THREE VIEWS OF MARRIAGE

When a modern maiden marries, in his heart grim fear he carries, "With," he thinks, "our income small, we don't want such gifts at all. There's that grand piano—gracious! That involves a house more spacious; than that dressing bag, alas, that can only go first-class! Silver center dish, and cup, too, how can we such things live up to! Every present of pretence means for me increased expense. Would that I such gifts could ban when I marry," gloats the maiden.

When a modern bachelor marries, in his heart grim fear he carries, "With," he thinks, "our income small, we don't want such gifts at all. There's that grand piano—gracious! That involves a house more spacious; than that dressing bag, alas, that can only go first-class! Silver center dish, and cup, too, how can we such things live up to! Every present of pretence means for me increased expense. Would that I such gifts could ban when I marry," gloats the maiden.

When a man and maiden marry hearts of lead their friends all carry; custom, as they know, demands costly presents at their hands; ostentation, too, coerces, so they empty out their purses, fearful lest their names be missed from the always published list, but in private, in a passion, they denounce the sordid fashion crying in most bitter strain: "Only fancy, fleeced again! Bah! 'Tis an event to dread when a man and maiden wed."—London Truth.

MARITIME PROVINCE NOTES.

St. John Sun: Between 9 and 10 o'clock Tuesday night, May 28th, a young man at present boarding on Duke street, attempted suicide by taking one of the most marvellous mixtures ever concocted. On account of the circumstances surrounding the incident, names are withheld from publication. It appears that the young fellow, who is a laborer, has lately been worrying about a death which occurred in his family, and this, together with other minor matters, prompted the deed which might have terminated fatally. He is not an educated man, otherwise the mixture taken might have included some more powerful drugs than those used, for on the shelf along with the other bottles were two with creosote and carbolic acid. The man was, however, unable to read the labels, and, consequently missed the ones which would have proved most effective. The mixture he did take was made up of honey, baby's spring medicine, cochineal, castoria, gin, castor oil, ammonia and menthol liniment. A doctor and clergyman were at once sent for, and with a dose of castor oil and very little trouble the young man soon recovered from the effects of his intended poison. He was yesterday able to go to work, and is now feeling quite well.

News reached Charlottetown last Wednesday of a sad drowning accident at Grand River, resulting in the death of Mrs. May. She had been in the habit of drawing water from a brook and while bailing lost her balance. Being old and feeble she fell face downwards and was unable to extricate herself. She was found in that position shortly after the accident. An inquest was held and the verdict was given in accordance with these facts.

Halifax, N. S., 'Les.' Harvie claims Dalhousie, N. B., as his home."

The death occurred Thursday morning of Janet E., wife of Edgar Cowan, assistant inspector of weights and measures, and youngest daughter of the late Cornelius Graham, at her home, 183 Main street St. John. Mrs. Cowan had been seriously ill for a number of months. She was fifty-two years of age and leaves two sons, two daughters and two sisters.

Thomas Roach dropped dead Thursday morning at his home in Nappan, N. S., while driving cattle from the barn. Deceased was a son of the late John Roach, one of the earliest settlers in Nappan, was 71 years of age, and at one time owned the land now occupied by the government experimental farm. He was one of the oldest justices of the peace for Cumberland county, and also a school commissioner for the county. He married Miss Bishop of Antigonish and leaves one daughter and three sons, Miss Emily Roach, Dr. Edwin Roach, junior, house surgeon in Victoria (Montreal) hospital; John Roach, Sackville academy; and Frank Roach, at home. Brothers to deceased late Coun. John E. Roach, Robt. D. Roach, postmaster of Maccan, and Dr. Roach, of Tata nagouche.

Mrs. Harding, of Montague, P. E. I., was lodged in Georgetown jail a few days ago on the charge of breaking the windows of D. J. McLean's store at Montague. These she broke with an axe, and threatened similar violence to windows in one other store. The woman is said to be insane. Mr. McLean's store is not a questionable resort, or Mrs. Harding might be mistaken for a disciple of Carrie Nation.

An article in the Hartland Advertiser says that Mrs. Geo. Freeman of Bridgewater, Me., gives the details of the murder, 30 years ago, of an old man named Sargeant, who disappeared about that time. According to Mrs. Freeman's story the old man came to his death at the hands of herself, her husband and brother-in-law. The body was cut up and put in a deep well in the vicinity of Bridgewater. Steps are being taken to have the well opened up.

