great dissatisfaction among the men on account of Canadian troops being split up, making them half English and half Canadian. It was understood when Colonel Steele left Canada that he would command all the 1,200 Canadians that went with him.

"One letter declares that a storm is brewing and will come before long, and either Colonel Steele and a good few of the Canadians will go back to Canada instead of six months, or Colonel Steele will have his own way and get control over the men from the dominion."

EXCHANGED VALISES.

Why the Rightful Owner of One Never Called For It.

The story was told by a quiet, black bearded gentleman who had registered from Pittsburgh and who happened to be one of a group of yarn spinners in the corridor of a hotel.

"Accordingly I got on the cars again and went directly to headquarters, where I was fortunate enough to catch the chief just going out. He heard my story in his private office and agreed with me that the discovery of my ghostly package would be apt to fill some household with horror and consternation."

AMBIDEXTERITY.

Should the Use of Both Hands Be Encouraged?

The question, Should ambidexterity be encouraged? answered in the negative by a writer in The American Journal of Insanity and upon the ground that, while coarse movements may be performed nearly as well by one half of the body as by the other, accurate and expert movements require a higher organization of one half of the brain than the other.

All of which we deny, both fact and theory being untrue. The writer has doubtless been misled by observation of the function of speech, which is single and in execution requires the control of a single center. We have but one voice, but we have two hands, which in many cases at different instants may be put in action with the same dexterity.

Comparatively Easy. A benevolent old lady stopped on a street corner to wait for her car and was attracted by the bright face of a young Italian who was grinding his organ near by.

She found a 10 cent piece in her purse and dropped it into his hand, well repaid by the brilliant smile which accompanied his "Tanka."

"It must be real hard to turn that crank as steady as you do and keep such good time," she said cordially.

"Not so difficult," said the Italian, showing his white teeth in another smile. "You see, madam, I no have the monka. To turn the cranks so steady, keepa the time and watcha the monka, madam, that taka the arteest—the true arteest. It ees the monka that demanda the genius, madam!"

A Royal Cake.

The Princess Elizabeth, daughter of Charles I, was a domestic sort of princess and was noted for the fine cake she made. One of her old recipes is headed, "To make a cake the way of the royal princess, the Lady Elizabeth," and reads: "Take a half pint of flour, half a pint of rosewater, a pint of ale yeast, a pint of cream, boil it, one and a half pounds butter, six eggs, leave out the white; four pounds currants, one-quarter pound sugar, one nutmeg, a little salt. Work it very well and let it stand half an hour by the fire and then work again, and then make it up and let it stand one and a half hours in the oven. Let not the oven be too hot."

Paid Her Back. Mabel—Sibyl doesn't know a thing about whist. Why, the other day she was my partner at a tournament, and she trumped my ace!

Chorus—How mean! Mabel—Yes, but I paid her back. She led an ace next round, and I trumped it.—London King.

He Wasn't That Sort of a Boy. Mother—What! Have you been fighting again, Johnnie? Good little boy, don't fight.

Johnnie—Yes, I know that. I thought he was a good little boy, but after I hit him once I found he wasn't.—Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

N. TEMISCAMINGUE SENDS A STORY.

A Sturdy Farmer Stricken with Rheumatism is Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

This man was so bad that he was almost paralyzed—A wonderful case and a very happy cure by this excellent remedy.

NORTH TEMISCAMINGUE, Que., Jan. 6, (Special).—At the Douglas Farm near here lives Mr. W. H. Johnston who today considers himself a very happy man indeed.

The cause of Mr. Johnston's happiness is his somewhat sudden and very remarkable recovery from the most severe case of Rheumatism ever seen in this county.

For a long time he suffered with the Rheumatism which gradually grew worse till it threatened his life. His principle trouble was in his left side, and it was so bad that his neck stiffened so that he could scarcely move it, and was beginning to fear Paralysis.

He thought that perhaps his smoking tobacco had something to do with it and he gave this up, but received no benefit at all till he used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

This remedy he found to be a complete and absolute cure for his malady, and very soon after commencing its use, the pain began to leave him and now he is strong and well.

That such an extreme case should yield so easily and quickly proves that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure any case of Rheumatism.

SYDNEY ITEMS.

SYDNEY, C. B., Jan. 3.—The festivities of the New Year were commenced here by the ball given by Mrs. E. Le Roi Willis Monday evening. There were over 75 present. The ball room was most elaborately decorated, and the scene during the dances was one of the prettiest that could be seen.

A brakeman on the Cape Breton railway named McNeil was the victim of a terrible accident at Grand Ance Monday. McNeil was engaged in thawing sticks of dynamite before a fire. The dynamite spark from some cause exploded, probably a spark from the fire, and McNeil was thrown twenty feet. When he was picked up he presented a ghastly sight, his two eyes were almost torn out from their sockets, his left leg fractured and his face, hands and body burned.

Word has been received from Glace Bay that the body of W. A. McKenzie who disappeared from his home at Caledonia Mines three weeks ago and was last seen in a store in the Reserve Mines was discovered yesterday in Roost reservoir, near Dominion No. 2, by one of the party of boys who were skating on the ice. One lad feeling thirsty broke the ice so as to get a drink of water. On kneeling to drink, he was shocked to notice the face of a man in the water.

The Sydney and Louisburg railway have delegated one of their locomotive engineers to go to Sweden and show the Swedish engineers how to fire Cape Breton coal on a Swedish railway. Mr. Alexander Pushie, a thorough Scotchman and a resident of Glace Bay was the gentleman selected to make the trip.

