CANADIAN LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., U. S. A., July 19. Lord Pauncefoot has been giving out a most interesting talk in London in regard to the Nicaraguan Canal, reciprocity in general between the United States and Canada and Newfoundland. From his words it is evident that he believes that it is possible to adjust all the points in dispute between the Americans and their British cousins, although he frankly admits that the process will be slow and tedious. He said: "On the canal subject, we are now in the middle of the negotiations, which, although they have not yet reached any tangible result, show good promise. Naturally, I do not disclose the details, but I may say that when I return to the United States, at the end of October, I hope to take with me a Nicaraguan treaty that will meet the views of both countries. Mr. Kinley and the British Cabinet. I happen to know that Mr. Hay has convinced the Senate, both the Senate proposed to support him and the Senate created with other motives, and you can be sure that whatever is agreed upon between the two governments will meet the approval of the Senate. This is merely common sense, as, of course, there is no use wasting time over treaties which the Senate is likely to refuse. I really believe the differences of opinion between the two nations are capable of settlement in an agreement fair to both. If I could finish my delightful labors in the United States by accomplishing this end I should indeed feel grateful. But the only way this can be attained is step by step, with proposition followed by counter-proposition, and eventually a happy medium. It is slow, but I hope it is sure. If I thought anything could be done before October, I would return prior to that date, but I don't believe that anything would be gained." Coming to the subject of reciprocity, Lord Pauncefoot stated that he was conferring with the Marquis of Lansdowne, about a number of treaties with this country, which he expected would lead to good results. He said that he expected the High Joint Commission to meet again some time in the fall. He did not agree with the opinion that the sessions already held had resulted in no good, as the Joint Commission had threshed out many points of difference between Canada and the United States, although the inability to agree as to the Alaska boundary and the sad death of Lord Herschell appeared to nullify its labours. "I should hope," he said, "to include Newfoundland in a reciprocity agreement, making its interests identical with those of Canada, although so far as Newfoundland is concerned it is all a question of fish, and the Gloucester fishermen do not always see things in just the same light as the people of Newfoundland. In spite of the attitude of Canada toward Newfoundland, and in spite of the trade difficulties of both Canada and Newfoundland in dealing with the United States, I by no means despair of effecting some sort of reciprocity scheme, which, with other treaties, will bring Great Britain and the United States to even a better basis of common understanding than exists to-day."

Reports show that the biological survey of the great lakes, instituted by the United States Fish Commission in 1898, which has proven of so much benefit to commerce in general is now being carried on by this department, under the charge of Professor H. S. Jennings of the University of Michigan and Professor Henry B. Ward of the University of Nebraska. The part of the work under Professor Jennings will have headquarters at Put-in-Bay, while investigations will be carried on at such points as are most favorable. The lines of research marked out by the physiological relations of the lake plants to the water and substratum; the distribution of plants and soils at the west end of Lake Erie; the breeding habits of the sturgeon; a statistical study of the whitefish and wall-eyed pike; a biology and study of the feeding habits of the introduced carp, with especial reference to their supposed destruction of the eggs of other fish.

The suggestion has been made that Admiral Dewey should be given command of a large squadron, comprising the best types of our new ships, to be present at the coronation of King Edward VII. The Navy Department has not thus far taken up the question of naval representation at this event, but the suggestion concerning Admiral Dewey and a large squadron of fine ships meets with general approval among high naval officials.

United States Consul Smith reports to the State Department from Victoria that a surveying party has located the landing site of the British Pacific telegraph cable (which is to connect the Dominion of Canada with the Australian Confederation) on Kelp Bay, something over 100 miles from Victoria. The location is described as a good harbor with 12 fathoms of water close to the shore, landlocked, with a bottom of ooze that will furnish good protection for the wire. Work has already begun in England on the cables which will be 5,834.5 miles in length, the longest yet constructed. It will run from Vancouver Island to Fanning Island, a distance of 3,337 miles, thence to the Fiji Islands, thence to Norfolk Island, and thence to Queensland. According to the contract, the whole cable is to be laid and working by January 1, 1903. Unforeseen disaster excepted, those engaged in the work believe this great enterprise, which will cost $10,000,000, will be completed at the date promised.

