THE SUFFERINGS OF JOB.

If the agonies of Job were any worse than the tortures of itching piles from which so many people are now suffering he had much to endure. The difference is that there is no reason for any one to endure the miseries of piles for a single day.

Bright Pupils.

A young woman teacher in one of the grammar schools in Brooklyn was speaking of her work the other day. She said that unless a person had some experience in teaching he could scarcely understand how marvelously stupid some children were and what peculiar mistakes ordinarily bright children sometimes make.

On another day one of the questions in a grammar examination read: "I cannot see it." Complete this sentence by using the words plain or plainly. Give your reason.

One bright youth wrote this answer: "I cannot see it plain." Reason: Because it is too far away.

Another scholar answered the question as to why the Dutch settled on the Hudson river by saying, "So they could have a place to wash."

Evils of Excessive Smoking.

While a good cigar, used temperately two or three times a day, may be smoked by the average adult man to good advantage, excessive indulgence in smoking is very harmful. It is only necessary to recall one's first cigar and the profound effect it produced to realize that the smoking of tobacco in large quantities is trifling with a dangerous agent, says the Baltimore Sun.

The chief effects of smoking are from the nicotine and empyreumatic oil, the first being an active poison—an infinitesimal quantity will destroy life—and the latter, which is the rank accumulation in the stem of the pipe, is also a potent poison, one drop on the tongue of a cat having been fatal. The nicotine and the oil both act on the nervous system, though differently, the nicotine paralyzing the heart by its action on the brain, while the oil confines itself chiefly to the spinal cord and the motor nerves.

It will thus be seen that no part of the victim's equipment escapes the deadly effect of tobacco in excess.

Railroading Terms.

Railroading terms in England and America differ very widely. The English would speak of shunting a train. We call it switching. Freight trains they call goods trains, coaches are carriages, conductors are guards, engineers are drivers, trucks are boggies and freight cars are wagons. The British always say station instead of depot, and in that they have the better of us. Rails they call metals and tracks permanent ways. They do not get their tickets at a ticket office, but at a booking office, and the smokestack of the locomotive is to them the chimney. A railroad man going from one country to the other finds that he has to learn an entirely new set of phrases about his business.

A Chameleon's Bite.

The bite even of the largest chameleon does not fetch blood, though the teeth leave indentations. I often, says a naturalist, provoke them to bite me in order to observe their habits, and only once, when one caught me between the fingers where the skin is tender, was I really hurt. On this occasion the thing held on so persistently and firmly that I could not for some time free my finger. At last I was obliged to call some one to get it off by forcibly opening its mouth. Even then it did not pierce the skin. Its teeth are too fine and regular, but the dotted triangular impression of the little teeth was very red and distinct for some minutes.

Do Your Work Well.

Possibly you think your employer does not notice you or know about your work. The writer of this was talking the other evening to an extensive employer of labor, and he talked most of the evening about his workmen. He knew all about every one of them, from the head man to the laborers, and noted their good and bad points. Don't forget that your employer knows all about you. When he needs a new foreman or superintendent, he knows the one to select.

To Little Profit.

"Don't you think I preached a very poor sermon this morning?" asked the new preacher of the deacon, from whom he expected a compliment. "Yaas, I do," drawled the honest deacon, "but it runs in my mind that I've heard worse, of I cud only rickollect wher' it wuz."

The Trouble.

Wicks—There should be a law to restrain the theaters from printing those mossy jokes in their programmes. Hicks—You don't have to read them. Wicks—No, but you usually have to listen to some idiot behind you reading and explaining them.

Determination.

"I am afraid that your boy lacks determination," said the neighbor. "That's where you wrong him," answered Farmer Cornstossel. "I never saw anybody as determined not to work as Josh is."

The Same Air.

Mrs. Homer—Jane, open that window and let a little fresh air into the house. Jane—It isn't fresh air at all, mom; it's the same air that's been about here all the morning.

The Wear and Tear of It.

"You must find it wearing to be the wife of a genius." "Yes; so many fools want to know how I am able to get along with him." —Chicago Record-Herald.

BUCKINGHAM WAS TAKEN.

They Had Him Sure Before Curtain and Actor Went Down.

During the first year of my travels as an actor I joined a troupe that was presenting Shakespearean tragedy. We were playing in one of the provincial cities of England when a new actor, an inexperienced amateur, joined the company and was assigned the role of Catesby in which to make his debut in the play of "Richard the Third."

I can remember that on the night of his first appearance he was frightfully nervous and was anxious to proclaim the fact that the Duke of Buckingham was taken, as he had been practicing and studying it for several weeks. The result was that he got the wrong cue and made his entrance before time, crying out: "My lord, the Duke of Buckingham is taken!"

Richard turned to him and in an undertone said: "Get off! Get off! You're too soon."

