THE MORBID PRINCIPLE OF RHEUMATISM IS URIC ACID.

Paine's Celery Compound DRIVES IT FROM THE BLOOD AND CURES THE DISEASE.

The Wonderful Medicine Does a Marvellous Work For Mr. G. J. McDonald, of Cornwall, Ont.

The ablest pathologists are of opinion that there is a morbid principle in the blood when rheumatism is present. This morbid principle is uric acid, which circulates with the blood and acts upon the joints and muscles, causing the pains and agonies of rheumatism.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only scientific remedy for the complete banishment of every form of rheumatism. If your joints are painful; if the knees, wrists, elbows or ankles are swollen, a few bottles of Paine's Celery Compound will surely remove all your troubles and pains.

Mr. McDonald for the benefit of rheumatic sufferers writes as follows: "After giving your Paine's Celery Compound a thorough testing, I am pleased to say few words in its favor. For three years I suffered terribly from rheumatism. It seemed to me that I was doomed to endure all the agonies and pains that a mortal could possibly experience from the dreadful disease."

"While suffering I tried many of the advertised medicines and also doctors' prescriptions, but never found a cure until I procured a supply of Paine's Celery Compound. It worked like a charm—it seemed to strike at the very root of my trouble. I am now cured; all pains are banished, and in every respect I am a new man."

Woodstock, N. B., Oct. 12.—Rev. J. Wesley Clark, pastor of the Free Baptist church of this town, died at 7 o'clock this morning after a comparatively brief illness from typhoid fever. He was taken ill almost two weeks ago, being unable to take the Sunday evening services. His condition was serious from the first and when hemorrhage set in hope was about given up.

The news was a great shock to the people in the town where deceased was highly respected by all classes and creeds. He was a genial, warm hearted man, with a kind word for everybody and made warm friends. Mr. Clark was born in Hampstead, the son of Geo. Clark. In 1876 he was licensed to the ministry and in 1878 was ordained. Rev. T. S. Vanwart being the moderator. His first charge was at Lincoln, Sunbury county. From there he went to the North End, St. John, and then to Norton, Kings county. He was next stationed at Tracey's Mills, in this county. After that he accepted a call to Waterloo street church, St. John. Just two years ago to-day he came to his charge in Woodstock. He and Rev. C. T. Philips exchanged churches. Mr. Philips now being pastor of Waterloo street church. Mr. Clark was 46 years of age. His early education was received at Sackville. He was moderator of the Free Baptist Conference twice, had been corresponding secretary at the time of his death and treasurer of the Mission Board. For twenty-five years he missed no single conference, that just ended at Marysville being the only one from which he was absent. He was a delegate to the Nova Scotia Conference, which he attended only a short while ago. Mr. Clark's wife who survives, was a daughter of Mr. David Vanwart, of Avondale, Kings Co. Two children are left—Lena and Wendall. One daughter, Elina, died about eight years ago. Deceased was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters. The remains were taken to St. John on Monday for burial.

"Cure-Alls" Didn't Cure

Only a Kidney Specific of the genuine merit of South American Kidney Cure can ever hope to cope with insidious kidney diseases in all its forms.

"For two years I was greatly troubled with an affection of the kidneys—frequently unfitting me for work. I tried many patent medicines and 'cure-alls,' without getting any relief, for I had intense pain almost constantly. South American Kidney Cure was recommended to me. A few hours after commencing its use I got great relief. Four bottles cured. It is worth its weight in gold."—Frank S. Emerick, Alvinston, Ont. 38

HE WAS CAUTIOUS.

Wederly—The doctor says I must take more exercise. Do you think I ought to begin with dumbbells? Mrs. Wederly—Suppose for a starter you come out with me this afternoon and wheel the baby carriage. Wederly—I—er—really, Mary, I couldn't think of it. I don't want to overdo the thing the first day.—Chicago News.

COOK'S SURE COUGH CURE

ROASTS ON MAN.

Every man has in his heart a slumbering bog.—A. Preault. Every man is a quotation from all his ancestors.—Ralph Waldo Emerson. Man is creation's masterpiece. But who says so? Mael—Sulpice Guillaume Gavarni. Self made men are most always apt to be a little too proud of the job.—Henry W. Shaw. Most men die without creating. Not one has died without destroying.—Alexandre Dumas.

When our vices leave us, we flatter ourselves that we are leaving them.—Francis de la Rochefoucauld. A man must be faithless to something, either to a woman or his God or his first belief.—John Oliver Hobbes.

There are men made of such stuff that an angel could hardly live with them without some deceit.—Anthony Trollope. Some old men like to give good precepts to console themselves for their inability longer to give bad examples.—Antoine Dupuy.