Moncton Transcript: A telegram was received in the city, Thursday, by Mr. George Doucett, of the I. C. R., announcing the death of his brother, Mr. Peter Doucett, which occurred at Waterville, Me., Thursday afternoon, as the result of an accident. No particulars are to hand, but as far as can be ascertained deceased was riding a wheel along the streets of Waterville when he was run over by a team. The accident happened on Monday and the family here was notified by letter. At the time his injuries were not considered fatal, but subsequent complications due to internal injuries resulted in his demise. Deceased was a native of Moncton and was thirty-one years old. He was a son of the late Gilbert Doucett of this city, and his widowed mother, two brothers and a sister now reside here. He worked for several years in the Moncton I. C. R. boiler shop and left for Peabody, Mass., a little over two years ago, where he located and married a young lady, a native of Harcourt, N. B. About a year ago he secured a position in the shops at Waterville, Me., and moved to that place. He leaves a widow and a little child. His brother left on the C. P. R. Friday for Waterville to bring the body home for interment.

A large shark was seen in the harbor at Sydney on Sunday. It was quite close to the shore and attracted considerable attention. The presence of sharks at this season of the year is rather remarkable, and is probably accounted for by the large schools of smelts and herring that have been seen in the harbor during the past few days.

The trial of Henry Kear and Thomas Carey in the O'Connor tragedy, at Guysboro, N. S., was finished Thursday afternoon. After a 30 minute address by the judge to the jury, the latter retired and in an hour returned with a verdict of manslaughter, and a recommendation of mercy. The trial excited much interest and the court was packed with people. The prisoners were sentenced Friday.

Some time ago O'Connor was found dead one afternoon on the roadside some time after he had started out in a team with the accused.

Moncton Transcript: A meeting of tonorial artists was held Thursday night and it was decided to close their shops at 18 o'clock on Monday night and 20 o'clock on Tuesday nights, Thursdays and Fridays, and at 21 o'clock on Wednesday's. The price of hair cuts has been raised to 20 cents. Against the latter increase, as an imposition, there is a general kick on the part of their patrons, unless it be charged on Saturdays.

Millions of dead smelts are lying on the banks of the Miramichi and on the islands and the river is full of others just able to move.—Newcastle Advocate.

Captain William E. Kennedy was instantly killed at the Dominion Coal Company's pier at Louisburg, C. B., Thursday afternoon by a fall of coal. Kennedy was working in the coal packet of the pier when several tons of coal slid and fell, smothering him to death. It was nearly half an hour before he could be taken out. Captain Kennedy used to be mate of the schooner J. B. Saint, was 48 years of age and leaves a widow and family of seven children.

Uriah Johnson, an elderly farmer and merchant of Port Phillip, N. S., on the Northport and Pugwash road, committed suicide Thursday morning by hanging himself by means of a skate strap tied to a bed post in his room. After adjusting the strap to his neck he had evidently sat down and strangled himself to death, as he was in that position, with his back against the bed post, when found, life being extinct. He had been in a very melancholy condition for some time, and of late his mental condition bordered on insanity. He leaves a widow and six children. Dr. Dakin of Pugwash held an inquest, at which the verdict was that the deceased committed suicide by strangling himself.

MAIN RIVER.

MAY 30.—My work being completed for the afternoon and as it is too early to dress for the evening, I will spend the next half hour in very profitable employment.

It strikes me very forcibly that there are two "orders of the day." Such a thing is possible in this, the year which marks the opening of the new century. Therefore I shall make the assertion—farming and housecleaning are the order of the present day. In the visible future I will consult the tailors and dressmakers before I presume to tell the public the "order of the day."

Dances are too common now to receive mention.

Mayflower's newsy items are certainly faultless, but that does not indicate that the writer is so. He observes that "Greenhorn was a little too smart," but he has reached the other extreme by not being smart enough. If he had passed at "the golden mean between the two extremes," it would have occurred to him that the gentleman in question was quite capable of correcting Greenhorn's assertion if he desired to do so, and would perhaps be more grateful to the writer if he had chosen some other item of more interest than unnecessarily correcting a brother correspondent's statements to fill in that space.

The young men are continually arriving from and departing for various places which seem to afford more work and better wages.

Boys, save your money till the concert comes off in our school. It will be worth waiting for. The date has not been definitely set but I'll venture to say June will be barely in her teens when you will have the pleasure of listening to our Main River girls and boys.