The Dominion Coal Company are making heavy shipments of coal for export and for consumption both in Canada and the United States. It is understood that there will be 25,000 tons shipped to the Grand Trunk. This amount will be sent in weekly shipments and will consist of 2,000 tons to the cargo. This means that there will be at least 55 ships for a period of three months, between Portland and Louisburg. Of this amount 15,000 tons are for the Grand Trunk Railway, to be used by them at Montreal and Richmond and the remaining 10,000 will be delivered to private parties in the province of Quebec.

BEFORE NIGHT.

It is the hour when faints the long gold day, That hour when all the spent world sighs to rest, The low wind sleeps, the lilies idly sway And drops the bee into the rose's breast.

Now the last weary swallow wheels on high, A flash of silver on the rosy light; Soon the first star shall gleam in the still sky And earth be clasped by the cool arms of night.

Now the round notes of restless birds are dead, Peace on the scented land and shimmering sea; Now sorrow fades as fades the sunset red, And with the tender night comes peace to me! —Eleanor Norton in Harper's Magazine.

AS ÆSOP MIGHT HAVE TOLD IT.

A Story of a Clever Trick Played by Two Ravens on a Pappy.

A Jerseyman, writing home from southern Alaska, tells the following: "I happened to see with my own eyes the other day a clever trick played by a pair of ravens, which carried me back to old Æsop and his fables, for here as I gazed was one of the venerable tales acted out in real life.

"A silly little pup was playing about when he came upon a nice, tasty bone. I was watching him worry the bone and was enjoying the pleasure he seemed to get out of it, when down dropped two ravens. They wanted that bone. It stuck out all over them, their desire, and their eyes shone with the lust of conquest.

"They fluttered about for some time, but Jo, the pup, paid no attention. He wouldn't be fooled, and I could scarcely keep from laughing to see how adroit the ravens were and how stubborn the pup was.

"Finally the raven sneaked behind Jo and scuttled quietly up until he was perhaps two feet from the pup's tail. The other raven remained in front, fluttering here and there, just enough to keep the dog's attention on him. When the raven in the rear had gained a proper position—that is, had crept close enough—the wily old bird in front began to jump up and down. I was bewildered at first. I couldn't make out what the birds were up to for the longest while, and when the jumping process began I was more mystified than ever until the dog, distracted by the jumping process, stopped worrying the bone and looked up. Then I realized with an awesome feeling that those ravens were up to something pretty close to human. I confess I scared a bit; it made the birds seem diabolical, and I found snatches of Poe's verses of the immortal birds of this feather running through my head.

"Gradually the jumping bird drew nearer and nearer to Jo. Alas, for the pup's innocence! I held my breath as the sable charmer flopped closer and closer to Jo's smutty nose. Suddenly Jo's jaws clicked. Almost at the same instant there was a flutter, a plunge from the rear, and the bird behind the pup had the bone.

"It was done so quickly that my eyes could scarcely follow it. When the raven in front got too near, Jo raised his head from the bone and snapped at the bird. He missed the raven and, forgetting the bone and everything else, made a plunge for the bird. Then the raven in the rear got in his work.

"Of course the moment the rear maneuver had succeeded the light cavalry that had been demonstrating in front flew off. The noises those birds made were weird. As the bird in the rear grabbed the bone he let out a hoarse yell, precisely like laughter, jeering, taunting laughter. I could hear them, as they flew across the bay from Ketchikan, laughing and laughing as they went.

"Poor Jo! It took him an instant to realize what had happened, and when he did you never saw a pup look more sheepish. It was a mean trick, but a rare joke on Jo, just the same."

How Erin Was to Capture America.

There can be no question that the emigrants from our shores are physically of a more vigorous and fertile average than those who stay at home. We once had a striking reminder of this. Very many years ago we had the pleasure of a long interview with a Roman Catholic priest in the poorest part of County Galway. He was very frank and plain spoken, but we allude here to only one of his remarks. The chapel he served was poor and primitive in the extreme. "Look at these peasants," he said, "whom you saw in chapel this morning. Barefooted and humble, as most of them are, they are bodily as sound as a bell. Go into any of your churches in England and you can hardly hear what is going on for coughing. You heard not a single cough this morning. What is the result? These vigorous, healthy people go out to America and marry there. They have families of from 15 to 18, while the home bred Yankee has only two or three. America is ours as sure as fate!"

The Blood in the Brain.

Too much blood in the brain is a frequent cause of headaches. Pains are felt all over the head, the face becomes flushed, the temples throb and strong light or noise causes excruciating pain. In cases of this kind the sufferer should be careful in diet and should not eat meat oftener than once a day.

Too little blood in the brain is another cause of headache. It is recognized by dizziness, noises in the ears and pains on top of the head. The best stimulant is a cup of strong tea or coffee or a bowl of soup. People who suffer with these headaches should sleep with their heads low.

Getting on In Years.

"Oh!" gasped the beautiful woman as she fell back, clutching at her heart and permitting the telegram to flutter to the floor.

Her fashionable guests rushed forward, crying: "What is it? Has your husband met with an accident?"

"No—no," she moaned; "it is from my son-in-law. I am a grandmother."

A Rare Lace.

Of all the curious kinds of lace, especially old lace, the most curious is that which is called point tresse. It is very rare and was made of human hair. French collectors say it exists in the present day only in their cabinets. It was confined to the early part of the sixteenth century.
