

Mother and Doctor Too

Until the doctor comes, and for minor ills and accidents, the mother must doctor her family. Tens of thousands of mothers have relied upon JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT, and have found it always reliable. It is used both externally and internally and it is the remedy for inflammation from any cause. Used continually for 90 years as a household remedy, its sustained popularity and increasing use every year are the best possible testimonials to its curative powers.

Johnson's ANODYNE LINIMENT

is of greatest value in treating colic, cramps, diarrhoea, cholera morbus, bites, bruises, burns, stings, chafing, colds, coughs, croup, catarrh, bronchitis, la grippe, lameness, muscle soreness and pain and inflammation in any part of the body. Sold in two size bottles, 25c. and 50c. The larger size is more economical. If your dealer hasn't it send to us. Ask first.

ABSTAINERS OF BIBLE TIMES.

What says the Bible upon the temperance question? It speaks in bold words against the use of wine, and teaches by the lives of noted abstainers that stimulants are not necessary, that without them labour can be arduous and prolonged. The men of brain force and muscular vigour never tasted wine. Let us borrow the wand of the witch of Endor and call up Samuel. Can we find a nobler specimen of a man or one who lived more intensely than he? He is an historian, writing down these sacred records when literature was young. He is the statesman who could either crown kings or chide them. He was the saint who kept near to God as "his right arm." He was the prophet through whose lips of fire Jehovah himself spoke. But Samuel kept his garments all unspotted from the sin of Noah and of Lot. He tasted neither wine nor strong drink. He touched not the fruit of the vine even in its harmless, unfermented shape.

Or let us call up Samson. The muscles of his brawny arms are like cords of steel. How he plays with the Philistines, carrying off their city gates upon his shoulder and pulling down the temple of their god! Even the jawbone of an ass, with his right hand clasping it, becomes as a scythe of steel, leaving its bloody swath behind it. But Samson was a total abstainer. No particle of his giant strength was drawn from the fruit of the vine.

Or let us call up Elijah, the stern eremite of the old dispensation, that champion of a forsaken faith. In one short day he builds his altar upon Carmel, challenging the priests of Baal to an ordeal of fire, and then at evening, when the strength of others is spent, he girds up his loins and runs before the royal chariot to Jezreel. And Elijah was an abstainer. So, too, was Daniel, who suffered no harm from refusing the royal wine. His face was fairer, reddier, and purer than the faces of the Babylonian youths who had not, as he, the courage to say "No."

Or let us make way for the rough Baptist as he comes from the desert. With what tremendous energy he wrought and spoke. What thunders were in his tones when the mere echoes of his voice shook the royal palace and made Herod tremble in his purple! But John was an abstainer; from his birth to his sharp death he did not know the taste of wine.—The Rev. Henry Burton.

CIGARETTES.

The increasing use of cigarettes by the youth of Canada is not a hopeful sign or an omen of healthy, robust manhood in coming generations. Very young boys, and, it is said, girls too, are becoming subject to the smoking habit, and the blight is on body and mind. We have on our statute books a law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors. Parents, school-teachers and law officers should take an interest in knowing that it is enforced.

A paragraph from a Japan paper will show what enlightened sentiment in the far East is proposing concerning young smokers. "The threatened bill for checking the 'vice of tobacco smoking' among the young has actually been introduced in the House of Representatives. Its introducer is Mr. Nemoto Sho, an influential member, and its provisions are that if any person of less than fourteen years of age is found smoking tobacco, the 'appurtenances' of the smoker shall be confiscated, and, in the event of a second offence, or of continued smoking after warning, a fine of from 10 sen to 1 yen may be imposed. Dealers wittingly selling tobacco in any form to young persons shall be liable to the same penalty."

