Twenty Years of Itching Piles

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, thirty years resident of Bowmanville, Ont., writes:— "For twenty long years I suffered from itching piles, and only persons who have been troubled with that annoying disease can imagine what I endured during that time. About seven years ago I asked a druggist if he had anything to cure me. He said that Dr. Chase's Ointment was most favorably spoken of, and on his recommendation I took a box.

"After three applications I felt better, and by the time I had used one box I was on a fair way to recovery. I continued the treatment until thoroughly cured, and as that was seven years ago, and I have not suffered any since, I am firmly convinced that the ointment made a perfect cure.

"I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment an invaluable treatment for piles. In my case I think the cure was remarkable when you consider that I am getting up in years and I have been so long a sufferer from this disease." 60 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmansons, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The case of Berj. D. Green and John F. Gaynor, whose removal from Canada to the state of Georgia for trial on charges of misappropriation and embezzlement of over two million dollars in connection with river and harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga., has been sought for some time by the United States, will take on a diplomatic phase in a few days, when Secretary Hay communicates to the British government the view of the officials of the department of justice that the Canadian authorities are pursuing an "extraordinary and unwarranted course in the case."

FOR A CERTAINTY I AM CURED.

Mr. James Treneman, butcher, 536 Adelaide Street, London, Ont., writes that for two years he was laid up with kidney disease and urinary troubles. He became dropsical and his legs would swell so that he could scarcely go round. He never used any medicine that did him so much good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and knows for a certainty that this treatment cured him. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Those interested in the West Virginia coal fields claim that the strike is virtually a thing of the past. Seven carloads of miners from East Virginia and North Carolina arrived in the fields Tuesday and immediately went to work, many of them being old miners returning. The labor leaders assert on the other hand the critical stage has not arrived yet.

The minister of marine and fisheries has issued a statement which shows that the total extent of the damages wrought by the recent storm to property and fishing interests on the coasts and in the outer waters amounts to $750,000. Making allowance for property that has been partially recovered, reports show that the loss will reach $500,000.

As They See Themselves.

There never was a looking glass in country or in city That ever could convince a lass That she was aught but pretty. —Philadelphia Press.

When We Notice Them.

"Yes," said the philosophical person, "wealth brings its disappointments." "After we lose it," puts in the materialistic man.—Judge.

The Sleepy Fisherman.

Drowns in a river bank; That is all my wishin'. Wake me up when evenin' comes; Life's too short fer fishin'. —Atlanta Constitution.

Without Effort.

"Is he a hard drinker?" "Indeed no! It's the easiest thing he does."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Fisher.

The tired fisherman now thinks, As home he slowly winds, "I have no fish to string, but I will surely string my friend." —Chelsea (Mass.) Gazette.

Dry Skins.

A mixture of glycerin and mutton tallow is excellent for restoring the oil of the skin when it is dry and hard.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

Political Fences.

"The political expression 'keeping your fences fixed,' said an old campaigner, 'is due to a remark once made by Senator John Sherman.

"It was at a time when the senator had amassed the most of his fortune. He had a farm near his home town, and while preparing to drive out to it one afternoon he was accosted by a book agent, who labored hard to sell one of his books. Mr. Sherman was not in a mood to make any such purchases, and he finally silenced the man by saying: 'I can't afford to buy your book. It takes all my money to keep my fences fixed.'

"In reality Mr. Sherman referred to the fences on his farm, but some of his political associates, hearing of the remark a few days later, took it up at once and made a political phrase of it. It was first confined only to the state of Ohio, but it has now become so common that no one ever takes the trouble to wonder where it originated."

Silencing the Questioners.

A French gentleman who had been with M. de Talleyrand for twenty years accompanied him to the congress at Vienna after Napoleon's exile to Elba. People naturally concluded that this long intimacy had made him familiar with a number of particulars of the minister's life and bearing also upon the events with which he had been mixed up. Worried with questions, the friend invariably replied that he knew nothing, but the questioners would not be satisfied and returned to the charge. "Very well," finally said Talleyrand's confidant, "I'll tell you a peculiar and altogether unknown fact in connection with M. de Talleyrand. Since Louis XV. he's the only man who can open a soft boiled egg with one backward stroke of his knife without spilling a drop of the contents of the shell. That's the only peculiarity I know in connection with him."

Discretion had scored a decisive victory. From that moment the questions ceased.

Tennyson's Early Poems.

Tennyson was only eight years old when he covered both sides of his brother's slate with a poem on "Flowers," done in unimpeachable meter. His brother had said to him, "See if you can write poetry," and when he read the verse on the slate he merely said, "You've done it." Between the ages of eleven and twelve the young poet wrote an epic of over 4,000 lines in Scott's octosyllabics mingled with heroics. These were the only finished poems of Tennyson's boyhood, but when about fourteen or fifteen years old he commenced a drama in iambic meter which still survives. Thus he practiced himself in three different meters before he began seriously to write or publish.

