good men merely to give places to politicians.

About a month later Mr. Clemens received a little note in President Cleveland's handwriting, in which Miss Ruth Cleveland presented her compliments to Mark Twain, thanked him for calling attention to the threatened removal of Consul Mason and said that if he knew of any similar cases the president would be glad to hear from him.

THE WORLD OVER.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Dr. Paul Erdtmann, a Brooklyn physician, was found unconscious early this morning near the home of his brother. He was suffering from mercurial poisoning, taken, it is supposed, with suicidal intent. He will recover. Dr. Erdtmann's wife sued him for divorce recently, and he had been much depressed in spirits in consequence.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., June 13.—Wm. W. Gardner, jr., the son of a retired merchant of Present Chester, N. Y., blew out his brains on the porch of his father's residence to-day. Gardner returned recently from the Klondike, where he had been unsuccessful. It is believed he killed himself on account of financial troubles.

NEW YORK, June 13.—A despatch from London says the British government has decided to levy $250,000,000 on the Transvaal gold mines to help pay the cost of the war. Sir David Barbour, formerly finance minister for India who was commissioned to report upon the taxable capacity of these mines, advised Colonial Secretary Chamberlain to levy £175,000,000, but Chamberlain, after consultation with Lord Milner increased the maximum amount as stated. This action, when it becomes known, as certain to cause consternation among Kaffir stockholders, who fancied the idea of taxing the mines which are mostly owned in England, had been abandoned. As these very gold mines were the real underlying cause of the war, many have maintained that British ownership should be made to bear a large share at least of its heavy burden.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Mamie Collins, of Brooklyn, who was engaged a short time ago to be married to Patrick Hawkins, also of Brooklyn, lay in wait for Hawkins last night because the latter had broken his engagement with her, and dashed a small cream pitcher full of oxalic acid into his face. Then she threw her arms about him shrieking and crying that she did not mean to hurt him. The man was blinded and will probably lose the sight of both eyes.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., June 13.—The wedding of Miss Queenie Ferry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter M. Ferry, of Detroit, Mich., to Avery Coonley, of Chicago, was solemnized at "Wilfer," the summer home of the bride's parents, in Unadilla Centre. The ceremony was performed on the lawn, where her parents were wedded by J. L. White, the minister who married them. Later the 200 guests went to the "Ontio" a large summer hotel that had been leased exclusively for the bridal couple where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Coonley will remain the sole guests of the hotel for several days, and on June 15 will sail for Europe. Mr. Ferry is reputed to be worth $10,000,000 and among the wedding gifts was a check for $1,000,000.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 13.—Two are dead and four injured as the result of a head-end collision on the Santa Fe system, six miles east of Williams, Ariz. The dead:

Lee Perkins, of Williams, fireman. Jim Monahan, of Winslow, fireman. The passenger train was going at a lively rate when it crashed into a double header freight.

LONDON, June 13.—The Duke of Marlborough headed a deputation which, at an audience of King Edward to-day, presented his majesty with a suit of armour which formerly belonged to the king's champion. This historic armour was recently purchased by a committee who desired that it be presented at Windsor.

TOMASTON, Me., June 14.—Charles Moore, a 25-year man in the state prison, sentenced in 1888 from Cumberland Co., for breaking and entering in Portland, made careful preparations to escape from the institution last night. He was missing from his cell this morning and prison officials were confident that he had eluded the guard and had made good his escape from the prison. This afternoon, however, he was found secreted beneath the floor of the pulpit in the chapel. The officers believe he was afraid to make the jump from the end of a rope he had attached to the bar of a window, to the ground, and decided to hide away until offered an opportunity to escape from the building in an easier manner. When found, Moore wore a suit of citizen's clothes, made from hundreds of odd pieces of cloth.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Rather than furnish a $500 bond for the support of his wife, Dr. Arthur Tucker a dentist at No. 8 West Fourteenth street, went to prison. The prisoner was before Magistrate Meade in the West Side police court on the charge of failing to support his wife Mrs. Elma Tucker, who was also a dentist and resides at No. 203 West 11th street. Her husband is 16 years her junior.

The woman is fifty-two years of age and asserted that he made $5,000 a year at his vocation and after leaving her some time ago, he paid her $15 a week until about a month ago when he ceased to do so.

"I took him out of a blacksmith shop nine years ago, married him and then taught him the dental profession," said the wife.

After a lengthy wrangle in which husband and wife accused each other of various delinquencies, Magistrate Meade ordered Tucker to pay his wife $8 every week and to give a bond to insure faithful performance of it.

"I'll not do it," declared the defendant. "I have sold out my business and I'll go to jail first." Unless he changes his mind and furnished the bond which is for $500, he will have to serve six months' imprisonment.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 14.—Four thieves who saw Mrs. Sadie Fowler draw some money from the Keystone bank yesterday followed her for five hours to her home and at 2 o'clock this morning beat her into insensibility, robbed her and then burned down her home. When she tried to escape from the building the men held the doors but the arrival of neighbors saved her from being suffocated. The robbers escaped.

COLLISION IN NEW YORK HARBOR.

FERRY BOATS COLLIDE AND MANY LIVES ARE REPORTED LOST.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Divers at work on the wrecked ferry boat Northfield, were kept at their task until 6 o'clock this morning, without finding a single body in the boat's cabin. It is not known definitely that there was a loss by collision. The official entry blotter of the harbor police says no one was lost, but according to the statement of the tug boats' captians who surrounded the sinking Northfield, a number of persons perished. Until early this morning there were many inquiries at the old slip police station, of the harbor police, for relatives who are supposed to have been on the Northfield, and who had not returned to their homes at a late hour last night. Captain Johnson, of the Northfield, was arrested a few hours after the collision, but refused to make a statement about the collision. He was locked up on the charge of criminal negligence and held without bail. He will be arraigned in the police court to-day, Captain Frank Griffin, of the Mauch Phunk, went to his home in Jersey City last night. No effort has been made to arrest him, as the officials of the Jersey Central Railroad promised that he would be produced in court to-day. The majority of the passengers who were rescued were more or less hysterical and their stories as to the loss of life are conflicting to a great extent. Many opinions are hundreds of lives were lost, while others thought that but a few were drowned. The divers stopped work at 6 o'clock, and rested until 9. At that time all the lines from the forward and aft ends of the sunk boat were made fast to the bulkhead. Divers at 9 o'clock started to go through all the cabins, engine and fire rooms and other compartments of the ferry boat, in order to make a thorough search. It is known that eleven of the crew got ashore in safety. The body of a boy about ten years old was found floating in East River this morning. The body had been in the water but a short time. The coroners office attributed the death to the Northfield collision and the police recorded it as the first known death. Captain Daniel Gully of the tugboat Mutarloo, said this morning many persons must have been drowned, "I saw the two boats when they crashed," he said, "and am positive two hundred persons were drowned. I saw myself more than thirty jump over-board as the Northfield was drifting from the battery to the pier. This was on the starboard side, and I cannot tell how many went over from port side. I saw more than fifteen in the water when I ran up to the Northfield, and many of them went down. If as the ferry officials say, there were between 600 and 1000 passengers on the ferry boat, not more than from 500 to 700 got ashore safely."