E. G. Siggers, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C., reports the following patents granted to inventors in the Dominion of Canada, July 16, 1901. He will mail copy of specifications and drawings of any patent for 10 cents in stamps: William Cox, Toronto, Motor gear-case for electric cars; Samuel Hampton, Rapid City, Rotary plow; Albert P. Jones, Toronto, Skate; Robert Long, Toronto, Siphon filler; Robert L. McIntyre, Toronto, Automatic fire-shutter; Edwin Rollin, Belleville, Cutter-bar for mowers or reapers; William J. Still, Toronto, Storage battery.

M.S. EXPERIENCE DURING THE STORM.

Not seeing any notes from this part of the parish, and a place of some importance at the present time, so I am told, I thought I would write something. Last Tuesday night we had one of the heaviest electrical storms I ever witnessed, it was terrible; to say my room was as light as day is no comparison, and sun is only an approximation. The heat was suffocating, I had to change my room and put on a light suit which consisted of a cotton handkerchief, and yet the room was that warm that I sweat and sweat and sweat until I could sweat no sweeter. The flashes of lightning were grand to see, one could imagine that all the lost spirits in Hades had broken loose and were trying to regain their lost position, and that the whole force of Heaven's artillery were called out to quell the insurrection. Again you would think it was a bird's eye view of the day of judgement, and once I thought I might be translated and like Elijah, go up in a chariot of fire (that is the course I intend taking when I do go). About mid-night my room was charged with so much electricity that I began to feel uneasy and thought as Paddy did when he was kicked down stairs, begorra, said he, this is a broad hint to leave. But how was that to be accomplished, it was fire inside and wind, water and fire out side, so I made up my mind to see a little smoke before running the gauntlet. I did not like the idea of looking for another boarding house at that hour of the night, as my next neighbor's house was a mile distant. However, darkness succeeded light, Egyptian darkness could not compare. I thought I would have to cut it up in chunks and throw it out of the window. I lit the lamp and had a general look round seeing if all were right, and not knowing for certain whether I was in body or out of it until I tramped on a nail. Oh, gee whittaker, I found I was in the body all right, and hobbled off to bed.

Raw, Flaming Eczema, Sale Rheum and Scald Head

The Dreadful Itching and Burning is Promptly Relieved and the Disease Thoroughly Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Mrs. A. McKnight, Kirkwall, Wellington County, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know what Dr. Chase's Ointment has done in a very bad case of eczema on our baby. We had tried any number of cures without any permanent relief, but from the hour we commenced using Dr. Chase's Ointment there was great relief, and the improvement continued, until there was complete cure. We think it the greatest of family ointments."

Mrs. R. Stoddard, Delhi, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with psoriasis or chronic eczema for twelve years; used many remedies during that time, but got no relief. Doctored with four or five doctors, but found no cure. I decided to try a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and before using half of the box found great relief. I have used about three boxes, and am now completely cured, and have recommended it to many others. It is the best I have ever used, and it is worth its weight in gold."

There is nothing to be compared with Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for the most obstinate and torturing skin disease. Its cures are often truly marvellous. 60c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

HORSES WANTED.

Calgary, N. W. T., 13 July, 1901. Hon. L. P. Farris, Commissioner for Agriculture, Fredericton. Dear Sir—I purpose going to New Brunswick the latter part of August, on dates hereafter fixed, to buy horses for H. M. Government as remounts for the army. I should be obliged if you would inform me of the most likely places in New Brunswick to find horses and the names of men who would collect them for inspection. My time will be limited and I can only visit two or three of the principal towns. The classes of horses I am buying are:—

- Artillery Horses, 15.1 to 15.2 1/2 hds., stout, blocky, active horses, quiet in harness. Cavalry Horses, 15.1 to 15.2 hds., quiet to ride. Infantry Cobs, 14.2 1/2 to 15 hds., quiet to ride. Ages 6 to 8 years old. No greys or collar marked horses will be accepted. I will esteem it a favor if you will make my visit as widely known as you can, so that the horses can be collected quickly when my dates are fixed. I am, Sir, Your obedient servant, H. S. Dent, Remount Officer, Canada.

If parties having for sale horses answering the above description will notify the Department of Agriculture, Fredericton, at once, they will be put in communication with the agents at the different points, which will probably be Woodstock, St. John, Fredericton, Moncton and Chatham. L. P. Farris, Commissioner for Agriculture.

PASSED 15 WORMS. I gave Dr. Low's Worm Syrup to my little girl two and half years old; the result was that she passed 15 round worms in five days. Mrs. B. Roy, Kilmanagh, Ont.