Forgetting His Own Picture.

Reynolds once forgot the existence of one of his pictures. Burke once obtained a very early work and called on the great artist, submitting the work as that of a young student who sought advice from the master. Reynolds had a long look and then asked, "Is the painter a friend of yours?"

Burke replied in the affirmative.

"Well," replied the great man, "I really don't feel able to give an opinion. It's a cleverish thing, but whether it is of sufficient promise to justify the young man in adopting art as a profession I cannot say."

Sir Joshua had entirely forgotten his own work.

Taking One's Own Pulse.

Being able to "take" one's own pulse is a doubtful accomplishment, because the heart has some peculiarities, the importance of which are sure to be overestimated except by physicians, and much uneasiness occasioned in consequence. Irregularity of the pulse is naturally to no small number of people without other signs of disease. It may also be simply a transient symptom, due to errors of habit or other causes, which, disappearing, leave no trace behind them.

Too Costly.

King George II. once wished to add the Green park, in London, to his palace grounds whether the people liked it or not. He inquired of his minister as to the cost.

His lordship, mindful of the general discontent then prevalent, answered: "The cost, sir? Oh, it would be a matter of three crowns!"

The king took the hint. The people kept their park and the sovereign his triple throne.

Cinnamon as an Antiseptic.

No living germ of disease can resist the antiseptic power of essence of cinnamon for more than a few hours. In destroying microbes it is not less effective than corrosive sublimate. Even the scent kills them. A decoction of cinnamon should be drunk in localities where typhoid fever or cholera prevails.

Superb.

"What a regal carriage he has! There is surely royal blood in his veins. Do you know him?" whispered the enthusiastic woman.

"Yes," replied the man, "he comes of a long line of janitors."

Much In Her Name.

Church—She is a Russian countess. Gotham—Indeed! Has she much in her own name?

"Has she? She's got nearly the entire alphabet!"

Bad Beginnings.

A bad beginning makes a good ending sometimes, but more often it makes a very quick ending.—Syracuse Herald.

Learning without thought is labor lost; thought without learning is perilous.—Confucius.

A Game of Leapfrog.

Napoleon Bonaparte, as is well known, was in the habit of walking with his arms crossed upon his chest and his head slightly bent forward. Isabeby, the painter, was at Malmaison, and he and some of the first consul's aids-de-camp were having a game of leapfrog on the lawn. Isabeby had already jumped over the heads of most of them, when at the turning of a path he espied the last player, who, in the requisite position, seemed to be waiting for the ordeal. Isabeby prepared his course without looking, but took his flight so badly as only to reach the other's shoulder, and both rolled over and over in the sand.

To Isabeby's consternation, his supposed fellow player turned out to be Bonaparte, who got up, foaming at the mouth with anger, and drawing his sword, pounced upon the unfortunate artist. Isabeby, luckily for himself, better at running than at leaping, took to his heels and, jumping the ditches dividing the property from the highroad, got over the wall and never stopped until, breathless, he reached the gates of the Tuilleries.

Isabeby, it was added, went immediately to Mme. Bonaparte's apartments, and she, after having laughed at the mishap, advised him to lie low for a little while.

Cemeteries Where Women Gossip.

Friday, the Sabbath of the Moslems, when all true believers of the masculine gender make a point of going to church, their wives, sisters, and daughters resort to the cemeteries and wait for the dead. But all their time is not spent in weeping, and sorrow is not the only emotion they display on these occasions. They take with them bunches and garlands of flowers and decorate the graves of their relatives and pray and weep over the dead for a time. Then, when this pious duty is performed, they gather in little groups and have a good time gossiping about the living.

Thus the day of mourning is very popular among the Moslem women. It gives them almost the only opportunity they have of cultivating the acquaintance of their neighbors, because it is not customary to exchange visits as in our country.

Different Kinds of Feet.

As to national characteristics in feet, it may be said that the French foot is narrow and long. The Spanish foot is small and elegantly curved—thanks to its Moorish blood—corresponding to the Castilian's pride of being "high in the instep." The Arab's foot is proverbial for its high arch. The Koran says that a stream of water can run under the true Arab's foot without touching it. The foot of the Scotch is high and thick, that of the Irish flat and square, the English short and fleshy. When Athens was in her zenith, the Greek foot was the most perfectly formed and exactly proportioned of that of any of the human race. Swedes, Norwegians and Germans have the largest feet, Americans the smallest. Russian toes are "webbed" to the first joint. Tartarian toes are all the same length.

Queer Coronation Custom.

One of the most extraordinary gifts made on the coronation day of Edward I. was that of 500 horses, which had been used by the royal princes and other personages in the procession to Westminster abbey. These horses, all richly caparisoned and harnessed just as they were, were let loose into the very midst of the mob after the banquet in Westminster hall that always succeeded a coronation in those days. The people in the streets were permitted to catch the animals, and to him who caught a horse it and its appointments belonged.

