

WASHINGTON, D. C., U. S. A., Oct. 4, 1901. -- Reciprocity will be the keynote of the Roosevelt administration, if any dependence is to be put in signs. Already Brguments pro and con are being circulat. There is no prospect that the supply o ted everywhere and the Republicans are lining up for and against the principle of trade arrangements. Among other things the Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury has recently put forth a buildtin pointing something to say in regard to shipping or out in detail the workings of all previous treaties of the sort that the United States has had, and showing the great advan tages that has been derived thereform. Among others, it notes the results of the now, when we have steel ships of 7,000 Traly with Catada, which existed from Sept. 11, 1854 to March 17, 1866, giving the imports and exports of the two coun tries for every year of that period and contracting them with the two years preceding and the two years following it. The figures show an enormous increase on both sides during the treaty and a marked falling off alter its rescinding. Briefly, they show that the imports from Canada increased from about six million dollars in 1952 and 1853 to over $15,000,-000 in 1855, an average of about 20,000. 000 for the next eight years, over $33, 000,000 in 1865 and over $48,000,000 in 1866. After the treaty was rescinded. these imports promptly dropped off to shoe; Albert M. Fergeson, Winnipey,

"I happened to see with my own eyes the other day a clever trick played by a pair of ravens, which carried me back to old Æsop and his fables, for here as I gazed was one of the venerable tales acted out in real life.

"A silly little pup was playing about when he came upon a nice, tasty bone. I was watching him worry the bone and was enjoying the pleasure be seemed to get out of it, when down dropped two ravens. They wanted that bone. It stuck out all over them, their desire, and their eyes shone with the lust of conquest

"They fluttered about for some time, but Jo, the pup, paid no attention. He wouldn't be fooled, and I could scarcely keep from laughing to see how adroit the | YOUNG ROCKEFELLER WILL WED SENATOR avens were and how stubborn the pup 1.48

"Finally the raven sneaked behind Jo and scuttled quietly up until he was perhaps two feet from the pup's tail. The other raven remained in front, fluttering here and there, just enough to keep the dog's attention on him. When the raven in the rear had gained a proper positionthat is, had crept close enough-the wily old bird in front began to jump up and down. I was bewildered at first. I John D. Rockfeller, Jr., at 11 30 a. m. couldn't make out what the birds were up to for the longest while, and when the jumping process began I was more mystified than ever until the dog, distracted beautiful tea house overlooking Nairaby the jumping process, stopped worrying the bone and looked up.
