THE IRISHMAN'S DOCTOR.

NO TOOTH, NO TOOTH ACHES.

The story given below carries its application with it:

"You can't make a man sober by act of Parliament."

So they said. I thought it over. It doesn't seem to me a self-evident proposition.

"Why not?" said I. Then came a crusher.

"You might as well try to cure the tooth-ache by act of Parliament."

This made me reflect. I had been troubled with tooth-ache, worried by it, maddened by it, kept from my work, my meals, my happiness by it. My health was failing in consequence. My temper was gone. My mind was going. I was invited to try various remedies.

"Stop it," said some.

"But how?" I enquired.

"Fill the tooth with gold," they explained.

The tooth was thus primed, but the tooth ache went on.

"Clear it out," said others.

"How—how?" was my agonized exclamation.

"Cleanse the blessed thing," they told me.

I did. Got it inspected, illuminated, sprayed, fumigated, made beautiful with camphorated chalk, bath-brick, plate powder, and floriline.

"Give it rest on Sundays," said a clerical friend.

I tried this. Even on Sundays there were some hotel guest twinges; on Mondays it was as bad as ever. What was I to do?

"Be extra careful what you let into it," advised a civic functionary.

Nothing could exceed my care. Three magistrates certified the good, harmless, excellent character of all I put into my tooth. I felt safe. Not for long. I soon felt sold. The results were disappointing, distressing, excruciating. Somehow the certificated application lost its virtue the moment it got inside.

"Hold a drink of water in your mouth, and sit on the fire until it boils," urged a knowing one.

I began to think this was the only remedy. At last I took council of a fanatic.

"Try the Parliamentary cure," said he.

"What's that?" said I.

"Have the tooth pulled out; a short act will do it."

This seemed drastic. I would leave a gap in my social system. I should miss an old friend. The tooth had a vested interest. I hesitated. I took courage.

"Let the operation cost what it may, it must come," I cried.

So I summoned the dentist.

"I am ready for the parliamentary cure," said I.

It took a strong pull. It was done. The tooth was gone. So was the tooth ache. I was happy.

Once more I reflected. Extraction cures tooth ache. I had never realized this before. No tooth, no toothache. This was strange, but true. And yet you cannot make a man sober by an act of parliament!

Let us see. No tooth, no tooth-ache. Granted. No drinking traffic, no drink. Eh, what! Is that a fact? No drink-traffic, no drink. I never thought of that. No drink, no drunkenness. I see. A mule with no hind legs doesn't kick. He is quiet. If a man can get nothing to drink, he doesn't drink. He is sober. An act of Parliament can make him so. Ay whitewashing the saloon? Not quite. Sanctifying it on Sunday and election days only? Scarcely. What, then, do you want Parliament to enact? Prohibition.—Irish Temperance League Journal.

THE BIBLE IN THE HOME.

Give the Bible the place it ought to occupy in your homes. Enshrine it in power. Let not the daily newspaper, nor the popular magazine, nor the most eminent standard author come between you and the daily reading of God's word. Some of you, I doubt not, have precious memories of home where the Bible was a revered and studied book. You can hear the tones of the father's voice as he read in the morning, and recall the awfulness with which the old prophetic periods were clothed, or the delight with which the precious promises fell upon your ear. You can see a beloved mother garnering strength and courage and consolation day by day from the Psalms and beautitudes. You know the words that were taught you then having clung to your memory, and will be part and parcel of you through all eternity. Now by all that is sacred in these recollections, by all the love you bear your little ones, by all the terrors of the judgment before which we must all appear and meet the record of our lives, I beseech you to be faithful in your own homes, faithful to God and to those whom God has committed to your care. It will soon be too late. When these children have grown up and gone into their life work, let it not be theirs to say: "I might have been made familiar with the Bible and its blessed teachings; and through the influences of truths thus learned, might perhaps have been led into an assured hope of eternal life in Christ, but my parents were not faithful, and the book divine had no honored place in my early home."

You may not be able to give your children wealth or the inheritance of a great name, or eminent social advantages, but you can leave them the results of fidelity and precious memories of devotion to the holy task of trying to make them know what God says to us in the Old and New Testaments, and what he wants us to believe and to do—and to be.—Dr. Frederick Noble, in "The Divine Life of Man."

TEST THE PINE-APPLE CURE

In the Storehouse of Providence there's an Antidote for every bodily ill. Medical Science has found Nature's Stomach Panacea in that most delicious of fruits—the Pineapple.

And medical science has given to mankind that pure and pleasant formula Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets, to be an everlasting and never-failing healer to suffering humanity—a treatment quick and effective, and so inexpensive that the poorest sufferer in the land may use it almost as "free as water." One dose gives relief to stomach distresses in any form. Sixty Tablets, 35 cents.

IRREPRESSIBLE.

They were what the prim old lady would call "whippersnappers"—just two young people, a boy and a girl, slangy and breezy. They were going to North Meridian street last Sunday—a beautiful day.

"Oh, Lordy," said she, "wouldn't this be an elegant afternoon for a drive!"

"Yes," said he, unabashed. "I'll bring you up a hammer and a few nails this afternoon."—Indianapolis Press.

Surgeons Blunder Operating for Piles.

The Risk, Pain and Expense of an Operation Avoided by Using Dr. Chase's Ointment—A Minister's Experience.

Too many doctors seem to have a mania for using the knife, and recommend an operation for piles in scores of cases when Dr. Chase's Ointment would effect a thorough and lasting cure.

Rev. S. A. Duprau, Methodist minister, Consocon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states:—"I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses formed, so that it was with great difficulty and considerable pain that I was able to stool. At this severe crisis I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but I had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose.