A Momentous Game

"How is your story going to end?" asked the publisher, who had dropped in to see the gifted author.

"That will be decided by the poker game I'm going to play this evening," said the gifted author. "If I win, the story will end with the hero and heroine marrying and everybody happy. If I lose, I shall kill off the hero, send the heroine to a nunnery and fill the last chapter just as full of misery as it can stick."

His Only Chance.

Kindly Old Gentleman—Why do you carry that umbrella, little boy? It's not raining.

"No, sir."

"And the sun's not shining?"

"No, sir."

"Then why do you carry it?"

"Well, when it's raining pa wants it, and when the sun's shining ma wants it, and it's only this kinder weather I can get to use it at all."

Winning Her Papa.

She—When you go to ask papa, the first thing he will do will be to accuse you of seeking my hand merely to become his son-in-law.

He—Yes? And then—

"And then you must agree with him. He's a lot prouder of himself than he is of me."

The Chief End.

"What," inquired the student, "do you regard as the chief end of man?"

"Well," answered the professor, "it depends upon what you want the man for. If you want him to do brain work it's his head, and if you want him to run errands it's his feet."

Marrying For Money.

When a girl marries for money, very often she has to make the divorce court her collection agency.

Many a man who is capable of giving good advice isn't capable of earning his salt.

DOMINION NEWS.

Mr. Cheal, fellow of the Royal Horticultural Society in Great Britain, who has recently been touring in the Niagara fruit district, says that this year there is a decided shortage of plums and early apples in England. Mr. Cheal says that this presents golden opportunity to push the Canadian product on the British market.

The chief feature of the International Moulders convention at Toronto on Tuesday, was an address by President Fox, who strongly emphasized the necessity of keeping faith in agreements with the National Founders' Association. He also strongly urged the convention to endorse the nine hour movement. He thought that wiser than to jump from 10 hour to eight hour system. Regarding the moulding machine, he said:

"Our original attitude towards the machine was short sighted and mistaken resulting in injury to our own interest. The foundry industry is developing and our union must adopt its policy to changing conditions or fall into decay." The total income for the three year term was $596,262; total disbursements $532,101; balance $63,160.

In the Dominion Rifle Association programme this year a quick magazine firing match has been arranged for, the distances will be 200, 800, 1,000 and 1,100 yards. The prizes amount to over $1,500, $500 of which has been subscribed by Sir Charles Ross, the inventor of the Ross magazine rifle.

The Canadian rifle team shot a match at Bisley, England, with Rhodesian rifle team and won by nineteen points. Eight colonial teams have entered for the Kalgore match against the mother country, the highest number on record.

The departmental store of T. H. Pratt Co., at Hamilton, Ont., was burned out Thursday. The stock was valued at $65,000, is at a total loss and the building is damaged to the extent of $7,000. Grafton & Co.'s clothing store, adjoining the Pratt building, lost heavily by water damage. All were well insured.

An Ottawa Gentleman Says:

"Life Was a Burden to Me, and No Living Mortal Could Describe My Suffering."

Three Bottles of Paine's Celery Compound Wrought a Glorious and Happy Cure that Astonished a Whole Community.

In the ranks of sick and diseased sufferers, many men and women have become hopeless because of the failures of physicians and their medicines.

We would have all such dejected and despairing mortals take comfort this very day. We would impress upon them the blessed truth that Paine's Celery Compound is abundantly able to save and cure. A multitude of people saved from disease and death have given strong and incontrovertible testimony that Paine's Celery Compound can save even at the eleventh hour. Mr. F. Finster, Ottawa, Ont., tells of his terrible condition, his failures with physicians, and of his wonderful cure by Paine's Celery Compound; he writes thus:

"For four years I endured terrible agony and misery owing to pains in my head and chest. Life was a burden to me, and no mortal could describe my sufferings. I was treated by doctors, and used many patent medicines, but nothing gave me relief until I used your Paine's Celery Compound. I thank God for the day it was brought to my notice in the Ottawa papers. I have taken three bottles of the medicine, and to-day I can truly say that I feel like a new man. I will recommend the remedy whenever I have the opportunity, as it is the best ever given to sufferers."

HOW IS YOUR MOWER?

It doesn't pay to use an old worn out one. It doesn't pay to buy an inferior new one. It pays to buy the best. The best is the McCormick Vertical Lift. With it you can raise your cutterbar perpendicular in a moment without getting off your seat, and in doing so you throw your mower out of gear automatically. No other mower possesses this feature, no other mower has so strong, simple and serviceable a foot-lift. No other mower has a draft-rod pulling so directly from the inside shoe. No other mower has so strong a frame. No other mower has such perfect gears. No other mower is so easily handled by man and team. No other mower runs in the same class. McCormick Harvesting Machines have been manufactured for seventy-one years, and to-day more than two millions of them are in use in every corner of the world. I have McCormick Mowers, Rakes, Reapers and Binders and the price is right. Examine them closely and compare with others. Call and see my stock of repairs.
