A DECISIVE VICTORY FOR

Paine's Celery Compound

MRS. THOS. McMASTER, Cumberland Street, Toron to, After Long Years of Suffering is Perfectly Cured.

SHE SAYS: "MY HEALTH AND HAPPINESS ARE DUE TO PAINE'S CELERY COM-POUND.

A Letter That Will Cheer the Suffering and Despondent.

The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited,

Gentlemen,-Ten years ago I was attacked with neuralgia, and though treated by six doctors the disease grew worse and nearly drove me insane. I was for one sum:ner an out loor patient at the hospital here, but only got temporary relief. I was sleepless for nights, my digestion was bad, and I would feel a pain in my stom. ach every time I ate anything. Day after day I suffered the most intense agony, and I often wonder I didn't go crazy. I took endless medicines given to me by medical ard." men, and getting worse, I became utterly disheartened.

One day my deliverence came. A lady who had suffered just as I had told me that Paine's Celery Compound had cured her. I used the compound as a last resort, and it simply made a new woman of me. The pain vanished; my eyesight, which had been impaired, returned, and I felt myself growing well, and never felt happier in my life. I am now well and s'rong, and all my health and happiness are due to Paine's Celery Compound.

Yours gratefully, Mrs. Thos. McMaster.

THE BRIDE'S TRAGEDY.

The bride of a brief month crouched in a corner of a divan-crouched among her gorgeous pillows, while the bitter tears streamed down and stained her delicate faprics. TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION IN SCHOOLS.

A millionaire brewer, a state senator, said to Mrs. Hunt of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union "I shall vote for your bill providing for instructions in your public schools of the physiological effects of alcohol. I have sold out my brewery and I am clean from the whole business. Let me tell you what occurred at my table. A guest was taken dangerously ill at dinner and there was a call for brandy to restore him. My little boy at once exclaimed, 'No, that is just what he doesn't need! It will paralize the nerves and muscles of the blood vessels so they will not send back the blood to the heart.' When the liquor was poured out to give the man the lad insisted on pushing it back. 'You will kill him; he has too much blood in his head already.

'How do you know all this?' I asked. 'Why, it is in my physiology at school.' It seems the text-books, prepared by such men as Prof. Newell Martin, F. R. S., of Johns Hopkin's university have succeeded in giving the lad some definite information which has proved useful." "Sena tor," said Mrs. Hunt, "are you sorry your boy learned that at school?" "Madam," the man replied, raising his hand, "I would not take $5,000 for the assurance it gives me that my boy will never be a drunk.

Not only should brewers and all other fathers support the laws for instruction in the public schools as to the effect of alcohol upon the human body because such instruction will prevent their boys becoming drunkards, but because it will have much to do with their boys' business success in life. It is due the boys of America that they be taught while in school that employers are becoming constantly more and more careful in the selection of employes, and that a young man who drinks intoxicating liquors or has been in the habit of drinking only occasionally and moderately has little chance of securing a desirable position in business. Brewers are becoming as careful in this respect in the selection of employes as are other business men. - Wes. Advocate.

LIVING AND GIVING FOR CARIST. RICHARD GRANT.

"He is," said the clerk, "walk in." "Well, young man what can I do for

"I am always glad to receive money for Bishop Taylor's work; how much do you wish to give?" "Seven fifty."

I began writing, "Received of ---, seven dollars and-

Here the young man laid down a hun dred dollar bill, and then another, when I asked him: "How much did I understand you to say?"

"Seven fifty," he replied, laying down another hundred dollar bill. "Do you mean seven dollars and fifty

"Oh, no" he said; "seven hundred and fifty dollars." I was amazed.

"Can you afford this?" "Yes."

"Well, brother," I said, "Jesus has done a great deal for you." "Yes, he has."

