NOW I FEEL REAL WELL

Mr. W. H. La Blance, Bonfield, Ont., writes: "I was once a sufferer from catarrh, and while using Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure I was recommended to use also Dr. Chase Nerve Food to build up the system. My nerves were exhausted and I was too weak to do a day's work when I began using it, and now am strong and healthy, and feel real well. I am perfectly sure that anyone who uses Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will believe as I do, that it is the best strengthener and restorative obtainable."

OTTAWA, April 10.—It is understood that an agreement between the C. P. R. and the Crow's Nest Coal Company has been reached whereby the C. P. R. will select at once its six sections of 18,000 acres of coal lands, so that if the coal company attempted to form any monopoly in coal then the railway company's land and the government lands would be thrown open to the public and in this way there could be no monopoly. This arrangement is said to be satisfactory to both parties and, as it has the appearance of being in the public interest, will no doubt be satisfactory to the government, to the railway company and to parliament.

LOOK'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

HE WAS KILLED WHILE DEFENDING HIS WIFE

PITTSBURG, April 12.—Thomas D. Kahno, a Mount Washington grocer, was shot and killed in his home to-day by three burglars while defending his wife, who was being chloroformed. A few hours later the rendezvous of the alleged felons was discovered and a force of detectives put to work on the case. In a desperate fight which followed City Detective Patrick E. Fitzgerald was instantly killed and one of the alleged robbers who gave his name as Edward Wright, who fired the shots that killed Fitzgerald, was badly wounded. Two male and two female, alleged members of the robber gang, were arrested and diamonds and other booty worth from $3,000 to $4,000 recovered. The whole of the gang is believed to be in custody and the detectives have evidence that the men are responsible for the numerous burglaries of the past month or two in and around this city.

The wounded prisoner was removed to Mercy Hospital, where, it is said, he may recover, although shot three times. The others arrested gave their names as Robert Wilcox and his wife Jennie; B. B. Wright, a brother of the alleged murderer, and a woman said to be his wife. They were taken to central station, where it was learned that all were from Chicago. Wilcox is said to be known in that city as "Kid" Wilcox.

PIMPLES.

These Troublesome, Disfiguring Blemishes can be Removed by the all Powerful Blood Purifying Burdock Blood Bitters.

The nasty little pimples that come on the face and other parts of the body are simply indications that the blood is out of order and requires purifying.

They are little irritating reminders to you that you need a course of treatment with Burdock Blood Bitters.

When B.B.B. makes your blood pure then the pimples will vanish and your skin become soft and clear.

Here is evidence worth considering:

Mrs. Morrice Ketch, Bristol, Carleton Co., N.B., writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending Burdock Blood Bitters to every one troubled with pimples. I was for years that I would break out with them at times on my face and back. I tried all sorts of remedies, including doctors' medicine, but everything failed to cure me.

At last I heard of B.B.B. and thought I would try it.

When I had finished taking two bottles I felt a great deal better, so kept on using it until I had taken in all six bottles. It has completely and permanently removed every pimple from my body and I never felt better in my life than I do at the present time.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT AMHERST.

MURDOCK CUTCLIFF RESENTS BEING CALLED A "PUP."