The pan-American circus, met with misfortune at Chatham on Thursday night. The evening performance had been finished and the animals and circus paraphernalia had all been loaded on the cars ready for a start to Boiestown. While the circus train was waiting on a siding for the time to pull out a gasoline lamp exploded in one of the cars. In an instant all was confusion, the burning gasoline covered almost everything in the car and so quickly did the fire spread that little could be done to stop its progress. The circus attendants fought the flames vigorously but before the fire was gotten under control three ponies had been roasted to death and two of the attendants were very badly burned. One of the ponies jumped from the car with both its eyes burned out. The car was a total wreck. Such material as was saved was loaded on another car and the circus started for Boiestown with but little delay.

His Method. The bell in the private office rang three times, and the man at the desk hastily reached for a dannel bandage, which he put around his neck. Then he arranged a sling in which to put one arm, nuzzled up his hair, drew down the corners of his mouth, got out of his chair and painfully limped toward the door.

"Mr. Smithkins?" inquired the well dressed man who opened it just at that moment. The man with the bandage gave a half suppressed groan and answered: "Yes; that's my name. What can I do for you?"

"You seem to be suffering," suggested the caller. "Suffering?" returned the other. "Do you think I'm doing this for fun? Do you suppose I bandage my throat for amusement, tie up my arm for sport and limp because I think it's graceful? And I've been in this way for six months. But what can I do for you?" "Fardon me," said the caller, backing out. "I'll call again some other time."

"It's some trouble," soliloquized the man with the bandage as he removed the harness and returned to his desk. "But experience has taught me that it is really the quickest way to discourage a life insurance agent and keep him discouraged. That fellow never will come back."

Appendicitis. "Appendicitis," said Dr. Abbe in an address before the New York Academy of Medicine, "has few rivals in the surgical field and takes rank today with typhoid, pneumonia and rheumatism in medical thought. Surely when the active surgeon of today can number 100 operations for diseased appendices yearly—and there are a dozen such men in New York and in other cities in the same proportion—we begin to grasp the importance of the subject and its menace to the community. "The public continues to ask the physician what was appendicitis formerly, and he answers: "Probably it passed under the description of "inflammation of the bowels" or "peritonitis." It is true that less than a generation ago numberless people in the course of summer travel were stricken with so called inflammation of the bowels or peritonitis and died. "Now we hear of no one so reported, but it is said, "He had an attack of appendicitis, was beyond the reach of a surgeon and died," or, "So-and-so had an attack of appendicitis, was operated upon and recovered." Hospital statistics show the same changes of tabulated diseases. It is merely a new name, not a new disease."

Nobody Paid Her Fare. A young woman got aboard a West Broad street car and discovered, to her humiliation, that her fare was missing when the conductor called. In a gruff manner the custodian of the car said he'd have to get the fare at once or the woman would have to walk. This declaration added to her embarrassment. The car was crowded. On her right sat a genial Irishman and on her left a well known bookkeeper. The bookkeeper and Irishman exchanged several meaningful glances. The conductor was about to pull the bell rope. The bookkeeper said he'd pay the fare as the young woman looked perfectly honest. The conductor repeated that he'd put the woman off. This aroused the Irishman, who said, "If you put the woman off, your funeral'll be tomorrow." Seeing a slight nervousness on the part of the conductor, he continued:

"How many people on this car want to attend the funeral of this conductor?" Several answered in the affirmative. The conductor grew excited and in the altercation that followed walked to the platform without securing the woman's fare. Wigs For Hire. "Men do not hire street wigs," said a New York wigmaker. "The man who wears a wig constantly owns it. But there are nevertheless many wigs hired out. Actors, for example, hire wigs, and wigs are rented for masqueraders and costume parties, and sometimes wigs are rented for surprises. So that after all wigs are included in the great list of things that can be hired, which list would be found, I fancy, to include pretty much everything that could be named."

An Estimate. Jack—That's a fine dog you have, Jim. Do you want to sell him? Jim—I'll sell him for $50. Jack—Is he intelligent? Jim (with emphasis)—Intelligent? Why, that dog knows as much as I do. Jack—You don't say so? Well, I'll give you 50 cents for him, Jim.—Exchange.

Clean Sydney. In Sydney the streets are thoroughly cleaned every night, and any one throwing refuse or waste material of any sort on the street is arrested and fined. All the kitchens in the larger residences are on the top floor, and all the clothes are dried on the roof. A cat may look the picture of personified innocence, but it is just as well to keep the door of the canary's cage closed. The musical instruments of the Greeks closely resemble those of Turkey and Syria.