And his tears began to drop, and mine, too. Silence was the only outlet to two hearts that had been so mysteriously and unexpectedly brought together. At length, I said in a choked utterance:

"You love the Lord, brother; but can "Yes, I can afford to do anything for

"I lay away a little every week." A gentleman present said, "I guess you

"Were the whole realm of nature mine, That were a present far too small; Love so amazing, so divine, Demands my love, my life, my all."

Here is a practical lesson of living and giving for Christ. This young man is a real missionary, an example of seif-sacri fice as bright as though teaching the heathen in their wigwams. While some are called to the front, and heroically give up all, and follow the call, others are needed on this end of the line, both as examples of holy living and holy giving: of earning for Christ, and giving it che e full at His service. - Medical Missionary

THIS VETERAN'S FIGHT

In the days of the Revolution he was on the side of victory, in later years surrendered to disease, but South American Kidney Cure gave him his liberty.

Mr. A. Williamson, of Kincardine, Ont., a veteran in the American war, and now customs officer, town clerk and a prominent citizen, says of South American Kidney Cure:—"I have found it a wonderful specific in my case. Athletic Appetites.

"The actual amount of good reast beef that a table of athletes will consume," writes Walter Camp in The Century, "is something appalling to the uninitiated. Three members of a Yale football team once went to Cambridge to watch a match between Harvard and some other team. These three men stopped at a hotel for their luncheon. Among other things the spokesman of the party ordered three portions of cold roast beef. 'But, sir,' said the waiter, 'two portions will be a great plenty for all three of you.' The giant of the party looked up blandly at the servant and said, 'You bring the three portions and then watch us

"When the writer was captain of the team, long before the days of special method in management, the eleven were to play at Cambridge and, leaving New Haven the afternoon of the day preceding the match, went to a Boston hotel for dinner and the night. Most of the men were readily collected at one or two large tables, but a certain rusher, being late, had seated himself at a table in a distant part of the dining room, and he was told by the manager to order his own dinner. That boy's dinner, and it is needless to say that it was without wine, came to the extraordinary total of $13.85! He was quite able to play the next day, how-

The Joke on the Snake Charmer. Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans when a young officer was on the Indian station in the man-of-war Delaware, With several others he set up a bungalow on shore. He tells in "A Sailor's Log," published by the Appletons, what happened to a snake charmer that came

"The unfortunate thought came to one of our men that it would be a good idea to get the Mohammedan drunk to see what he would do. So he prepared a dose for him that was very effective. He poured a good stiff drink of brandy into a beer glass and then filled it with gin instead of water. The charmer took kindly to the drink and in a short time rolled out of his chair on to the floor very drunk and was soon fast asleep.

"The bag of snakes had not been thought of up to this time, but it also fell, and the inhabitants quickly spread over the floor. In the meantime five American officers took to the table and, drawing their feet up, carefully remained there until the snake charmer slept off his dose. He snored quietly while the snakes crawled over and around him, but it was a long time before he finally came to himself, secured his pets and took them away. We did not repeat that experiment."

Clocks With "Wheels."

"Clocks are certainly queer things," said the man who was tinkering at the hall clock in a suburban house the other day. "They get cranky spells just like people. Sometimes they really act as though they were bewitched. A friend of mine had a little clock that had behaved itself and kept good time for years. One day it took a notion to lay off for awhile, and they couldn't get it started again. My friend's wife was cleaning the room several days afterward, and she took the clock and laid it down flat on its back on a chair. It started to go at once and ticked away at a great rate, but as soon as she placed it on end it stopped again. Well, they set it, and for a time it acted all right as long as it remained on its back. But it soon got cranky again and refused to go. The other day, just for fun, they turned it upside down, and, would you believe it, that crazy clock started off again. Now it only runs when it is standing on its head, and they are wondering what new foolishness it will develop next."

Sleeping Car Ethics.

