LEGAL NEWSPAPER DECISIONS.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the Post Office—whether directed to his address or another, or whether he has subscribed or not—is responsible for the pay.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount, whether it is taken from the office or not.

RICHIBUCTO, N. B. JAN. 7, 1901

BRETHREN IN UNITY.

No class of people live such strenuous lives as newspaper editors. Unlike other trades or professions, this one absorbs the man who follows it. His family ties or his personal pleasures are secondary considerations which must be sacrificed, if necessary, at the call of the duty he owes his paper. With a lot sufficiently hard at the best, the newspaper fraternity use their ability to make it as much harder as possible for one another. In no other trade or profession is a man's mistakes laid bare on every occasion to the public, but he who publishes a paper must needs wait in fear and trembling for the appearance of each issue to know whether he or the printer's devil has been the latest cause of offence. If it isn't some unguarded remark let drop with the ink in the rush of a life filled with multitudinous duties, then it occurs in the reading of the proof or the piecing of the form. Nine times out of ten it is there, and the person offended lands on the editor. That is natural and these trifles can be borne with equanimity. But why should every newspaper man make it harder for his neighbour by picking out the faults that less skilful eyes have perhaps passed unnoticed.

The Review is not preaching, for being gored on many occasions by our neighbours in the journalistic field, we have been guilty of the offence of passing along the prod to the other fellow. But we think it would be a good idea if the newspaper editors met once a year and made a few good resolutions in regard to brotherly kindness. The city dailies are even worse than the country weeklies. If a mechanical mistake occurs in the makeup, the rival sheet at once misrepresents it as though desirous of making it just as hard as possible for the understrapper who made the mistake.

At the beginning of a new year would be a good time for us all to swear off, and not amuse the public any longer at the expense of one another. As a lumberman once remarked, "the newspaper men are like a parcel of bulldogs, only worse. You don't even need to sic 'em as you do the dogs, to have 'em at one another's throats." No doubt the reason of it, is the natural clashing of bright minds but the wit or sarcasm had better be reserved for other game. We can afford to be courteous to one another, seeing that we live in the public eye through our respective papers, and as a natural consequence have our faults told us quite frequently by one and another of the general public.

ST. STEPHEN, Jan 7.—Charles Newton, an employee of the St. Croix cotton mills in Milltown, dropped dead as he was leaving the mill this morning. He was about 53 years of age and has a wife and family living in Lewiston, Me., where the body will be sent for interment.

A RETROGRADE MOVEMENT.

We have noticed with some amusement the attempts of certain gentlemen of the Halifax Board of Trade to arouse a national interest in their proposal to hand over the people's railway to the C. P. Ry. This attempt to turn back the hands of progress on the dial of time has excited a certain interest, perhaps it would be more correct to say, amazement tinged with amusement, such as a spectator of a Rip Van Winkle movement is compelled to acquire knowledge, as he wonders how many years these men have been wandering in the wilderness. Would it be correct to name 6 years as the term of their pilgrimage of forgetfulness of the country's progress, and to set their activity down as a matter of conservatism in politics quite as much as in matters of transportation?

Only last week we had the proposal from Sir Sandford Fleming—whom no one can dismiss as a mere theoretical dreamer—looking to the nationalization of telegraph lines in Canada. And from time to time the project for the nationalization of all great public facilities such as railways, telegraph and telephone lines, is gaining new adherents as the people realize that the problem of government is more and more becoming the protection of the people in public facilities against the crushing power of vested interests. Not that THE REVIEW is prepared to admit the feasibility of carrying into practical effect the pleasant dreams of such bold dreamers as W. F. McLean, M. P., who time and again in the House of Commons as well as in his newspaper, the Toronto World, has argued the necessity of national absorption of corporation interests in transportation and telegraphic lines. We rather prefer the middle and safer ground of the nation holding, so far as may be, the controlling interest, so that if necessity arises the people's interests may be protected against a grinding monopoly. For this reason the I. C. R. is of greater value to Canada than the mileage of its rails or the total capacity of its rolling stock. If at any time the national interests demand, the I. C. R. can be extended to the lake ports to tap the outflow from Canada's western heritage, and to act as an effective barrier to monopoly or the extortion possible from a combination of transportation interests.