The actor left the stage mortified and more "rattled" than ever. So that scarcely was he in the wings before he again made the same mistake and again proclaimed that the Duke of Buckingham was taken. Richard turned upon him for the second time and told him to leave the stage. He also whispered, "Somebody take care of that idiot and tell him when to make his entrance."

The prompter grabbed the actor by the hand and when the proper time came said: "Now is your time. Tell Richard he's taken."

The actor rushed upon the stage, hesitated, looked at Richard and then in a wild tone of voice exclaimed: "We have him, by heaven, and we have him sure!"

I believe the curtain went down, and if I remember rightly, the curtain was not the only thing that went down.—J. H. Stoddard in Saturday Evening Post

THE LOST CHILD.

A Dramatic Incident at an Ocean Grove Experience Meeting.

It had been an experience meeting. Ten thousand people were assembled in the great auditorium by the sea. There had been the handshake, the waving of handkerchiefs, the hymn, the prayer, the word which told the spiritual history of many a soul.

The bishop stood upon the platform in the act of pronouncing the benediction. Emotion was at its height. It seemed as if a spiritual wave had swept over the multitude, wrapping it in a divine caress.

At that moment a little child was passed up to the platform, and the bishop took it in his arms. "Lost child," were the whispered words. The baby put its dimpled arms about the bishop's neck and laid its head upon his shoulder, its yellow curls mingling with his gray hair.

"Lost child," said the bishop in his deep, sympathetic voice. "Does any one in the audience know this baby or to whom it belongs? Will the father or mother come and claim it?" There was silence, and the baby nestled closer, and the women who sat near said, "Oh!"

Then a man was seen making his way to the altar. It was the baby's father. Instantly the child stretched out its arms to go to him. Then as he gave it up the bishop said:

"There are 10,000 lost souls in Ocean Grove. The Father's arms are waiting to receive them. So go to your Father's outstretched arms as has this little child."

Old Time Foods.

An old writer comments in the following quaint manner on the superiority of English food over that of the poor people in France: "They ate no bread that beans in vere, but of cocket or clermatyn or else of clean wheat—ne no piece of bacon, but if it be fresh flesh; other, fish fried, other, bake."

But, for all that, the impossibility of obtaining fresh fish daily forced the ordinary layman to fall back upon the salted article, and the consumption of badly salted fish has since been pointed out as one of the chief causes of the mediæval scourge of leprosy.—London Chronicle.

Young Doctor's Need of Haste.

"Yes," said the old doctor; "you should try to have your own carriage, by all means, because when you want to get to a patient quickly!"

"Oh," interrupted the young M. D., "I don't think any patient who sent for me would be likely to die before I reached him."

"No, but he might recover before you got there."

Careless Parents.

"Why don't you make a name for yourself?" asked the serious person. "I only wish I had had the chance," said the pale young man, "but my parents thought they knew it all, and they made up one of their own, and that's why I am compelled to struggle against fate under the handicap of Reginald Claude de Vere Smithers."

His Way.

Sabbath School Teacher—When very angry, what should you do?

Johnny Thickett—Knock the other feller down, sit on his head and then count 200. That's the only safe way, ma'am.

Severely Ill.

"It's sick you've been, Mrs. McGinnit say?" "Sick, is it? I was that sick that I'd be a dead woman now if I hadn't 'a lived."

When the Bowels are Constipated

It is a serious matter to neglect constipation. You may do so for a time, only to find that your health has been undermined by bodily derangements of the most fatal kind. You should have a movement of the bowels every day. To accomplish this, avoid concentrated foods, use vegetables and fruits freely, and take one of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills before retiring, two or three times a week, or oftener if required.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are not an ordinary cathartic. They have a specific and combined action on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and consequently cure constipation and the accompanying derangements thoroughly and well, by removing the causes.

For the information of those who are not yet familiar with the peculiar merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, we might add that they are purely vegetable in composition, pleasant and natural in action, and remarkably prompt and far-reaching in effect, even in the most serious and chronic cases of constipation, kidney and liver diseases and stomach troubles. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

IN THIS LOCALITY.

The medicine dealers in this place say that there is no preparation on the market to-day that has anything like such an enormous sale as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver pills. Would this extraordinary demand for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills continue and gradually increase if people were not being benefited and cured by their use? Certainly not. One Pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Strike the Iron

While it's Hot Is good advice.

Take Burdock Blood Bitters This Spring is better advice.

During the winter, heavy rich foods are necessary to keep the body warm. When the spring comes, the system is clogged up with heavy sluggish blood; you feel tired, weary and listless and that all-gone, no-ambition feeling takes possession of you. If you take Burdock Blood Bitters it will regulate your system, put you into condition and make you feel bright, happy and vigorous.