We may add to the above a description given in The Good Health Magazine for October of the "snipe-shooters" of Chicago. Their work is intimately connected with the cigarette industry, and is to gather up the castaway stubs of cigarettes and cigars. It is their business to gather at least three pounds of stubs a day, for which they receive something to eat and miserable lodgings. It is estimated that there are picked up daily from the filth of the streets of Chicago, by boys working under one man, twelve hundred pounds of cigar stubs, to be re-made into cigarettes. David Paulson, M. D., is the authority for this statement.—Guardian.

A BOY'S STAND TAKEN.

An elderly man once called on an eminent doctor to ask his advice about a disease which had troubled him for years. His grandson, a little boy of six years, was with him. The doctor gave his advice, concluding with his opinion that the man should at once give up all use of intoxicating liquor, not even taking a glass of beer. Then turning to the boy the doctor said in a kind voice:

"My boy, I advise you never to taste one drop of beer or any other strong drink; mind what I say, and you will become a wiser, better and happier man than if you indulge in them."

The boy followed his advice, and from that day remained firm. He could not be coaxed to taste even a drop of beer or wine. Some time after, while at a boarding-school, he was seized with a violent pain in his stomach, and the teacher, thinking to relieve him, offered him some money with which he could go to a saloon near by and buy a spirituous liquor called peppermint. The boy, remembering the advice of the good doctor, thanked the teacher, saying: "I would rather bear the pain than go into a drinking saloon."

In the morning when you order your groceries just include a package of Red Rose Tea. It is a Tea which has suited a good many people who previously had difficulty in getting a good Tea.

Did you ever hear of Red Rose? Red Rose what? Why Red Rose Tea. Is there any other Red Rose? If there is, there is one thing sure; no other Tea will please you as well as the one called "Red Rose."

THE SCHOONER "ADVANCE."

The following is a reply to a letter written by Capt. George Long to the Treasury Department, Wallis Sands, New-Hampshire, concerning the schooner Advance in which schooner his son Moody was mate:—

CAPT. GEORGE LONG,

Dear Sir.—In reply to yours of 17th inst., would say what Islands there are around this vicinity are inhabited. Some one going over them all the time and the caves and beaches around here have been searched, but nothing of any nature has been found of the missing crew of the wrecked Sch. Advance. When first sighted only the top of house was out of water, with the sea breaking all over her. There was a tremendous heavy sea at the time. The masts were out, pulled out of the stops, not broken off at deck. Nothing of the house was left but the corner posts on top; everything was washed away. When before coming ashore the rigging was all around her, the sails had been reefed but all torn to shreds. No trunks or boxes came on shore. The davits were bent down; there was no boat, no lumber, nothing but the wrecked hull and fish in hold came on shore. The boat and some lumber was picked up on Plum Island, Mass., 12 to 15 miles westward of Station.

It looked to me, as the schooner had been capsized to sea somewhere on the eastern coast, rolled over, rigging parted, masts came out, then schooner righted, and the heavy sea washed everything away; that is my opinion. Upon being capsized crew was washed into the sea, powerless to help themselves.

Yours truly,
S. F. WELLS,
Keeper.

Book's Penetrating Plasters.

The January Magazine number of The Outlook contains as its chief features: An article on the pictorial, architectural, and art aspects of the Paris Exposition by Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith, the well known author, painter and bridge contractor, illustrated by half a dozen or more beautifully reproduced half tones from water color drawings made for this express purpose by the author; the tenth instalment of Mr. Booker T. Washington's "Up From Slavery," which has attracted wide attention among all interested in the elevation of the negro race; an article by the Countess of Aberdeen contrasting the conditions of women in 1800 and 1900 as brought out by the International Congress of Women of last year; a readable article on the revival of interest in George Borrow's work, with a fine portrait; one on the American Women's College at Constantinople, with half a dozen pictures, one of which has special interest because it shows in a group of five girl students five distinct race types; a sketch of the work of the Rev. G. L. McNutt, "Minister and Laborer," who, in order to know labor conditions, has worked as ditch digger, glass blower, miner, and in scores of jobs as a common laborer; "Two German Dramatists," (Hauptmann and Sudermann,) by Edward A. Steiner, an account of a personal visit to these famous writers; a thoughtful article on the French novel and the young girl, by Th. Bentzon (Madame Blanc); two short stories, and the general careful and comprehensive editorial survey of current history in politics, economics, literature, etc., etc. ($3 a year. The Outlook Company, 287 Fourth Avenue, New York.)