Highly considered the best interests of the G. T. Ry., C. P. Ry., Canadian Northern or any other great transportation system is the interest of the Canadian people, but it is not without the range of human probability or of the sphere of practical politics that men of lesser breadth of view may be in charge of the private interests and may forget their duty to the public. It might even be possible by reference to past events to prove that such moments of forgetfulness have not been wanting in Canada's experience. They may at any time again arise. The I. C. Ry is the best guarantee that such periods will not return or if they should that it will no longer be possible to coerce the country into an obedience of private interests.

To use a homely expression, the Halifax Board of Trade has "got the wrong pig by the ear." In its strivings for the development of that splendid seaport, Halifax, as a great national export centre, the Board of Trade has once more reached the conclusion that the paternal action of the government demands the sacrifice of large national interests for the advancement of local conditions at Halifax. These gentlemen dream that the turning over of the I. C. R. to the

C. P. R. will result in the expansion of the trade facilities of Halifax. It is only a dream. The C. P. R. has definitely bound up its future as a great transportation company in St. John so far as the winter export trade is concerned, no matter what day dreams it may be inducing in the minds of the people of the sister city. The C. P. R. is a business not a philanthropic enterprise, and it does not carry goods further than it needs to reach a seaboard outlet. What Halifax might with hope reach out for its development as the great passenger port on the Northern Atlantic.

In the meantime its Board of Trade is simply making itself ridiculous by its vicious proposal to sacrifice national interests to local selfishness.

A UNITED SYMPATHY.

The news that New Brunswick's hard worked Minister, the Hon. A. G. Blair, has been ordered south for his health, has been received with real sorrow throughout Canada. The Montreal Star, one of the bitterest opponents of the government, has the following kindly reference to Mr. Blair's illness:—

"There will be much regret among his political opponents, as well as among his political friends, that Hon. Mr. Blair's health is so impaired that he must seek rest and change of climate. The Department of Railways and Canals is one of the most important in the Government, and entails arduous work upon the Minister at the head of it. Mr. Blair is recognized to be a working Minister, whatever opinion may be entertained as to the policy his activity embodies. In addition to his heavy departmental work he has lately suffered a particularly sad domestic bereavement, which alone might well seriously affect the health of a man of his years, and lead him to desire rest and change of scene. It is a happy characteristic of Canadian political life that domestic sorrow breaks down political barriers, and even mollifies the acerbity of partisan criticism. Mr. Blair's recent loss has brought out the same kindly sympathy which was lately extended to his fellow minister, Dr. Borden, under equally sad circumstances."

ON MAGNETIC HEALING.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most truly remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure thorough and permanent.

PARRSBORO, N. S., Jan. 7.—An inquest was held yesterday afternoon before Dr. Rand, coroner, in view of the body of a male infant found in the river yesterday. Leo Tucker testified that he and two other boys found the body just below Newcomb's bridge, under half an inch of ice. They took the body out and concealed it in a clump of alders and then notified the police. Arthur Tucker confirmed the testimony given by his brother. Policeman Manuge testified that on being notified by the boys he informed the coroner who instructed him to bring the body into town. He also swore to having an interview with a woman known as Augusta Roberts, who admitted that the child was hers, but said it was still born and that she had put it in a slop pail and carried it to the river, where she made a hole in the ice and threw it in. Her reason for doing so was that she did not want any one to know about it. Dr. Corbett swore that at the request of the coroner he had performed an autopsy and found no marks of violence on the body except black marks on the side of the throat. The child was fully developed and had evidently been born alive. The verdict in effect was that the deceased was the child of Augusta Roberts and that she was responsible for its death, either through neglect or by violence.

IT STRIKES THE HEART.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

A DAUGHTER'S DANGER.

A Chatham Mother Tells how Her Daughter, who was Troubled with Weak Heart Action and run Down System was Restored to Health.

Every mother who has a daughter drooping and fading—pale, weak and listless—whose health is not what it ought to be, should read the following statement made by Mrs. J. S. Heath, 39 Richmond Street, Chatham, Ont.:

"Some time ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at the Central Drug Store for my daughter, who is now 13 years of age, and had been afflicted with weak action of the heart for a considerable length of time.

