DOMINION NEWS.

Mr. George H. Wells was elected coup ty judge for Colfax county, in the recent State elections in Nebraska. Mr. Wells is a Westmorland county boy, being a brother of Albert Wells, of Baie Verte, and a second cousin of Judge Wells, of Moncton. Mr. Wells began his business life with the late S. F. Black, of Sackville, and will be remembered by many old friends in that place. He has been in the west about thirty years. He served several terms as sheriff of Colfax county, Nebraska, when the office required a man of more than ordinary nerve. Mr. Wells stands six feet three inches in his boots, and is said to be a fine speciman of the kind of men that New Brunswick can produce, physically as well as intellec tually.

WINDSOR, Ont, Nov. 21,-John Hager, an artesian well contractor, residing in Sandwich South, was knocked down and almost disembowelled by a vicious sow in the woods last evening. He was going through the bush to his home when he espied a heap of dead leaves in the centre of a pile of brush. With his cane he began to scatter the leaves. During the process the old sow sprang from the brush and knocked Hager to the ground. He beat the animal with his stick, and finally suc ceeded in chasing it off. Hager's wounds were deep and they bled profusely. He was obliged to crawl on all fours to bis home, more than two hundred yards distant. The doctor, who was immediately called, found that the intestines had been grazed by one of the sow's long side teeth, and fourteen stitches were required to close the incision. Hager is still weak from loss of blood, but the doctor says he will recover if blood poisoning does not The sew was preparing a nest for her litter when she made the attack on

OTTAWA, Nov. 22-Those engaged in the grain trade in Manitoba and the North-west have been applying to the Minister of interior to endeavor to get the minister of railways to permit locomotives | month. from the Intercolonial Railway to assist in taking out grain from the west. Mr. Sifton laid the matter before Mr. Blair, who in turn consulted with Mr. Pottinger, general manager of the Government railway. Mr. Pottinger said that the Intercolonial had not any locomotives to spare and they had not sufficient to carry on the large business which was being done by the Intercolonial. That being the case, it will be absolutely impossible to get any locomotives to aid in taking out the heavy wheat crop of the Canadian North-

A SPARROW HAWK'S SPEED.

The Bird of Prey Does Not Like a Stern Chase.

The sparrow hawk does not more than any other like a long "stern chase," but prefers to attack with the advantage of a surprise when darting from a tree or around the corner of a wood or when swooping with splendid speed from a poise several hundred yards above the We, seeing a finch or a starling taken in a moment, often do not weigh the fact that the victim was hardly on the wing and probably rising when the bird of prey came like a whirlwind and overwhelmed it. Even if the hawk discovers its prey when traversing the country at a lower elevation it has still the power of a fair momentum to take full advantage of the chance of a swooping rush at the prey, which is probably on the ground. Of course, when a rook is watched chasing a sparrow hawk across the sky there is nothing to show that the latter is seriously trying to fly at speed. On the contrary, it generally seems in such a case that the hawk is relying mainly on its soaring powers to avoid the attack. And it is remarkable, indeed, with how little apparent effort the hawk will soar up and up from the rook, which all the while is obviously exerting itself frantically. On the other hand, it is generally to be seen that when the birds are flying at a level the rook has no difficulty in overtaking the hawk, who after a turn or two begins to go up, as already stated. The kestrel seems more often to evade its enemies by a turn of speed, though it also takes to the soar readily. Last autumn I saw a fine female kestrel harried by two peewits, which swooped at it alternately, very prettily and with surprising persistence. At last the hawk, seemingly tired of "putting out," as a falconer would say, of these active birds, went straight ahead apparently as hard as it could, and then one could see that the peewits were not able to overtake it, though they followed to some distance. say too much in praise of the remedy which The same thing happened with the crow. The latter chased the hawk, but was at last outflown in a sheer, straight flight.

Can't Blame them for Telling each other about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR WEAK NERVOUS WOMEN

It's only natural that when a woman finds a remedy which cures her of nervousness and weakness, relieves her pains and aches, puts color in her cheek and vitality in her whole system, she should be anxious to let her suffering sisters know of it.

Mrs. Hannah Holmes, St. James Street, St. John, N.B., relates her experience with his remedy as follows :- " For some years I have been troubled with fluttering of the heart and dizziness, accompanied by a smothering feeling which prevented me from resting. My appetite was poor and I was much run down and debilitated.

"Since I started using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the smothering feeling has gone, my heart beat is now regular, the fluttering has disappeared, and I have been wonderfully built up through the tonic effect of the pills. I now feel stronger and better than for many years, and cannot restored my long lost health."

The story of the plot, based upon offi cial reports to the Minister of the Interor, is as follows: About three weeks ago rection of Superintendent Woods, shadwed a man whom they deemed a suspicious character. The police got into this man's confidence and he finally disclosed a plot which he said had been formed by people at Skagway and Seattle. The idea was to rush the posts in the lower part of the Yukon and then take possesion of the country. The conspirators econed upon the American citizens in the Yukon not assisting the Canadian authorties, so that the raid in their opinion would be a comparatively easy matter.

News of the plot was quickly sent from Dawson to White Horse, and the police here soon had under surveillance all susicious persons. The headquarters of the labor in England are so strictly enforced conspiracy was localed in Skagway, and was ascertained who the characters asociated with it were and where the papers bearing upon the plot were kept. There was nothing, however, to show an vert act of treason to the United States or Canada; consequently the authorities could not take any proceedings.

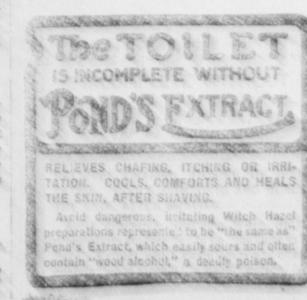

Canadian officers went down to Skagway, nevertheless, and consulted with the United States officers, and concerted acion was agreed upon in case of necessity. in the meantime the parties connected with the plot are closely watched. No respectable Americans were associated in he plot, the men being disputable advenurers.