My communication is interrupted by the sound of the approaching mail wagon for I must hand these notes to the driver as I dislike the idea of mailing them at the P. O. Hope I may be able to write longer next time. Would like to see Greenhorn and Mayflower in next week's issue.

AN REVOIR, INDUSTRIOUS HOUSEWIFE.

DEATH OF MR. E. SINCLAIR.

NEWCASTLE, N. B., May 31.—Mr. Edward Sinclair, the well known Miramichi lumberman, whose serious illness during the past ten weeks has caused his friends to despair of his recovery, passed away about eight o'clock last evening at his home in Bridgetown. The news of Mr. Sinclair's death does not come in the form of a surprise to his friends who were aware of his critical condition, but the deep regret felt by all was none the less sincere. He was taken to Montreal by his son-in-law, Dr. Ferguson, of Moncton, some weeks ago, and a consultation held by the most eminent medical authority there in regard to his condition, but no improvement resulted. Members of his family were summoned and have been home for the past few weeks.

Mr. Sinclair was one of the best known men in New Brunswick and was very popular with all classes. He was one of the largest lumber merchants on the north shore. His home was at Bridgetown, three miles above Newcastle, where he has spent the greater part of his life. He was born in Douglastown and spent some years in Newfoundland. He was in the 60th year of his age.

Mrs. Sinclair, three sons and three daughters survive him. The sons are William, who has been engaged in lumbering in California, but who has been at home since last fall; Edward Hubert, who served with the Royal Canadian artillery in South Africa, now also at home, and Dr. Oliver Willard Sinclair, of Eureka, California, who arrived home two weeks ago. The daughters are Mrs. (Dr.) Ferguson, of Moncton, and Misses Flossie and Helen, unmarried.

Up to the time of his illness Mr. Sinclair had been a man of robust constitution and his rather sudden collapse was a painful shock to his friends. His death was due to brain trouble, and he had been unconscious the last two days.

YOU CAN MAKE THIS TEST

You can find out if the kidneys are clogged, deranged and diseased. Have you backache or a weak, lame back? Do you have pain or difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate? Are there deposits like brick dust in the urine after it has stood for 24 hours? If you have any of these symptoms not a moment should be lost in obtaining Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the world's greatest kidney cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

GENERAL NEWS.

Judge Craig, of Stoudsburg, Pa., on Tuesday, had a queer martial tangle to straighten out. Mrs. Phoebe Rice sued her husband, Benjamin Rice, for desertion. It was discovered that Mrs. Rice had been married previously to her marriage with Rice. Her first husband had not been divorced, but, like his wife, had also remarried. It was also discovered that Rice had entered into the matrimonial state before he espoused Mrs. Phoebe Rice, and he had not been divorced from Mrs. Rice No. 1, who had also remarried. Judge Craig decided the desertion matter by dividing the costs.

At Boston, on Thursday, Robert McEwen, an oiler on the Cunarder Ultonia, was before the court for smuggling four suits of clothes ashore. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $400, and in default of that amount went to jail. This will keep him there but thirty days, as according to the law he will be brought up from the jail at the expiration of that time, and, upon taking the poor debtor's oath before the commissioner, will be discharged.

Blenheim Tribune: Michael Clary, of Chatham township, Ont., sold a load of hogs last week, receiving therefor $133.75. When he went home he placed the money in the back of the stove for safe keeping. He got up the next morning and kindled the fire. Some time afterwards he thought about his money. He was $133 out. Seventy-five cents was all that was left.

Prince Rupert of Bavaria, eldest son of the eldest son of the regent of Bavaria, has just become the father of a boy, who in course of time will, if he lives, become king of Bavaria, and, according to the Jacobites on both sides of the Atlantic, the de jure sovereign of the British empire. For Prince Rupert's descent from the Stuart kings of England is less remote than that of King Edward. The latter has to go back to King James in order to establish the connection, whereas Prince Rupert need only go back to King Charles. Prince Rupert's wife, the young mother, is a daughter of that oculist, Duke Charles Theodore of Bavaria, who is a brother of the late Empress of Austria.

The American woman suffragists will take no stock in such mild birds as hens or even warblers as emblems, but instead they will have a screaming eagle. Alice Blackwell, of Boston, daughter of the woman's rights leader Lucy Stone, in an address to her associates at Chicago a few days ago, during a reception to delegates en route to Minneapolis, said: "Hereafter the American woman must cease to be a hen, which could do no better than cackle and scratch. She must cease to be a mere nightingale that can only feed her young and warble. She must be the eagle mother, and her slogan must be: 'Woe betide the male chickenhawk, who swoop upon her offspring!'"