"These pills have done her a world of good, restoring strong, healthy action of her heart, improving her general health and giving her physical strength beyond our expectations.

"They are a splendid remedy, and to any one suffering from weakness, or heart and nerve trouble I cordially recommend them."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box or 3 for $1.35, at all druggists.

MUNDLEVILLE, KENT CO.

(Special to THE REVIEW.)

JAN. 6.—By request of "Dolly Gray" we will try to interest the readers of THE REVIEW by a few happenings from this section.

Measles are more prevalent than Goo Goo eyes in this vicinity since the closing of the schools.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. John Lawson has recovered from a severe attack of the measles.

Smelt fishing is about over here for this season but the fishermen report a good catch. Much praise is due Mr. William Mundle, our bustling buyer, for the recent raise in price.

We wish to correct the statement of "Dolly Gray" in regard to the demise of one of the choir members. The fair one, to which she alluded, is not dead but has left for her home in Moncton for a short vacation.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Robert B. Mundle's fractured shoulder is rapidly improving. He intends taking a trip to Moncton as soon as he can use his arm.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McMichael of West Branch, on Friday evening. Games and dancing were enjoyed. A goodly number of young folks were present.

Mrs. John Warman of Moulis River, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Mundle, of this vicinity.

Mr. John Mundle is suffering from a severe attack of measles. Mr. Mundle claims it is the second time he has had an attack.

A Surprise Party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. James R. Mundle, New Year's eve, and a large number of young folks were present. Dancing was the chief amusement. Mr. David Grant furnished the music.

THE YELLOW KID.

THE USE OF STRONG SOAP WILL NOT WASH OUT DIAMOND DYE COLORS.

Diamond Dye colors are absolutely fast and unfading. Washing with strong soap or exposure in sunlight cannot start or fade these imperishable colors. No other dyes in the world have such a reputation for strength, brilliancy, purity and beauty of colors. Diamond Dyes are the most economical dyes; one package will color as much material as three packages of any other dye.

If you have not yet seen the new and attractive Diamond Dye Mat and Rug Patterns, send your address to The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain St., Montreal, P. Q., and you will be immediately supplied.

CORUNNA, Spain, Jan. 6.—A bark has capsized at the mouth of the river Lezaro and 23 persons, mostly women, were drowned. The River Lezaro is southwest of Corunna and in Corunna province.

Asthma Gasps

Too many asthma sufferers give up their search for cure, believing that their particular case is beyond the control of scientific treatment. It is only necessary to point all such to a new hope in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the one great remedy which has proven its efficiency not only as a prompt relief, but also as a thorough cure for asthma.

Mrs. George Budden, Putnamville, Ont., says:—"I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as I had the asthma very bad; could get nothing to do me good. A friend of mine persuaded me to try this remedy, I did so, and it cured me."

It is impossible to imagine a better treatment for asthma than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It soothes the excited nerves, clears the bronchial tubes, gives prompt relief to the frightful spasms, and, when used regularly, thoroughly and permanently cures asthma. 25 cents, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

And a Splendid Picture of King Edward VII. .50
Total $4.50
ALL FOR $1.75

This is the greatest combination offer ever made by any Canadian journal, and we guarantee to secure the exclusive privileges of this district. The Daily Herald is one of Canada's great papers. Established in 1855, it has long been the leading Liberal paper of Eastern Canada. It is now a great family newspaper, each day giving full news of the world, and also leading march songs to matters of peculiar interest to its family. Its commercial intelligence is complete and reliable.

THE KING'S PORTRAIT is the best ever published in Canada, and will make a handsome addition to the walls of any library. It is produced by a new process, and is not one of the flashy colored portraits so common. As the regular price of The Herald is $3.00 a year, the liberality of our offer is self-evident.

AN UNCANNY IMPULSE.

The Strange Desire Many Persons Feel to Court Death.