It seems that there is an unwritten code of sleeping car ethics which has its fine distinctions. The International says: "The seasoned traveler enters the Pullman as if it were a room in a club with which he is familiar, but which he has not visited for some time. He stows away his belongings, according to his habit, puts on his traveling cap and a pair of light shoes or slippers and overgaiters, gets out his newspapers and book and, not forgetting his smoking outfit, is ready to be comfortable. Be it remembered that if slippers be donned they must always be accompanied by overgaiters, for without these latter the slippered foot is not permissible under the unwritten law of sleeping car travel."

When California Was Unknown, In an old geography printed in 1815 appears the following: "California is a wild and almost unknown land. Throughout the year it is covered with dense fogs, as damp as unhealthful. In the interior are volcanoes and vast plains of shifting snows, which sometimes shoot columns to great heights. This would seem nearly incredible were it not for the well authenticated accounts of travelers."

Not Satisfactory.

"Mose," said Mr. Subbubs, "I want you to clean out my cellar tonight." "'Deed, sah," Mose protested, "I kaint do no wuck laik dat at night, sah, dat would be satisfact'ry to yo', sah." "Why, not? You've often cleaned out my chicken coop at night."

"Yes, sah; but I reckon dat wuzn' satisfact'ry to yo', sah."-

SUNDRIDGE ECHO INTERVIEWED HIM.

William Doeg, a Farmer of Grey County, has a word to say Regarding Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The Local Paper Publishes a Column About His Case-Worst Form, 92 Rheumatism-Dodd's Kidney Will Have Proven a Blessing to Him.

SUNDRIDGE, Ont., Sept. 30, (Special) -The Echo of this place has published a signed statement which cannot fail to interest all who understand the full meaning of the word Rheumatism from personal experience. A representative of that paper interviewed Mr. William Doeg, a well known farmer of Strong Township, who was cured of Rheumatism by Dodd's Kidney Pills this spring, and he gave out the following statement for publication: "For four years I suffered excruciating torture, during which time I was scarcely an hour free from pain. The trouble commenced in my back where it often remained stationary for months, and so intense was the pain that I could not lie down or take rest, but had to sit night and day in a chair. The pain would then remove to other parts of my body, and when in my knees, disabled me from walking, confining me constantly to my

"I was treated by several doctors and also tried many medicines, without receiving any benefit. Almost in despair I feared I would never again experience the pleasure of being free from pain.

"Early this spring my attention was called to some remarkable cures of Rheumatism effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I procured a box, and soon found they were doing me good, so I kept on, until now I can say I am a new man, entirely free from pain and have continued so ever since, being able to attend to my daily duties on the farm and feel strong and able to work. I verily believe this great change was effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills and I think it my duty to make this statement public for the benefit of all afflicted as I was."

ANOTHER GOOD FISH STORY.

(Vancouver World, Sept. 17)

James Whiteside, Fin Rose, Steve Madison and Mr. Madison, sr., are proud men this day, for they all had a share in breaking all records in connection with trout fishing in British Columbia, or at least as regards the genuine rainbow trout of the

They were fishing above the dam when Mr. Madison, sr., called out that he thought he had caught a whale. Whatever it was it had size and strength and it fought for life like a demon. It was taken on the smallest-sized trout hook on a fine gut baited with a grasshopper.

Mr. Madison is an old fisherman and he felt instinctively that he had caught the king of the Capilano trout pools. A wary old craftsman was up against a finny beauty worthy of his best skill. For two long hours he played that fish while his companions stood at the shallow spots waiting for a chance to use the gaff. Finally the fish was got into a shallow and Fin Rose got a chance at him with the gaff and he was landed. He tipped the beam at just a fraction under 11 pounds and is as fine a specimen of the pure and distinctly marked rainbow as has ever been seen hereabouts. He was on exhibition to-day at the Avenue hotel, and was seen by envious hundreds of the disciples of Isaak Walton. How long this magnificent piscatorial specimen has frisked among the icy pools of the Capilano can only be guessed, but that he is an old campaigner there is no doubt and from his shaded favorite retreat he has doubtless laughed derisively at many a fisherman. The fish was taken afternoon to Taxidermist