The husband is the only creature entirely selfish. He is a low organism, consisting mainly of a digestive apparatus and a rude mouth.—L. Zangwill. Of the misbegotten changelings who call themselves men and prate intolerably over dinner tables, I never saw one who seemed worthy to inspire love.—R. Stevenson.

Investment and Speculation.

When any one is buying a coat or a fishing rod or a rose tree or laying down a cellar or setting up a library, either he knows what he wants, where to get it and what to pay for it or else he takes earnest counsel with his friends and with the most trustworthy professional advisers that he can find and uses all the wits that he and others can bring to bear on the subject in order to make sure that his purchase is prudently conducted. He attends sales, rummages in shops and discusses the matter in his club until he and it are roted a nuisance. If only half as much time and trouble were devoted to the careful selection of investments, there would be fewer bad companies, unscrupulous promoters and ornamental directors, the world would be very much richer, and its riches would show less tendency to gravitate into questionable hands.

Partly In.

"I see your names in the papers a good deal," commented the old friend. "I suppose you're really in society now." "My wife thinks we are," replied the man who had become suddenly rich, "but sometimes I have my doubts." "How so?" "Well, when there's a swell charity entertainment to be given, with boxes quoted at $200 and $300 or more, the evidence seems to indicate that we are very much in society, but when some exclusive private function takes place there seems to be nothing but what you might call negative evidence. I think possibly it might be correct to say that our money is in society, but we are not."

Why the Line Was Endless.

The following story is told of a young Irish sailor: After pulling in 40 to 50 fathoms of line, which put his patience severely to proof as well as every muscle of his arms, he muttered to himself, but loud enough to be overheard by an officer: "Sure, it's as long as today and tomorrow! It's a good week's work for any five men in the ship, bad luck to it! What! More of it yet? Och, murher! The say's mighty deep, to be sure!" After continuing in a similar strain and conceiving there was little probability of the completion of his labor he suddenly stopped short, and looking up to the officer on the watch, he exclaimed: "Bad luck to me, sor, if I don't believe somebody's cut off the other end of this line."

The Hot Air Balloon.

It is related that the hot air balloon had its origin in a petticoat. Mme. Montgolfier had washed her garment, intending to wear it to a great festival the next day, and hung it over a chafing dish to dry. The hot air swelled out its folds and floated it up into the air. The lady, in astonishment, called her husband to see the sight. He at once grasped the idea and was not long in producing the hot air balloon.

An Odd Perquisite.

One of the most curious perquisites in connection with English coronations is the right of one of the peers to claim the bed and bedding used by the heir apparent on the night preceding the coronation. In olden times this was a perquisite of considerable value, as the "bedding" usually consisted of richly embroidered coverlets of velvet or silk, with priceless hangings of cloth of silver and gold.

Wall Sizing.

In making sizing dissolve half a pound of glue in a little hot water. Then pour on nearly a gallon of boiling water, stirring carefully all the time so that it may mix well. A little of this added to ordinary whitewash prevents the white from rubbing off on dresses, etc. Brushed while hot over a wall that is to be papered, it makes the paper stick better. A wall that has been whitewashed should be brushed over with hot vinegar before papering, or the paper will not stick.

Earning a Spanking.

A lady who had company to tea reproved her little son several times, speaking, however, very gently. At last, out of patience with him, she said sharply: "Jimmy, if you don't keep still I'll send you away from the table!" "Yes, that's what you always do when there's company and there are not enough cakes to go round!" was the reply of the gifted youth.

The Australian aborigines are not the only users of the boomerang, nor were they the first to use that missile. The Egyptians knew all about it, just as they seem to have known all about everything else.

Blase.

"Papa, what does it mean to be blase?" "My boy, it is getting tired of all the things that are not worth living for."—Life.

This is what philosophy amounts to, "I do it, but you should not."—Archibald Giole.

It is said that one-tenth of the world is still unexplored.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—Mr. Collingwood Schriber, Deputy Minister of Railways, who has just returned from a tour of inspection of railways in the west, says that the road between Port Arthur and Winnipeg will not be finished in time this fall to take out any wheat. There is about 50 miles of track yet to be laid, although the road is graded. The whole reason for the delay, Mr. Schriber says, is the scarcity of workmen. There is a high and cry all the way from the Pacific coast about a lack of workmen. An effort was made to get the harvest hands to go railway building, but this failed. Mr. Schriber visited Port Colborne on his way east and says the work going on there under his department is progressing favorably.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 17.—Considerable excitement has been created here by the story of a strike of gold ore of exceeding richness in a rock out near Fort Francis on the Canadian Northern line. The ore is said to have been assayed by a local expert at $3,500 a ton. R. A. Lang, of the grain exchange, declares the story perfectly true.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—The Canadian Pacific Railway and the Crow's Nest Coal Company have been busily engaged during the past two weeks in looking after the selection of the 50,000 acres of coal lands which the government are entitled to in the Crow's Nest Pass. The Canadian Pacific is endeavoring to get ahead of the Crow's Nest Coal Co. and the coal company is endeavoring to get ahead of the railway, while both are trying hard to get the start of the government. A prominent official of the interior Department who knows something of the work that has been done by the department in making provisional selections, says that when the selection of the 50,000 acres is complete, both the railway and the coal company are likely to be very much dissatisfied.

