-The feast of St. Ann was celebrated at Buctouche on Sunday in a very impressive manner. The day was a perfect one and the feast was attended by upwards of 4,000 people. Large numbers were pre sent from Albert and Westmorland, including over 200 Indians. In the morning High Mass was celebrated. The church was crowded to the doors, hundreds'being unable to obtain admission. At this service Rev. Father Pacifique, a capuchin Monk from Restigouche, preached a serof the congregation. There were ten secured to assist in harvesting the North priests in attendance in the procession west grain crop, which, he says, is phe gotten by all.

ty wedding took place at Harcourt on Wednesday, 24th inst., in the Presbyterian Church at 10 o'clock a m., when Leonard Barrett, of Joggins Mines, N. S., and Miss Jennie, daughter of Thes. Ingiam, were married by the Rev. Mr. Wheeler. The groom was supported by his brother, while the bride's sister acted as bridesmaid. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The bride looked very pretty in a suit of white cashmere with white satin and pearl trimmings and white chiffon hat to match. She carried a large bouquet of white roses. After the ceremony the bridal couple returned to the bride's home where, with many invited guests, they partook of a sumptuous repast, after which the couple left on the noon train for their future home, Joggins Mines The bride's travelling suit was of steel gray cloth with Eton jacket opening over white silk shirt waist, with light straw hat. The presents were numerous. The bride will be missed very much as she was liked by all who knew her. Their many friends wish them every suc-

PORTLAND, Me., July 29 .- The most ingeniously arranged hiding place for in toxicating liquors unearthed by Sheriff Pearson's liquor deputies in many months was found this afternoon in John H. Thompson's barber shop on Commercial street. The officers had examined the walls and were about to give up the search when a hidden spring in the ceiling caused a section of the sheathing to loosen and slowly descend. When the automatic contrivance had concluded its operation there was a short ladder leading through a hole in the ceiling. In the dark room above were several boxes of liquor, 152 half pint bottles, six pints and 13 quarts. Thompson was arrested and the liquor confiscated.

Mr. Tupper gave an interesting and detailed account of conditions at present in our best western lands, and the narrative pictured brightly the prosperity which is there. This is his first trip to the maritime provinces, and on his arrival in St. John it was the first time he had ever beheld the ocean.

The park has been put in good condition and some good trotting is expected.

THE SULPHITE FIBRE INDUSTRY (Chatham World)

The suspension of the Maritime Sulphite Fibre Company does not mean that the capital invested. It means nothing of the kind. There is a big profit on sulphite pulp, especially on a good quality town, bal.; sch. Morning Star, Arsineau, of the article, and a world-wide market for it. The trouble with the Maritime Sulphite Company is not that it has not been operating at a good profit, but because all its earnings have been swallowed up by its interest account. Its works have cost at least twice as much as they should have cost, expensive plants having been put in and torn out by successive managers in a most wasteful manner, and the capital, instead of having been put in by the stockholders, has been borrowed at too high a rate of interest for an industrial establishment to pay. The mill pays, but does not pay enough to keep the interest account square and leave anything for the company. The Dominion pulp will which was built economically, and has been managed as an industrial establishment rather than as an experimental station for testing the merits of different sulphite plants is paying its owners good dividends, and a new mill, if built and managed by practical men, would, no doubt, do likewise.

The Maritime Sulphite Fibre Company's mill, now in the possession of the Royal Trust Company, acting on behalf of the bondholders, will soon be sold, no doubt, and then operated profitably. It has suspended because it cannot pay bank a cross on a na f b clion dollars, but it might pay good dividends on an investment of, say, three hundred thousand.

JULY 29 .- The having season is now at its liveliest and the crop is at least fifty per cent. better than that of last year. The unusual heat of the past fortnight somewhat retarded the operations of the farmers, but the bulk of the hay is now safely harvested.

On Monday, July 22, Miss Annie St. Peter was married to Cyril Nowlan, of Buctouche. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Belliveau, and later a sumptuous tea was served at the home of the bride's parents to a large number of invited friends. The young coupte will reside in Butcouche.

Mr. Alfred Bourgeois has opened up at a popular stand, a fruit and candy store. In this diversion from his chosen vocation of teaching, Mr. Bourgeois has an opportunity of improving a large field in which he is without a competitor. It is in the interests of both our genial friend and of the young people of the town, that this store be enlarged and patronized.

The feast of St. Anne was on Friday celebrated here with unusual pomp and ceremony. Rev. J. A. L'Archeveque had a very elaborate programme arranged and most successfully carried out, consisting of course, of ceremonies and devotions. A large number of priests assisted, while an immense concourse of people attended not only from this parish and those immediately surrounding, but even from distant towns and villages. The weather