Now lettuce must go. The Italian bacteriologist, Dr. Ceresole, has demonstrated that lettuce and other vegetables used raw as salads may be the means of introducing into the human organism the eggs of a variety of disease germs and parasites. After rinsing some heads of lettuce under a water faucet in the approved culinary fashion, Dr. Ceresole washed them with sterilized water. Microscopic examination of this water revealed the presence of a formidable array of parasites. By this token it is certain that salads form an excellent means of propagating epidemics of typhoid and cholera.

A despatch from Aden, dated Tuesday, says that it is reported that the Mad Mulah in Northern Somaliland has made an alliance with the Majertain tribe, which will enable him to lead eighty thousand men against the British. If the feint in the direction of Ber is successful, the British expedition will have to evade the country of the Majertain tribe. There will be heavy fighting, as the tribe is amply supplied with rifles and ammunition, and the lines of communication with the British are liable to be broken at any time. At last accounts all the members of the expedition were well. The heat is intense.

DISEASES OF CHILDREN

Measles, Scarlet Fever and the many exhausting diseases of childhood, frequently leave the little sufferers in a weakened debilitated condition of health from which it is difficult to rescue them except by the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This preparation is admirably suited to the requirements of children, and has such an invigorating and restorative influence on the system as to make weak, puny children healthy, plump and active.

A COSTLY AND BLOODY VICTORY.

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FOUR BRITISH KILLED AND WOUNDED IN A BATTLE WITH BOERS.

LONDON, May 31.—Kitchener reports to the War Office, under to-day's date of Pretoria:—"General Dixon's force at Vladfontein was attacked yesterday by Delarey's forces and there was severe fighting. The enemy was finally driven off with heavy loss, leaving thirty-five dead. I regret our casualties were also severe. Our killed and wounded numbered one hundred and seventy-four. Four officers were killed. The officers were Capt. Armstrong, Lieuts. Noke, Champion and McDougall.

SCORES OF DEAD LEFT ON THE FIELD.

LONDON, May 31.—On the anniversary of Lord Roberts entry into Johannesburg comes the news of severe fighting and heavy losses within forty miles of the gold reef city. The battle at Vladfontein on the Durban Johannesburg railway reported by Kitchener to-day is the most serious since Clement's reverse at Gadnot. The Vladfontein-Magaliesburg garrison of Vladfontein, apparently composed of Yeomanry, had 174 men put out of action. That the assailants came to close quarters and suffered heavily is shown by the number of dead left on the field.

THE LATEST REPORT RE GENERAL FRENCH.

LONDON, May 31.—The narrow escape of Gen. Knox, when the train was attacked near Kroonstan, has revived interest in General French, who was reported captured by the Boers two months ago. Inquiry leads to the conclusion that French broke down physically in pursuit of the Boers, but did not fall into their hands. An Amsterdam correspondent says Kruger has just received from Botha an official report to the effect that French was not captured. At the War Office the statement was made to-day that French was given sick leave two months ago, and took an ocean voyage. He has since been in Cape Town and will soon resume duty.

THE HACKING COUGH.

One of the meanest things to get rid of is a hacking cough. There is apparently no cause for it. No soreness, no irritation at first; but the involuntary effort of the muscles of the throat to get rid of something is almost constant. Of course, with many coughs is a habit, but it is a bad habit, and should be stopped. When you realize this and try to stop it, you find you can't, for by that time there is an actual irritation, which will never get better without treatment.

It is a curious thing that nearly all treatment for cough actually makes the cough worse. Then, too, most medicines for cough have a bad effect in the stomach. This is especially true of so called cough remedies that contain a narcotic. The true treatment for cough is one that heals the irritated surfaces. This is what Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam does. It protects the throat also while the healing process is going on. When this remedy was first compounded our old men were young boys, and all this time it has been doing a steady work of healing throats. The most obstinate hacking cough will quickly show the effect of the Balsam. People who have been trying for years to break up the mean little cough, will find a sure friend in this old-time soothing compound made from the barks and gums of trees. All druggists sell Adamson's Botanic Balsam. 25 cents.

OVERDID IT.

"This man," said the secretary, "has overdone it. He'll not get his picture in the papers on any such lie as this."
"What is it?" asked the president of the patent medicine company.
"He writes that since taking three bottles of our wonderful remedy his hearing has improved so that he can understand every word in comic opera."—Indianapolis Press.