AMHERST, April 12.—A most serious shooting affray took place here early this morning and as a consequence two young men are under the doctors' hands and another is in jail awaiting trial. It seems that for some time several young men boarders in the house of Mrs. Annie Weeks have been tormenting each other as to their respective young ladies. From friendly joking the affair took a more serious turn until last evening over the tea table James McKenzie and Seymour Fisher had rather a sharp argument. After McKenzie left the room Fisher's brother Camillo came in and the affair was repeated to him. Therefore the Fisher boys left the house for the evening. Camillo asked Seymour if he was going up to see the pups before he went out, referring to the other boarders. This morning, when Camillo came in to breakfast, Murdock Cutcliff asked him if he (Fisher) meant him as one of the pups. Fisher said he did, whereupon Cutcliff drew off and struck him. Fisher immediately drew a revolver from his pocket and aimed point blank at Cutcliff, who struck the revolver down. The bullet entered the fleshy part of his (Cutcliff's) thigh, following the curve of the leg, coming out about three inches below the abdomen quite close to the femoral artery. McKenzie and Leon Rockwell hearing the fracas came into the hall and undertook to take the revolver from Fisher, but not before it was again discharged, the bullet entering Rockwell's ankle, striking the bone. The bullet was split, one part entering, removed from the back of the ankle, the other passing up, is still embedded in the flesh. Dr. McDougall was summoned and attended the wounded men. Although serious he does not anticipate danger. All the participants are employees in the Robb Engineering Co.'s works, Fisher being under foreman in the machine shops, and all belong to respectable families. Fisher is a son of Rev. Mr. Fisher, a Methodist minister in the Nova Scotia conference. He is now confined in jail awaiting preliminary examination. Rockwell is a son of M. T. Rockwell, of Amherst shore. Cutcliff belongs to Prince Edward Island.

Corn Sowing

Is a process excited by vanity, backed up by good tight boots—you may lack the vanity but you have the good tight boots—you may wear any size boots you please up to three sizes too small, if you use Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor. Druggists sell it.

The modern woman complained that she was being discriminated against.

"Now there was the Gordon Medusa!" she exclaimed. "You endowed her with such gifts that when her enemies came into her presence they turned to stone!"

"Well, you've got no kick coming!" retorted fate, with affected asperity. "For whenever your enemies pass you they turn to rubber!"

At this the modern woman flew into a rage and declared that she would not be put off with a mere evasion.—Detroit Journal.

AN APPEAL TO THE COLD BLOOD—ED FOR HELP.

ARE YOU A MEMBER OF A TEMPERANCE ORGANIZATION? IF NOT WITH WHOM DO YOU STAND, AND FOR WHAT?

FRIENDS, CANADIANS, COUNTRYMEN:

Lend your ears. Do not strike straight from the shoulder between the eyes, nor like Peter lop off an ear. That would not prove the accusation we make false. We have been asked to write those who are not active members of some Temperance Order for help. We speak honest convictions, we say that the person who is not active in such an organization is shirking payment of an honest debt, doing even worse, far worse, than that.

Divisions languish because men and women of sterling worth do not take hold. Such persons must bear the odium attached to the offences named. Though in the eyes of the world an upright citizen. Though you may hate with intense scornful hate vice and iniquity. Though you are generous to a fault, you may be withal a seducer and a hypocrite. What do you say? Irrational! No time to listen to such ravings! As a Canadian, in the name of all that is sacred, we adjure you to hear our pleading. We have brought a serious charge against you. We will prove it. We have a message for you. For your own sake, for Canada's sake, for the sake of your day and generation, for the sake of generations unborn, we crave attention. Choose ye! choose ye this day whom ye will serve. Listen! through the centuries hear that agonized prayer, the universe thrills with sympathy, the veil of the temple is rent in twain the foundations of the earth quake, angels cover their face in holy awe—"Father forgive them for they know not what they do!" Aye! "They know not what they do." The agony is none the less real for the ignorance. The sins of ignorance carry with them the inevitable consequence, call with inexorable demand for expiation.

Your dwelling in flames, your nearest of kin in danger, you would do your utmost to extinguish the fire, cry aloud for help. Coward or imbecile would otherwise be proper epithets to apply. Suppose some one poured oil on the flames what should you do? Over seventeen billions (17,000,000,000) have been betrayed, cast despairing victims on Alcohol's ghastly pyre. More than enough to people seventeen worlds like ours damned by the power of alcohol. By the power of the gospel of Christ, one convert, in the name of christianity one thousand souls drugged and dragged to perdition. Annually 180,000 consigned to a drunkard's grave. Victims of the fires of alcoholic appetite upon which a horrid ogre is pouring oil. Victims of that reptile which bith like a serpent and stings like an adder which a horrid ogre is protecting and propagating. Where is the ogre? What name does it bear? Citizen! "thou art the man."