KINGSTON, Oct. 17.—Steamer Richelieu, which sank in one hundred feet of water in Bay Quinte a couple of weeks ago, has been successfully raised and brought to Kingston for repairs.

A suit has been entered by Ryan and MacDonnell, railway contractors, against Mackenzie, Mann & Co., and Donald D. Mann personally, for the sum of $195,154.97. In July, 1899, Ryan and MacDonnell took over a contract which Messrs. Mackenzie, Mann & Co. had received from the government of Nova Scotia for the building of the Inverness and Richmond Railway in Cape Breton. If the work was not finished by December, 1900, the defendants were to take over the plant and continue the work. This they did. The plaintiffs allege that they were not able to carry out the contract because of delays caused by the defendants.

OTTAWA MAN WHO WRITES THIS TIME.

Grants Full Permission to Use his Name in Behalf of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Was in the Clutch of Bright's Disease—Suffered all the Symptoms of this Fearful Malady—But he took Dodd's Kidney Pills in Time.

OTTAWA, Oct. 21, (Special)—A fortunate young man is Frank Chartrand of this city, for by the merest chance he was saved from that modern curse so dreaded by doctors, Bright's Disease, the incurable malady of the Kidneys.

The story of Mr. Chartrand's escape from this dreadful disease is best told in his own words:

"I had been greatly troubled by my Kidneys for two years, since having a dose of the grip. I suffered with backache and I always felt drowsy and very heavy in the limbs, with frequent severe headaches and oftener still severe pains in the top of my head which prevented me from doing my work as I would like to do it. Often my fingers and legs would cramp and occasionally I felt pains in the loins and a very heavy dizzy feeling with shortness of breath and pain in the left side. Sometimes I would eat very good meals and other times I would take a biscuit and a cup of tea and that would finish my meal. I had tender spots over the back of the spine and felt very tired in the region of the kidneys, with a dragging heavy feeling across the loins, in short there was no doubt I was suffering from Bright's Disease.

"I kept taking the medicines the doctors gave me all this time but they did me no good. A few weeks ago I chanced to tell a friend that I had given up hope. 'Why don't you try Dodd's Kidney Pills?' he told me. 'I went directly to the drug store and got three boxes which I have used and which have so much improved my health that without hesitation I say I am sure it is but a matter of a short time till I become completely and permanently cured.'"

SOUTH AFRICA.

CAPS TOWN, Oct. 17.—In a brisk fight at Twenty-Four Streams, near Piquetberg yesterday, Captain Belle was killed and four other British were killed and several others wounded. The British having surprised several camps, the Boers are now in the habit of shifting camps by night. Lately the British columns after long marches have arrived at their objectives only to find the Boers gone.

British columns penetrating Orange River Colony miles from the railway find fields of maize or freshly plowed lands, the Boers making of at their approach and returning when the columns pass on. The herds on the high velt still seem to be numerous. The Boers are living on cattle and mealies stored in out of the way place.

THE HACKING COUGH.

One of the meanest things to get rid of is a hacking cough. There is apparently no cause for it. No soreness, no irritation at first; but the involuntary effort of the muscles of the throat to get rid of something is almost constant. Of course, with many coughs is a habit, but it is a bad habit, and should be stopped. When you realize it and try to stop it, you find you can't, for by that time there is an actual irritation, which will never get better without treatment. It is a curious thing that nearly all treatment for cough actually makes the cough worse. Then, too, most medicines for cough have a bad effect in the stomach. This is especially true of so-called cough remedies that contain a narcotic. The true treatment for cough is one that heals the irritated surfaces. This is what Adamson's Botanic Cough Balm does. It protects the throat also while the healing process is going on. When this remedy was first compounded our old men were young boys, and all this time it had been doing a steady work of healing throats. The most obstinate hacking cough will quickly show the effect of the Balm. People who have been trying for years to break up the mean little cough, will find a sure friend in this old-time soothing compound made from the barks and gums of trees. All druggists sell Adamson's Botanic Balm. 25 cents.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.—Miss Laplaine, sister of the condemned murderer of madam Lefebvre, of Ste. Cuneogonde, wrote to the Duchess of Cornwall requesting the influence of Her Royal Highness in the case of her brother. The letter was turned over to Major Maude, who in turn sent it to the department of justice. Laplaine's lawyer, Mr. Geoffroin, has since obtained an order from Justice Ouimet delaying the time for the execution.
