THE NOVA SCOTIA ELEC TIONS.

The great liberal victory at the polls in the general elections for members to the Nova Scotia House of Assembly was even more sweeping than the most optimistic had dared to predict. Out of a house of 38 members, the liberals captured every seat but two, the exceptions being one seat in Cumberland and one seat in Pictor counties. Pictou, which had been is remembered that Pictou has been normally for years overwhelmingly conservative. The election of one conservative member in the now liberal county of Cumberland is apparently due to local party dissensions, as the liberal postmaster, Mr. Amos Purdy, sapplied the conservatives with most of their campaign hterature We do not know anything of the particulars of the squabble, but as one of these curious campaign ar ticles of the Postmaster's closes with the statement that the author is 76 years of age, it is charitable to suppose he has been using the privileges of second childhood. The counties of Colchester, Lunenburg and Hants which were counted upon as sure by the conservatives, have all gone solidly liberal. In Hants the late leader of the local opposition, Mr. Wilcox and his running mate, Mr. Stairs, of Halifax, were defeated after a tremendous effort on their part, and in Lunenburg, which at the last election returned the Hon. Mr. Church by a majority of 2 votes, has gone liberal with nearly 1000 majority. No less than nine conservative candidates failed to obtain one half as many votes as the lowest successful candidate and consequently lose their deposits. Altogether it was a crush ing defeat, and the government led by the Hon. Geo. H. Murray as to be congtatulated upon such a flattering popular verdict of the success which it has attained in its administration of Nova Scotia public affairs. Among those buried under the cloud of adverse ballots is the Editor of the Halifax Heraid, to whom we extend our sincere sympathy as to a brother in mistortune. And we would like to have a moment's near heart talk with our erring brother of the quil when we would say to mm, as a lather to a sick boy, that he really should have known betier than to have been deceived by the own editorial mis-state bretion of the birthday of the reigning There is no intention so far evidently has received the proper endorselion as a strong progressive and honest administration. THE ROYAL VISIT.

Next Thursday the Duke and Duchess of York are to visit St. John, that being the only stop made in the Province of New Brunswick. The Royal party has been making a somewhat extended tour of Canada since their landing in Quebec. After visiting Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto they proceeded to the Pacific coast over the C. P. R. in a special train manufactured by that railway for the occasion and are now on their way eastward again. Great preparations have been made in the different cities they have visited and St. John will in all likelihood do itself proud on the occasion of the royal party's visit. A popular reception is to be tendered the Duke and Duchess of York in the Exhibition Building in that city at which no doubt the youth and beauty of the province as well as ably written paper, "School Governits more sedate representatives will gather to do honor to the future King and Queen. The field excursion conducted by Dr. Hay which was to have occupied the third session had to be given up owing to the uninviting condition of the weather. In it stead Dr. Hay read an exceedingly instructive and helpful paper-"How to begin the study of plants,"and also gave the institute an interesting talk on the habits of birds and animals. A discussion on 'The Teacher," opened by Mr. Coates, was entered into by Dr. Hay, Inspector Smith and others. Before the close of this session the thanks of the Institute was tendered Dr. Hay for his kindness in attending the meeting and for the assistance given by him in the program.

CRYING BABIES.

The Cry of an Infant is Nature's Six

Babies never cry unless there is some very good reason for it. The cry of a baby is nature's warning signal that there is something wrong. Every mother ought to get to work immediately to find out what that something wrong may be. If the fretfulness and irritation are not caused by exterior sources, it is conclusive evidence that the crying baby is ill. The only safe and judicious thing to do is to administer Baby's Own Tablets without the slightest delay.