"Now, imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared, and also the external swelling. I feel like a different man to-day, and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation and many years of suffering. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

PAN-AMERICAN MODEL DAIRY NOTES.

The superior staying powers of the Holsteins are now becoming manifest, and for the week ending October 1st, they stand first on the list in the butter profit test, beating the Jerseys by ten cents and the Guernseys by forty-seven cents. However, Mary Marshall, of the Guernseys, still retains her lead as best cow in the barn, but her companion, Cassiopeia, who has been for a good deal of the time her closest rival, has been off her feed and drops thirty-six cents behind her for the week. An unusual record has been made during the week by the Polled Jersey Ora. She has been unable to properly digest her food, presumably the ensilage, and has been sick and feverish. At one milking she gave 8 lbs. milk, 2.50 per cent fat; the following milking, 5 lbs., 6.40 per cent fat; the third milking, 1.6 lbs., 16.20 per cent fat. This is by far the highest butter fat test yet made by any of the cows. The standing of the herds for the week is as follows: Holsteins, 7.56; Jerseys, 7.46; Guernseys, 7.09; Ayrshires, 6.84; Red Polled, 5.92; Shorthorns, 5.82; Brown Swiss, 5.81; French Canadian, 5.44; Polled Jerseys, 5.24; Dutch Belted, 4.07.

For the week ending October 8th some notable changes have taken place. The Holstein herd made a gain over last week as they are keeping up their flow of milk exceedingly well, but the Jerseys also made a decided spurt and tied the blacks and whites for first place. The Ayrshires are back again to third place, with the Guernseys fourth. Next come the French Canadians and the Shorthorns which are both doing good work and may yet succeed in passing the Guernseys before the close of the test. In such a case, all five of the Canadian herds would be ahead of the five American herds. The Guernseys obtained such a long lead in the early part of the test that they will doubtless be able to win first prize in the butter profit test, but as one cow is now quite out of the race they will probably be overtaken by some of the other breeds if the test were continued for a few weeks longer. The Brown Swiss cow, Hope of Minnesota, has been very sick during the week and it was feared that she would not recover, but she is now much better. Her case is the first in the history of the Dairy that it has been necessary to resort to medicine, which goes to show that the cows have been both carefully and skillfully fed and handled. For this week Beauty of Horval of the Holstein herd is the best cow beating Marshall by five cents. Below is the net profit of each herd for the week ending October 8th: Jerseys, 7.58; Holsteins, 7.58; Ayrshires, 6.97; Guernseys, 6.66; French Canadian, 6.38; Shorthorns, 5.95; Brown Swiss, 5.85; Red Polled, 5.63; Polled Jersey, 4.93; Dutch Belted, 3.95.

Regatta in England.

The first regatta in England was in 1775, and it was imported into that country by Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, who had been impressed by the water show of Venice. There was no series of races. There was a procession of city barges to a "temporary octagon," where there was reveling that night and well into the next day. Only seven of the company were drowned on the return journey, which speaks well for the average sobriety of the crowd.

Tipped.

"Doesn't this boat tip a great deal?" asked a timid young woman of the steward.

"The vessel, ma'am," said the steward, "is trying to set a good example to the passengers."

A Teacher's Worries.

FREQUENTLY RESULT IN A BREAK-DOWN OF HEALTH.

Headaches, Backache, Dizziness, Poor Appetite and Insomnia the Outcome—How to Avert These Troubles. From the Review, Windsor, Ont.

Only those engaged in the teaching profession realize how much care, worry and perplexity is met with daily. It is therefore little wonder that there are so many health breakdowns, especially among young ladies who follow this calling. Miss Christine Pare, of Ojibway, Ont., is one who has suffered much in this respect. To a reporter of the Windsor Review, Miss Pare said: "For several years, while teaching school, I was continually troubled with headaches, dizziness and a weak back. I tried several doctors and medicines, but got no relief. I became so badly run down that I thought possibly a change of employment would give me relief. I gave up my school and tried other duties, but the result was disappointing as the trouble seemed to have taken a firm hold upon me. The headaches grew more and more severe, my appetite failed me and I was frequently compelled to take a rest in order to overcome dizziness. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to try a box, and before they were all used I found much relief. I continued taking the pills for some time longer, every day gaining new health and strength, and now I feel as well as ever I did in my life, and am never bothered with the old troubles. You may say therefore that there is nothing I can recommend so highly as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Young girls who are pale and weak, who suffer from backaches, loss of appetite, palpitation of the heart, and other symptoms that overcome so many in early womanhood, will find a certain and speedy cure in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make rich, red blood, strengthen the nerves, and give new life and vigor to the whole body. The genuine bear the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all dealers or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Papal Joke.

Pope Paul IV was so shocked at Michael Angelo's undressed figures in his famous "Last Judgment" that he employed Daniele da Volterra to clothe them, and he in consequence received the nickname of Il Braghettone (the breeches maker). Michael Angelo, with his usual wit, punished Messer Biagio da Cesena, master of the ceremonies, who first suggested to the pope the impropriety of nude figures, by painting him in hell, with asses' ears, as Midas. The story goes that Biagio implored the pope to insist upon the removal of this caricature, whereupon Paul IV replied, "I might have released you from purgatory, but over hell I have no power."

Tale of a Cow.

A cow, while being escorted from Lydney to Blakeney the other day, entered a house, walked down a long passage and up 22 steps, into a bedroom, where it prepared itself for an afternoon siesta. The manner of restoring it to the street was ingenious. Another cow was brought to the bottom of the stairs, and the intelligent bovine at once descended the 22 stairs to invite the new arrival to share its slumbers. Then they were both shored into the street.