Much has been written concerning the almost uncontrollable impulse to jump off which many persons experience when standing on a high place. Akin to this impulse is that which seems absolutely to force people to touch a dangerous object. In many cigar stores there are little automatic cutters provided for taking the tip off of the cigar by simply pressing the end into a small round opening about the size of the end of one's finger. It is surprising how many men will poke their fingers deliberately into these cutters, although they are perfectly aware that they will have a piece of the flesh nipped off. Any cigar man who has one of these cutters on his case will tell you stories of such people that will surprise you. There seems to be a strong tendency in the human race to "monkey with the buzz-saw."

A phase of this subconscious idiosyncrasy—as it might be called for want of a better name—has been developed by the use of electricity as a mechanical force. Many people have a desire which they hardly can control to touch electric machinery or wires, even when they know that the wires are charged with a deadly current and that to touch the machine means instant death.

An electrical engineer in speaking of this strange impulse says: "I have known instances where electricians actually had to turn and run from a machine to prevent giving way to this peculiar influence. Not long ago a man who was employed to sit and watch the switchboard in one of the London dynamo shops fell a victim to the influence. As he felt the desire growing stronger he moved his chair back from the board. Instead of getting used to the work, he became more afraid of it. Each day the desire to walk up and touch one of those switchboards grew stronger. At the end of two weeks the young man resigned his place. He could not stand the strain. It required all his will power to restrain him while on duty, and at night his nervous system was so upset that he could not sleep. He realized that to touch any one of the switches before him meant instant death, and his only safety lay in getting away from the board altogether.

"I have no doubt that many deaths from electric shock are brought about in this way. In an idle moment a person will catch sight of a switch, a wire or some other heavily charged bit of apparatus, and a strange desire to touch it will come over him. In a moment of weakness he gives way to it and the result is instant death. We frequently read of accidental deaths from electric shock when there is no apparent reason why the victim should have touched a live wire. I believe that such cases are attributable directly to this influence."

THE GARDENER.

Soot is an excellent fertilizer for plants, especially for house plants.

In taking up plants for transplanting secure all of the roots possible.

Cultivation in a dry time is most injurious to weeds and beneficial to crops.

If you desire a stocky branched graft, nip the end of the young growth after it has grown six inches or more.

To destroy ants in the lawn it is recommended to dig to the bottom of the nests and cover the bottom with coarse salt and fill in the soil again.

Mulching continuously is not advisable with any kind of fruit trees, as it draws the roots too near the surface, so that they lose their hold on the soil.

It never injures a tree or vine to cut out the dead wood at any season of the year. Dead wood may readily be seen at any time, and all such should be cut out.

Young shade trees should be trimmed into shape the first few years after setting out. The beauty of a shade tree depends upon the shape given it when young.

Too many apple trees are too full of twigs and small limbs. They form a dense mass that the sun and air cannot penetrate. Such trees seldom blossom in the center, and if they do the fruit rarely matures.

Sharp.

Bishop Philpotts of Exeter early earned his reputation for saying things. One of the guests at an undergraduate's party in Oxford sang a song much out of tune. Then Philpotts was called upon.

"I haven't a note in my voice," said he. "Well, if you can't sing you must make a speech or tell a story!" declared the host.

"If I am to tell a story," said the future bishop, "I think I should say that I should like to hear — sing that song again!"

Much later in life he went to pay a visit in Devonshire.

"It's a beautiful place, isn't it?" asked a guest.

"Yes," said the bishop, "but if it were mine I would pull down the house and fill up the pond with it. That would remove two objections."

The Oriental as Advertiser.

We are apt to associate advertising entirely with the bustling life of the western world, but oriental advertisers are not all so sleepy as we imagine. Here are a few samples of the ingenious phrasing with which they catch the public eye: "Goods dispatched expeditiously as a cannon ball."

"Parcels done up with such care as a loving wife bestows upon her husband."

"We sell paper as tough as elephant's hide."

"The print of our books is clear as crystal, the matter charming as a singing girl."

"Customers are treated as politely as by rival steamship companies."

"Our silks and satins are smooth as a lady's cheek and colored like the rainbow."

Profession.

"Do you consider acting a profession?" said the young woman who asks very direct questions.

"Yes," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes; "at all events it must be admitted that there are a great many more people professing to than actually acting."