For indigestion, sleeplessness, the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth, diarrhœa, constipation, colic, and simple fevers, these marvellous little tablets have given relief in thousands of cases and saved many precious baby lives. Do not give a child so-called "soothing" medicines; such only stupify and produce unnatural sleep. Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to contain no opiate or other harmless drugs; they promote sound, healthy sleep because they go directly to the root of baby troubles. Disselved in water these tablets can be given to the youngest infant. Mrs. Walter Brown, Milby, Que., says: -"I have never used any medicine for baby that did as much good as Baby's Own Tablets. I would not be without them,"

Baby's Own Tablets are for sale at all drug stores, or will be sent direct on receipt of price (25 cents a box) by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont

OTTAWA, Oct. 7 - Mrs. Mary Lambkin, mother of Mr. J. B. Lambkin, was seriou ly burned this morning. She is sixtythree years old. She got up early and evidently finding it cold went down to look at the furnace which was a very unusual thing for her to do. Those in bed upstairs heard screams and rushing down found Mrs. Lambkin lying on the floor in front of the furnace unconscious. She was badly burned about the face and neck. It is hoped she will recover.

BEDFELLOWS IN MEXICO.

Experience of a Traveler While Passing Through That Country.

"I had a rather unhappy experience once," said a traveler, "but it was at a time when my nerves could not stand a great deal, and the shock was no surprise to me. I was really happy when I found that my eyes had played me no trick and that the things about me were real things. I had journeyed down into Mexico for the purpose of spending some time. The trip was partly a business trip and partly for such pleasure as I could get out of an experience in a country that was new to me. I ought to say here that I had never been in a tropical country. My life had been spent in the north, and whatever I knew about many of the forms of life in tropical sections was altogether theoretical. I had merely read about many of the things, but I learned afterward that there were many things I had never dreamed of even in moments when my mind was inclined to conjure with the horrors of uneven sleep. Well, I found myself in Mexico. I was in the wilds of Mexico, and that where one could find but few of the comforts known to the more advanced ways of living. I stopped with an old Mexican one night, and he put me in a dumpy little room off to myself. I slept on the floor, or, rather, I started to sleep on the floor, and it was a dirt floor at that. I coiled up on a mattress made of some light material. I had just closed my eyes when I felt something scramble rapidly over my forehead. It started me a bit, but I kept cool and still to see if it would happen

It happened in less time than it takes to tell it. This thing kept up until the experiment was disorganizing my nerves and I could stand it no longer. I got up and started out, and I felt the same thing happening to my feet. Partly panic stricken, I rushed into the room of the old Mexican, "Something in yonder," I said, pointing toward my room, He took in the situation at once and assured me that it was all right. He struck a light and went to the room with me to assure me that there was no danger. When I got back to my room, I was paralyzed. Crawling over the walls of the hut and scampering over the floor, over the mattress on which I had lain and running here and there and everywhere, was a perfect army of lizards of all sizes, ages and varieties. I told the Mexican to leave me the light and that I would occu- DOMINION OF CANADA-NEW BRUNSpy the room for the night. And so I did. But I did not sleep, for I did not want the lizards, however harmless and companionable they might be, to convert my face and forehead into a promenade. This wound up my experience in Mexico, and I scampered over the border as soon as possible, and since that time the wilder regions of the tropics have had no fascination for me

The Water Beetle.

The great carnivorous water beetle, the dysticus, after catching and eating other creatures all day, with two minute intervals to come up, poke the tips of its wings out of the water and jam some air against its spiracles before descending once more to its subaqueous hunting grounds, will rise by night from the surface of the Thames, lift again those horny wing cases, unfold a broad and beautiful pair of gauzy wings and whirl off on a visit of love and adventure to some distant pond, on to which it descends like a bullet from the air above. When people are sitting in a greenhouse at night with no lamp lighted, talking or smoking, they sometimes hear a smash, as if a pebble had been dropped on the glass from above. It is a dysticus beetle, whose compound eyes have mistaken the shine of the glass in the moonlight for the gleam of a pond. At night some of the whirligig beetles, the shiny, beanlike creatures seen whirling in incessant circles in corners by the bank, make a quite audible and almost musical sound upon the water.