Constipated Bowels.

Constipation, or inactivity of the bowels, is probably the cause of more distress and suffering than any other organic derangement. Once the bowels are constipated, the kidneys become clogged, the liver torpid, and the stomach and whole digestive system completely interfered with. The head aches, there is dizziness, weakness and dimness of vision, pains in the back, sides and limbs, the accumulation of wind and gas on the stomach, pains and fullness in the region of the stomach, and depression and despondency of spirits.

Constipation can never be cured by the use of salts and similar weakening and debilitating purgatives. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills not only cause the natural action of the bowels, but so strengthen and invigorate them as to enable them to regularly perform their functions without the aid of medicines. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers.

KIDNEY DISEASE FOR TEN YEARS.

A Glen Miller Man's Terrible Trial.

He Found a Cure at Last in Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. P. M. Burk, who is a well-known resident of Glen Miller, Hastings Co., Ont., was afflicted with kidney trouble for ten years.

So pleased is he at having found in Doan's Kidney Pills a cure for his ailments, which he had begun to think were incurable, that he wrote the following statement of his case so that others similarly afflicted may profit by his experience: "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble for about ten years and have tried several remedies but never received any real benefit until I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills. My back used to constantly ache and my urine was high colored and milky looking at times. Since I have finished the third box of Doan's Kidney Pills I am happy to state that I am not bothered with backache at all and my urine is clear as crystal. I feel confident that these pills are the best kidney specific in the country."

THE WORLD OVER.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The suspension of the London and Globe finance corporation was to-day followed by twelve firms, among them being Haggart, Hall and Paisley, a big firm with important connections. There is a great sensation in financial circles.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 29.—One of the most important developments in the Cudahy case is the positive identification by Mrs. Schneiderwind of a photograph of Pat Crowe as a picture of the light complexioned man who rented the old house used as Eddie Cudahy's prison. Daniel Burris, living northwest of the city limits, it is said, is satisfied he sold the bay pony at Pacific Junction, which figures in the Cudahy kidnapping case to the kidnappers. His description of one of the men to whom he sold the horse on Dec. 13 for a watch and $15 is that of Pat Crowe. Burris was taken to Pacific Junction yesterday to identify the horse.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Dr. Ulvsses H. Brown, of Syracuse, was found dead in the hallway of a private residence at 200 West 35th Street. He was lying on his face and there was a cut on the forehead as though he had fallen forward. In the pockets were found a trifle over $10 in money, a gold watch and chain and other articles of value. The body was taken to the West 67th Street police station and later, by order of the coroner, removed to the Morgue. Dr. Brown had been stopping at the Hotel Imperial in this city. With him had been his wife, who at ten o'clock had not been notified of her husband's death.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—"The foreign engagements of the Porte, the purchase and renovation of war-ships and for naval and military artillery now amount to £2,400,000," says the Constantinople correspondent of the Times, "while the treasury is absolutely empty and internal bills increase daily."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Samuel McDonald, who one week ago shot and killed F. H. Morris, auditor for the War department, died this morning at the Emergency hospital from the self-inflicted wounds he received at the time of the murder. McDonald, after killing Morris, cut his own throat and shot himself near the heart. It was thought he had a fair chance of recovery owing to his remarkable physique, but he was determined to die and so informed the attendants at the hospital. For two days he refused nourishment as far as possible and this morning at 7 o'clock died quietly and without a struggle. The physicians say that death was due more than anything else to McDonald's determination not to live. It was a remarkable exhibition of will power.