Lord Shaftesbury said: "I am satisfied unless they existed we should be immersed in such an ocean of immorality, violence, and sin as would make this country uninhabitable." England would have been uninhabitable, swallowed up by an ocean of vice only for the existence of the temperance societies. Numerically small. Held up to contempt, often opposed by mistaken lovers of morality, yet here is the unimpeachable testimony of one of the greatest philanthropic students of social problems ever known—"The more I travel over the length and breadth of England, the more I see the absolute and indispensable necessity of temperance organizations." Those who did and those who did not belong to the societies were equally responsible before God. Responsible for what? For individual culture of good, avoidance of evil habits and practices! Yes! But much more. The temperance societies saved England from a flood of pollution. It was not a village, town or city in danger. It was a nation's salvation from the drunkard's doom. Not a lightning flash of danger averted, but eternal condemnation. Those who belonged to the societies labored to avert immorality and sin, the others by their ignorance or indifference invited it and are convicted just the same as if the flood had prevailed. The first were workers with God. The others consciously or unconsciously, intentionally or carelessly, worked with the enemy of souls.

What about the ocean of immorality, violence and sin to-day? Are the fountains of this great deep drying up? FRIENDS, CANADIANS, COUNTRYMEN KINGS, BY DIVINE RIGHT, SOVEREIGNS crowned, ordained of God—in other words, citizens of this Dominion, dwellers in its cities, towns and villages yours is the responsibility. You cannot escape the obligation. The destiny of the nation, the character of the influence it exerts within and without its borders are matters of individual concern. "Curse ye Merozi!" may be changed into Curse ye Britain! Curse ye Canada; Curse ye any of its cities, towns and villages. There may not be a rum shop within a thousand miles. You may only know of drunkenness as a remote evil. You are a partner in the rum business. You are an integral part of the only energy capable of controlling it. You lend that energy to promote and protect it. Unless you have exhausted all the rights and prerogatives of citizenship against the liquor traffic you are a silent partner in all its iniquities, a sharer with Judas Iscariot in the price of blood. Listen to Lord Shaftesbury's words and heed the suggestions they contain. If you would not be an accomplice in the "gigantic crime of crimes," an ally of the most colossal swindler, the cruellest murderer, the subtlest of soul seducing criminals that ever existed, then keep in your mind the words of Burke: "When bad men combine the good must associate or fall one by one a pitiable sacrifice in a contemptible struggle." If you would escape this great condemnation you must ever remember that Christ's summary of Christian duty. Responsibility not only to God, but to God and the State for the duties of citizenship. Each citizen? Nay! all capable of influencing others in the slightest are responsible for the "gigantic crime of crimes." Government is the guardian of the rights, the civil and religious liberties for which our forefathers bled. The life blood of good government is a warm, living, healthy public sentiment. You are, if true to your God, your Country, your Home, a creator, a guardian of this sentiment. The liquor traffic in our province has tried to monopolize the press, has expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in other places for the same purpose. It is raising $1,000,000 in Canada to fight prohibition sentiment and safeguard its own destructive power. Sir Wm. Harcourt says: It is a poison in politics as well as in society." Lord Rosebery says: "If government does not control the traffic, the traffic will control the government. Cardinal Manning said:

"the foundations of the State are sinking." Woolsey says: "The saloon with all the flower of hell's feudal chivalry holds the center, graven helmeted with federal laws, and in chain mail of statutes and ordinances interwoven, rich beyond computation, hungry beyond any dream of gluttony, cruel past the imaginings of any terror—whose madmen kill each other in the name of friendship, whose murderers strip the dead and hunt the soul to death. Breeder of wife beaters, mother killers, brutes to whom rape is playful, and nameless criminals of high and low degree * * * After 50 years of education, evangelization, and legislation, the saloon is commander-in-chief of our political forces. It holds its place by virtue of owning a controlling interest in each of the ruling parties and the church vote is in the deal."
